MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of One Thousand Seventy-one and 66-100 ($1,071.66) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Theodore Bjorge, a single man, Mortgagor, to First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained; duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of January, 1919, at 4:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 12 of Mortgages, on page 477.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, to George Pockelwald by written assignment dated the 31st day of January, 1919, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 10th day of February, 1919, at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book 63 of Mortgages, on page 43, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof:

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given: That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of Eight Hundred Fifty-two and 32-100 ($852.32) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Jno. B. Conner and Lillie M. Conner, his wife, Mortgagors, to First And Peoples State Bank (a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota), Mortgagee, bearing date the 12th day of August, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 26th day of August, 1918, at 8:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 54 of Mortgages, on page 469,

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said First And Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, to Christopher Graham by written assignment dated the 27th day of August, 1918, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 11th day of November, 1918, at 9:00 o'clock A. M., in Book 63 of Mortgages, on page 7.

And Whereas, The said Christopher Graham, the Assignee and Holder of said Mortgage, has duly elected and does hereby elect to declare the whole principal sum of said Mortgage due and payable at the date of this notice, under the terms and conditions of said Mortgage and the power of sale therein contained; and whereas there is actually due and claimed to be due and payable thereon at the date of this notice the sum of Fifteen Thousand Fifty-seven and 66-100 ($15,057.66) Dollars, and whereas the said power of sale has become operative, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage, or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

The South half (S½) of Section twenty-nine (29), (except sixteen (16) acres in the southeast corner thereof), and the North half of the Northwest quarter (N½ of NW¼) of Section thirty-two (32), all in Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154) North, of Range Forty-three (43) West, of the Fifth Principal Meridian containing three hundred eighty-four (384) acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County, at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 13th day of April, 1923, at 10:00 o'clock A. M., of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $15,057.66 and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and One Hundred Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

One On the Lawyers.

The lawyer was cross-examining a witness to a robbery.

"When did the robbery take place?" he asked.

"I think—" began the witness.

"We don't care what you think, sir. We want to know what you know."

"Then if you don't want to know what I think, I may as well leave the stand. I can't talk without thinking. I'm no lawyer."

Foresight.

Mother: "If you fell in the water, why are your clothes dry?"

Tommy: "I took 'em off in case of accident."

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Club Entertains.

The Girls' Community club entertained about seventy-five of the young folks of the city on Saturday evening, March 10, and a still larger number on Tuesday evening. The young people evidently welcome an opportunity to use the club rooms. The rooms will be open every evening except Sundays and Mondays and anyone wishing to spend the evening there will be welcome. The entertainment offered is entirely free and the only people not included in the invitation are children under 15.

Meeting of Red River Valley District Held

The annual meeting of the Red River District was held in the Lutheran Augustana church, Thief River Falls, Albin A. Larson, pastor, March 5 and 6.

The meeting was very good in every way. Inspiring Lenten services were held by the following pastors: Carlstedt, Erling, Lundgren, Nelson, Hoorn and S. W. Swenson. A large amount of business was transacted. From the various reports it was indicated that effective work—work that brings real results—has been done in all the pastorates throughout the district. The mission fields are blossoming, due to God's blessings through faithful workers.

As a district we owe the profoundest thanks to God for His great goodness to us. May His kingdom in this part of the state continue to grow and win still more victories. The following officers were elected: President, P. G. Carlstedt; vice president, A. F. Nelson; secretary, J. A. Parkander; treasurer, A. C. Edstrom; statistician, S. Erling. As a district we wish to thank Pastor Larson and his good people for the royal reception given.—J. A. Parkander.

NEW GREAT NORTHERN DEPOT TO BE BUILT THIS SPRING, STATE RAILROAD OFFICERS TO TRIBUNE

Definite announcement was made on Monday of this week to a representative of The Tribune by Great Northern officials to the effect that a new depot would be built this year in Thief River Falls. The railroad officials recognize that The Tribune has presented the most reasonable attitude of the community for a new depot, and hence they undoubtedly felt the information should be given out through this newspaper.

The new depot will be of frame and stucco construction, according to the officials, large enough to meet the demands of the city and country. The depot will be modern throughout, providing all the comforts for the traveling public now to be found in the larger stations of the country. The depot will be built along plans similar to the one used at Warren, except that the Thief River station will be on a larger scale. The outside will be of white marble stucco, presenting a very attractive appearance.

Unless definite action is taken by the citizens of the city to change its location, the depot will be placed at the site of the old station on Main avenue, a block south of First street. There has been some talk of placing the new station on Third street, but objection to that site has been made by some of the larger shippers of the city, who will be better served by the trackage facilities offered under the present arrangement.

The fight for a new depot was actively inaugurated last year by The Tribune and more recent action by the Commercial club and its officials has served to keep the matter constantly before the rail officials. Dr. H. W. Froehlich, president of the Commercial club, and Senator C. L. Hansen, were among those who called upon General Manager Budd during the past month, and the action of the officials as made public today through The Tribune is the answer to these requests.

Work on the new depot will be commenced early this spring, architects and contractors already being on the ground to figure on the building.

Senate Committee Places Own Rural Credits Before Senate for Consideration

Measure Provides for State Loans Up to 60 Per Cent of Appraised Value of Land.

The senate agricultural committee yesterday recommended passage of the committee rural credits bill, providing for state loans up to 60 per cent of the appraised value of the land. Several amendments, most of them of minor importance, were incorporated in the measure.

One amendment provides that no loan shall exceed 60 per cent of the appraised value of the land plus 33 1-3 per cent of the appraised value of the improvements, instead of 25 per cent, as provided in the house measure, which passed ten days ago.

Another amendment provides that mortgagors may move from the land without being subject to foreclosure, if they keep up their payments.

The new senate bill will be placed at the head of general orders until revised and printed copies are distributed, when it will be moved for a special order and early action.

Coldest St. Patrick's Day on Record for Many Years

Storm of Saturday Prevalent Throughout Entire Northwest, According to News Reports.

Thief River Falls experienced its coldest St. Patrick's day on record last Saturday, when the thermometer registered 10 degrees below zero. Sunday the weather was even more frigid, for the mercury dropped to 20 degrees below zero.

Slightly warmer weather was registered Monday morning, although it was still cold, with a mark of 14 below zero greeting local residents. Snow came and the wind blew it into a blizzard.

Train service, however, was slightly hampered. The wheatline arrived in Thief River Falls 12 hours late on account of a broken rail. Great Northern trains ran slightly behind regular running schedules.

Raid Soft Drink Parlor.

Chief Erickson and Deputy Sheriff Kongelf Saturday night raided the soft drink establishment of Conrad Vinje, located on lower LaBree avenue. Nothing of a "hard liquor" content was found by the officers and the place passed rigid inspection.

Mrs. Inga Gangness, 61 Years Old, Dies Sunday

Mrs. Inga Gangness, 61 years old, residing at 416 Davis avenue north, widow of Andrew Gangness, who died here three years ago, passed away Sunday afternoon at 2:20 o'clock after a lingering illness from pernicious anemia, from which she had been suffering for about two years.

Mrs. Gangness was born in Norway and came to this county with her parents when five years old, settling near Blue Earth, Minn. For the past 10 years she had resided in Thief River Falls, moving here from Goodridge, where she lived for about a year.

Deceased is survived by eight children, as follows: Mrs. August Egeness, Blue Earth, Minn.; Mrs. Peter Hanson, Fargo, N. D.; Arthur Bergge, Halstad, Minn.; Oscar Bergge, Bisbee, N. D.; Mrs. Andrew Stene, Mrs. Duncan Stanton, Selmer Gangness and Bertha Gangness, the four latter residing in this city.

The funeral was held yesterday afternoon from Trinity Lutheran church, Rev. T. E. Sweger being in charge of the services. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Clearwater Job Is Dropped By Drainage Board

Interior Department, Washington, Refuses Assessment on Indian Lands.

Benefits Derived Not Sufficient to Warrant High Taxation for Project.

The Clearwater river drainage project was this week formally dropped by the board of directors of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district, because of the action of the interior department at Washington, which has issued an order disapproving the project and refusing to let the Indian lands in the district be subjected to assessment.

The entire drainage proposition is now dead according to last week's issue of the Red Lake Falls Gazette. Although not officially dismissed, the project will be dropped, according to President C. G. Selvig of the board of directors of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district.

The department states that the drainage board has not supplied sufficient and satisfactory detailed plans for the improvement, though everything had been done in the matter except calling for bids and letting the contract. The department states further that the main benefits to Indian lands would have been obtained from the Red Lake river drainage project, and since that was dismissed by Judges Stanton and Grindeland there would not be sufficient benefit derived to warrant the assessment of the Indian lands.

Although the action of the Indian department does not officially dismiss the project it practically does so, for the board of directors do not feel justified in pushing the plan and saddling the entire cost of the project upon the land owners outside the Indian reservation.

"It is the privilege of the Indian department to take this action," said President C. G. Selvig. "This means that the plan will be postponed and will not be taken up again until the Indian department is ready. It can wait a hundred years as far as the board is concerned. The board members would not wish to go ahead with the project in the fact of the opposition of the great majority of land owners.

"Appeals have been taken from Judge Watts' order establishing the project to the state supreme court, but there will be no need for the objectors to push them as the board does not intend to do anything further in the matter."

During the past week Theo. Quale of this city and C. G. Dosland of Moorhead, attorneys for objectors, filed a notice of appeal to the state supreme court from Judge Watts' order of February 10, 1923, establishing the project. According to Mr. Quale this appeal will be dropped in view of the decision of the drainage board to drop the project.

Daniel B. Henderson of Washington, D. C., and Wm. J. Brown of this city, attorneys for the Red Lake band of Chippewa Indians, filed a similar notice of appeal from the order of the district court to the state supreme

Six Arrested on Charge of Playing Poker

As a result of a raid made late Saturday night on suspected gambling quarters in rooms over the soft drink establishment formerly operated by Bennie Vigen, located on LaBree avenue, made by Sheriff Ole L. Ihle, assisted by Night Patrolman Ralston, six Thief River Falls residents were taken into custody charged with gambling, and five paid fines of $25 each in Judge Tarrant's court Monday morning.

The men arrested are: Ole Vinje, Hans Rustad, Andrew Ness, Walter Adolphson, Frank Dalquist and Axel Anderson, the latter charged with being the game keeper and bound over to the next term of district court under bail of $300. Ness is alderman from the Fourth ward.

A quantity of gambling paraphernalia, such as tables and chairs and several packs of cards were secured by the officers and taken to police headquarters. No poker chips were used by the gamblers and nothing but "cold cash" was on the table when the officers entered the room, it is said.

The raid by the sheriff came suddenly and when the officers entered the room it is said cards were being drawn to determine the winner of a "pot" totalling something like $8.50. When officers inquired as to the owner of the money, no one seemed willing to claim it, according to Sheriff Ihle, so the sheriff took the amount into possession and it now remains unclaimed.

All the men pleaded guilty to a charge of gambling preferred by Sheriff Ihle, and Judge Tarrant Monday morning assessed each $25 with the exception of the charge against Axel Anderson of being the game-keeper, the latter being bound over for action by the higher court.

Rush Intermediate Credit Bank Plans on 3-Year Loans

St. Paul to Be Home of New Institution; in Operation Within 90 Days.

Passage of the intermediate farm credit bill is called the greatest legislative victory ever won for farmers by Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

"There is no doubt," he says, "but that the bill would have died, had it not been for the prompt and united support of the Farm Bureau. Credit facilities provided will adequately meet a demand that has long been foremost in agricultural circles. If farmers use the new system, as they should and I am sure will, they will find themselves very nearly on a basis of equality with other business men.

Steps were taken last week to put the terms of the bill into effect. E. G. Quamme, president of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul returned from conferences at Washington last week prepared to aid leaders in forming the new institution. Headquarters will be established in St. Paul. While the indeterminate credit bank will have independent financial responsibility and administration, an separate offices, it will be aided by the co-operation of land bank officers.

Loans may be secured by receipts for farm products placed in bonded warehouses.

The new institution differs from the land bank in that credit will be extended on personal property, rather than on land. Credit will be given for productive purposes — raising cattle, growing crops, etc. Paper will run for nine months to three years.

The credit bill ,as passed, provides for two farm credit systems. The first is to be governmentally operated and capitalized, giving farmers access to a great reservoir of moneys and credits. The second provides for privately owned and operated agricultural credit systems.

Simley Selected at Board Meeting to Head Schools

Kindergarten and Auto and Gas Engine Departments to Be Discontinued.

At a special meeting of the school board held Monday evening at the Lincoln high school, called to complete unfinished business of the board meeting held a week previous, it was decided that the kindergarten and auto and gas engine departments of the local school system would be discontinued and dropped from the regular curriculum in the interests of economy in school expenditures. As a result of the decision, three instructors will be eliminated, affording the district a saving of something more than $3,000 annually. This is in addition to a salary increase of a little more than $5,000 made last year, totalling approximately a saving of $8,000 in school district funds over that of two years ago.

A readjustment in salaries to teachers was also made at the meeting and some of the higher paid instructors will receive a cut next year. In cases of teachers receiving below the standard, increases were given. I. T. Simley, superintendent of schools, was re-elected to his present position, as was also the entire staff of teachers of the district.

It was pointed out at the meeting that as teachers' salaries run in this state, Thief River Falls pays less to its instructors than other cities of similar size and school population. From a tabulated list of 50 high and graded schools it was shown that Thief River Falls was well below the $1,300 mark set for high school instructors and $1,170 for grade teachers who are not in charge of departments or grade school principals.

Thief River Falls has a school enrollment of 1,585 pupils, averaging approximately 29 pupils per teacher. The report showed that this city, with a population of something like 2,000 less than Crookston, has a school enrollment of 200 more pupils, this being due to the fact that Thief River Falls has a considerably larger non-resident school enrollment.

Northwest Road Merger Opposed by Gov. Preus

Opposition to the proposed rail and consolidation plan of the Interstate Commerce Commission is expressed by the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission at a hearing in St. Paul Monday afternoon. The hearing is the first of a series to be held in the Northwest.

Minnesota officials, headed by Ivan Bowen, member of the state Railroad and Warehouse commission, contended in the prepared testimony that the collapse of the industrial communities of the Northwest was possible if the proposed consolidation scheme was consummated and that such a scheme would eliminate the twin cities and Duluth as main terminals and transfer them to Chicago, thereby causing untold financial losses.

The tentative consolidation plan as set forth by the federal commission created five systems to operate between Chicago and the Pacific coast, known as the St. Paul-Great Northern system No. 15, the Burlington-Northern-Pacific No. 14; Union Pacific-Northwestern system No. 13; Santa Fe system No. 16, and the Southern Pacific-Rock Island system No. 17, in all cases the eastern terminus being Chicago.

This, according to the testimony,

Girls' Club to Meet.

The Community Girls' club will hold their regular weekly meeting Monday evening at their clubrooms, when regular business and social welfare problems will be taken up. With the exception of Sunday and Monday evenings, the clubrooms are open to all who wish to come.

CONTRACTS FOR 2,218 ACRES OF SUGAR BEETS SIGNED UP; CARLOAD OF SEED WILL ARRIVE NEXT WEEK

Announcement has been made by Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson that all railroads have granted a rate of $2.25 on sugar beets raised in the Red River Valley for shipment to Mason City, Iowa.

Earl C. Moore, agricultural manager of the Mason City, Ia., plant of the Northern Sugar Beet company, has been in Thief River Falls the past several days signing up contracts with 199 growers for a total of 2,218 acres of sugar beets to be planted in this section of Minnesota this year.

A meeting was held at the Commercial clubrooms Monday afternoon, at which time a large number of the growers were present to talk over final plans with Mr. Moore, and everything is now in readiness awaiting the arrival of seasonable weather for planting.

A carload of sugar beet seed is scheduled to arrive in Thief River Falls next week to be distributed among the various growers. The shipment totals 30,000 pounds of seed of excellent quality.

As a result of the meeting Monday, it is believed that all the preliminary arrangements for "going into sugar beets on a big scale" have been completed and Mr. Moore expressed himself as being exceptionally well pleased with the manner in which growers and business men have taken hold of the new crop. It is now assured that this section of the country will be one of the large producers of sugar beets.

The announcement was made in St. Paul last week by Commissioner O. P. B. Jacobson of the state railroad and warehouse commission that all Northwest railroads have granted a rate of $2.25 per ton on all sugar beets going out of the Red River Valley to Mason City, Ia. The information conveyed has proven of immense value to the sugar beet industry here and the low rate granted by the roads is the best evidence that the roads are desirous of seeing farmers getting into the sugar beet crop on a large scale.

Mr. Moore left this city today for Red Lake Falls to spend a few days, after which he will go to Mason City. He will return here in about three weeks and expects to remain during most of the summer.

$12,000 Damages Awarded to Injured Auto Tourists

Verdict is Outcome of Automobile Accident on Maple Lake Road When Man and Woman Are Hurt.

A case of interest throughout this section was disposed of in Beltrami county district court last week at Bemidji when Frank Mueller of Mankato was awarded a verdict of $12,000 in his suit against Frank Doyea of Bemidji, formerly of Red Lake Falls.

It will be recalled that the accident which brought on the suit occurred on the Maple Lake road six miles east of Crookston August 23, 1922, when Doyea was charged with having struck the Mueller car, throwing it into the ditch and seriously injuring Mr. and Mrs. Mueller, who with their son were occupants of the car.

In the suit the plaintiff alleges that Doyea was driving the car while in an intoxicated condition and at a high rate of speed, crowding Mueller's car off the highway.

J. H. Lasha and H. Trudau of Red Lake Falls were called to Bemidji as witnesses in the case but their testimony was not needed and they returned home Thursday morning.

Doyea will have to stand trial at the June term of the Polk county court on a charge of running away from the scene of an accident.

"Crack" Made in Filtration Plant Is Not Serious

To Commence Draining of Reservoir Next Week for Fresh Water Supply.

Million Gallons Per Day to Be Capacity of Filters When Completed.

Reports regarding the crack in the filtration plant caused by sagging of the building under its great weight of concrete and water are considered greatly exaggerated and will not in any way interfere with Thief River Falls receiving an adequate fresh water supply within the next two weeks, according to M. N. McCue, at present in charge of the plant, in an interview with a Tribune reporter yesterday.

The work of cleaning one-half of the reservoir containing the water supply will commence next week. The first half of the container will be thoroughly drained and cleaned so as not to interfere with the water supply. When this has been completed, filtered water will be turned in while the other half of the reservoir goes through the same process. This will not entail more than two or three days' work.

The plant at present is capable of filtering about 1,000,000 gallons of water per day and will give this city one of the best filtration plants in the country. The normal consumption of water in Thief River Falls is about 250,000 gallons per day, but it is expected that this daily average will be greatly increased when the pure water supply is available for all purposes.

Mr. Wolf, engineer in charge of the filtration plant, is expected to arrive from St. Paul tomorrow and will be accompanied by state analysts, who will make tests of the water for the state board of health and give it the final O. K.

Mr. Wolf will also attend to the matter of repairing the crack which occurred at the plant, although the work of repairing this already is under way. It is believed that had it been possible to pump water into the two filters at the same time the accident would not have occurred, but owing to the fact that one filter must be filled before water can be turned into the other, the unequal weight of the water bore down too heavily on the south end of the building, causing the crack in the walls.

Crookston Wins District Basket Ball Championship

By defeating Warren high at Crookston last Friday evening, the Crookston high school basket ball team won the district basket ball championship. They will now compete for state championship honors at a state tournament, the dates for which have not yet been announced.

Thief River Falls was eliminated from the competition in the early stages, losing to Warren by a score of 17 to 11. Warren, however, stayed until the finish and until their elimination by Crookston high.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Erickson left Tuesday evening for Frederick, Wis., where they were called by the death of an uncle.

Entire Mining Town Was Built For Big Picture

No Expense Spared in Filming Jack Holt's Great Picture Play, "While Satan Sleeps."

When it came to finding a village to represent the mythical "Panamint," a mining town locale for Jack Holt's latest Paramount picture, "While Satan Sleeps," showing at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday, the location department of the Paramount studio in California was in a quandary. The scenario called for a California village of the B. P. (Before Prohibition) type and a hundred miles from water; that is, on the edge of the desert. So there was nothing else to do but hunt out an old time village that has long since gone to decay and rebuild it.

The "Panamint" described in Peter B. Kyne's story, "The Parson of Panamint," from which the picture was built under the direction of Robert M. Haas, art director, was one of the largest villages that has been constructed by Paramount in a long time. It consisted of twenty buildings, including a hotel, church, bar and grill, barber shop, butcher shop, assay office, sheriff's office, a furnishings store, bank, general store, pawn shop, rectory and dwellings.

The village occupied three acres of ground and was so constructed as to take a 465 foot camera shot, which in motion picture parlance is a "long shot." In making the scenes Joseph Henabery, the director, used more than five hundred persons. Fritzi Brunette plays opposite the star.

Local devotees of the radio report that Elnor Overland, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Overland of this city, was clearly heard by radio last Saturday night. Young Overland, a senior at Carleton College, was broadcasting over the radio owned by the college. Being the pianist in an orchestra he was very plainly heard.

This orchestra or similar entertainment may be heard from WCAL nearly every Saturday night. The wave length is 360 meters. WCAL has an output of 500 watts and has been heard in all parts of the United States.

Offers Best Plan to Use Given Sum

Public Will Gain in Results and Avoid Delays, According to Figures.

More than a thousand miles of light traveled roads are to be graded, drained and graveled, and the heavy-traveled sections paved in 1923 and 1924, all to reduce upkeep costs to the lowest figure—

Money now going for endless repairs will be saved and it will more than pay for these lasting improvements—

The public soon will have the use of better roads where otherwise there would be years of waiting—

There will be immediate and increased gains for all highway users, especially the automobile owners who are paying all the direct taxes—

The highway program will yield bigger returns, be put ahead five years in two, afford the use of more good roads every year and be more advanced at the end of twenty years when all proposed debts are paid—

Briefly, according to Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, who was discussing the trunk highway bond recommendations, the plan will give the most returns for a given sum of money.

"The highway department is urging this way of saving money because it is the common-sense thing to do," said the commissioner. "Minnesota cannot afford to go on using good money year after year patching up roads which are never satisfactory when the same money will provide good roads. But the lasting improvements must come first to cut down the maintenance expense and make the savings to pay for the permanent work. Everybody is in favor of good roads—the bond plan offers them now at present tax rates. Without bonds the highway improvements will come but only after long waits.

"Under the bond plan nearly $1,300,000 a year on an average can be saved on maintenance. Deducting an interest charge of $850,000 a year—the bonds can be sold at less than 4¼ per cent interest—there is a net saving of $340,000 a year and at the same time the public is getting the use of adequate highways instead of patched up roads. These figures are conservative."

Scores of indorsements from county commissioners, farm bureaus and commercial clubs and various public and semi-public organizations in all parts of the state are being addressed to members of the legislature, according to copies forwarded also to the highway department, Mr. Babcock said.

"But the most encouraging sign," he added, "is that some of the minority organizations that went on record as opposing the highway bond plan have gathered the facts, passed new resolutions approving the proposals and are now lending support to keep Minnesota among good road states.

"The average member of the legislature has little trouble in seeing the merit of the bond plan but the greatest obstacle to overcome is fear that the proposals are not understood and therefore not popular 'back home.' A number have announced that they will brave criticism if necessary to vote for the plan, they are convinced, will benefit every section of the state without adding a cent to taxation. But there are those still waiting for encouragement from their constituents and the many favorable resolutions now arriving are gaining strength for the bond proposals."

The commissioner referred to objections made by a few representatives on the introduction of the bond bill in the house. That the bill might stand on its merits and without the usual sponsorship, he said, it was presented as a "committee by request" measure which would not tie up any member to it. When the objections to this fair procedure were made, several progressive members promptly volunteered to go on as authors and it was so introduced and referred to the committee on public highways, he explained.

"Ebb Tide" Hase Theme of Very Fine Heart Appeal

The absorbing and sympathetic story of how Robert Herrick was mired in the swamps of civilization and of how he finally struggled back to firm ground is the theme of "Ebb Tide," a picturization of Robert Louis Stevenson's famous story, which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre next Friday and Saturday. Lila Lee, James Kirkwood, Raymond Hatton, George Fawcett, Noah Beery and Jacqueline Logan are the featured players.

A young man of good birth and too careful rearing—he was never allowed to face responsibility—Robert Herrick becomes a drifter and is stranded on the beach of a South Sea island. Here he meets two other derelicts, a discredited but likeable master mariner named Davis and a shady, vile-mouthed London clerk called Huish. The three are drawn together by the bonds of hunger and exile, and they barely exist until a chance offers to take out a smallpox ship.

The voyage of this schooner with its cargo of champagne and its native crew tries the souls of the three derelicts, and each faces the crisis in a different way. Wehn food runs low they sight a mysterious island, where they found a remarkable white man named Atwater, who lives there with his daughter and a few natives. For years Atwater has taken pearls from the lagoon, and this treasure offers a new temptation to the three adventurers. Herrick is ensnared against his will, but Atwater cleverly defeats Davis and Huish and wins over Herrick to the side of honor.

Naturally there is a girl who loves Herrick, and her devotion has much to do with snatching Herrick from "the ebb tide in man's affairs."

The photography is excellent, and the scenes on Atwater's island are of the most gripping character. A desperate fight with a devil fish in twenty feet of water is one of the big thrills of the picture.

Adulterated, Misbranded, Foods and Drugs Seized

Government Puts Number of "Cure-alls" Out of Business in Clean-up Campaign.

Fines ranging from $25 to $250 were imposed under the food and drugs act on shippers who had sent into interstate commerce adulterated or misbranded foods and feeds, according to Service and Regulatory Announcements No. 152, issued recently by the Bureau of Chemistry, United States Department of Agriculture. The list includes olive oil, butter, salmon, candy, eggs, oysters, catsup, cottonseed meal and flour. Eight other shipments of foods were destroyed under decrees of condemnation and forfeiture and 19 shipments were released on bond on condition that the products would be relabeled to comply with the requirements of the law.

Six seizures were made under the Sherley amendment to the food and drugs act which prohibits the use of false and fraudulent claims on medicinal preparations. The users of McGraw's Herbs of Youth, Oil of Life and Liquid Herbs were promised on the labels relief for all sorts of ailments ranging from nerve diseases to colds, but the government charged the ingredients of these medicines as revealed by analysis could not produce the results claimed and the court ordered the restruction of the shipmnets.

Boquette's Family Remedy which was found to contain 3 per cent magnesium sulphate, 2½ per cent of sodium nitrate, a small amount of extractives and 93¼ per cent water was declared by its manufacturer to be capablei of relieving rheumatism and tuberculosis. A shipment was seized and a charge of misbranding brought by the government. No claimant appearing, the court ordered the product destroyed.

A shipment of Parry's Vegetable Compound which had been seized was released under bond on condition that the false and misleading statements as to its curative effects would be corrected.

Cocoa butter, petrolatum, boric acid, sodium sulphate and a little flour were the ingredients of Orange Blossom Suppositories for which it was charged false and fraudulent claims were made and this shipment was also ordered destroyed by the court.

Edgerton's Salt Brick was declared by the manufacturer to prevent hog cholera but the analysts found no ingredients or combination of ingredients capable of producing this effect and the product was destroyed by the order of the court.

Giles' Germicide, it was found, did not contain anything of a germicidal or antiseptic nature and that, too, was ordered destroyed.

Penalties were imposed on five stock feed shippers, in amounts from $100 to $250. The substitution of peanut hulls for more nutritive materials, false claims as to protein and fiber content, and lack of net weight markings were some of the charges brought against the shippers.

The five leading average men on the team that would represent the city in the outside matches were given a tryout by the next highest five, with the results shown. The game was well attended, a large crowd of spectators being present. The result shows that Thief River Falls could meet the best of them and hold their own. The team averaged 902 per game and reached the 1,000 mark in the first game.

Sever Brandon issues a challenge to them for this week, which is accepted, the games to be rolled Wednesday, March 28.

The team is trying to get match games with Crookston and Red Lake Falls.

It's Been a Cold March.

A. G. Anderson, for many years government weather observer at Crookston, has given out some interesting information on March weather in this section of the state during the past 20 years. The present month has witnessed the most coldest days since 1893. Figures for some of the colder years for March are as follows: 1897, 12th, 18 below; 13th, 20 below; 14th, 33 below; 15th, 35 below. On March 26, 1899, 16 below; 27th, 15 below; 28th, 9 below. March 26, 1904, 8 below; 27th, 1 below. It was 11 below on March 20, 1913; 21st, 8 below; 22nd, 10 below; 23rd, 8 below, and in 1916, on March 1, it was 28 below; 2nd, 29 below; 5th, 3 below.

Election Results.

The following were chosen at the township election March 13 in Mayfield: Supervisors, A. J. Stennes, hold over, Martin Hoaas, two years, Sever Nelson, three years; clerk, M. O'Leary; treasurer, H. C. Jarr; assessor, M. O'Leary; justices, W. H. Wilde, John Solberg; constables, Nels Berg, J. P. Johnson.

A New York woman got a verdict for $8,500 from a cafe man who sold her husband bad liquor. Now women will all be urging their men to look up bootleggers.

ROSEWOOD

The Township Election.

The New Solum township election was held at the Busy Bee school last Tuesday and the following new officers were elected: Supervisor for three years, Selmer Haugen; and the following for one year: Clerk, John Halvorson; justice of the peace, Alex Hellquist; constable, Adolph Haugen; treasurer, Peder Sorenson; assessor, Selmer Sorenson. Road bosses were also appointed for the eight districts within the town. There will be a township bounty this year of ten cents for crows, ten cents for pocket gophers and five cents for common gophers.

The remains of Mrs. Styrlund of Viking were laid to rest at the Wildwood cemetery at this place late last Wednesday, being escorted here by four teams and the immediate relatives and friends from Viking. A number of relatives and old friends from this place had also gathered at the cemetery to cast a last glance at the body and pay tribute to cherished memories. A brief talk was given at the grave by Rev. Werner Drotts. Interment was made beside the body of her husband and the grave was decorated with a profusion of flowers.

Peter Mellem spent Tuesday at Warren, where he was a bidder on the summer dragging on the state road between Steiner and the Prichard corner. Mr. Mellem was successful in securing the entire summer contract at $99 per month for himself and team.

Harold Eide came over from Thief River Falls Wednesday morning to be present at the auction sale held that day on the farm of his mother.

FARMER MUST HAVE JUSTICE.

While labor as a unit is studiously keeping away from politics, conditions are driving the farmer into politics, this because the farmer sees no other way of accomplishing anything like even justice.

Business generally has started off with a healthy boom. From all parts of the coutry come reports of increased activity. Buying has again assumed a healthy trend. The iron and steel industry reports a hopeful outlook, automobile manufacturers expect a big year; shippers have been benefited by the cut in freight rates, gold is piling up, and if the nation keeps free of foreign entanglements the road to prosperity seems wide open to all.

The farmer, however, lags behind, despite the fact that he is the wholesale producer of food and clothing. Farming and transportation rest as the final foundation of trade.

It will be regrettable if the selfishness of the money power declines to recognize this fact and compels the farmer to line up in Congress to create a machinery in the interest of agriculture regardless of its effect on the industrial world.

The money power of the East has frowned on the Farm bloc, but it may be forced to look upon these legislators as the leavening influence that will lead the country into the promised land. Indeed it is to the vision of Farm bloc members that the country owes many a vote of thanks. The farmer must get justice without being forced to organize for agriculture ONLY. Let the bankers wake up.

THUMBS DOWN FOR GERMANY.

France fully realizes that it now has a united Germany to contend with. It serves only to make them more apprehensive of an attack on France by Germany when the German people are able to fight with weapons of steel, with chemicals and with airplanes. That is why French troops are in the Ruhr. That is why France's mailed fist rests heavily on Baden and Bavaria. That is why the French are now moving day by day to draw a ring of steel around Germany, both in the east and in the west—the Rhineland and the Ruhr. They believe they possess at this moment the material means to conquer Germany, to make it impotent to ever wage another war against them. They seek in a more material way the guarantee which was denied them by America. They have their foe down and they propose to break its back bone by controlling the coal and iron permanently, and, impoverishing the people for generations. Today France will be satisfied with nothing else than a knowledge the Germany is unable to wage a war of revenge. This tranquility of thought it will obtain or else it will go down in unconditional defeat.

EDITORIAL FROM THE CONTINENT.

The South Dakota Legislature has passed a resolution such as never heard of from any American lawmaking body before. Any state in the union would be honored, as South Dakota is honored, by the resolution introduced in its state senate by the committee on education and passed by both houses. It's too long for these columns to repeat in full, but here's a summary:

The preamble recites the "unprecedented wave of crime sweeping over America," and charges up the trouble to "the emphasis in recent years placed on material values and the small concern paid to spiritual values in home, school and society." A great necessity is recognized for reform in modern home life, school economy and social practices. Laws are not effective provisions for producing the end sought and the legislature turns to religion, adopting Washington's conviction, "No nation can exist without religion." "The remedy must be effected through the inculcation of morality, spirituality and conscience in the young in church, school and home."

The legislature felt it could enact nothing, but it did avail itself of its high position in the state to "enjoin." It resolved "that the people of South Dakota be enjoined to address themselves at once to renewed effort to restore the balance between the spiritual and the material, in order that our children be reared up in the precepts of fundamental righteousness." The lawmakers would have "churches and Sunday school constrained to intensify their work." But the outstanding stress of the exhortation is laid on homes and schools.

In homes parents are "adjured to exert every effort to restore the old-time influence of the home in molding the lives of the children." It is specifically urged that the family altar be revived, and that family life should be concentrated on training in "the simple virtues of truthfulness, honesty and respect for the rights of others." But the most strenuous paragraph of the whole applies to the public schools. The legislature demands that in these all studies should be taught "as subordinate to righteousness." All teachers are counseled to place first emphasis on "moraility, good conscience, respect for parents, reverence for age and experience," and on the principle that "all learning is the handmaiden of eternal goodness."

TEST YOUR EDUCATION.

The best college is not measured by endowment. It is measured by the men and women it turns out. The test of culture is the ability to serve, the power of giving, not getting; of helping, not hindering.

The college will ofttimes pass a man the world will quickly flunk. Many men have been honored in college who have been dishonored by society because with all their high gradings in classes they have not learned how to march with the masses.

The college is a starter but it never completes the education job. Your education does not end when you pick up your diploma. That is when it just begins. That is why graduation is Commencement day.

Many of the best educated people got their education without college courses. Test yourself. If you can honestly answer "yes" to all the questions that follow you are indeed educated, even though you never heard of Xenophon's Anabasis and never owned a parchment encased in a tin tube.

Has education given you sympathy with all good causes and made you espouse them?

Has it made you public spirited?

Have you learned to make friends and keep them?

Do you know what it is to be a friend yourself?

Can you look an honest man or pure woman straight in the eye?

Do you see anything to love in a little child?

Will a lonely dog follow you in the street?

Can you be high-minded and happy in the meaner drudgeries of life?

Do you think washing dishes and hoeing corn as compatible with high thinking as dancing or golf?

Are you good for anything to yourself?

Can you be happy alone?

Can you be a brother to your neighbor?

Have you a better ambition than merely to "make your pile?"

Have you formed the habit of hoping that you may help others and thereby leave this world a little better than you found it?

Do you put patriotism into your politics?

Do you support a public official after election with the same enthusiasm you show before election and thereby help him to fulfill his pre-election promises?

Can you read the history that is written in the rocks that boldly shoulder the broad current and bend the river in its course?

Does the mountain lift you nearer heaven and the sea lead you in silent prayer?

Can you look into a mud puddle by the wayside and see a clear sky?

Can you see anything in the puddle but mud?

Can you look into the sky at night and see beyond the stars?

Can your soul claim relationship with the Creator?

How many college A. B.'s can honestly say "yes" to these 22 questions? If you cannot, it is time to ask yourself which has failed, you or your college. There are many who could pass this examination who cannot boast of an academic degree.

To help you to conceive the purpose of life and to pursue that purpose is the mission of every school and college. They are to equip you with the tools. You are to use the tools.

Are you educated? Study these questions, answer them honestly, and you yourself will know.—Ex.

GOOD READING.

Or the three score or more of newspapers and periodicals reaching the desk of The Tribune editor each week or month this newspaper has just about concluded to place at the top of the heap the Locomotive Engineers' Journal, published by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

While essentially a labor journal it is not altogether so, and The Tribune believes that anybody can read it with as great a degree of safety as he can the Saturday evening Post (which costs the government $7,800,000 a year to distribute, over and above what the publishers pay the department in postal charges), the Cosmopolitan, the Business Age, or any of the other "safe and sane" journals popular on our news stands.

The current issue, dedicated to the education of the laboring class, gives page after page of interesting and instructive articles by America's foremost educators. The cover page is adorned with a ponderous, on-rushing locomotive drawing a passenger train at a 65-mile clip of speed, with the engineman peering out, leaning slightly forward, tense, alert, sure, a thin veil of smoke above the speeding chain of cars, which look like the swiftest-moving thing in the world. The train train is just passing a mile-post called "Progress."

Truly a thing of action! To The Tribune's way of thinking it means ever so much more than the cover page which this week probably is carried by the Pictorial Review (with some half-nude woman making faces at you beneath a picture hat), or a pair of Pekinese pups in the arms of a childless society leader of Poughkeepsie.

Comparatively speaking, this newspaper wouldn't trade a single copy of the Locomotive Engineer's Journal for a life's subscription to Life, booze champion, or the Literary Digest, which couldn't digest without prejudice a kid's first lesson in the book of A B C's. Of course, Life is funny and no one takes it seriously, but unfortunately there are altogether too many who pin their faith to the shoddy handed out by such.

If you have a chance some day, pick up a copy of the Locomotive Engineers' Journal. It will do you good. The inside pages are a pleasure. If the "stuff" therein contained is what "poisons" the minds of labor men of America, would that more of us fall victims to the same "poison."

The Wisconsin state Legislature has passed a law abolishing the state militia as an unnecessary expenditure of money. Hot debate attended consideration of the measure, much of which went to show that the national guard there had been used against labor.

Bemidji's new mayor has expressed himself in favor of taxing the Bemidji soft drink parlors $200 per year. Why not admit that they are hard drink emporiums and be honest about it, for no "pop joint" could stand such a license fee as that.—Baudette Region.

Anyhow, the guy who's just put four aces up against a straight flush has no occasion to worry about being held up by stick-up artists in his way home.—Baudette Region.

BIG TOWN STUFF.

Mechanicsville (Ia.) Pioneer-Press: Chicago papers had a chance to mention a fire—an insignificant blaze—that occurred at the home of a very rich woman of that city. The event was covered as though it was one of the big social occasions of the year. How Mrs. McCormick was dressed, as she appeared in the yard to watch the fire—the kind of shoes and socks she had on. And her male companion, who was not her husband, he was minutely described, how his pants fit, and how they were held on—by a pair of "beautiful white suspenders." The house maids and butler were all mentioned. Tell you what, that little fire was a great event. My, how the big papers grovel and roll their eyes when in the presence of vast wealth. They laugh at the news items in country papers about Blank painting his barn or having his wood sawed and hauling logs to town, but no country paper has ever pandered to the frenzied curiosity of the insatiable thirst for cheap notoriety of its readers like the big towns. It makes a country editor hold his nose and have an expression on his face as though he was smelling something rotten when he reads some of this stuff.

THE REAL FRIENDS OF FRANCE

(From the Locomotive Engineers Journal.)

The real friends of France must have the courage to bring her to her senses before a new war flames out in Europe. We know and love the French people. We have lived with them and fought by their side. We know their unfaltering loyalty, their keen wits, their generous hearts, their fidelity to the historic ideols of "liberte, egalite, fraternite." We have have shared with them the thrill of their great literature, their art, their music. We respect the remarkable achievements of French science. And because of this very admiration and affection we call upon the people of France to put a stop to the mad aggressions of the French military machine in the Ruhr and Rhine valleys before irretrievable ruin overtakes Europe and engulfs France with it.

The tragic violation of international law and the peace of Europe by the ruthless rape of a defenseless neighbor is rapidly isolating the French government from many of its recent friends. Mr. A. G. Gardner, one of the ablest and best informed British journalists, brands the seizure of the Ruhr as "the greatest public crime perpetrated in the history of Europe." Premier Bonar Law states in Parliament that France is hopelessly in the wrong. The conservative London Outlook warns France against continuing to "dismember Germany, wreck Europe and commit any desperate infamy in the knowledge that she is safe from interference." And France's friends are not allayed by the fact that two weeks ago the French government loaned 400,000,000 francs to Poland for "national defense * * * in accordance with the decisions of the French and Polish military staffs."

Not even the warmest friend of France can conceal dismay at what is now happening in the Ruhr. The militarists are in the saddle, and are riding straight to a terrible cataclysm. In a recent article in the Echo de Paris, General Castelnau, powerful French politician and militarist, declares that the French government intends not merely to seize Germany's mines and industries along the Rhine and Ruhr, but to detach this territory from Germany and either annex it or prop it up as a puppet state. Meanwhile, martial law is being ruthlessly enforced not only in the Ruhr, but even in several Bavarian cities on the right bank of the Rhine taken by the mailed fist in defiance of law and justice. The whole district is isolated by a cordon of bayonets, and the population—according to press dispatches from American and English correspondents—is being manhandled and even murdered with a military brutality that somehow calls back the plight of Belgium in 1914. Here is a specimen of Associated Press dispatch cabled on February 24 through Holland:

"The entire Ruhr valley was in a state of economic and civic devastation tonight. Not a town from Dusseldorf to Dortmund had a head to its local government; every mayor and burgomaster had been deported or arrested, and the French, like a conquering army in war time, ruled everywhere with an iron hand. Between 500 and 1,000 more Germans, including the town fathers from Bochum, were taken in custody today at the bayonet point, and scores herded into trains for deportation. More than 15,000,000,000 marks were seized by the invaders today, a sum estimated by the French as 13,000,000,000 marks being taken in a holdup of the Berlin-Cologne express. A state of intensified siege was declared in virtually every important city."

Add to this the wanton shooting of civilians at Bochum, the murder of nine railway employes at Ingelheim, the beating of civilians with whips, the deportation of whole families on 24 hours' notice without their belongings, the wholesale arrests for petty offenses punished by compelling the victims to stand upright all night—these and a hundred other similar incidents cabled by reliable Americans within the past few days indicate the criminal nature of the invasion of the Ruhr and the Rhine valleys by the French military machine.

We come to the French people as a true friend, and ask them what they are getting out of this madman's adventure. They are not getting coal, for bayonets are not miners' picks. Instead of the 67,000 tons of coal a day which Germany was regularly delivering to France previous to the invasion, only from 5,000 to 10,000 tons—according to French figures—are being received. They are not getting steel or textiles, for many of the German workers have struck in protest, and even loaded cars are hopelessly tied up in the paralyzed railway centers. They are getting—bankruptcy, moral and financial. While the French franc and French bonds sink to new low levels in London and New York, the French government admits a staggering financial deficit for 1923 and asks the Chamber of Deputies for 45,000,000 francs to cover the cost of occupying the Ruhr basin for January and February!

What is the remedy? The same remedy that any good banker would apply to a friend who is squandering his money, compromising his honor, and disturbing the public peace. America lent the French government about three billion dollars during the war. Nearly another billion is overdue on interest for the past six years. France owes similar colossal sums to Britain. Within five years it is a cold mathematical certainty that the interest alone on the French debts will exceed the entire present revenue of the French government. If France persists in wasting her resources for the terrorization of Europe, then the real friends of France will call their loans. They will do this because they love the France of Hugo and Bonheur, of Pasteur and Debussy, of Jaures and Longuet and Rolland, even as they distrust the France of Tardieu and Poincare, of Castelnau and Dariac, of Daudet, l'Action Francaise, and lest Camelots du Roi.

Depends On Who Does It.

Whether or not an act is a crime seems to depend largely on who commits the act.

In America, England, France, and any other of the civilized European nations if a man robs a grave he is called a ghoul and a body snatcher and is looked upon as the most heinous and sickening of criminals, and if caught his punishment is most severe. He is usually supposed to be of the lowest and most depraved type of man.

For several years past it has been a hobby with many famous scientists, noblemen and adventurers to invade the tombs of the ancient monarchs in Egypt and the Holy Land and strip them of everything they contained, and during the last few months this business has received an added impetus by the discovery of the burial places of some of the most noted of Egyptian Pharaohs near Luxor in that thief-ridden country. Thousands upon thousands of columns of newspaper and magazine space is being devoted to lauding the work of the men who made the discoveries and are now at work excavating and removing millions of dollars worth of precious relics and the mummies of the old rulers. They will be distributed around in the various museums throughout the civilized world and will make great fortunes for the men who found them. No one blames these men for what they are doing, and instead they are highly praised and are said to be contributing much to the education of the world.

Can you imagine the tumult, anger and demands for justice that would be raised if a band of Egyptians came to France, raided the tomb of Napoleon and snatched his body—or went to England and stole all that remained of William Shakespeare or Queen Victoria—or came to America and robbed the tombs of Washington and Lincoln? You probably can and you will say that their cries would be justified. Yet those deeds would not be a bit worse than those that are being perpetrated year after year in their country by Americans and Europeans under the guise of science.

To find these graves and unearth them so that the secrets they contained could become known to the present generations would not be so bad, but to deliberately rob them of all they contain and take the contents and the bodies out of their native country and distribute them around in foreign lands appears to us one of the most grievous of crimes. It is lamentable that Egyptians of the present day are so lacking in the character that made their old Pharaohs so noted that the people of the world three thousand years later are willing to turn ghouls in order to learn of them. If they had any backbone or racial pride they would stop that thievery if it meant war with every other nation in the world.

The most dangerous man in the world is the man who comes to believe that life amounts to nothing, and that his task has no meaning in the sum total of things. Every man is entitled to a sense of dignity in his life; if he lacks it, either through his own folly, or through the injustice of others, he becomes a power of destruction.

Leaders Begin Task of Uniting Potato Growers

State Organization Committee to Hold First Meeting This Week.

S. G. Rubinow, in Charge of Maine Campaign, Available For Northwest.

Minnesota potato growers are to have an opportunity of perfecting a state sales organization along precisely the same lines which have proved so successful in marketing citrus fruit in California, cotton for farmers of the South, and tobacco for growers in Kentucky, Virginia and Connecticut.

After three weeks of preliminary work, assurance that the campaign actually would start came Tuesday with these developments:

First—Acceptance by 16 outstanding growers, bankers and business men scattered over the potato producing sections of the state of an appointment to serve on the organization committee.

Second—Advice from S. G. Rubinow, an associate of Aaron Sapiro, that he is in position to take charge of the Minnesota campaign if his services are desired. Mr. Rubinow is strongly recommended to Minnesota leaders by Walton Peteet, director of marketing for the American Farm Bureau Federation, because of the manner in which he handled a recent campaign in Maine.

Heading the organization committee is A. M. Dunton, manager of the Minnesota Potato Exchange, who has called the organization committee to meet on March 24. On this date, essential details of organization work will be settled.

On the organization committee will be the following, who are growers: W. A. Ferguson of Osseo, Samuel Houlten of Elk River, A. J. Niles of Grand Rapids, Mr. Dunton, B. M. Landby of Swift, J. H. Nordlund of Middle River, Robert Scott of Borup, and Marius Waldal of Plummer. The banker group is made up of James L. Mitchell of St. Paul, Joseph Ulland of Fergus Falls and C. L. Hansen of Thief River Falls. Dealers on the committee, known to have a sympathetic attitude, are Curtis Johnson of Rush City, president of the Minnesota State Fair, Charles Hart of Long Prairie, J. A. Monson of Braham, Earel A. Barker of Bemidji, and Walter Oby of Detroit.

"These men," said Mr. Dunton in announcing the personnel of the committee, "form a nucleus around which organization work will start. The committee will be enlarged as the work gets under way, as we want a representative of the association in every district in which field men are to work. Every man who has accepted has indicated unusual interest in the movement, several having said that such a plan was the only proposition that seemed to promise relief not only for potato growers, but for all lines of business in sections where potatoes are grown as a cash crop."

In its work, the organization committee will have the active co-operation of all farmer organizations and agencies in the state. No representatives of these agencies were placed on the organization committee because it was felt that the purpose of the committee would be better served if its membership was confined to those actually concerned with potato growing, financing and marketing.

Minnesota leaders are greatly encouraged because Mr. Rubinow has expressed his willingness to undertake the work. A small group met with him last week and he did not give them a definite answer at that time because his plans called for field work in New York.

Mr. Rubinow has just completed organization of the Maine potato growers, where in three months he assisted leaders there in signing up 75 per cent of all the potato acreage in the famous Aroostook potato section. The campaign started with 50,000 acres as its goal. This was reached well in advance of the date set for closing the campaign and on March 1, when Mr. Rubinow completed his contract, farmers were signing up at the rate of more than 2,000 acres a day.

The Maine campaign was carried on in the fact of bitter opposition, especially from banks and agencies that theretofore had been handling potatoes. However, according to Mr. Rubinow, as the campaign progressed, most of this opposition vanished, until at the end public sentiment generally favored the project.

Closely connected with the Minnesota campaign will be organization work in North Dakota, South Dakota and Wisconsin. Michigan potato growers also have indicated their willingness to link up with the movement.

"Feed the market, don't flood it," will be the slogan of the campaign, according to Mr. Dunton. Preliminary steps are being rushed so as to have the agency ready to function in time to handle the crop this fall.

Important matters for consideration at the committee meeting this week will be employment of a campaign manager, the membership fee to be charged, the number of acres to be signed before the sales agency is established, how the state shall be divided for organization work, and other details.

Before the month closes, Walton Peteet, whose visit to Minnesota three weeks ago made the present campaign possible, expects to meet with growers of Wisconsin and North Dakota.

Northwestern Rail Merger Opposed By Gov. Preus

would result in the traffic influencing all possible trains to go by way of the Chicago gateway and then east and greatly increase the existing congestion in the Chicago terminal.

"In opposing this 'strategy' of transcontinental traffic no consideration is given the most economic and efficient barrier between the East and West—the Great Lakes—that is, no consideration so far as it fartherest port west, Duluth, is concerned," the testimony reads.

"No grouping of the so-called northern or western lines for the future should be considered that does not give the strategic value of lake transportation and the rapidly increasing tonnage which moves by that route a prominent acting part."

The testimony also points out that the proposed St. Lawrence and Great Lakes waterway project must be taken into consideration when consolidation is contemplated. Development of the water route not only is a possibility, but according to testimony, a decided probability.

Relative to the possibility that the tentative consolidation plans would remove the twin cities and Duluth terminals to Chicago, Mr. Bowen said "the building up of the two so-called northern lines was accomplished after many years of development and there is no dispute that their natural terminus are at Duluth, St. Paul and Minneapolis."

In a communication by Governor Preus to Mr. Bowen urging the Railroad and Warehouse commission to oppose the consolidation plan at the hearing, the governor said the proposed consolidation of the railroads under the plan of the Interstate Commerce commission would, if carried through, make a way station out of the twin cities.

Veterans' Bureau Enlarges Office Quarters at St. Paul

Sub-District Office at Duluth Discontinued—Doctor and Field Man to Continue There.

Effective Jan. 25, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, District Ten, Keith-Plaza Bldg., Minneapolis, made a number of changes in its sub-district territories, in the interest of greater efficiency in handling the cases of disabled veterans, according to an announcement by C. D. Hibbard, district manager.

Parts of Minnesota were formerly under the jurisdiction of five different sub-district offices, but under the new plan all of the work in the state will be handled through the St. Paul office, in the Hamm building, except that in Hennepin county, which will remain under the Minneapolis office.

Heretofore the St. Paul office had jurisdiction over thirteen counties; now it has 86 counties with more than 1800 disabled men taking vocational training. About 1200 of these are in various schools, while the remainder are in placement training on the job in various shops, factories and other industrial establishments.

This change puts about 17,000 cases into the files of the St. Paul sub-district office, which is double the number formerly there. By transfer from other offices, the working force in St. Paul has been increased by nine training officers, three nurses and twelve clerical workers.

As now arranged, all work in district No. 10 will be managed on state lines. The Helena office will cover the state of Montana; Sioux Falls will look after South Dakota cases, and Fargo the North Dakota ones, while St. Paul will be responsible for all Minnesota cases except those in Hennepin county.

The small sub-district office at Duluth has been discontinued as an administrative unit, although a doctor and two field men will continue to make headquarters there.

court, and it is probable that this appeal will also be dropped.

The objectors had also filed a demand for jury trial as to the assessments for benefits and this case would have come up befoer the Red Lake county district court at the March term, which starts March 26, but Theo. Quale has signfied his intention of dropping this case in view of the attitude of the drainage board.

The congressional act authorizing the improvement of Red Lake and Red Lake river was approved February 21, 1921, and expired by limitation February 21, 1923. Efforts of Mr. Selvig and former Congressman Steenerson to have the secretary of the interior give his consent to extending the time limit so that improvement could be started at some future time,, resulted in failure.

FAIR AUTO TAX IS LAW MAKERS' AIM

Agreed that automobile taxes must be kept well up to the $18 average voted in Amendment No. 1—all that is asked by the highway department—to carry forward the state good roads program, legislative committees at a joint meeting virtually agreed on new tax schedules.

Automobiles now lower in price and many taking the 3 and 5-year depreciation allowances, some advance in tax rates was shown necessary to produce reasonable funds. With a net gain of 25,000 cars this year, receipts are figured at $500,000 less than in 1922.

No increases will be made in taxes on 82 out of every 100 cars registered in the state—those to take the $12 minimum on passenger cars and $15 on trucks. But higher priced cars may be taxed a fraction of one per cent more and commercial busses and trucks at considerably higher rates. This is expected to bring the average tax, now down to $14.46, nearer to the $18 figure, although probably not up to the old personal property tax totals.

Old cars will be taxed less than new ones of like makes under the proposed new law and efforts will be made to correct other inequalities. Proposals for rates based on weight, usage and so forth, brought a legal ruling that the constitution limits the basis to value. This may be broadened, it was said, by a gasoline tax amendment at the next election.

Senate and House committeemen were practically unanimous in the opinion that automobile owners can pay double thte present taxes and still make a net profit on the use of the improved highways. It was repeated that this use is worth $12 a year of any car owner's money and those with expensive cars can afford to pay larger sums to extend the better roads. Both city and country members agreed there was little complaint against auto taxes with the main exception of the cases where old cars are taxed more than new ones—one of the inequalities sure to be eliminated.

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. F. J. Stebbins, druggist.

'Tain't Reasonable.

A woman from a rural district of New England was taken to visit an art museum. In one of the rooms the attendant pointed out a collection of beautiful vases excavated at Herculaneum.

"What?" exclaimed the woman. "Dug up? Out of the ground?"

"Yes, madame."

"Just like they are now?"

"Oh, they've been cleaned up a bit, but they were found about as you see them."

"Well," shaking her head, "you may say what you like, but I don't for one minute believe they ever dug up ready made pots out of the ground."

Cut Education Costs, Plea of School Boards

Meeting Favors Elimination of "Frills"—Greater Efficiency Is Urged.

Legislature Asked to Appropriate Funds to Meet Deficiency in Aid Fund.

Reduction in the cost of education, elimination of non-essentials called "frills" and "fads" and increased efficiency in school work were urged at the second annual convention of the Minnesota School Board Association, held recently in St. Paul.

The organization has for its purpose the improvement of the state's school system through group action by those directly concerned.

The association re-elected all its officers, Victor E. Anderson, Wheaton, president; M. W. Williams, Lanesboro, vice president. and A. A. Haagenson, Barnesville, treasurer.

An outstanding feature of the meeting was the passage of a resolution asking that teachers' salaries be reduced, in keeping with the present downward trend of wage levels. "The cost of the public school system in Minnesota," the resolution says, "has reached a point from which reductions will have to be made or the entire structure is in grave danger of complete breakdown. Teachers should bear their just share in the retrenchment of such costs and it is also essential that the efficiency of our schools be greatly increased." Minimum wage laws or other similar legislation with regard to teachers is opposed.

The convention asked that the legislature make an appropriation to meet a 26 per cent deficiency in the state school aid fund.

Steps toward efficiency urged were an avoidance of new or additional departments in public schools, strictest economy on the part of school boards, an increase in the number of pupils per teacher and a reduction in the amount of supervision.

An investigation of present prices for text books and furniture, held "controlled and unreasonable," is to be made by a committee of three, appointed by the chairman.

Distribution of state aid at the rate of $50 instead of $40 as proposed by the interim educational committee is urged. The convention also urged that the state pay school districts at the rate of $7 instead of $5 per non-resident pupil, as proposed by the interim committee.

A special state aid fund equal to an assessment of at least three mills on taxable property in addition to the present one mill tax was indorsed. Distribution and administration should be such as to give rural schools more nearly the same educational advantages as have urban centers.

The full strength of the association is pledged to a movement to make the school boards the prime educational force in their respective sections. "State aid should not be made a condition dependent upon any requirement for any specified courses of study or additional buildings," the resolution said.

Reconstruction of the course of study at the state university so that children may be able to get at least a two-year college course at home, and changes in the high school course be made so as to make those institutions "parts of a real people's college instead of a mere feeder to the university."

Selection of members of the Board of Regents from all parts of the state, with adequate representation for agriculture, is urged.

The Better Way to Health

RESULTS are responsible for unlimited confidence in the claim that Chiropractic will correct the CAUSE of most sickness. RESULTS in getting sick folks well are responsible for our success as Chiropractors.

We have no desire to boast, but we do have absolute confidence in our ability to deliver health to the sick. We consider it our privilege, yes, our duty to let others know that they may benefit.

Stop and think, is there anything equal to confidence—pure unadulterated 100 per cent confidence?! Think of the perfect satisfaction that comes to the Doctor when he knows, and knows that he knows, and then having put that knowledge to the acid test with gratifying results, he knows that he can do it again and again.

As Doctors of Chiropractic we know that the CAUSE of fully 90 per cent of the sickness in this community can be corrected with Chiropractic Adjustments. The fact that our patients do recover their health after trying other methods, creates confidence in our claim that Chiropractic is really and truly the better way to health.

Five Pennington County Young Farmers Graduate

Donald McCrum of Thief River Falls Among Members of Class Receiving Diplomas.

James Homme, Highlanding, Jesse Anderson, Erie, Selmer Anderson, Erie, Donald McCrum, Thief River Falls, and Johanna Nabben, Thief River Falls, are members of the graduating class of the Northwest School of Agriculture, which will hold its fifteenth annual commencement exercises on Thursday, March 29. Twenty-eight seniors and seven advanced course students will receive their diplomas. The graduation class address will be given by Dean W. C. Coffey and the diplomas presented by Superintendent C. G. Selvig. Seven Caleb Dorr scholarships of $50.00 each from the bequest to the University will be awarded. In the forenoon of commencement day various practical school demonstrations and class exercises will serve to show the parents and visitors something of the scope and quality of work being done at the Northwest School.

Other events of the week include the reception to the senior class by Superintendent and Mrs. Selvig, the declamatory contest, and on Sunday, March 25, the sermon to the graduating class by Rev. Allen O. Birchenough of Larimore, N. D.

With the class of 1923 included more than five hundred young people from this section of the state have graduated from the Northwest School since its organization and nearly two thousand have been in attendance. This year's graduates includes students from 14 counties. This year that is closing has been one of the most successful in the school's history.

Woman Elected Mayoress of Plummer by Big Vote

Carolina Cringstad Defeated at Erskine, Where Sunday Movies Are Biggest Question.

Mrs. Frank Snyder of Plummer has the distinction of being the first woman to be elected mayor of a Red Lake county village. Mrs. Snyder polled 34 votes to 14 for O. H. Langlie and her election occasioned quite a surprise in Plummer. The contest for mayor or president of the council as the title of the office officially reads, was the only one at the Plummer election. Only 48 voted for mayor though Plummer cast 107 votes at the last general election.

Mrs. Carolina P. Cringstad, who has served as president of the council at Erskine during the past year, went down to defeat at Tuesday's election in one of the most hotly-contested village elections held there in years. Mrs. Cringstad received 30 votes to 96 for A. F. Cronquist, business man there.

The question of whether or not the movies were to be permitted to show in the village on Sunday evenings was one of the main questions, and while several of the voters failed to register their vote on this question, one hundred ninety did vote and were lined up as follows: In favor of allowing the movies 109; against 81.

Legion Members Entertain Business Men at "Smoker"

Luncheon, Music and Cards Are Order of Things at Clubrooms Wednesday, March 14.

Members of Elmer Eklund post of the American Legion entertained Thief River Falls business men at a "smoker" given at the clubrooms of the Legion a week ago Monday evening. Luncheon, a musical program and cards featured the entertainment and several addresses were made.

Oscar Paulson, commander of the local post, presented to the business men present the aims and purposes of the Legionnaires, and stated that the membership always stood ready to be of mutual assistance to the business men in every undertaking benefiting the city as a whole. He also gave his listeners a clear-cut statement concerning the money spent by the post in assisting former service men in getting back to normal in civil life and showed where many of them had been aided and others that would receive help in the future.

A proposed Turkish law makes it compulsory for women to marry by the time they are 25 years of age. It is assumed, apparently, that the law need not apply to men, who no doubt are as easily captured in Turkey as elsewhere.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

To Give Entertainment.

At their next regular meeting at the high school auditorium on Monday evening, April 2, the Parent-Teachers' association will present a local talent entertainment consisting of music by some of the best musical talent in the city and a dramatic reading of "The Melting Pot," by Gretel Lowe Arnold. This sterling melodrama, written by the noted English author, Israel Zangwill, was given in Thief River Falls a few years ago and was very highly spoken of by those who were fortunate enough to hear it. It has a noble patriotic theme and deals with the immigration problem and the amalgamation of the different races. The author presents America as the great melting pot, where people from all the nations are being fused into the coming American. The entertainment is free to the public and everyone is invited to attend. Full program will be printed in next week's issue of The Tribune.

SHERIFF AND DEPUTY ARREST NICK BAKER ON "MOON" CHARGE

Sheriff Ihle and Deputy Kongelf last Friday evening arrested Nick Baker at his farm home seven miles east of the city, and in the search of the premises which followed found a considerable amount of "moon," as well as the customary paraphernalia for its manufacture. The inventory of the capture filed with Judge Tarrant discloses the following:

Three and a half quarts of liquor.
Four quart jars.
One quart bottle.
One complete still.
One kerosene oil stove.

Baker was arraigned before Judge Tarrant Saturday morning and at that time waived preliminary examination. He was released upon furnishing $500 bail for his appearance at the June term of district court.

The Save-U-Money store, one of a chain of clothing establishments operating in Minnesota towns, will open for business here Saturday in the store building recently vacated by the Co-operative Meat Market at 210 LaBree avenue, next door to the Lyceum theatre.

The new store is under the management of Arthur E. Keith, who recently moved here with his family from Stillwater, Minn., the home of the organization. The work of placing the quarters of the store in readiness for the opening day is practically completed and almost all of the stock has arrived.

An opening sale is announced for Saturday, according to an advertisement which appears in this issue of The Tribune. All sales of the store are made for cash only.

Make It a Hot One, Says Mr. Barnard

Officers to Be Elected and Plans to Be Discussed Tomorrow Night.

Members of the Thief River Falls Golf club, and we presume others interested in becoming members, are invited to attend the annual meeting of the club, which will be held tomorrow (Thursday) evening at the rooms of the Commercial club at the Auditorium, beginning promptly at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to elect officers for the ensuing year, to discuss future plans of the club, and to transact such other business as may come before the meeting.

Since its inception last year, the Thief River Golf club has been successful far beyond the fondest dreams of its promoters. A beautiful tract of land was acquired on the Jorgen Eide farm just north of the Soo roundhouse, and under the direction of W. A. Barnard and Ralph Sheldon four holes were finished last year, so that considerable playing took place at the links during the latter part of the summer. The course runs along Thief River, and besides being a beauty spot which compares with any to be found in Northern Minnesota, it is a natural golf course in that many hazards skirt the river, while the ground along the highway is just rolling enough to make it attractive.

There are more than 30 full memberships on the rolls of the club and this should be increased to 50. Golf has come to be the universal sport of all classes of people, as attested by the fact that nearly all cities of importance now have their public links in addition to the large number of private courses which are being constructed on every hand.

As above stated, the Thief River club has been most successful, which means that it is in fine shape financially, and merits therefore the support of every golf fan in the city and community. Golf is a wonderful game, calling into play the muscular and mental efforts of the player to an extent which cannot be found in any other out door exercise.

Remember the golf meeting tomorrow night (Thursday) and do not fail to be there.

John Hendry, student at St. Thomas, arrived Tuesday to spend the Easter vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendry.

Moonshiner Nabbed.

Warroad Pioneer: "Nick," the moonshiner, who was operating a still in the jungles of Canada, just across the International boundary, was picked up by a couple of mounted police last week and fined $200 or six months in jail. We are under the impression that Nick will be a subject of His Majesty for a few months at least. He is well known here, as this place was where he disposed of most of his product.

"Jack" Brendecke Arrested by Sheriff on Liquor Charge

Sheriff Saw Him Sell Alcohol to John E. Gustafson and Promptly Nabbed the Latter.

Fred C. Brendecke, better known locally as "Jack," was bound over to the district court last Thursday on a charge of selling a half pint of alcohol to John E. Gustafson, the latter having signed a statement of the sale in the presence of the sheriff and two witnesses. When arraigned before Judge Tarrant, Brendecke gave bail in the sum of $500 and was then given his release.

The arrest of Brendecke followed a bit of shrewd detective work on the part of Sheriff Ihle. Having seen him in the company of Gustafson, and noting the exchange of money for liquor, which took place at the rear of the Vorachek building at the corner of LaBree avenue and First street, he followed Gustafson and requested him to come to the court house, where the liquor was promptly produced and details of the transaction told in full, followed by a signed statement which the sheriff expects to use as evidence.

Child Cripples Urgently Appeal to Legislature

Legislative Appropriation of $50,000 Asked to Supplement Collection.

The eyes of two hundred little crippled children are turned toward the State Capitol this week pleadingly. There is pending before the present session a bill appropriating $50,444 toward the erection of the Dowling Memorial Hall. Their distorted misshapen little bodies will there be trained that they may stand upright, self-supporting, asking no favors nor charity at the hands of the public.

Mike Dowling, crippled beyond description, by example proved what education will do. Two hundred little Mike Dowlings today await the same chance that he got. This isn't philanthropy nor charity—its' good common sense to enable these little ones to support themselves.

Long after recollection has failed of the members of this legislature, there will stand a monument at Phalen Park, St. Paul, erected to the memory of "Minnesota's gamest man," a useful institution training crippled children as yet unborn to upstanding citizenship.

The Phalen Park Hospital is the only state institution that can be said to be doing real constructive work. There are on the waiting list at the hospital 200 or more children in need of the care and treatment which the patients there are receiving. The proposed Dowling Memorial will provide accommodations for these children and will be a God-send to all of them.

We all favor practical economy in state affairs, but we cannot afford to neglect the wards of the state, especially where the work will ultimately save the tax payers of the state money.

Our representatives are to be commended for the stand they have taken for economy generally speaking, but it is not economy to withhold an appropriation or to refuse making an appropriation that means so much to these crippled children and to the state itself as does the appropriation here referred to.

It should be borne in mind that the people of Minnesota have voluntarily contributed $50,000 toward the erection of this building. This contribution has come from thousands of individuals in all parts of the state, and it shows a strong popular sentiment in favor of the movement and ought to convince every member of the legislature that there is a popular demand for such an appropriation.

W. C. T. U. to Meet.

The W. C. T. U. will meet Tuesday afternoon, April 3, at the Community parlors. The program will consist of several papers on community responsibility toward social morals; also music. Lunch will be served.

Ihle Retains Job on Council When Deadlock Ensues

Little Business Transacted by City Dads at Regular Meeting Last Night.

O. L. Ihle, sheriff of Pennington county and alderman-at-large, still retains his job on the city council despite efforts to resign, which were made as early as last January. When the proposition of his resignation came up at a regular meeting of the council held at the council chambers last night a tie vote resulted and Ihle is still a member of the city governing board.

John Dahl and Sever Brandon voted to accept the resignation of Ihle and H. A. Brumund, president of the council, and Carl Froseth voted in the negative. Andrew Ness, alderman from the Fourth ward, is in the twin cities attending the municipalities convention.

The resignation of Mr. Ihle was first placed before the council last January. It was in verbal form and other members of the council requested that it be placed in writing, which was done before the meeting following. At this meeting, however, the matter was laid over and no action taken, and since then Ihle has been seeking to have something done about it. It is not believed, however, that the fact he is sheriff would hinder his serving on the board of aldermen, but owing to the press of county business, Ihle felt he did not have the time to properly attend to his aldermanic duties.

A resolution was introduced by Alderman Froseth directing the payment of $1,611.77 to J. J. Robertson, the amount due on the third estimate on filter and pump equipment for the new filtration plant.

The council granted the use of the city auditorium to the Thief River Falls boy scouts organization on April 13, when the local body expects to put on a big dance in order to raise funds for various activities of the organization this summer. The scouts will have the use of the auditorium for $20.

No other business came before the meeting and at 11 o'clock an adjournment was taken.

Parents of Dr. Booren Observe Golden Wedding

An event of unusual interest occurred yesterday at Stillwater, Minn., when Mr. and Mrs. August Booren, parents of Dr. G. W. Booren of this city, celebrated their golden wedding in the presence of their five children and scores of invited guests. The aged couple, who are still hale and hearty, came to this country from Sweden more than fifty years ago and their wedding took place at Stillwater on March 27, 1873.

Mr. and Mrs. Booren have continued to make their home at Stillwater during all these years, both having participated actively in the promotion of the famous St. Croix Valley. Mr. Booren is well known to the early settlers of Minnesota, having served for some time as a member of the Minnesota legislature from the Stillwater district. The couple have three sons and two daughters, all of whom attended the big event at Stillwater yesterday.

Dr. Booren and his eldest son, Jack, left Saturday for Stillwater to be present at the golden wedding. They are expected to return to the city tomorrow.

Community Girls Organize New Recreational Club

On Thursday evening of this week the younk folks who spend their evenings at the Girls' Community club rooms met to organize a club to provide recreation for its members and help in entertaining others. Membership in the club will be open to all high school students and all others over the age of 14. About 35 of the young people are organizing the club and the membership promises to be large and enthusiastic.

The attendance at the club rooms has not been large the last few evenings on account of the bad weather, but the time has passed enjoyably.

Ness Represents City.

Andrew Ness, alderman from the Fourth ward, is attending the convention of Minnesota municipalities this week at St. Paul, as a representative of the city. These conventions are annual affairs and are participated in by the principal towns of the state, the discussions having to do with the various problems submitted to the city councils, such as accounting and methods of expediting business.

Press Praises Film Brought Here by Legion

"Man Without a Country" Has Won Unanimous Praise of Nation.

"Picture to Stir Blood of Every American Citizen," Say News Reports.

The American Legion's classic film, "The Man Without a Country," which comes to the Lyceum theatre Wednesday and Thursday under the auspices of Elmer J. Eklund Post of the American Legion, has won the unanimous praise of the metropolitan press. The following is an editorial from the New York Evening Mail:

"Without the usual fanfare and blare of trumpets, noisy exploitation or any of the usual display which accompanies the introduction of something new in the theatre, a motion picture came to the Town Hall yesterday which is worthy to be classed with the finest film productions that Broadway has seen.

"The picture is the picturization of Edward Everett Hale's immortal 'The Man Without a Country,' starring Arnold Daly, and is being presented at the Town Hall this week under the auspices of the local American Legion for the benefit of ex-service men out of employment.

"Entirely aside from the worthy cause for which it is being presented and wholly on its own merits, 'The Man Without a Country' should pack the Town Hall at every performance. It is one of those rare films of which we have had exceedingly few the past year, which demonstrates the real art of which the screen is capable.

"The picture unfolds the story in a simple, unaffected, wholly sincere manner that grips the spectator and gives him a new view of one of the most famous episodes in American history. It is a picture to stir the blood of every American.

"The artistry of Arnold Daly, who is starred in the film and plays the title role is magnificent. And Charles E. Graham and Duncan McRae, playing the roles of Aaron Burr and Alexander Hamilton, respectively, are not far behind the star. Sidney Brace as Capt. Gautier, P. R. Scammon as Thomas Jefferson, Anna Lehr as Agnes Churchill, and Mary Kennison Carr, as Mrs. Hamilton, are all good.

"Go to see 'The Man Without a Country.' It is one of the extremely few pictures that you can not afford to miss, whether you are a motion picture fan or not."

A wedding of much local interest occurred in this city last Thursday, when Miss Ina Stageberg became the bride of Henry George Stein of Killdeer, N. D. The ceremony was performed at the home of the groom's parents, 617 Main avenue, by Rev. George Larson in the presence of Guy Oftelie and Miss Florence Stageberg, the latter a sister of the bride.

The afternoon was spent in music and singing, following a delicious wedding dinner. A farewell party for the newlyweds was given Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, being participated in by their many friends in the Zion church.

The contracting parties are well known and highly respected in this city and the sincere well wishes of a host of friends will go with them to their new home at Killdeer, N. D., where they will reside in the future upon a beautiful half section farm.

Ed Korstad to Open New Haberdashery in This City

Former Clothing Merchant Will Open Furnishings Store in McGinn Block Next Week.

Ed. Korstad, who with his brothers was engaged in the clothing and furnishing business in this city up to seven years ago, has again decided to engage in business in this city. He has taken a lease on the store room in the McGinn block formerly used as an annex by the Christenson Hardware company, and will open next week with a full stock of gents' furnishing goods.

"Ed" who has been in charge of the Elks quarters, is very popular locally and no doubt he will attract a fair share of the business of the city and community. His store will be known as "Korstad's Haberdashery," and he expects to make the store the mecca for buyers of furnishing goods. A large part of ihs stock has already arrived and the balance will be here in time for the opening of the store, which will take place next week, beginning Monday.

JUDGE GRINDELAND TO HEAR APPLICANTS FOR CITIZENSHIP

Special Term For That Purpose to Be Held at Court House Friday and Saturday This Week.

Judge Grindeland will arrive in Thief River Falls Friday of this week to hear the applications for citizenship of five appilcants, who with their witnesses are expected to take up two days' time of the court. The men who have applied for final citizenship are as follows:

John Martin Lokken of this city, who came from Norway in 1893.

Ole John Ness of this city, who came from Norway in 1913.

The granting of citizenship papers is a more solemn and exacting performance than it used to be, and in many places special exercises are held upon occasions of that kind. No special exercises are planned here but it is expected that considerable time will be devoted by the judge to the examination of applicants and witnesses.

Interest Grows Among County Sugar Beet Men

Upwards of 2,200 acres of sugar beets will be grown throughout the Thief River Falls district this summer, according to local men in charge of the beet industry, and this acreage will be distributed among approximately 200 growers, who will plant on an average of about 11 acres each. The acreage is divided over a considerable territory.

Growers in immediate Thief River Falls territory will plant more than 500 acres, for which contracts already have been signed up. Other towns up and down the line from Thief River Falls will plant acreages about as follows:

Lancaster, 100 acres; Bronson, 104; Strandquist, 100; Newfolden, 140; Silverton, 60; Stop No. 4 on the electric line, 45; Engens' Spur, 20; Copp's Spur, 40; St. Hilaire. 40; Oklee, 200; Red Lake Falls, 80; Brooks, 60; Mahnomen, 370; Bejou, 150, and Waubun, 180 acres. It will be noted that Mahnomen growers have signed up a considerable acreage.

The carload of sugar beets is expected to arrive from the Mason City factory some time this week and as soon as groowers apply for their allotments they will be given out.

In spite of inclement weather conditions, the interest manifested among the various growers is running high and with the arrival of "real spring" weather it is expected the entire sugar beet industry will take firm grip, and the farmers will take hold and consider it one of their major crops this year.

The announcement of Northwest railroads making a rate of $2.25 per ton on all shipments of sugar beets going to the Mason City factory has had good effect upon the growers.

William Haenke, a resident of Moline, Ill., one of the successful sugar beet growers of that section, has been in Thief River Falls all this week and has leased a farm a few miles east of Hazel, where he will plant 50 acres into beets this year. Mr. Haenke is a member of a Belgian farming community in Illinois and several of his countrymen in that section have expressed a desire to come to this locality to get into the sugar beet raising industry here. He states that during the summer months the farmers there are busily engaged in raising beets and in the winter are employed in the beet factory, thereby assuring them of steady employment the year around.

Earl C. Moore, agricultural manager of the Mason City plant, has sent word to Thief River Falls that as soon as the roads open up he will make the journey here by automobile. Mr. Moore expects to remain in the district during the summer to direct sugar beet growing among the various farmers.

Compliments Miss Forde.

The critic of the Minneapolis Journal in last night's issue pays a high compliment to the artistic talent of Miss Laura Forde, former music teacher of Thief River Falls, upon the occasion of her recital at Studio Hall. Miss Forde is a pupil of Mme. Bailey-Apfelbeck.

McCann to Remain With Pennington Farm Bureau

Sugar Beet Committee Takes Initiative in Inducing Retiring Agent to Remain in Local Field.

As a result of several hastily arranged meetings held by citizens of Thief River Falls and farmers residing near by, J. J. McCann, of the Farm Bureau, who announced Monday that he would retire from the local Farm Bureau immediately, expecting to assume a position at Rochester, Minn., in club work in Olmstead county, has now been induced to remain here for the present season at least, his decision being announced this noon after conference with interested people and the assurance of the local committee that releases would be obtained for him at Rochester.

Members of the sugar beet committee became alarmed when informed on Saturday that Mr. McCann had decided to retire from the local field, and immediately set out to secure financial arrangements which would enable him to remain.

Mr. McCann likes his work here but dissatisfaction within the Farm Bureau, resulting in a large loss in membership, the failure of the county commissioners to make the required appropriation and other factors more or less discordant in their nature, led to his decision to accept the Rochester offer, which was for a period of three years.

Members of the sugar beet committee felt that Mr. McCann was needed here now more than ever before because of the vast amount of work incident to the campaign which will be carried on this year, and hence they made every effort to induce Mr. McCann to stay. The local committee has agreed to secure his release from the Rochester contract.

His decision to remain will be hailed with delight by all people interested in the welfare of the community. Mr. McCann is exceptionally able and has rendered services in the local field which made him invaluable at this time. Besides continuing his work for the Farm Bureau he will give considerable of his time to the sugar beet situation under the terms of his present agreement.

Mrs. Arnold to Appear at Meet of P. T. Society

Dramatic Reader and Entertainer to Present "The Melting Pot" Monday.

Several Prominent Numbers on Program of Parent-Teachers' Association.

The regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association will be held on Monday evening, April 2, in the assembly room of the Lincoln high school. The meeting will open at 8 o'clock and a splendid program has been arranged, including the reading of "The Melting Pot," by Mrs. Gretel Lowe Arnold of this city.

"The Melting Pot" is a sterling melodrama with a patriotic theme and is one of Israel Zangwill's most popular works. It deals with the immigration problem and the amalgamation of the different peoples woven into a plot of love and ambition. The author presents America as the great melting pot, where people from all the nations are being fused into the coming American.

Mrs. Arnold has presented "The Melting Pot" in various places in the state during the past and has received high comment for her work both from newspapers and the public. Says the Daily American at Montevideo, where Mrs. Arnold recently appeared: "Mrs. Arnold held the audience spellbound and was master of the situation at all times, displaying talent of the highest order."

In addition, the following numbers will be presented: Piano duet, Mrs. C. O. Erickson and Miss Mildred Engen; vocal solo, Roy Prytz; vocal duet, Mrs. Charles Nason and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr.; vocal solo, Mrs. O. F. Mellby. A male quartette, led by Dr. P. L. Vistaunet, will render several numbers.

HAVE YOU LOST A STILL?

The top of a still, a mysterious copper contrivance, was found yesterday in an alley between Sixth and Seventh streets, near Knight avenue. From appearances the device has been lost in hasty moving operations. It is made of solid copper and looks expensive, and no doubt the owner will miss it. The lost article may be had upon proper identification by applying to Sheriff Ihle, who now has it in his possession.

SIXTY-FOUR CREAMERY PATRONS TAKE $50 CHECKS IN FEBRUARY

Peter Engelstad Leads With $279.79—Business of Institution Continues Satisfactory Growth.

The following list of patrons of the Co-operative creamery whose checks exceed $50 for the month of February, has been prepared for The Tribune by Secretary Bjerke. The showing is a most satisfactory one and indicates a steady and satisfactory growth on the part of an institution which is secondary to none in the commercial growth of the city and community. Bronson Cow Buried Three Weeks in Straw Pile, Lives

Animal Fell Into Excavation Made by Straw Haulers—Expected to Be as Well as Ever.

Tobias Thompson, a farmer living near Bronson, lost his only cow three weeks ago. He found her Thursday buried in a straw stack a short distance from the barn, gaunt and weak.

The animal had walked to the top of the straw stack on the frozen snow and fallen into a cavity in the stack made by some of Thompson's neighbors who had hauled straw from there.

Considering the extremely low temperature and stormy weather during the last three weeks it seems almost miraculous to Mr. Thompson that the animal had not perished. Mr. Thompson believes that with good care in a short time his cow will be as good as ever.

Liquor Not Needed as Medicine, Say Doctors

World-Known Physicians, in Public Statements, Place Alcoholic Beverages in Bad Light.

Dr. Charles H. Mayo, one of the famous Mayo surgeons of Rochester, Minnesota, in his presidential address before the American Medical Association, 1917, said: "Medicine has reached a period when alcohol is rarely employed as a drug, being displaced by better remedies. Alcohol's only place now is in the arts and sciences."

"Alcohol is passing as a popular remedy."—Winfield S. Hall, dean of the Medical Faculty, Northwestern University, Chicago.

"Alcoholic liquors are to my mind not only not valuable, but distinctly disadvantageous in the treatment of disease, except in rare instances."—David L. Edsall, dean of the Medical Faculty, Harvard.

"I believe that alcohol has no important uses in medicine."Richard C. Cabot, Professor of Medicine, Harvard.

"Alcohol is not a heart stimulant. It has no tonic action. Alcohol causes a patient to feel better only by its strong narcotic effect, and this feeling of betterment is later followed by the depression of all vital activities, namely, there is mental weariness, circulatory weakness, loss of appetite, and impaired function of all internal secreting glands. Alcohol as a drug is only rarely needed in the treatment of disease, and then only in small amounts, and for a short time, much as a physician would use any other narcotic or circulatory depressant drug."—Oliver T. Osborne, Professor of Therapeutics, Yale.

Dr. Howard A. Kelly, of Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, in a recent address to about 1,500 medical students in Philadelphia, advised them never to prescribe alcoholic liquors for their patients, despite the advice of older physicians, who, he declared, prescribe liquor from force of habit.

"If during the last quarter of a century I have prescribed almost no alcohol in the treatment of disease, it is because I have found very little reason for its use; and it seemed to me that my patients got on better without it."—Sir James Barr, Dean, Liverpool University Medical School.

"From the statements of many chemists and investigators we may infer that the internal use of alcohol is of no help to the sick and can well be abandoned in their treatment."—From resolutions passed by the leading Medical Society of Russia, May, 1915.

A critter three years old can hardly be called a calf, but that is the way the daily papers refer to an animal that was sold by a farmer living near Aberdeen, S. D., the other day. This calf had two heads, three horns, three nostrils and was in several other ways a little "different." The purchaser was a Florida man who is making a specialty of collecting freak animals. He paid $500 for the calf.

AS OTHERS THINK

HALVORSON FAVORS FIXED PRICES.

Thief River Falls, Minn.
March 26, 1923.

To The Tribune:

We are just now reading about the officials and semi-officials of the Federal Reserve Bank touring the country and holding meetings for the ostensible purpose of devising ways and means whereby the farmers may get better prices for their 1923 crop.

They talk diversified farming, curtailment of wheat acreage, increased production in flax, and then wind up by saying that "in the last analysis" it is the individual farmer who must himself solve the proposition and set things right.

It is to be assumed that men who occupy responsible positions, such as the one held by John R. Mitchell, would have studied the situation carefully before coming into the country to enlighten the inhabitants, but it seems that he is as much at sea as he was at the price stabilization convention in St. Paul, for at no time has he offered a practical remedy or indicated that he had any knowledge of world prices.

It is peculiar that the great majority of those who profess to be advisors upon the question of agricultural welfare, should in the first instance be solicitous of the European buyer. He seems to think that his first concern is the whim of our customer in Europe and that it is his business to please Europe first and the question of the farmers' profit is secondary.

It seems to me that the first duty we owe to the farmer as well as to ourselves is to lend whatever assistance we may in order that the farmer will be assured a fair price and then make Europe pay that price, if she wants our products.

If Mr. Mitchell and others would permit themselves to consider world markets in the true light and learn just how foreign prices are set they would get over being apprehensive lest Europe might not thrive.

Europe for ages has dictated to the balance of the world what she would pay for wheat and other kindred products, and it is now time that the producer should have a voice in this matter.

Let Mr. Mitchell go back to his office and give his time to the working out of such a problem, then he will have performed a public service worth while; but running around the country talking farm problems to farmers is a waste of time and money, for the farmers know their problems and Mr. Mitchell can be of no assistance in that regard.

Let governors, corporation officials and financiers understand that the farmer knows his problems, over which he has control, but what he needs is help in getting prices, and this item cannot be reached by the application of any home remedy.

The proposition is not difficult to understand. In short, the prices on our exports are fixed by the European market syndicate as indicated and controlled by the great exchanges in Liverpool and other places and the balance of the world by force of habit, rather than by any other means, submits to this domination and THAT is how our prices are set, and not by over or under production. And this being a great financial machine cannot be affected by any so-called co-operative or orderly marketing. This European buying syndicate is a world power and no organization of farmers can ever affect it, so it is clear to see that curtailment in production and orderly marketing are simply delusions.

If the United States would by congress declare that a bushel of wheat is worth a certain price, which of course would be a reasonable price, the balance of the grain raising world which has suffered with us, would hail this leadership with joy, for they would be relieved from the humiliation of asking for a price and would be in a position where they could demand a price, the same as any other business must do in order to live.

Many in financial life claim that government intervention in the way of setting prices is in violation of economic law or unsound financially but in this regard I would like to suggest that the first law of economics that I know of is that the farmers must have a profit and if they are without power to control prices then it becomes the duty of the government to lend its hand.

Let high financiers devote their time to the solution of this problem and lead the public into the line of right thinking upon this subject—then the solution will not be difficult; but so long as they flounder about trying to please Europe then they will get nowhere.

Very truly,
G. HALVORSON.

THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINNESOTA

Crowd at Capitol Urges Road Bonds

Proves Popularity of Plan to Advance Program Without Tax Increase.

Big Gathering of Farmers and Business Men Asks Favorable Action.

A big demonstration, virtually a good roads rally, at a public hearing in the state capitol Friday night before public highway committees of the senate and house, showed how opposition has been magnified and went far to pave the way for favorable action on state highway bond legislation, according to reports from St. Paul.

Scores of farmers and business men from all parts of the state, who paid their own expenses or drew them from local organizations which they represented, took advantage of an opportunity, they said, to finally put the Minnesota good roads movement "over the top." Public-spirited citizens identified with the Good Roads Amendment No. 1 campaign in almost every locality joined forces at the capitol to do their bit toward insuring the biggest success of the highway program.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, outlined the bond plan. He received a great ovation. The commissioner's statements and his prompt answers to every possible objection raised won an almost unanimouse "vote of confidence."

The large gathering went on record decisively in favor of the highway bond program when Commissioner Babcock presented the proposition:

"Do you want to go ahead or let other states beat you to it? We can go on without adding a cent to taxes. Over 50 per cent of the trunk highway system is improved. Do you want to quit now?"

Farmers responding to newspaper announcements that the public would be heard on the bond proposals fought for recognition from the chairman that they might testify how the highway program is building up all roads. The commissioner had made it clear that the Minnesota plan is one first to improve and maintain the farm-to-market roads. He showed how all county and proposed state bonds with interest can be paid out in full in 20 years and made to give the use of more good roads every year under the bond plan.

The opposition was voiced mainly by a farmer-banker from a district in which the roads have been extensively improved by the use of about $500,000 of trunk highway funds. One member of the legislature indicated that he might offer his objections later, and a few asked questions that showed they either lacked information or were misled on the bond plan. This diversion fanned up the enthusiasm of the hundreds of good roads enthusiasts that packed the house chamber and galleries and adjoining halls.

Commissioner Babcock gave positive assurance that the bond plan will mean the biggest success for the highway program. He showed how the local roads are being built rapidly and local taxes are decreasing and how provision for larger working capital now will mean the most effective and prompt results on the state highways. He referred to the responsibility of the state legislature to carry on the road program as demanded by the great majority and made easy by the pending recommendations.

Almost every senator and representative present at the hearing was surrounded by citizens from his district bent upon securing his vote for the bond bills. Many self-appointed delegates took pride in announcing that their members were supporting the bond measure. Others said their members were becoming convinced that the bond plan is favored by all who have obtained the facts and studied it and that the people of the state will be given the benefit of its adoption. Senate and house committees are expected to report out the bond bills soon, following the hearing given the individual citizens and representatives of farm bureau, commercial, and other like organizations from every part of the state.

Co-Operative Marketing

The idea of Co-Operative marketing is neither new nor novel, but the recent discussions in and out of the legislature in connection with the measures now pending to improve the marketing laws of the state, have provoked a new line of thought as regards the real meaning of the term, and the presence here of Mr. Sapiro and Mr. Peteet, the men who organized the tobacco growers, the cotton growers and the fruit growers, has served to direct attention to the plant which seems to have been so successful in several sections of the United States.

***

The plan under which the tobacco growers are organized has been put into effect in thirteen states with reference to the wheat growers, and presumably an attempt will be made to add Minnesota to the list when the new law goes into effect here. The new law simply permits the organization of non-stock corporations for the handling of farmers' produce, thus paving the way for the sale of memberships at nominal cost, but which impose no liability such as may accrue under a stock corporation.

***

Hundreds of co-operative organizations have gone on the rocks in the past, and doubtless many will in the future, but one of the safeguards against such failure is the character of the contract under which membership is solicited in the organization promoted by Sapiro and Peteet. This contract binds the producer to deliver his produce to the co-operative association for a period of five years, and his failure to live up to the terms brings a penalty of 2 per cent of the value of his crop. This contract has been broken in several instances but the courts have held it to be absolutely binding, and upon this contingency rests the success of the entire movement.

***

The trouble in the old days was simply this failure of the members to faithfully support their organizations. Take a creamery association, for instance. Its members woul join the association for the benefits to be derived, but many of them would not hesitate to sell their cream at a slight advance in price to the independent buyers. That practice would continue until the farmers' association found itself without sufficient patronage to pay expenses. Debts accumulated, the property remained idle, the stockholders were assessed to pay the accumualted debts. With the association busted, the old order of things returned—prices dropped back to the old level. The farmers were the goats in the end, and naturally they were afraid to again venture because they had been stung in the past. All because they would not stick.

***

Dairymen, wheat growers, tobacco growers, fruit growers and cotton growers have all met with the same experience.

***

The success of the Burley tobacco growers is responsible for the new plan. The tobacco growers, which comprise about 80,000 now organized, had their troubles up to two years ago. Except for two seasons during the period of the war, their tobacco seldom brought over 12 cents a pound, and that price went for everything regardless of grade. During the war tobacco went up to 32 cents owing to the increased demand, and the failure of foreign countries to raise the usual quota. In 1919 tobacco dropped back to the old prices and the producers began looking around for measures of relief.

***

How successful they have been since their intensive organization will appear from the following figures: The 1920 crop consisting of 220,000,000 pounds brought an average of 12 cents per pound, or about $26,400,000. The 1921 crop of 180,000,000 pounds brought $37,800,000, an average of 21 cents per pound. The 1922 crop will bring approximately $75,000,000, or an increase of nearly $50,000,000 over the 1920 crop.

***

Some people say wheat is a different commodity and hence cannot be so easily controlled as to price, but one thing has been demonstrated by the wheat growers of neighboring states and that is more orderly marketing has resulted and an immense saving in the cost of handling. We say this in reliance upon the figures submitted by the Wheat Growers Association. It is reasonable to suppose, moreover, that if even 40 per cent of the wheat growers of the United States can be organized as the tobacco growers are now organized, such pooling would inevitably affect the price of grain. Certainly there is no protection to the producer in a system which places him at the mercy of those who must sell their grain during a period of ninety days following the harvest season.

***

There is another angle to this situation, too, which is encouraging, to say the least, the fact that the government has recognized this movement by lending money to farmers' organizations, based upon binding contracts as above outlined. That means that the farmer can hold his grain and yet realize enough upon his crop to pay ordinary expenses. More of that later. The co-operative movement is spreading all over the country and it may be the ultimate solution of the farmer's marketing problems.

WHEAT PRICES.

The stabilization of wheat prices, as proposed by the recent Stabilization Congress, appears to be impracticable because of the rocky road such a proposition has to travel. We believe the agricultural crisis is sufficiently acute to warrant stabilization as suggested, and if the statement that only one-sixth of our wheat crop is exported is true, the government loss upon the exportable surplus would be exceedingly small as compared with the benefits accruing to the farmers. That would be true even though the world price be considerably below the suggested fixed price of $1.75, but what of the Canadian wheat which would be added to our exportable surplus, and what of the future?

Is it not desirable at this time to find remedies of a more permanent character? Remedies which will permanently fix the status of the farming industry, and guarantee to the producer a fair price over the cost of production? Except for the recent period of the war, The Tribune cannot recall any time when the farmer made any considerable profit aside from the raise which occurred in the value of his farm. He could never be sure of his annual gain. Would it not, therefore, be more desirable if the producer could effect such organization as would insure for him every year a fair return for his labor, instead of a makeshift and temporary relief which would leave us just where we started?

It is a big question, and one which should not be decided entirely by emergency conditions. This newspaper invites discussion of the problem through the columns of The Tribune in order that the sentiment of the community may be learned.

"VIVO" LE GOVERNOR.

The Tribune feels like applauding the manifesto issued by Governor Preus last week when he appealed to the people of Minnesota to use more wheat. An extra slice of wheat bread a day would absorb the surplus and help place the agricultural industry upon its feet, says the governor. True enough, but the situation can be handled in still another way, to the everlasting profit and continued good health of the people of the United States, by discarding the use of sawdust as breakfast food and substituting therefor "Vivo," made right here in Thief River Falls from the best wheat of the Red River Valley, and sold in five-pound packages at a fraction of the cost of the shavings above mentioned.

Seriously speaking, the governor's proclamation may or it may not accomplish the end sought by the governors of the country, namely, induce a more extended use of wheat products, but we seize upon it as a good subject for discussion, since it brings forth a condition which has the greatest bearing upon the country's welfare. That is the lack of economy and conservancy which now rules the land. And it is well illustrated by the failure of housewives to study and observe ordinary rules of home economics.

We do not know to what extent Vivo breakfast food is used in Thief River Falls, but we dare say it is used only in slight proportion to more expensive preparations which have little food value, but which attract the eye because of the gaudy wrapper which appears to advantage beside the cotton sack which holds the local product. Vivo is a most wholesome and appetizing breakfast food, as well as being the best stuff extant to retire on, and its extended use by the people of this section will eventually lead to more extensive use elsewhere, thus building up a good local indutsry in town and country. We mention this in the line of good gospel to follow with reference to all products of local institutions, especially when such articles have merit far exceeding goods made by distant competitors. Let us begin right by eating more wheat right here at home.

If it were not for the atrocious crimes committed in the larger cities of the state, there would be very little need for capital punishment or any other crime preventative measures. The big cities harbor the worst characters of society, men and women who would not be tolerated in the smaller towns of the state for a single minute.

"JIM" CARLEY.

"Jim" Carley, senator from Wabasha county, the man who precipitated the political probe of campaign expenditures, is the target just now for a lot of unwarranted abuse on the part of the unthinking people who have rushed to the assistance of their respective political parties without the slightest knowledge of the conditions complained of.

The big dailies are greatly agitated because they construe his probe as an attack upon the Republican organization of the state. They are apparently more concerned about fixing Senator Carley in the public mind as a notoriety seeker than to get at the real facts. Just now he is being applauded by the Minneapolis Star and the Nonpartisan Leader, but when his committee gets around to digging into their affairs, The Tribune presumes he will not be so popular in those quarters, and we suspect the anvil chorus will extend to the Prohibition papers when he digs into the affairs of the Anti-Saloon League. It seems to make a difference whose ox is being gored.

The minute Carley introduced his resolution in the senate the din began. "He is sore because the governor and his crowd attempted his defeat in Wabasha county." "He is out to get the nomination for governor on the Democratic and Farmer-Labor tickets." "He is after Knute Nelson's seat in the senate." "He is planning to run for vice-president on the Democratic ticket with Henry Ford," and so on adfinitum.

Now, the writer is not in Senator Carley's confidence, and has no way of knowing what the senator hopes to gain by the investigation, or what prompted him to initiate the probe, but the point is this: What is wrong with his attempt to secure a fair investigation of campaign expenditures in Minnesota with reference to all political parties and associations?

Unquestionably huge sums of money were collected in Minnesota two years ago for the alleged purpose of combatting the radical forces, and since so much mystery surrounds the exact manner in which the money was spent, it would seem that an investigation is not out of place. Some of the men who are now so loud in denouncing Carley have been among the accusers in the past, so why not let them tell this committee what they know.

The investigation is in the hands of a fair committee, headed by Senator McKenzie of Gaylord, a high-minded and intelligent man, and while this newspaper greatly doubts that any disclosures will be made which are not already matters of common knowledge, yet no harm can come from bringing back from southern resorts those who know and can tell all about it.

The Tribune knows that the country newspapers have not fared well at the hands of the organizations named by Senator Carley, and suspects the members of the editorial profession will stand back and exclaim, "Go it man, go it bear!" and may the devil take the hindmost!

The Great Northern decided not to take chances with the kids next Hallowe'en.

We contend that the limit of sarcasm was reached by a writer in the Polk County Leader last week when he stated that the voting out of the Sunday movies in Fertile last year killed the town so dead that an effort was made to revive it by the election of the village doctor as president of the council, but the same faction which carried the former election appropriately brought out the village undertaker, who defeated the doctor in the recent election.

Carlos Avery, State Game and Fish Commissioner, has been fully vindicated by a legislative commission of the charges recently preferred against him by disgruntled fishermen. No one who knows Mr. Avery ever doubted his innocence of the charges preferred, but the incident has served to convince fair minded people that Mr. Avery comes near to being the best man ever selected to watch over the game and fish department.

Minnesota may have another Governor Johnson in the not far distant future. The man who looms on the political horizon, and who admirably fills our idea of the right kind of a candidate for any job within the gift of the people, be it attorney general or governor or United States Senator, is none other than Senator L. P. Johnson, of Ivanhoe, a new member of the upper branch of the state legislature. He is abundantly equipped with common sense, has clear ideas which he can express while standing, has an engaging personality, and last but not least, he does not appear to be head over heels in love with himself. Just now he is needed in the senate, but mark this prediction and mark it well, in the years to come this man Johnson will be heard from in Minnesota.

TEACHING THE FARMERS.

The effort of John R. Mitchell and Curtis Mosher to bring about better conditions among the farmers by telling them to raise flax instead of wheat, would be commendable were it not laughable. As if the farmer who has plowed ground ready for wheat can switch the deal and plant his acreage to flax. Anyone familiar with farming conditions must know that flax in this country is only raised upon virgin soil, and sometimes with indifferent success upon old soil long pastured.

But flax is subject to wilt and climatic conditions which are absent in wheat raising, and it would appear, therefore, that Messrs. Mitchell and Mosher were erroneously instructed by the Department of Agriculture, if that is the source of their knowledge of farming in the Northwest, when they failed to adopt barley, or rye, or corn, or almost anything else except flax as a substitute for the farmer's wheat crop. Their idea is good except that it simply won't work.

The Federal Reserve System, which is backing the tour of Mitchell and Mosher, brought about the greatest disaster known to agriculture when that government agency saw fit to crowd the farmers to death in 1919, calling the loans of farmers and cattle men made during the prosperous years just preceding that time, and it is not surprising that this flax propaganda should come from such a source.

If the board contained a single "dirt" farmer in accordance with the promise of President Harding, such asinine practices could not continue.

The average farmer raises flax when he has new ground suitable for that purpose, but to tell the farmer to raise flax on old ground is as senseless as to tell him to raise cotton. The fact of the matter is that most farmers know how to run their farms, and most of them work hard at it, but they need help in another direction, namely, a system which will insure a fair price for the crops they produce—and if the Federal Reserve officers will devote as much time to a solution of this perplexing question as they now do to things which they know nothing about, then—and only then—will the farmers be deeply obligated to them.

Eat more wheat and let it be Pennington county wheat.

It is simply scandalous how winter persists in sitting in the lap of spring.

The Browns Valley Tribune says a Philadelphia man was fined $50 for trying to kiss his stenographer. Serves him good and right for hiring such a man hater.

If the Farmer-Labor party should join with the Democrats in nominating Henry Ford for president next year, and the Republicans nominate Harding, we'll bet our last year's flivver on the outcome.

The chief of police of Minneapolis is in a peculiar dilemma. If he admits he knew all about gambling conditions, he must admit he is a crook. If he admits he knew nothing about such conditions he must admit he is a damned fool.

Sheriff Ihle is not after those who make moonshine for their own use, but he is hot after those who sell it to others. Frankly speaking, the sheriff is willing that a man should commit suicide just so he does not also commit murder.

The various women's organizations who have bills pending before the legislature should send their most prepossessing members to lobby for their measures. We speak by the card when we say that no homely woman can get away with anything in the present legislature.

We hope our contemporary finds cause for congratulation over the reception accorded its announcement of annexation of a part of Marshall county by Pennington county, by the brethren of the press of our sister county. It was like slipping an icicle down an old maid's back—only more so.

The next time you hear of any one being caught "short," do not forget that it means selling something you haven't got, as was the case of "fat boys" of Wall street who were taken into camp by the iron puddler who now heads the Piggly Wiggly chain of grocery stores. This financial genius amassed ten millon dollars and bought 25,000 shares of Piggly Wiggly stock at varying prices. So far the "shorts" have only secured 140 shares for delivery and the iron puddler stands to win a huge sum from the smart alecks of the street. Another case of the calf killing the butcher!

Remember way back when they used to sing about the bird on Nellie's hat?

PRESIDENT HARDING.

That the king makers have it in their power to put over the nomination of President Harding next year is not doubted by anyone who is at all familiar with the political system of this country, but the nomination of Harding spells defeat for the Republican party in 1924 as surely as night follows day. Mr. Harding was put forward by the reactionaries of the Republican party two years ago. Attention is called now to the reception accorded his candidacy prior to the convention. Except for those Ohio delegates headed by Harry Daugherty, present attorney general of the United States, he had no following in the convention at Chicago, and we recall that when he was finally made the nominee as the outcome of the deadlock between Wood, Lowden and Johnson, the enthusiasm was about as loud as the noise at a deaf and dumb convention.

Harding's record previous to his election to the Presidency was not impressive, and his record of the past two years lends color to the belief that he is not big enough for the enormous task before him. He has served well the interests which brought about his nomination—the profiteers of Wall street—but the rank and file of the voters are patiently waiting for him to make good some of the promises which brought about his election.

The federal crowd want him re-elected, of course, and there will be a general clamor to keep party organs in line, but The Tribune is of the opinion that no good purpose can be served by hiding a fact which must be evident to all people—that Harding has lost forever the confidence of the public and can never hope to again be elected to the highest office in the land.

We favor placing a curb upon all forms of extravagance in public expenditures, but we are decidedly opposed to such a hysterical clamor for economy in public improvements as can only bring unemployment and stagnation and decay to the entire state. Minnesota is not in the pauper class—not yet.

Music is sweet to the ear—but how about ham and eggs frying in the pan?

NO MORE "DILIGATES."

The pre-primary convention system was killed deader than a mackerel last week when the state senate by a vote of 61 to George Sullivan passed the repeal measure. The law never was any good, never served any useful purpose whatsoever. It was designed to keep the political parties within their own folds, but it only had the effect of further stirring up trouble for the Republican party in the state, and the one which is naturally the shining target of all factions.

A state convention is useless in the absence of partisan units in the counties and congressional districts. That much has been demonstrated. And since the wrecking of the Republican party was commenced in the Legislature when that body was made Nonpartisan, that is the proper place to finish the job.

The legislative action is tough on those who like to act in the capacity of "diligates" to the state and congressional conventions, but with the help of Providence, it is likely the dear "peepul" will somehow survive.

Old Man Winter and the Coal Man can both go to a certain place warmer than this so far as we are concerned.

The surprising thing in connection with the opening of Old King Tut's grave several weeks ago is the tardiness of American dealers in antiques in offering for sale furniture and bric-a-brac taken directly from the tomb. Someone is asleep at the switch.

Dinner Party.

Mrs. T. L. Melgaard was a delightful hostess at a 6 o'clock dinner party Friday evening. Pussy willows and jonquils were used as decorations. Covers were laid for 12. After the serving of dinner the remainder of the evening was devoted to cards.

* * *

For Mrs. Martin Stenberg.

The I. O. O. F. hall was the scene of much gaiety Friday evening when a group of friends gathered in honor of Mrs. Martin Stenberg (nee Myrtle Blair), recently married. Mesdames Carl Melby, Lester Hendry, S. Salveson, G. Ericson, Archie Dahl, A. B. Stenberg and Miss Esther Warner were the hostesses. The hall was decorated in pink and white. Little Elaine Ericson as Cupid presented Mrs. Stenberg with a purse of money as token of friendship from her friends. The evening was given over to a social time followed by a splendid two-course luncheon. Those comprising the party were: Mrs. Martin Stenberg, honor guest, Mesdames Roy Morgan, Chas. Connor, Harold Provencher, G. N. Freitag, L. C. Rudy, J. E. Nelson, C. Norquist, H. T. Ericson, A. P. Robinson, J. E. Bloomquist, Arthur Johnson, Helmer Resan A. L. Cronstrom, Roy Ericson, O. F. In Every Seed there is a something

DEFINITION
The practice of Chiropractic consists of the adjustment, with the hands, of the movable segments of the spinal column to normal position for the purpose of releasing the prisoned impulse that knows how to take from its environment the wherewith to build the body of the organism which it animates.

From the little seed you place in the ground this something sends roots into the earth, blades or branches into the air, and takes from the earth and the air that with which it builds. Within the egg this something is wooed to life by the warmth of the broody mother's breast.

Chiropractic teaches that this something knows the secret of converting food into flesh and blood, and carries on all the processes of life in the human body by means of impulses sent over the nerves. It teaches that when a nerve is impaired by a vertebra becoming misaligned these impulses do not flow over the nerves normally and the result is what we call dis-ease. To get the dis-eased member to function normally again it is necessary to adjust the vertebra that is pressing on the nerve and permit the normal flow of impulses over the nerve.

To adjust the vertebra to normal alignment is the work of a competent Chiropractor.

Do not employ an incompetent.

Many Towns to Be Served By Red Lake Power Co.

A new high line will be built from Red Lake Falls to Terrebonne, Plummer, Oklee, Brooks, Erskine, Winger, McIntosh and Fosston, by the Red River Power Co., according to announcements made by officials of the company during the past week.

It is probable that a line will also be built connecting Terrebonne with the company's present high line between Grand Forks and Crookston. Material will be shipped at once and work started as soon as the frost is out of the ground. According to General Manager W. H. Brown it is the policy of the company to first build up the load and then erect the necessary steam power plants and dams rather than build the latter first and then try to build up the business to take care of all the electricity manufactured.

SPOLED CHILDREN.

The most noteworthy event of my life this month, says a writer in E. W. Howe's Monthly, was meeting a mother able to control her 9 year old daughter. I complimented her and she said: "Bad children are a reflection on their mother."

That is the truth simply stated.

In one of the important magazines a man tells of experience with one of his sons. He was ambitious to be good to them. His father had been a hard task master and he determined to be more reasonable with his own children. But the man soon discovered that he was spoiling them. They became impudent and mean and he thereupon changed his policy, with excellent results.

Nearly every successful, useful man in America has been compelled to work and "mind" as a boy; either by poverty or by a stern father. Spoiled children are nearly always a curse to their parents and the community in which they live. Thousands of sweet youg girls are terrific tyrants at home; and the number of boys going to the devil unnecessarily is astounding. All over the country bandits are operating. When one is caught, it nearly always turns out that he is a bad boy who was not properly controlled at home.

Rank: Ranker.

The British general, one of the swanky kind, tramped pompously into a hospital on an unexpected tour of inspection one day. Directly in his path was a woman on her knees, scrubbing the floor. Merely noting his shoes beside her and without looking up, she asked politely:

"Would you please fetch me a fresh pail of water?"

The dignitary's face became swollen and red with wrath, but he managed to splutter:

"Hang it, madame, I'm a general!"

Whereupon the woman rose to her feet and fixed him with a look of imperious scorn.

"Hang it, sir," she cried, "I'm a duchess!"

Housing Storage.

"Shall I bring you some more sauerkraut, former All-Highest" respectfully asked the servitor. (By the way, it's verboten to sing "Them Days Are Gone Forever" at Doorn.)

"No," hohenzollered the playboy of history. "I think this will fill the Bill."

ROSEWOOD

Among those who attended the pure bred hog sale at Thief River Falls last Friday were noted: F. G. Dols, Art Bloom, Emil Blomberg, Elmer Blomberg and Adolph Haugen.

Mr. and Mrs. Benhard Ranum, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Hellerud, L. L. Furan, Miss Gena Aos, Bennie Ranum and a number of young folks attended the New Solum Farmers' Club meeting Saturday evening.

Mrs. O. H. Ryan and children left for Thief River Falls on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sagmoen entertained a few friends at their home in town last Saturday evening, terminating with a delicious midnight lunch.

Gust Opseth from Thief River Falls spent several days in town the latter part of the week, to moving his lumber sawing outfit to western Norden, where he will saw lumber this spring.

Mrs. Adolph Haugen and baby left Wednesday evening for Thief River Falls to visit for a few days among relatives.

Roadmaster Chas. Nelson of Thief River Falls was here last Wednesday and Thursday to investigate further the seriousness of the broken rails along the railroad track. Several gangs have been working along this division the last few days placing angle irons where the rails are broken until new rails can be installed in the spring. There are about 30 broken rails on the Rosewood 8-mile division.

Two baby girls were born in this community last month, one at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mellem on Tuesday, March 6, and one to Mr. and Mrs. Emil Blomberg on Sunday, March 11.

Misses Ruth Lonson and Edith Patten were east bound passengers last Saturday afternoon to Thief River Falls to spend Sunday at their respective homes.

Reuben Larson of Thief River Falls is expected to arrive Tuesday morning to be employed by John Remmem for some time.

John Sorenson will leave Tuesday evening for Minneapolis, where he will spend a couple of days attending to business relating to his war service.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of One Thousand Seventy-one and 66-100 ($1,071.66) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Theodore Bjorge, a single man, Mortgagor, to First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained; duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of January, 1919, at 4:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 12 of Mortgages, on page 477.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee to George Pockelwald by written assignment dated the 31st day of January, 1919, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 10th day of February, 1919, at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book 63 of Mortgages, on page 43, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Fifteen (15), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty, (40), containing one hundred sixty acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 7th day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1,071.66 and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty and 00-100 Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

GREAT NORTHERN SAYS SHIPPER PAYS BILL IF LAWS INCREASE RAILROAD COSTS

Prices of nearly all necessaries of life are too high. The average freight rate for the whole country, which is the lowest in the world, is now 46 per cent higher than the average rate during the ten year period beginning with 1900. In November, 1922, the average increase of the wholesale price of all commodities, as compared with the same period was 79 per cent. Railroad rates can be reduced in only one way—by reducing the COST of hauling freight and passengers. When a lawmaker says he wants lower freight rates and then proposes laws that will make it cost more to haul freight, that man is not sincere or he has not thought out the question fully. The railroads have only one source of revenue, viz., from freight and passenger earnings. If their expenses are increased they must have more income to meet the larger expenses, and they can get this income only by charging higher rates.

Some people are for Government operation of the railroads. Twenty-six months of it in this country proved it is expensive and does not give good service. Other countries have had the same experience; Italy owns its railroads, but it costs so much to operate them that great efforts are being made to turn them over to private operation. The shipper will suffer again if Government operation returns in the United States. Only two classes are openly and frankly for it—politicians who use it for campaign talk, and labor leaders who believe it will make more jobs. Both of these favor it to further their own ends. The lawmaker cannot add to the expenses of the railroad by forcing it to make unnecessary expenditures without hurting the shipper who has to pay the bill in the end. Low rates and good service both are needed; poor bankrupt railroads cannot give either one. How the shipper is served by this type of politician is illustrated by the fable of

The Farmer and the New Hired Man

A Farmer had an Old Horse that for many years had hauled his farm products to market, and being well fed had strength to haul a big load every day. Finally there came hard times for the Farmer. He had good crops, but the prices he received for his crops had not gone up so much as the prices he had to pay for his clothes, his shoes, his fuel, his groceries, and his hired help. He did not know what to do. A Friend told him his troubles were because his horse ate so much of his grain and hay. The Old Horse in fact did not eat any more than was necessary to keep him well and strong, but the Farmer turned him over to a New Hired Man who had Radical Theories about the treatment of horses. He beat the Old Horse almost to death, hung heavy weights on his harness, set the dogs on him, offered him food and took it away before he could eat it. Then, to make the Old Horse easier to handle, the New Hired Man hobbled him so he could hardly move and beat him more than ever because he did not go faster. When the New Hired Man told the Farmer what he was doing, he was full of Glee at the Great Joke on the Old Horse. At last when the Old Horse had been made weak and lame the Hired Man said to the Farmer: "Your Old Horse is so sick and broken down he will never be able to haul your stuff unless you get Uncle Sam to take him and hire some more men to help doctor him up and drive him." The Farmer remembered that once when Uncle Sam had managed the Old Horse it cost a Great Deal more than ever before to do his hauling, so he decided to change Hired Men and see that the Old Horse had decent treatment, but he was UP AGAINST IT to get his hauling done while his Old Horse was getting strong again.

Veterans' Bureau Man Is Strong for War Insurance

Interviews Several Ex-Service Men Men Regarding Compensation; to Visit Here Every Two Weeks.

Fred W. Zeller, field representative of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, St. Paul, was in the city Thursday.

Mr. Zeller stated that though the time had lapsed for filing claims for vocational training, this in no way interfered with ex-service men filing their claims for compensation, medical treatment and reinstatement, and conversion of government life insurance. Most of the men, Mr. Zeller said, had insurance granted to them, but because of illness and for financial reasons, have been unable to keep their insurance in force, and many became discouraged and were making no effort to avail themselves of the privileges accorded them by the law. In talking with ex-service men, he said it appeared that many are not aware that original war risk insurance act has been amended by Section 404 of the Sweet bill, to the extent that now disabled men may reinstate or convert their insurance to ordinary life, 30 payment life, 20 payment life, 20 year endowment, 30 year endowment, and endowment at the age of 62.

Mr. Zeller has left a supply of conversion and reinstatement blanks with Oscar Paulson, local post commander, who will also assist the ex-service men in filing claims for compensation and converting their government insurance. Mr. Zeller will visit here regularly every two weeks.

"Stop, look and listen"—is not a bad motto at any time. It is equally good in matters of health.

Some day you will stand at the cross roads—with the road to health stretching out before you in one direction—and the road to disease in another. The road down is always an easy one to travel—just neglect, carelessness, disobedience to the laws of health.

In either case, stop and think—What is at the end of the road? Are you at the cross roads now? Or have you already slipped a little on the downward road?

Stop now, and think where you are. Choose the right road now while you may—and if you have already thoughtlessly started on the downward path, turn back now before you get too far from the goal of health.

Let us help you check up on your physical condition. Let us show you how we may help you onward on the right road, the road worth while, the better way to health. Consultation and spinal analysis free.

Andy Gump Will Defend Himself Against Mr. Skink

Gump vs. Skink to Appear Between Acts Here Friday and Saturday.

An echo of the last political campaign visualizing the famous contest between Andy Gump and Mr. Skink, resulting in the election of the latter to congress, and precipitating a lawsuit as a result of remarks made by Andy Gump concerning the character of his successful rival, will be presented to the theatre goers of Thief River Falls Friday and Saturday at the Lyceum by a cast composed of high school students. The cast is as follows:

Andy Gump—Stephen Arneson.
Sylvester Skink—Roy Holmgren.
Skink's Lawyer—Ole Helle.
Andy's Lawyer—Albert Stengelson.
Judge—Henry Vorlicky.

The interesting skit takes up 15 minutes and will be presented during the intermission between the evening performances of Friday and Saturday.

Those who are following the controversy in the comic strips of the daily papers should be on hand to see the outcome of the greatest lawsuit of its kind ever tried in a mock court.

L. R. Twete, Veterinary, to Locate in This City

Thief River Falls will be the future home of Dr. L. R. Twete, of Fargo, veterinary surgeon, who was in the city the latter part of last week with a view of looking over the possibilities in this locality. He evidently found conditions and opportunities to his liking, for before leaving for his home at Fargo, he informed The Tribune that he would return here April 1st with the intention of making this city his permanent home.

Dr. Twete is a young man of pleasing personality, and is exceptionally well trained for the practice of his profession. A graduate of the Agricultural College at Fargo, he received his degree of D. V. M. at the Ohio State University, where he became chief student surgeon in the university. During the war he served as a veterinary surgeon in the Reserve Corps, receiving a commission as 2nd Lieutenant.

During last season he was located at Stillwater and last winter he was connected with the inspection department of the N. P. Railway. He is a registered pharmacist and will bring to this city a complete laboratory for testing cattle and horses, as well as doing all classes of laboratory work. Dr. Twete is licensed to do accredited and state tuberculin tests.

Until permanent quarters can be arranged Dr. Twete will make his headquarters at Lambert's drug store, where he may be reached by telephone after Monday.

WILL RAISE SUGAR BEETS

John Burkum of Clear Lake, Iowa, owner of the old D. P. O'Neill farm near this city, in remitting to The Tribune, states that he will be here in a few days to look after the renting of his farm for this season, and adds that he is greatly interested in the culture of sugar beets—and for that reason prefers a tenant who will take on a reasonable acreage of beets.

Simley Before Investment Board.

Supt. Simley left Sunday for St. Paul to represent the school board before the state investment board in the matter of securing a lower interest rate upon loans made to the local school district. The board recently reduced the interest rate to four per cent, and it was for the purpose of securing that favorable rate for loans applied for here that Mr. Simley made the trip.

Average Person Has No Weird Mystic Complex

"Human Hearts," Story of Regular People, Answers Learned Babble. Lyceum Sunday-Monday.

Psychologists are popping up all over the country with long worded documents aiming to prove that the mind of the average person is a complicated arrangement of complexes, sub-conscious desires, and whatnots. "Human Hearts," the Universal-Jewel feature coming to the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday, is a welcome answer to all this learned babble. It pictures the human brain of the average person as essentially simple; free, in the man, from complexes, except for the superstructure of the worldly sham that some acquire.

As one of the New York reviewers wrote after seeing the premiere: "'Human Hearts' is essentially a story of the average family as found throughout the length and breadth of the country. It is a recital of the trials and tribulations that might come to any family, even yours and mine, and that is why it is a great drama. It is human and real to the smallest detail."

The stellar role of Tom Logan in the screen version of Hal Reid's great stage success is played by House Peters, one of the finest emotional actors in pictures today. He brings to the part a keen and sympathetic understanding that enables him to give a characterization that is a masterpiece. Edith Hallor is the leading woman. She has an extremely difficult part, that of a selfish and bitter worldly wise woman, and the excellence of her performance proves her one of the finest actresses on the screen.

The action of the piece is laid in the Ozark Mountains and all the beauty of that picturesque section is reproduced on the screen. Throughout the photography is of the highest order. King Baggott, director, gathered a notable cast for the production, including several players who are stars in their own right.

EVERY FARMER AND BUSINESS MAN SHOULD READ AND STUDY SAPIRO'S CO-OPERATIVE PLAN

Reads Like Romance But in Practice Foots Up in Dollars and Cents on Profit Side of Farm Ledger.

It is rather evident that all through the Northwest there is a condition of desperation among your farmers. They do not know what has been happening to them and they cannot quite understand why they get what they think is a small price for their products, and they have been in that stage quite a few years. The worst discontent in the United States as far as farming population is concerned is in your territory, not only the worst discontent, but the greatest desperation. It is a desperation that takes the form not merely of things that may sound to some of us wild at times, but a desperation that has taken the form of attempting all kinds of illegal remedies for the troubles that confront your farmers.

'Those men have needed real leadership. They have suggested this and they have suggested that, but pretty nearly everything that has been suggested by them, or by their natural leaders, has been met with a real frost, if not worse, in your real cities. Your farmers in this territory have been blindly staggering around to try to understand their own situation but somehow you have failed to give them an interpretation of their own relationship to trade.

Farmers Say Leaders Give Them No Remedy.

"They have quoted to me any number of times that all they get out of the leaders in this district is that supply and demand fix the price. They tell me that no leader has yet told them anything about the movable part of supply and demand. They have told me that they have come to town and have talked with the big bankers and talked to leading merchants and that in every case they have felt that those men are completely and far away from their interests.

And so your growers in this territory, and they are supposed to be, and they are, by comparison, probably the finest group of farmers in the entire United States, have gone wild and they have followed leaders who promised them things, instead of the leaders who might have explained their problems. Now you are facing in this Northwest a whole farm population that is discontented, that is willing to take a rash type of leadership and that is willing to risk everything in this country for some quick emergency opinion, just because you men are not bringing to them a commercial type of leadership which might put them in accord with the rest of the United States.

Finds Credulity and Unrest Greatest in Northwest.

"They follow politics. They follow stabilization plans, every single wild movement in the American farm today finds its greatest support with the Northwestern farmer. You can go East, and you cannot find any group of farmers as ready to respond to something wholly illogical, something

The American Legion film, "The Man Without a Country," being shown at the Lyceum theatre today and tomorrow with matinees each day, is drawing tremendous crowds to the theatre to view the famous film. It is being shown here under the auspices of the Legion on a percentage basis, the proceeds to go towards the construction of the veterans' hospital at Rochester.

The film is taken from the story of "The Man Without a Country," and has been shown in all of the larger cities of the country. It is of a patriotic nature and has been endorsed by school and civic authorities everywhere. Elmer Eklund Post has invited everyone to come to the Lyceum to see "The Man Without a Country."

Mrs. Peter Meyers Dies.

Mrs. Peter Meyers, age 28 years, died at a local hospital on March 26, death being due to pernicious anemia from which the deceased had suffered for a number of years. Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at the Larson funeral chapel, the services being held by Rev. Charles Gerlinger, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Tandberg Leaves Goodridge.

Theodore Tandberg, who has been connected with the Goodridge State Bank during the past two or three years, has severed his connection with that institution and has closed out all his interests in Goodridge. For the present he will make his home in this city.

Opie Read Will Appear Here in Lecture April 10

"Wants to Visit Town by River Which Doesn't Bear Honest Name," He Says.

Opie Read, nationally known lecturer and humorist, novelist and playwright, will appear in Thief River Falls Tuesday evening, April 10, at the Sons of Norway hall, coming here under the auspices of the Lyceum course. Mr. Read is the fourth number this winter. He was to have lectured here on December 7, but owing to a bad storm and train wreck, he was unable to fulfill his engagement.

OPIE READ

Many local residents have enjoyed the books of Read or perchance have been stirred by his plays, or spent many hours in reading his character sketches, but unless one has sat within the hearing of his voice and heard the quaint tales that originate within his brain, it is difficult to fully appreciate the genius of the man. Standing on the platform a giant physically, unique in appearance, powerful in delivery, he is a figure that will inspire wonder and delight.

Mr. Read has written to managers of the local Lyceum course that he will come direct from Chicago to fill his engagement here on April 10, as he says he "wants to visit the town by the side of the river which does not bear on honest name."

Read seems to forget the old adage that there is nothing in a name. Whether his assertion is a reflection upon the name of our city alone or whether the inference is aimed at those who may come to hear him will have to be explained by the lecturer upon his arrival.

Dies at Age of 83 Years.

Mrs. J. W. Westcott, who made her home with her daughter, Mrs. W. O. Arnold residing at 237 Markley avenue, for a number of years, died early Monday at the home of her daughter. The remains were prepared here for burial and shipped to Lenten, N. D., where interment will be made and where most of the survivors reside.

Elks to Install.

The Thief River Falls Elks' lodge will hold their installation of officers Friday evening, at which time Exalted Ruler L. G. Larsen will give an account of his stewardship during the past year before turning the office over to his successor, G. W. Connell. The secretary's and treasurer's annual reports will also be read and new committee appointments made. A lunch will also be served.

THAW OF PAST THREE DAYS IS HARD ON SNOW

A thaw setting in last Saturday is assuming real spring proportions, and as a result of it snow is fast disappearing from streets of the city. Spring already is from ten days to two weeks late and it is not believed that farmers will be able to get into their fields for at least another ten days. Roads are opening up in good shape and it is expected automobiles will soon be out on the highways.

Creamery Stockholders to Meet Here April 14

To Consider Plans for Installing Cheese Manufacturing Facilities in Local Institution.

Stockholders of the Thief River Falls Co-operative Creamery will meet at the Commercial clubrooms Saturday, April 13, when final action will be taken on the proposition of establishing a cheese factory in connection with the local creamery.

The decision was made at the last meeting of the stockholders to thoroughly investigate cheese-making possibilities here and in this connection S. E. Hunt and Carsten Christianson, two members of the board, have visited the plant at Radium, Minn., where a factory was established some time ago and has been showing a good profit to the creamery stockholders. The plant was installed at Radium at a cost of $2,500 and it is thought that one similar could be put in here at approximately the same cost. The disposal of skim milk has become a problem at the local creamery and with the installation of cheese-making facilities it is thought this surplus will be taken care of.

The stockholders will also remodel the constitution and by-laws of the association in order to conform to the revised income tax laws, and also will take up such other business as may come before the meeting.

To Attend Convention.

J. J. Richter of the Thief River Iron Works left Sunday evening for Madison, Wis., where he will be in attendance at the convention of National Foundrymen's association, to convene at Madison April 4 and 5. Mr. Richter expects to be absent for about a week and will stop in the twin cities for a day or two on his return journey.

Farm Credits Law to Be Signed by Governor Friday

House Expected to Send Measure to Executive for Signature This Week.

Borrower Must Be Farmer and Give State First Mortgage on Property.

The rural credits law, undoubtedly the biggest piece of legislation which the present session of the Minnesota legislature has passed, will probably go to the governor for his approval and signature this week, very likely on Friday. The measure passed both branches of the legislature with practically no opposition to the law itself. However, there were some arguments on certain amendments.

The bill is at present before the house for acceptance of minor amendments tacked on the bill by the senate after the house passed it. As in the house, the senate, after amendments were offered and voted upon, passed the bill without a dissenting vote.

The senate amendments are three: One, attached by the senate markets committee, raising the amount that can be loaned on farm improvements to 33 1-3 per cent of the value of the improvements; and two, attached by the senate itself, giving disabled ex-service men farmers special privileges under the act, and preventing the addition of attorney's fees when the state forecloses on defaulting farmers.

As the bill will go to the governor it provides for a commission of three to administer the rural credit system. One of these will be appointed by the attorney general and will be a lawyer; two will be appointed by the governor, one an "actual farmer" and the other "familiar with real estate loans and investments in the state." The commission can issue up to $40,000,000 in state bonds (the next legislature can increase the amount) at not to exceed 5 per cent interest.

Out of the money obtained from the bonds, the state will lend to farmers at a rate of interest not to exceed three-fourts of one per cent above the interest rate the bonds bear, so that if the bonds sell at 4½ per cent the state loans will not cost the farmer above 5¼ per cent. From $500 to $15,000 can be borrowed by a farmer.

The borrower must be an actual farmer, owning and occupying the land he borrows on, and he must give the state a first mortgage. He can borrow up to 60 per cent of the value of the land and 33 1-3 per cent of the value of the improvements on the land, except disabled ex-service men, who are farming under the federal vocational board, who will be permitted to borrow up to 60 per cent of the value of the land and 66 2-3 per cent of the value of the improvements.

In no case shall farm improvements be considered worth more than $8,000 under the terms of the act, and under the disabled ex-service men's 66 2-3 per cent provision no more than $3,000 can be borrowed on improvements. Loans may be made under the amortization plan running for 40 years, payable in small semi-annual installments with the interest.

Young Bandits Attempt Holdup of Storekeeper

Sunday Morning Raid Fails When Merchant Takes Pistol From Youth.

An attempted holdup at 1 o'clock last Sunday morning of the Remmem Bargain Store at Rosewood was frustrated by John Remmem, the proprietor, when he grappled with two youthful bandits demanding money. In a fight that ensued the store owner was severely wounded after pop bottles and missiles of all kinds had been brought into play, and as a result Mr. Remmem was taken to Warren for medical aid. The two highwaymen escaped.

The proprietor, who sleeps above his place of business, was awakened by loud rapping on the door of the store and upon arising and inquiring as to the reason for the unusual early morning visit, he was advised that his nephew, Lloyd Alnes of this city, was there and wished to be let in.

Not suspecting evil intent, Remmem went down into the store, lighting his way with a flashlight and, upon opening the door, two youthful figures entered. One flashed a small pocket light at the owner and the other pointed a gun at him and demanded money.

When aware that the men had used the name of his nephew as a ruse to gain ready entrance to the premises, Remmem showed fight and stated that there was no money in the store. Thereupon the bandits began to use vicious language and claimed that Remmem owed them money previously, and that the time had arrived for payment. Remmem differed with them and an open fight followed between the three men, but it appears the highwaymen made no attempt to use the 32-caliber revolver which one carried. However, empty pop bottles, full ones and every other handy missile was brought into play and used to advantage by the intruders, and it is doubtful how the melee would have ended for Remmem had not a roomer, Carl Johnson of Karlstad, appeared in the doorway at this moment.

Upon discovering that assistance had arrived, the bandits made off. In the last struggle, however, Remmem wrenched the revolver from the hands of the gun-toter. The other made a hasty retreat and in going through the door dropped his pocket light. The gun and pocket light are the only clues left by the fleeing men.

Remmem was quite severely dealt with by the highwaymen, receiving a number of dangerous blows about the head and face, and he will be badly disfigured for some time.

That the attempted holdup was not the work of experienced men is apparent from the fact that the intruders revealed that they knew both Remmem and relatives in Thief River Falls, and also by their actions when confronted with opposition. It is also suspicioned that the affair was the outcome of some personal revenge.

Neither of the men wore a mask and they apparently made their way into town by foot. They had plenty of time to make a getaway as it was fully an hour before an alarm was given.

Local Man Takes Over Agency for Carburetor

A. C. Gjelhaug, who is employed at the Soo roundhouse and who is a well-known local mechanic, has taken over the agency for the Automatic steam carburetor, manufactured in Chicago, and will be the state distributor for the new carburetor in Minnesota.

The carburetor is something new and although it has not been on the market very long, already more than 100,000 of them are in use. The carburetor is absolutely guaranteed to increase the mileage of every car from 20 to 40 per cent and also to eliminate carbon, one of the great problems of the dry carburetor.

Mr. Gjelhaug expects to be actively engaged this summer in the distribution of the product and will make an active campaign to introduce it in Minnesota, where there already are a large number of them in use. On page three of The Tribune this week is an advertisement giving full particulars, and car owners are asked to look it over.

Visitor in City.

Lars Heckne of Hibbing, Minn., arrived in the city Saturday evening and is spending the Easter holidays visiting at the home of his sister, Mrs. C. F. Erickson. Mr. Heckne will be initiated this week into the mysteries of the I. O. O. F. lodge.

Boy Scouts to Stage Dance at Auditorium

Benefit Affair to Be Held Friday Evening April 13—Large Crowd Expected to Attend.

Flying Eagle Patrol, Boy Scouts of America, will put on a big dance at the Auditorium Friday evening, April 13, in an effort to raise sufficient funds to carry on the work of the Thief River Falls branch during the spring and summer months.

The local patrol has recently been reorganized and it is planned to establish summer camps, where various athletic events will be held, such as swimming contests, baseball tournaments, etc. The membership of the local patrol has been substantially increased and an endeavor will be made to provide the membership with real diversion this summer.

Those in charge of the patrol have decided that rather than to ask for subscriptions to carry on the work, they will put on a big dance and in that way attempt to secure the necessary funds. Music is to be furnished by Snyder's orchestra, and dancing will start at 9:15 o'clock.

A. A. Thoreson Opens Shoe Store at 212 Second Street

A. A. Thoreson has opened a shoe store in the building recently vacated by the Morrissette Grocery, located at 212 Second Street East, two blocks east of the Standard Oil station. Mr. Thoreson will occupy the building with the Halseth paint shop. The well known Wear-U-Well line of shoes will be handled. The store has been open for about three weeks and an advertisement concerning the Wear-U-Well shoe appears in this issue of The Tribune.

Prizes Offered for Best Front Page News Story

Lots of people think they have the natural talent for becoming a successful newspaper writer, but few seem to follow the profession after giving it a tryout. But maybe you're situated differently and have been awaiting the opportunity of showing your home town people just what you can do. If so, The Tribune is going to give you a fling at it. You will also win a substantial cash prize or a batch of theatre tickets.

"A Front Page Story," coming to the Lyceum theatre April 13 and 14, is a typical newspaper story and interesting beyond description. Many are said to return to view it a second and third time in cities where the picture has been shown. There isn't murder in it; not even suicide, divorce or a disastrous love affair. Moonshine raids play no part in it whatever, but it is seven thousand feet of the best flashes ever seen on the picture screen.

Newspaper stories always are interesting to the average person, and perhaps more romance, exciting experience and "grief" attaches to the persons responsible for the news in the big city dailies than any of the numerous extra hazardous occupations known to a man who must "grapple for a living."

A front page story, in order to be one, must not necessarily be perceived in a maze of crime, or politics, or blackmail, or in a pool of blood. Many of them are constructive instead of destructive. A front page story need not always be sensational.

The Times and Tribune are offering the following prizes for three front page stories for next week: $3 to the first, $2 to the second, and five tickets to the Lyceum theatre for the third. You're not going to get rich by winning, that's sure, but that's generally more than the average news story brings to the writer no matter where published. First prize will be printed on the front page of The Times and The Tribune over the name of the writer, and the second and third will take some other position in these papers. You are to choose your topic, whether current, or a creature of your own mind so long as it pertains to news, but not your opinion. What the newspapers want is news. Hold yourself down to about 150 words.

Give us a news story, pure and simple. Never mind your rhetoric or etiquette as they assume small place in modern news writing, probably because "big words" are understood by so few, including the newswriters themselves.

Liquor Raid By Sheriff Nets Two 12-Ounce Bottles

Local Barber Arrested Monday on Charge of Having Liquor on Premises.

TRIBUNE WARNED.

I wish to advise not to publish anything in your paper concerning the difficulties that took place at my place of business yesterday afternoon. I will make prosecution if anything is mentioned.

A Subscriber,
C. B. BRADLEY.

Two 12-ounce bottles of intoxicating liquor were netted during a raid made early Monday afternoon by Sheriff Ihle and Deputy Kongelf on the barber shop being conducted by Charles B. Bradley on LaBree avenue. The proprietor was arrested by the officers and taken before Judge Tarrant, who released Bradley upon the furnishing of $500 bail.

The officers entered Bradley's shop at about 2 o'clock and requested the owner to open his safe, Sheriff Ihle suspecting him of keeping liquor therein. Bradley started to comply with the orders of the officers, it is said, but afterwards stated that he did not know the combination. When told that unless he did open it, the strongbox would be broken into, Bradley is claimed to have reiterated that he could not open it, whereupon the combination was smashed and two 12-ounce bottles of liquor were found. County Attorney Theo. Quale was also present when the safe was broken into.

The liquor was taken possession of by Sheriff Ihle, who placed Bradley under arrest. When brought before Judge Tarrant, he was released upon furnishing $500 bail.

In a signed statement, directed to The Tribune, appearing at the head of this column and received by The Tribune Tuesday morning, Bradley sought to intimidate this newspaper and prevent publication of news articles telling of the raid made on his place of business. How Bradley intends to proceed in cases where newspapers tell of liquor raids by constituted authorities was not disclosed.

Verbal threats against the manager of The Times, R. H. Ross, were also made by Bradley, according to The Times manager.

Anton F. Halldin, 74, Dies Monday After Long Illness

Father of O. F. Halldin and Mrs. John Lund of This City Passes at Home of Latter.

Anton F. Halldin, well-known local resident for a number of years, died Monday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. John Lund, 713 Main avenue north, after suffering for some time from pernicious anemia, which was the cause of his death.

Mr. Halldin is survived by the following children: Mrs. Martin Freedholm, Albert Lea, Minn.; Walter Cedergrem, Cole Harbor, N. D.; Mrs. John Lund of this city; Mrs. Anna Foster, Minneapolis; O. F. Halldin of this city, and Mrs. Ida Bottom, Albert Lea, Minn. A step-son, residing in Sweden, also survives.

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Larson funeral chapel and interment will be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Parent-Teacher Meeting Monday Is Well Attended

A good sized audience attended the regular meeting of the Parent-Teacher association at the high school auditorium on Monday evening. The program opened with a piano duet by Mrs. Clarence Erickson and Miss Mildred Engen. Mrs. R. Arnold read Zangwill's popular and well known drama, "The Melting Pot." Mrs. Arnold is a reader of great ability and presented this difficult masterpiece in most excellent style. Between acts Mrs. O. F. Mellby and Roy Prytz sang a duet, as did also Mrs. C. A. Nason and Mrs. W. W. Prichard, Jr. All the musical numbers were thoroughly appreciated.

To mingle with great men is an education, to hear them is to broaden your vision and understand human nature more thoroughly.

The opportunity to hear that famous American, Opie Read, will be here on Tuesday evening, April 10. He is a wonderful platform speaker, standing on the platform a giant physically, unique in appearance, powerful in delivery, and he is a figure that will inspire wonder and delight.

wholly illusory, as you can find in the farms of this country.

If I were to speak in terms of blame, which I do not want to do, I would say that the blame does not rest at the door of the farmers, and I would say that it does not rest at the door of the few farm leaders who have been thinking of a way out of their desperate circumstances, because most of those leaders are earnest, even if they are wrong.

I would say, if I were placing blame, that some responsibility rests upon the men who know, and, knowing the facts, keep silence because it interferes with their self-interests to give this assistance to the farmers.

Let me suggest to you men one view-point which may perhaps explain some of the difficulties of the farmer and let me explain it in the hope that you men will take it and, if it seems right to you, will begin to apply it to the condition in your own Northwest.

Business Men Have Failed to Give the Soundest Advice.

You have said to the farmer: "We get along in our business, without asking other groups to come in, why cannot you do it in your business?" You have talked to the farmer as though the farm is in the exact relation as you to the ordinary affairs of trade. But have you ever pointed out to the farmer that his business is just as distinctive from other industries as distinctive things can possibly be? Have you ever pointed out to him that all of your production is founded on group production, and that group production—which for a hundred years means factory system—has been used and in order to do that successfully you cannot get along without group production and group capital. The state has everywhere created a corporation as an artificial thing so you can get money together and have a limited risk and then produce as a group, and then sell as a group.

Has it occurred to you that this group selling, group distribution, is always a group problem? You cannot market your flour, you cannot market automobiles or anything else intelligently without knowing the absorbing power of the market, without knowing what your competitiors are producing and selling against you, without knowing all kinds of factors that depend upon the other fellow more than they do upon yourself.

Declares Practical Problems Have Been Lost in Visions.

Group production, group capital, group distribution; those are the distinctive things of normal industry today. Those are the things on which you men have built up your great business. Those are the things which have made you leaders of the states of Minnesota and North Dakota here present at tihs evening meeting. Farming is the only exception to the rule of group production. The one peculiar characteristic of farming is individual production. Every man of you not only recognizes this as a fact but every man of you recognizes that as an ideal. Every man of you dreams of the country as a great, happy country, settled by individual farmers, their farms run by their own proprietors. Farms not run by absentee landlords, but farms where the farmer owns the farm and conducts it as an individual unit of national progress.

That has been the ideal for many many years, and all of you now know that the characteristic of farming is individual production. What then is the real problem of the farmer? The problem is, how can the farmer take the products of individual production and fit them into a system of group finance and group marketing? How can the farmer, as an individual, meet the problem of group marketing? He never can do it when he sells his own products as an individual. All he can do is to take thing to the market and, blindly and unintelligently, take it to the first man who will buy it.

He is pushed by his debts, he is pushed by his creditors, he does not know how to guess, and he does not know how to calculate. He has his wheat, he has his cotton, he knows it is harvested once a year, to be used all through the 12 months. He doesn't have any conception of world conditions on it and he blindly throws it on the market, each one man against the other man, and he breaks his own price by dumping.

Dumping is a characteristic of individual selling by the farmer, and the individual farmer must dump because no single individual farmer can ever solve the group problem of marketing. What has been done to bridge that over, to try to show the farmer that his great difficulty is to take his individual products and to feed them into a system of group marketing? Why, you men have not shown him any way out.

You have made it a perfectly easy thing for smooth-tongued politicians to go to the farmer and promise him anything because he had no analysis of his own situation, so that he could tell the true from the false. Why, if you had taken the trouble to explain to the farmers exactly what their problem was, then they would gradually have sought a solution without falling for such ridiculous things as price stabilization and new political parties and all kinds of government action.

Tells How California Met Similar Situation.

They would have fed an economic remedy for an economic problem, just as the farmer has found them in California and other sections of the world where co-operative marketing has been tried and not found wanting.

It works with commodities of which California has a monopoly. It works with things like eggs of which California produces less than 4 per cent of the product of the Union. It worked before the war, it worked during the war and it has worked since the war. It has worked in all kinds of credit conditions. It has worked with things that needed no financing. It has worked with things that needed huge financing and it has worked with things that have been fought bitterly from the beginning of the organization it has worked with. It has worked with the whole continent and all the trade helped us organize. There is not a type of commodity on which co-operative marketing will not work, if given some intelligent support by the merchants and the bankers and the leaders of the community.

Politics and Violence Not Way Out For the Farmers.

If there is a way out for the farmer, the way is not politics, and the way is not violence, and the way is not indignation, and the way is not getting on your knees, asking for government to treat you like a charity patient or to do things for you that it would not do for other industries. (Applause.) The way that has been found is the formation of co-operative marketing associations to sell the products which are produced by individual effort and getting the growers to act as a group and thus enabling them as a group to solve the problem of group marketing.

And men, I want to tell you that it works. It works with oranges. It took them 18 years to find out how to make it work even for oranges. It works for 22 different commodities in the state of California alone. They are handling more than $260,000,000 worth of products each year on a pure co-operative marketing basis. They have handled since 1919 more than $2,000,000,000 worth of products on this pure, co-operative basis. The farmers organized in big commodity marketing associations.

Co-Operatives in Minnesota Organize "All Wrong."

You—your farmers in Minnesota—you organized co-operatives first and you organized them all wrong. You organized them on a local basis.

Local organization is right for manufacturing, right for receiving, for grading, for packing, but it is absolutely wrong for farmers' marketing activities. You let your farmers copy the consumers' store system of England thinking they were working co-operative marketing. For over 60 years they have been building a wrong type of co-operative in the state of Minnesota, while you business men, who certainly must have known better, did not observe, or, observing, kept your silence.

Why, in California, from 1886 to 1904, we staggered along with these little locals, each one dumping against the other and none of them able to do merchandizing. Finally, we found the truth, that you had to organize the commodity as far as you could and they have organized the commodity. You can jut feed it out to the markets of the world as those markets can absorb it, and do merchandizing with raw farm crops just as you do with flour, with automobiles, with everything else that is sold around this country.

We have not done any miracles with co-operative marketing. We have simply applied your business principles to the farm, and we have made them work.

Predictions of Failure Given at Every Hand.

Oh, yes, in California we never started a single movement but that somebody stood on the sidelines and said, 'Yes, it will work with oranges but it won't work with beans. It will work with beans but it wont' work with almonds. It will work with almonds but it won't work with peaches, or prunes, or eggs, it won't work with milk, and it won't work with strawberries, and it won't work with barley.'

Why, men, every time we start at these movements we had the great dealers, the men who had the experience, stand on the sidelines and sneer at us and tell us that it will work with anything else except the pet thing that hits their pocketbook.

But co-operative marketing has yet to record its first commodity failure in California. It has yet to record that commodity marketing will not work with any type of product which is presented to it. Why? Because we are doing with farming simply what you have done with business.

We have studied your methods of business. We saw that you did not manufacture flour and then have every little stockholder in your concern, or in your corporation, take his share of flour and throw it on the market as he likes.

Declares Business Methods Only Needed for Success.

We know that you market together. You market your flour and you have one policy of selling that flour all over the United States, studying the markets that can take it, advertising to get them to use more of your product. You market your stuff, send it to the market that will absorb it at a fair price, and adjust your prices to the demand, and every bit of it is done by experts who represent all the stockholders sitting in the main office. And yet some of you sit back and say it can't be done.

Now let me tell you, that not only has it been done but it has been done in places other than California. They always said that we could do it there because we had specialty crops. Well, cotton is not a specialty crop, and the cotton men are operating today. More than $250,000,000 worth of cotton is being handled co-operatively today. Tobacco. Is that a specialty crop? You would not think so if you knew that tobacco is raised in this country by more than 300,000 families and that out of the 300,000 more than 230,000 are today organized, selling their tobacco through five distinct tobacco associations.

It does not merely work in California. It works everywhere in the world where it has been tried. It does not work merely on perishables; it works with semi-perishables, and it works with non-perishables.

I think I can tell you the real truth of co-operative marketing more by telling you a story than anything else, and I am going to ask for the privilege of telling you the story of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association.

Story of Tobacco Raisers in Six Southern States.

Burley tobacco is raised by, I should say, 90,000 families in Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, Tennessee, West Virginia, Missouri, and a tiny strip of Illinois. And it is raised by the family, too, not just by the farmers, because they have to send their wives and their children out to help them raise the tobacco. And one of the pet things that they make their wives and children do is to pick the big tobacco worms off the tobacco leaves—great big worms about six inches long—they look like young snakes. And that is the particular job they give to the women and children on these tobacco farms. Tobacco raising is no joke. For ten years these tobacco raising families have averaged an income of $339 a year per family, and you cannot raise good Americans on $339 a year.

And what was their system of selling tobacco? Burley tobacco, I have said, was raised by about 90,000 families, with a very small family income. How was it sold? Well, the Burley tobacco grower would grow it and dry it and divide it up into lubs and trash and leaves. When he thought it was in good trim he would bring it into a town to sell. He would bring it into towns where there were warehouses and there were warehouses in 86 towns in the Burley area, and these warehouses were great big buildings, with baskets, and the farmer would put his particular tobacco in a basket.

They would arrange the baskets in long rows up and down the warehouse and the buyers for the four big tobacco companies and some smaller buyers, and some speculators, whom they irreverently called "pinhookers," would walk up and down these great rows, and say they were bidding against each other for the tobacco. You can imagine how much bidding was being done, because if you and I were those buyers, you would never need to tell me outside what your limit was, because I would tell it to you after the first few sales, and you would tell me mine.

However, they would do this so-called auction sale, all up and down these rows, at the rate of one every four seconds, 15 sales a minute, and they were supposed to be grading as well as buying the tobacco. I question very much whether that grading was real. I questioned it. So I had them sell one basket of tobacco ten times in one morning. We sold it in the first row, and changed the tag. We sold it in the second row, and then we sold it in the third row, right across the floor. And we got prices ranging from eight cents to 28 cents a pound. The same man who paid 28 cents for it had already bought it for 11 cents a pound.

So we began to realize that there was absolutely no chance of that tobacco being intelligently graded, as far as buyers were concerned. We knew that they knew how to grade, but apparently they were not telling all they knew to the grower, and the growers would have to take the price.

The growers would not know whether the crop was 100,000,000 pounds or 200,000,000 pounds. They would not know whether the American Tobacco Company was in the field for 2,000,000 pounds of 30,000,000 pounds. They wouldn't know whether Reynolds was in the field for 40,000,000 pounds or 60,000,000 pounds. They would not know whether Meyers wanted 50,000,000 or 20,000,000 pounds. They had no conception of the absorbing power of their specific markets. They didnt' know the buying power of their consumer.

They would stand there and see that tobacco go, at an average for the year of 1920-21 of less than 8 to 10 cents a pound, depending on the grade.

Well, they didn't have to take the price, if they didn't like the bid. All they had to do would be to go outside, and say, 'I won't take that,' and sleep in their wagons overnight and eat the sandwich they brought from home, and stay over another day. They would be there the next day. Well, they would not have to take that price, either. All they had to do was to sleep in the wagon a second time, eat another sandwich, and on the third day they would have to sell because they simply could not hold out.

They had no means of borrowing money. The crop lien had to be paid, the country merchant was pushing them, the landlord was pushing them.

Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern Railway, thinks there is no one thing more essential for the general prosperity of the country than adequate railroad transportation at reasonably low rates. He says:

"In order to continue the enlargement and improvement of railroad facilities necessary to take care of the increasing traffic, the railroads must increase their credit. To do this they must actually earn a fair return. And they must do this not for a few months or for one year, but consistently as a regular thing. The only way this can be accomplished is to reduce transportation costs.

"In 1922 of every dollar the Great Northern Railway spent, 55 cents went for wages, 15 cents for fuel, 15 cents for other material, 10 cents for state and federal taxes and 5 cents for miscellaneous items, such as loss and damage, depreciation, etc. The result of the year's operations was a totally inadequate net railway operating income equal to 3½ per cent on the company's investment.

"No matter whether the railroads are operated privately or by the government, the only way freight rates can be reduced is by getting transportation costs down, and that means that there must be a reduction in the cost of fuel and other material and in labor costs as well.

"The item of taxes, which on the Great Northern was $8,000,000 in 1922, amounted to about one-half as much as the company's net railway operating income.

"While a sound public policy would seem to indicate the advantages of reducing taxation, the experience of the Great Northern, in common with all other railroads, is that its taxes have been increasing from year to year, being in 1922 almost twice as much as they were in 1916.

"The intelligent public, in considering railroad rates, should bear in mind the effect of this excessive tax burden.

"Theoretically other taxpayers are relieved from taxation to the extent of the railroads' contribution, but, in practice, it is likely the expenditures for local government are simply increased and greater programs of public improvements undertaken to consume the larger receipts. The evil of 'easy money' for public expenditures is well brought out in President Harding's last message, when he said:

"'Tax exempt securities are drying up the sources of Federal taxation and they are encouraging extravagant expenditures by states and municipalities. There is more than the menace in mounting public debt, there is the dissipation of capital which should be made available to the needs of productive industry.'

"The reduction in the item of labor cost does not necessarily mean lowering the wages of the employes, but does, of coures, mean accomplishing more from a given expenditure for labor. Something can be accomplished in this direction without reduction in wages; by more efficient performance of the individual employes, by keeping abreast of the development in modern shop methods, tools and appliances; by further perfection of motive power and cars; by making improvements in terminals and by making grade reductions and otherwise improving the roadbed. Such additions and improvements, of course, involve investment of additional capital. This emphasizes the need, which is encountered at every turn, for established credit in order to give the best service at the lowest cost consistent with prevailing conditions."

Three Granted Citizenship By Judge A. Grindeland

The court room at the court house was the scene last Saturday forenoon of a patriotic ceremony which marked the close of the examination of applicants for citizenship. Papers were granted to John Martin Lokken, Theodore Einar Jensen and David Samuelson. Arne Vik requested a continuance of his application, while the application of Ole Ness was dismissed owing to his claim for exemption as an alien in the world war.

In former years very little attention has been given to the granting of citizenship papers, at least no more than would be given to the granting of a marriage license, but Judge Grindeland has inaugurated the idea of making new citizens feel the solemnity of the occasion.

Accordingly addresses were made Saturday by Rev. Albin A. Larson and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard, both dealing with the responsibilities of citizenship, while Judge Grindeland from the bench addressed himself to the three applicants with reference to their new relationship with Uncle Sam. He held citizenship to be a priceless gift, not to be lightly considered, but to be esteemed and held in reverence as being the most valued possession to be gained on earth.

"The right kind of citizens," said the judge, "are those who hold sacred obligations to their country, who would refuse to break the law even in the slightest degree, and who would lay down their lives if need be in defense of their adopted land." He also paid his respects to those who disgrace their citizenship by stooping to practices which can only lead to degradation and contempt of law.

Following the ceremony the oath of allegiance was administered by Clerk of Court Eklund, after which the audience joined in singing the "Star Spangled Banner." The Girls' Blee club, under the direction of Maude L. Johnson, contributed several patriotic songs to the exercises.

IF ALL THAT WE SAY.

"If all that we say in a single day,
With never a word left out,
Were printed each night, in clear black and white,
'Twould prove queer reading no doubt.
And then just suppose, e're our eyes we could close,
We must read the whole record through;
Then wouldn't we sigh, and wouldn't we try
A great deal less talking to do?
And I more than half think that many a kink
Would be smoother in life's tangled thread,
If half that we say in a single day

Moonshine booze is not so plentiful and the price is said to have advanced in certain parts of Clearwater county following a series of raids by Sheriff Oliver Barness and his deputies. During the present month the sheriff personally conducted a search of a number of places suspected of manufacturing "moonshine" and gathered in a total of seven violators of the Volstead amendment. From the number five convictions were secured and fines aggregating $500 were paid into the county treasury. The sheriff has let it be known that the moonshiner will not receive any protection from his administration and his recent activities indicate that he means just what he says.—Gonvick Banner.

"And There Wasn't the Slightest Smell from Dead Rats."

Writes John Simpkins, farmer of Annandale, N. J.: "Rats were costing me hundreds yearly; tried dogs, ferrets, poison, could not get rid of them. Bought $1.25 pkg. of RAT-SNAP (5 cakes). Used half, not a live rat since. Dead ones a plenty. I like RAT-SNAP because after killing rats it dries them up — leaves no smell." Three sizes, 35c. 65c. $1.25. DOES NOT REPLACE—IT ASSISTS THE GAS CARBURETOR

Did you ever notice on a damp lay or evening how much smoother your car runs, how much more pep and power it has? It is true of every make and size of car. This is due to moisture from the atmosphere which is drawn into the motor.

Water (H2O) under certain conditions decomposes ito its gases, Hydrogen and Oxygen. Hydrogen gas burns, increasing the power, while the Oxygen gas not only aids combustion but unites with the carbon in the gasoline vapor and passes out through the exhaust as a gas, thus keeping the spark plugs clean.

The moisture taken from the atmosphere on damp days is a very noticeable help, but the Automatic Steam Carburetor is Absolutely Guaranteed to increase the mileage you get from your gasoline 20 per cent to 40 per cent, and also to eliminate carbon. It adds pep to the motor—gives it more speed, more power. It doesn't replace the gasoline—it helps it. It is a scientific device which should be placed on every automobile, truck or tractor. The Automatic Steam Carburetor manufactures live hot steam, which is automatically injected into the gasoline manifold in the proper proportion for every speed. It has received the endorsement of many universities, government officials, business institutions and motor EXPERTS.

In addition, more than a hundred thousand car owners are using it to cut down their gasoline bills and make their cars run smoother, produce more power, and eliminate carbon.

It is absolutely guaranteed to increase the mileage you get from your gasoline 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

To keep spark plugs clean.
To increase motor efficiency.
To increase both speed and power of motor with a smaller consumption of fuel.

THE CO-OPERATIVE PLAN.

The Tribune is giving considerable space this week to the Sapiro Co-operative plan of marketing. We do this believing what has been accomplished in other fields under this plan offers a solution to the grain farmer of the northwest. The article consists of a speech made by Aaorn Sapiro, and every farmer and business man should study it carefully.

So many things have been tried without success. Now a plan is offered under which the farmer may organize as other business is organized, and whether one intends to make use of the plan or not, all should be well informed upon the subject. Read the article carefully—then read it again. The Tribune would be glad to have its farmer readers in this vicinity express their opinions regarding the plan after giving the matter fair consideration.

The passage of the Judicial retirement bill is a just tribute to Judge William Louis Kelly. It permits him to retire on full pay for life. We hope he will promptly take advantage of it. The act of the legislature is an appreciation of Judge Kelly's long and honorable service on the bench, but it is also a recognition of the fact that Judge Kelly should not longer be subjected to the trying ordeal of judicial service under the present condition of crowded court calendars in Ramsey county. None will consider prompt action on Judge Kelleys' part as undue haste.—St. Paul Herald.

In view of the fact that the legislature has not provided sufficient funds for the payment of mothers' pensions, The Tribune wants to go on record in opposition to the proposed act to allow judges to retire on full pay no matter how long their service, and no matter how honorable such service. The state has done well by Judge Kelly, and he should retire without pay when his physical condition becomes such as to prevent him from performing his duties on the bench. We are unalterably opposed to judicial pensions.

GOSSIP.

How senseless and baseless and useless and cruel gossip may be, is illustrated by a rumor which got around St. Paul last week to the effect that Senator Carley was a common drunkard and had appeared at the State Capitol on several occasions in a maudlin condition. The fact is that Mr. Carley seldom takes a drink and we believe he has not touched liquor in any form this winter—at least no one has seen him take a drink. Another story was circulated around St. Paul to the effect that Mike O'Dowd was knocked out because he was in poor condition due to over indulgence in liquor. Except for the fact that Mike has not touched liquor in three years, the story is probably true.

The people who start such rumors are generally ignorant scandal mongers possessing no knowledge of the facts, but who wish to appear wise concerning prominent persons. If such tale bearers were publicly rebuked or slapped in the face every time they started to whisper concerning either man or woman, perhaps that class of vermin would be eradicated in the course of time. There is no other cure for the character assassins of either sex.

The bank guaranty bill has been killed for good in the present legislature. Peace be to its ashes. There may be justice in the argument of the foes of the bill that such enactment at this time would be ill advised, and might even precipitate general disaster among the country banks. But pending the return of normal times, the bankers of the state should give some time to the study of guaranty systems in other states, in order that they may be well informed and ready to adopt some system when the demand gets strong enough to become a campaign issue in this state. The Tribune is firmly convinced that the time is not far distant in this state when all bank deposits will be guaranteed, and rightfully so, for there is no reason why the deposits of the individual should be subject to hazards which are not now permitted with reference to the deposits of municipalities, counties, states and the nation. And as is the case in all such instances of public demand, the banking interests will have themselves to thank for unwise legislation if they do not anticipate the coming of guaranty laws by assisting in the effort to get the best and most equitable regulation which can be devised.

The present legislature will pass co-operative marketing laws which are as broad and flexible as those of any state in the Union, and no person at all conversant with the spirit and intent of the members will have occasion to criticise or find fault with that body for failure to act in the best interests of the farmers of the state. If they fail it will be because no one has presented to them a better law for consideration. Governor Preus has rendered a valiant service to the agricultural industry of the state by advocating the best system of marketing laws that can be devised.

A rural credits law is certain to be passed by the legislature, such a law having already passed the House. The machinery has been pretty well agreed upon. The law will be administered by a board consisting of an assistant attorney general, a "dirt" farmer, and a practical loan expert. Loans will be made on a basis of 60 per cent of the value of farm land, plus 33 and 1-3 per cent of the insurable value of improvements. The flexibility of the law in this respect will be largely determined, however, by the administrative board who will control the method of appraisal. The law is expected to be of much value to this section—and we have every reason to believe it will be.

It is to be noted that in almost every instance where Sunday movies were voted upon in the recent election, the majority decided in favor of the pictures. From which it would appear that the sensible thing for those who seek reform along that line is to direct such performances along sensible lines, rather than to seek their destruction. There is no denying the fact that a moving picture may be as effective for good as for evil, and since the people seem to have adopted the movies as their popular form of amusement, why not make use of such performances for the good of society?

The members of the senate and house are between the devil and the deep sea these days. Every measure that comes up has supporters and opponents, and as the bills come up for consideration the mail of the solon is about equally divided between instructions to vote against the measure and to support the measure on penalty of political extinction. With the political graveyard continually dangling before the eyes of the legislator, he generally acts in the final analysis according to the dictates of his own conscience, for as one senator put it to the writer a few days ago, "You are damned if you do, and damned if you don't."

That man Curtis Mosher, who is traveling about the state with John R. Mitchell, Federal Reserve officer, is the same bird who attacked the rural credits law in a speech at Duluth early in the winter, asserting that the farmers already had received too much credit. Did it ever occur to Mosier that perhaps the farmers have as much sense as other business men in the use of credit? If a farmer desires to use further credit for purchase of cows, or machinery, or other farm improvements, he is the best judge of the utility of such a transaction, and he does not need to be told that as a member of a certain class of people he is not entitled to further credit. The bankers are only stirring up further class hatred by the employment of such unreasonable agitators.

It is not surprising that Commissioner Babcock should be criticised. He is at the head of the most important of all state departments and he cannot be expected to accomplish the impossible task of satisfying the various demands of individuals and communities, but we believe it to be the verdict of the state as a whole that he has performed wonders with the road system of the state in a remarkably short space of time. It is regrettable, therefore, that he should now be badgered and hampered in his efforts to complete the road system, instead of being given the support and aid which will eventually give us a highway system which is destined to be our greatest commercial asset. The Babcock law has proven the greatest boon ever devised for the benefit of the rural communities of the state.

The Epworth League, a Methodist publication, announces that Congressman Volstead stood tenth in a voting contest conducted by that publication to determine the ten greatest men in the United States. Something like 750,000 votes were cast. In view of the outcome of the recent congressional contest in the seventh district, we are strangely reminded of the irony of fate.

Representative Waldal has secured passage of a bill which provides for the appointment of the board of regents by congressional districts. A similar bill has passed the senate, the essential difference being that the Waldal bill provides immediate action. It is a good bill and Thief River Falls has some good material for membership upon the board whenever the governor is ready to act.

It will not be denied that the Interior Department acted wisely in placing its stamp of disapproval upon the Clearwater project, refusing to allow the Indians to pay for something which could only afford them imaginary drainage relief. Now that both the Red Lake and Clearwater projects have been placed in the discard, would it not be fair to assume that when such plans are again considered they should be approached from the standpoint of general flood control and the cost assessed over the entire area benefited?

Suckers are not confined to any political party, if one is to believe the talk around the St. Paul hotel corridors these days. Charges are rife to the effect that Republicans and Democrats collected large sums to fight radicalism, and that the collectors "went south" with the money, and that the Nonpartisan League collected $16 per from the farmers to fight "Big Biz," said fee never getting farther than the palm of the organizers. The Carley committee has the job of figuring out how the money was divided.

The Florida lumber camp boss who flogged a North Dakota boy to death when he objected to the work assigned him on account of illness, will be tried for murder in the first degree in May, and North Dakota authorities will assist in the prosecution. The young man was the victim of a convict labor contract system in vogue in Florida, under the terms of which convicts may be hired by contractors for $2 per month. If the accused lumber boss is found guilty of beating the sick boy as charged, he should be tied to the roof of the cell house by the thumbs and raw hided within an inch of his life.

Considerable criticism is being leveled at Mike Holm, secretary of state, for omitting the Declaration of Independence from the recently printed blue book, all of which is bunk pure and simple. The inference is, of course, that Mike is disloyal, but it is comforting to know that Mike has more love of country in his little finger than is possessed by the entire coterie of country edtors who have disgraced themselves by publishing this silly criticism.

Senator Hansen worked and voted for the 8 per cent interest law, which has now been signed by Governor Preus. The senator made the only speech delivered in the Senate in favor of the bill. The law goes into effect next January.

The management of the Nonpartisan League of the state of Nebraska has brought suit against A. C. Townley to prevent him from removing cash and automobiles belonging to the League from the state. Verily, the mighty have fallen.

The St. Paul Herald is authority for the statement that Billy Noonan, representative from the new Lake of the Woods county, where the big fish come from, is about to be married. First the State Legislature and then the State of Matrimony. When a newspaper man goes wrong he goes the limit.

The election of Herb. Hotaling as secretary of the Ten Thousand Lakes association is regarded as the best selection that could have been made. He knows the state from stem to stern and has a nation-wide acquaintance which should prove of value in his new work.

The St. Cloud Journal-Press, edited by Alvah Eastman, a dyed-in-the-wool Republican, opines that the people who rented Warren G. Harding's home at Marion, Ohio, will have to move out about March 4, 1925. No doubt about it, Alvah.

The few remaining moose of the state are now protected by a closed season which is sure to be adopted by the legislature. The "one buck" law has been killed.

A committee of the senate should investigate the charge that "Jim" Carley was hired by the keepers of southern winter resorts to bring them Minnesota business.

If President Harding raises as much hell with the sugar profiteers as he did with the coal barons, we feel sorry for the public.

It seems that he who contributes and runs away, will live to contribute another day.

Thief River Falls to Get Postoffice, Says Steenerson

Retiring Congressman Assured That Next Congress Will Provide New Building in This City.

It will be remembered that The Tribune some weeks ago editorially commented on a rumor that Mr. Steenerson felt rather peeved over his insignificant vote in this city at the last election, and that he would be influenced thereby in taking action to secure a new postoffice building for the city.

Mr. Steenerson's own view of the matter will appear from the appended letter to the editor of The Tribune:

"Dear Mr. Editor: My attention has been invited to the article appearing in your paper of Thursday, Feb. 22, 1923, to the effect that the talk was going around that Congressman Steenerson was peeved over the result of the last election and the small vote he received at Thief River Falls, and that he will block the efforts of the city to get a new postoffice.' I note that you say you cannot credit such reports, and I wish to assure you that any such reports are absolutely false.

"As you probably know, at the opening of the session when there was talk that a general public building bill would be passel, I introduced the bill of which I enclose a copy. I procured all the data with reference to the amount of business done at Thief River Falls postoffice, together with other information desired by the Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, all of which is carefully preserved in their files. I had several conferences with the chairman (Mr. Langley of Kentucky), who will be chairman in the next Congress, about this matter, and he promised that, if any public building bill went through, Thief River Falls would be provided for. But the postoffice department came out with a letter recommending only a few large cities which should be taken care of at once with new public buildings, and that no general bill should be passed. This did not satisfy the House Committee on Public Buildings and Grounds, and hence no bill was reported at this session. I am assured, however, that in the next Congress a general public building bill will be reported from the committee and passed, and this will include the Thief River Falls building.

"You may recall that before the war a general public building bill passed the House, which included an item for Thief River Falls, but it did not pass the Senate because of the necessity of war expenditures.

"Kindly give this letter pubilcity.

"Very truly yours,
"HALVOR STEENERSON."

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Woman's Club Has Meeting.

The Woman's club held their regular meeting Monday, April 2. The subject of the meeting was: "Styles, Past, Present and Future." Mrs. J. J. Richards gave a most interesting paper on the "Origin of Clothing," how skirts and trousers came to be worn, etc. After this talk the old styles were illustrated. The oldest costume worn was 80 years old, the hair-dressing and millinery of that time also being illustrated with the costumes. Another very interesting paper on modern styles was given by Mrs. W. W. Prichard Jr. In her address she also made a prophecy for the future styles. Local ready-to-wear shops illustrated and displayed modern styles and many beautiful and up-to-the-minute costumes were shown. The future styles were very nicely illustrated by two models in a "Swagger Street Costume in 1940," and an evening gown for the same date. Out-of-door life and the automobile have much to do with present styles, therefore at a future date airplanes will perhaps have the same influence. It is needless to say that styles proved to be a most interesting and enjoyable subject for the meeting.

Carolina Cringstad, Mayor of Erskine, Visits in City

Carolina P. Cringstad, woman mayor of Erskine, who was defeated in the recent election by an Erskine banker, was a visitor in Thief River Falls last week, and while here discussed conditions in Erskine with a Tribune reporter. Though defeated she is undaunted by her defeat, and she rather resents reports which have been circulated to the effect that she was "in bad" in her home town.

Miss Cringstad has been relentless in her opposition to moonshine joints of every description and this provoked the opposition of the lawless element, and at the end of her regime she had the satisfaction of retiring with the knowledge that she had never shirked her duty. In the election one of the issues was the Sunday movies. The movies were endorsed by the people of Erskine and naturally Miss Cringstad, who had opposed them in a former election, went down to defeat.

Settler's Wife Killed When Loaded Firewood Explodes

Mrs. M. Stepan of Graceton, Lake of the Woods County, Victim of Horrible Tragedy.

Mrs. M. J. Stepan of Graceton, Lake of the Woods county, was so badly wounded a week ago Sunday by the explosion of a stick of firewood in her home that she died while being taken to Baudette for medical aid. A neighbor named Frank Nahodil was suspected of loading a stick of firewood with dynamite and placing the same in the Stepan woodpile. He was arrested last Monday and hung himself on the village jail a few days later.

Bad blood has existed between the families for some years as the outgrowth of a lawsuit, Nahodil having made repeated threats to "get" the Stepan family.

The explosion which killed Mrs. Stepan took place shortly after the noon hour as she was sitting beside the stove. She was terribly injured about the left side, and died from loss of blood and the ensuing shock. The explosion completely wrecked the stove and did considerable damage to the house. The sheriff of Lake of the Woods county found much incriminating evidence at the Nahodil home, and the latter no doubt preferred suicide to facing the wrath of his incensed neighbors.

Woman's Case Amazes Thief River Falls

A business man's wife suffered for two years with sore, watery eyes, which pained day and night. Finally she tried simple camphor, hydrastis, witchhazel, etc., as mixed in Lavoptik eye wash. The Truth About THIEF RIVER FALLS

SOUTH DAKOTA FARMER RELATES EXPERIENCE WITH WINTER WHEAT

Is Ready to Gamble That Crop Will Be Better Than Any Acreage of Spring Wheat.

The Tribune has received for publication a communication sent to the Watertown, S. D., Public Opinion by a South Dakota farmer regarding winter wheat, which appeals to us as being so sensible and to the point as to be of interest locally. It reads as follows:

At present indications winter wheat planted early last fall on summer fallowing seems to be coming out in good shape this spring in spite of all unfavorable conditions encountered both in the fall and winter. I consider this a very important proposition as bearing upon successful farming in this country where a farm is so large that all of it cannot well be used for dairy purposes. By this time we all know that spring wheat has been very poor for the past five years. It is an unreliable crop for the average farmer and generally speaking has been a money loser. Both yield and quality have combined to bring about this situation. Furthermore, our land has become infested with wild oats, mustard and other foul stuff. Raising of winter wheat as I am doing now on my farm is an easy way to handle this growing menace. There are at present thousands upon thousands of acres of land so badly infesfed with wild oats in this country that a crop cannot be raised on it this coming season—that is, a crop of small grain. This is now the third year that I have raised Kanred winter wheat, which I got form the college experiment stateion at Brookings and there is no question in my mind but that it will give surer and better crops than spring wheat and will clean up the land from wild oats, mustard, etc. My future plan for handling winter wheat is as follows: Sow a year before with a crop of sweet clover. Plow this sweet clover under when it starts to blossom. Then work the land with a harrow two or three times. Sow the winter wheat the last week in August. Now if any sweet clover comes up from the roots that will be very beneficial as it will help to catch snow and protect the wheat through the winter. Sowing and raising winter wheat in this manner will give the farmer more time for other fall work, as it gets ripe in July, and that will mean he will have more time in the spring for sowing other crops. I consider now that we are sure of a winter wheat crop wherever it is raised according to this plan. I think it will add $25 an acre to the value of our farm land. I want to express my appreciation and my thanks to the old county agent, Mr. Ausman, for it was he who induced me to start raising winter wheat, and in my view this alone was worth more to this county than all the salary paid him. This year I have 300 acres of winter wheat, and I am ready to gamble with any man that it will be better than a spring crop of the same acreage by two to one, and it leaves the land in a much better and cleaner condition.

PLANT FLAX EARLY TO DODGE THE WILT

Heavy losses from flax wilt can be prevented by early planting, says R. C. Rose of the agricultural extension service of the university of Minnesota.

Mr. Rose explains that the flax plant thrives best at low temperature, while the wilt producing fungus prospers most at high temperatures.

"Hence, if the flax is put into cool soil as early in the spring as it is possible to get into the fields, the seedlings will obtain a good vigorous start and escape serious wilting," he says. "Light frosts do not injure flax, and the yields will be much better if seeding is begun early."

Mr. Rose believes the importance of early planting has not been generally recognized, because when flax is grown on new land—as it often has been in the comparatively new northwest—a good crop could be obtained by sowing it after all other crops have been planted. But as the new land has decreased in area and the "flax-sick" soil has been steadily increasing in extent, the practice of delaying the seeding of flax is no longer safe or profitable. "Even on decidedly 'flax-sick' soil," says the extension specialist, "resistant varieties of flax will yield well if sown early."

(April 1 to 8.)

Seed the new lawn as soon as possible now. Grass thrives in moist and cool weather. Early planting gives it a good start.

Achillea Ptarmica, Perry's White, is a splendid perennial for cut flowers. It lasts well throughout the summer.

Gaillarida Grandiflora or blanket flower is a very showy perennial for late summer use.

The Kitchenette squash is prolific, of good quality and of small size, making it desirable for the small family. Plant them this spring.

"Better Seed, Better Crops" is not only a good slogan, but a true slogan. Poor seeds won't give a good crop. Get the best even though they cost more.

Sunflowers are said to produce from 600 to 1,800 pounds of seed per acre in California, 1,000 pounds is the average. This seed is used mostly in chicken feed mixtures.

Grass seed of high purity and germination test is the cheapest to buy in the long run. You may pay less for a poor mixture, but it costs more because there is so much less live seed in it.

The red Elderberry flowers early and has an abundance of red fruit about the first of July. Birds are very fond of this fruit and prefer it to cultivated fruits.

Early spring is the time to sell small fruits, especially strawberries. Set out a hundred or two this year. Senator Dunlap is a standard June bearer. Progressive is a standard everbearer. The new fruit form varieties are also fine, but harder to bea.—LeRoy Cady, Associate Horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

they had to sell. And they went home with a few cents in their hands and spent most of that in paying their debts in a country store, and then stored up a heart full of hate against the blind system that somehow made them work all the winter in producing their crop, and yet leave them at the end practically without funds enough to keep their families on any kind of living basis for the rest of the year.

Feeling Grew in Kentucky That Something Must Be Done.

Then they got more desperate and more desperate, and at the end of 1920 and the beginning of 1921 there was a feeling that everything was not right in Kentucky. Merchants went up to see Judge Bingham in Louisville, the publisher of the Courier-Journal, and they said:

We are all going broke. The growers are not getting enough for their tobacco. They cannot pay their debts to us, and we cannot pay our notes, and we are going broke unless something is done."

County bankers went to see Judge Bingham, who is supposed to be the real leader in Kentucky, and they said:

"We are facing insolvency. We owe money in town and we cannot pay those notes because the merchants are not paying us their notes. We are going broke unless something is done in Kentucky."

Newspaper men from the little towns came to see Bingham and said: "Judge, Kentucky is on the verge of a volcano. We do not want another storm like the one in the Northwest down here in Kentucky. We want something done in Kentucky before these men lose faith in everybody. We want something done here before Kentucky goes absolutely to the wall."

So Judge Bingham was worried. He had read about California and he started to look up these growers' co-operatives and came to the conclusion that there was something in co-operative marketing, that maybe something could be done for the farmers in Kentucky. He went to New York and saw his friends there. He went back to Louisville and he called a conference of 60 leading citizens of Kentucky, men like you. About 20 of them were farmers, about 20 were buyers and merchants, quite a few of them were tobacco merchants, tobacco warehouse men on the other side of the game. Some of them were just big public leaders.

Business Men, Bankers, Join in State-Wide Movement.

He had the whole matter of co-operative marketing presented to these 60 men. They went into an all-day session on the subject. They asked all kinds of questions of each other. They had all kinds of debates. At the end of that day they voted unanimously that co-operative marketing could work with tobacco just the same as it works with other commodities, and that they must get Kentucky growers signed up for co-operation. They organized a little committee of five and told those five to choose a bigger committee and organize the Burley Growers' Association. Judge Bingham acted as chairman of the committee. The committee included about half growers. The other half were merchants, bankers, publishers, men of public interest and public importance in Kentucky.

They put on a campaign to sign up growers, and in four and a half months they signed up 55,710 growers at a cost of $42,000. I don't know if you realize that that was a wonderful feat in itself, because these growers had never heard of co-operative marketing. Their bankers had heard very little if anything of it. The merchants knew practically nothing about it. They had to show, to prove the idea, not only to the farmers and their wives, but to all the commercial leaders, the merchants, the bankers, the lawyers—even the teachers and ministers, in all these country towns where burley is raised.

But they did it. They signed those growers up to five-year contracts—strong, stern contracts, under which the growers agreed to deliver tobacco to the association, giving the association absolute title, and the association agreed to grade it, to pool it by grades, and then sell it and to deduct only the cost of doing business, and then divide the net profits among the growers, so that each one would get the same as the other, for the same quantity and quality and grade of the product.

Every Grower Given Equal Share in Proceeds of Pools.

The directors would have to be selected by the growers, and their tobacco would be in the same pool as that of the growers. If they wanted to get a fair price for their own they would have to get the same price for the smallest man in the whole association. This is the famous internal pool that California has put on the map, as far as this country is concerned.

The contract was a long, harsh contract and 55,710 of these growers signed that contract. We did not even have a law in Kentucky under which we could organize an association, so they enacted a co-operative marketing act. The governor and the legislature were all interested. On the seventh day of the session of their legislature the governor signed the co-operative marketing act of Kentucky. Then they organized that association.

They elected their directors. The directors elected as their manager, not a farmer, but a man who had been in the trade, a man who was a warehouseman, who had been a buyer, who was a big grower—chiefly a man who was a good business man.

They did not ask him to serve for $2,000 a year, because all co-operatives know this: it is not a square thing to ask a fair price for prunes, and deny a fair price to brains. We pay our managers. We get the ablest men we can to run our business, and we pay them anywhere from $6,000 to $55,000 a year, to act as the managers of these co-operative marketing associations.

I happen to be counsel for co-operatives which are paying their managers those ranges of salary. We got James Stone as manager. How? Well, first the directors wanted him. Then we went to the bankers at Louisville, we wet to the bankers at Lexington, we went to some of the country bankers, and asked them for nominations and almost every one named Jim Stone. So Jim Stone was elected, and Jim Stone took his place at a fair salary to manage the affairs of that association.

We got Ralph Barker to take care of our warehousing and our handling problem—Barker, who is known from one end of Kentucky to the other as a great tobacco expert, and as a man who has handled millions and millions of pounds of tobacco each season, and knew the physical end of it without any question. We got those two men in our chief positions, and then we had our real problem to face.

The first was this: 55,000 men were going to deliver tobacco to us. Where would we receive it? Here we have an association without capital stock, without anything in the treasury except the few dollars that were over from the entrance fees that we did not have to use up in the organization campaign. How were we going to get the places to receive and grade and store all that tobacco? Well, we figured that somebody had those places. And you know it is a rule of co-operatives that you must never put up a building to parallel any existing thing, if the man who owns the existing thing is willing or will consent to let you use his plant, either under a contract of purchase or under a contract of lease or under a contract of use.

Warehousemen of State Are Called Into Conference.

So we called together all the warehousemen of Kentucky in all the Burley area. They had four meetings in four days, and at these meetings most all of them were represented. We came in and presented at the meetings a standard form of contract, and that contract provided that we would organize subsidiary corporations with common stock in a nominal amount, and preferred capital in five classes; likewise, with a bond issue in five classes; and we asked those men to turn over their plants to us right then and there, at an agreed value, or if a value could not be agreed on, at an arbitrary value.

The value to be paid to them on preferred capital stock or bonds of these subsidiary corporations we were offered, the bond issue and the preferred stock issued simply to be equal to an appraised arbitrary value of the plants they were turning over to us. Then the marketing association would make a contract with this corporation to the effect that it would guarantee that one-fifth of the stock and one-fifth of the bonds would be bought back by the corporation each year, and all of the tobacco moved through the association would be the guarantee for performance of that particular warranty.

Well, men, much to our amazement 117 of these warehousemen signed those contracts out of 131 and turned over their plants to us with the obligation on our part to advertise these plants over a period of five years, and we did pay one-fifth of 1 per cent per pound from the Burley tobacco each year to advertise the goods of those plants.

Owners of Warehouses Take Positions in Project.

In four days we got from the warehousemen the plants needed to receive and to handle and to grade our Burley tobacco. Why did they do it? Well, they are men just like you and they began to realize that these farmers were really entitled to a chance to help themselves. As one of the warehousemen got right up in the meeting and said: Men, lets' recognize that these men have all bought and paid for the warehouses three or four times and we fellows still own them. Now, let's give them a chance to buy those warehouses and own them at the end of five years, and then practically every one of those warehousemen took a position at our request as the manager of the warehouse, or took some position in the association as a grader or some place where his expert knowledge and his acquaintance with tobacco and with men could be made serviceable to all of us.

Problems Solved Within Week By New Manager.

Then, what did Jim Stone do? He advertised for graders and he opened a school for graders at Lexington, Ky. He called these men in and put the samples out on tables and taught them the grades of the association. If the men took examinations and did it well he kept them. If they didn't he dropped them. Gradually he worked out about 100 expert graders and then he sent them around the territory to these 86 receiving plants so that they would there receive and grade tobacco, never knowing whose tobacco it was, never knowing anything about the price, but just impersonally grading that tobacco. We solved the grading problem within the first week after we organized. Then came the next problem. The growers were going to deliver the tobacco. They were going to drive in with it. They were going to have it graded. They were going to get a grade receipt showing how many pounds of each grade they had delivered.

But they needed money, because you and I know where we have a crop raised as they had down there 70 per cent of the net crop had liens. Those growers have got to have a lot of money on the day that they deliver that tobacco. How could we get the money? We had no capital stock, and we had to get the money to pay for the green tobacco before it was redried.

Well, we went up to the Louisville bank, called in some Lexington banks, called in two Cincinnati banks. We gave them our grades. Then we had been watching the sales made outside. We knew that there were lots of growers who didn't join the association, just as there are always outside growers, and we knew that the big buyers would go to those growers and say: We will give you a good price for your tobacco. Don't join the association.

And they had done it there, only we watched those prices and every time a sale was made we had a record of the sale. We had a record of all the auction sales and we noticed that the price crept up. It jumped up from 12 to 14, to 16, to 18, almost to 19 cents a pound on Burley tobacco.

Well, we took a record of it. We recorded the buyer, we recorded the seller, we recorded the grade, we recorded the price. We took all of that material up to Louisville. We put it out to these bankers and asked them to have their tobacco committees sit on it and figure out what would be the fair, conservative loan value against each one of the 53 grades of tobacco, and we showed them all the samples, showed them a number of our contracts and told them just what we expected to do.

Well, they studied it out. They worked out a schedule of so many cents for grade A1, so many cents for grade D4 and so on. We figured it out that it would average almost 10 cents a pound, and the wholesale price of the previous year had been from 8 to 10 and 10 and one-half cents a pound. We said, is that the conservative amount to borrow on tobacco, because we don't want to get anybody stuck on such a loan. They said, yes, that would be absolutely safe, considering the existing market and considering the crop of this season. Then, we said to them, we want our money because it is going to take three weeks before we can really redry tobacco and put it in form and get money on it from outside banks and we expect to have deliveries of about 12 million pounds a week. We can slow them up to that extent. That will mean 36 million pounds in three weeks and on that schedule they had given of about 10 cents a pound it means we would have to borrow $3,600,000. The banks at Louisville said they would give us a million and a half, a couple at Cincinnati said they would give us $800,000.

Banks Agreed on Loans to Finance First Sales.

Some other banks around there said they would give us quite a quantity and we were going on beautifully when one of the lawyers for one of the banks threw a bombshell into us by giving a report to his bank that this money would be simply running the danger of losing every cent of it, and the co-operative should be ignored.

Well, we were startled, but I was chiefly startled because our contracts had been in the hands of that particular firm of lawyers for about four months. What interested me most was that they had given that opinion first at a little luncheon where one lawyer of that firm had told it to some other man there, and after he did it and it was reported to me I called on him and asked him his attitude toward the whole thing.

Well, he said, Sapiro, you know this thing is illegal. It is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act. I said maybe it comes within the exemption as expressed in the Clayton act. He said there is no such exemption in the law, so I said look at section six of the Clayton act and you will find there that all agricultural or horticultural organizations not organized for profit and not having a capital stock are exempt from the operation of the Sherman anti-trust act in the sense as to form, as to the organization itself, they are not illegal.

Well, he took and opened his book. He said there is no such thing in the Clayton act. I said to him, you have the railroad edition, which skips from 4 to 7, and he looked, and he did have that. And he threw that aside and he said, well, even if that is the law as soon as it comes before the Supreme court, the Supreme court would declare such a section unconstitutional.

Lawyer Who Raised Point Fails in Attack on Plan.

I told him I didn't think that was possible because that section had been before the United States Supreme court in the duplex printing case, and instead of declaring it unconstitutional the United States Supreme court had interpreted the section. Well, he began to get mad and told me that the title could not pass under that contract and if the banks did loan money to any co-operative like that the paper would not be re-discountable through the Federal Reserve system.

Bankers Come to the Rescue With Backing to the Limit.

I told him that was interesting, because the Federal Reserve board had lately handed down an opinion exactly to the contrary and stating that the paper of organizations drawn up exactly like that we had drawn by the same men was eligible for rediscount.

Well, at that stage of the game he got thoroughly mad and fumed and withdrew from the room and left me alone with his partner, and I recalled that interview and I recalled that he had given the opinion before he had even studied law and I therefore went before the bankers' group in Louisville and explained that maybe he was sticking by his original opinion and maybe he didn't understand that law, maybe he didn't read the Clayton act, maybe he hadn't even gotten acquainted with some of those decisions on the subject and I was thinking that even if he had read the law that no act is unconstitutional until a court—not a lawyer—declares it so, and until that time we were legally organized and that we were entitled to borrow money and that no bank was running a chance provided our security was worth while.

Then to our amazement at this bankers' meeting. Jim Brown, the president of the biggest bank in Kentucky, the National Bank of Kentucky, Jim Brown got up and said to the other bankers: I don't know how you men feel about it, but I believe that this thing is the greatest movement that has ever been started in Kentucky. It is the only chance the gorwers have ever had. It is the only chance for our merchants and country bankers to come out even. I am going to lend them the legal limit of our bank, because I am sure I shall not run a risk of losing one penny in the transaction, and I am dead sure that it is good for Kentucky.

Well, when he finished, a couple of other bankers got up and said they would lend something. We saw $800,000 in sight. That is all and we were feeling blue. Suddenly the idea occurred, let's call all the country bankers in from the burley area down to Lexington for a meeting and put the problem right straight up to them. We sent out wires. More than 500 of them came to the Phoenix hotel for this meeting. Jim Stone explained the whole situation, told them what these lawyers said and had told at our meeting with the bankers. Judge O'Leary who had been in the Supreme court of Kentucky, gave his point-blank opinion that the whole matter was legal and valid from the ground up and he would stake his standing as a lawyer and a judge on that statement. Judge Talbott made a similar statement.

Then Judge Bingham got up and told the bankers we needed $3,600,000, that we had in sight about $800,000. They were to be the judges themselves as to what they would or could do for this association. He explained to them that what we were going to do was to get a trustee appointed, assign over to the trustee all the tobacco that would be delivered to us. The trustee would hold it as the assigns or trustee for the benefit of all the creditors lending us this money.

We would have the right to withdraw the tobacco for sale or withdraw it for substitution or withdraw it for redrying, but that there would always be that security behind that tobacco on the basis made by this tobacco committee at Louisville.

And he said to these bankers: I am going to ask you men to say right now whether you are standing with the growers, with your own community, or whether you are concerned with the men behind you who are absolutely leaning on you for their very existence today, and then he said to them: And I am not asking you to do a thing I won't do myself, and with that he announced his own subscription, one million dollars toward that fund. (Applause.)

So from that moment, you see, these bankers jumped up all over the room. One little fellow got up and said: My bank is a little bit of a bank, $25,000 capital. The legal amount I can loan is $2,500. I will borrow $2,500 myself and hand that in and present that beside what my bank can pay. It is no use to have a bank any more down there unless I can help the tobacco grower make good in his business. My bank is ruined unless the tobacco industry is put on its feet and I might as well go down helping the grower as fighting the grower.

Well, from that moment it took two stenographers to take the subscriptions, one stenographer taking the name and the other the number and the amount. When we finished that afternoon we had $5,400,000 subscribed against our need of $3,600,000. And we got the money in and the growers came and delivered their tobacco and they would get a receipt showing just how many pounds they were delivering. They would also get a darft drawn against the association signed by the association, in which they were given the amount at so many cents per pound of each one of the grades. They would take that to the local bank and the local bank would give them face on the draft, then draw on the Security Trust Company of Lexington, trustee for the money, and get interest from the moment they paid the money to the grower.

All of this was done on 90-day notes and we paid back every cent of it in 42 days from the day the first money was made available to us. We got in tobacco and started in to pay these growers this money and more than half of those growers went home with an advance payment on their tobacco which was larger than they had gotten of the full sale price for their crop the previous year.

Then, we had the job of selling the tobacco. Jim Stone sent out stamples to all the tobacco buyers. He sent out a sample of the grades. He said we are ready to sell tobacco. Well, we didn't get very much attention at first, but suddenly the Ligget-Meyers man came and gave us an order and the order totaled $22,000,000 of Burley tobacco in different grades. Well, we told them we had the tobacco and could make the sale. They said what about the price? Well, we showed them what they had been paying outside for tobacco. We showed them what their competitors had been paying outside for tobacco and we named a fair price on that tobacco based on what they and others had been paying outside.

One Big Firm Pays Dear for Refusing to Come in.

They bought the tobacco. They paid the money down. They began to take deliveries and our first sale was over. We sent a wire to one great big firm saying: Come in and buy some tobacco. We would like to be your biggest customer. They wired back. We won't buy any tobacco until you sell it again on the auction floor. We wrote back and said that was not nice because we weren't going to sell any more tobacco on the auction floor.

That was inelegant and we felt that we should be just as inelegant with the sale of raw tobacco as this firm was inelegant with the sale of manufactured tobacco.

We said to them: You wouldn't sell your cigarettes and your pipe tobacco on any auction plan, why you sell it all over the country on a merchandising basis, and that is exactly what we are going to do with Burley tobacco.

Well, they paid no attention to that and then about a month later a man who sent the wire showed up in Lexington and he showed up with an order for 20,000,000 pounds of tobacco, so Jim Stone told him he couldn't sell him 20,000,000 pounds but he would like to sell 10,000,000 pounds. All right whats' the price. Jim Stone said, since our first price was named certain grades are short, so our price has gone up a little.

Well, he remarked to him and said: "You have got to sell that company that tobacco at the same price you sold it to Liggett & Meyers." Jim Stone said, yes, if you had come in at the time we sold Liggett & Meyers, or had even sent us a message saying you would come in, then you would have gotten this tobacco at the same price. Then Jim pulled out his telegram and showed it to him and said: We wired you and you sent us this wire, which cost you about $1.61. Before you finish today that wire is going to cost you a little more than $300,000. (Applause.)

All Tobacco Is Sold Despite Boycott By Two Big Firms.

And it did, because he bought that tobacco and we got this money. Well, to make that story short, we sold every pound of tobacco delivered to the association. Two big firms boycotted us, deliberately tried to break us, but we sold the tobacco anyway and we have averaged up for our growers about 21 cents a pound net after deducting all the costs of running the business and in addition one-sixth of the cost of buying these warehouses.

We averaged that down there the first year. We have started our second year. We have already sold 130,000,000 pounds of Burley tobacco and the price net is over 30 cents a pound. (Applause.)

Did that do anything to the manufacturer? Well, let's see. Liggett & Meyers, who bought so much from us just lately, put out their statement. They havent increased the price of Chesterfield cigarettes during the year. They lowered the price during the year and their dividends that they show in their report netted $25.00 a share the previous year and last year they netted $24.30 plus per share of the stock of that firm.

So they lowered burley to the public and their own profits were hardly diminished. Why, those men have seen that there were such wastes in that business, so many extra unnecessary salesmen, so many purchases of tobacco they couldn't use because they bought on the blind auction plan. And they say we can give them exactly what they want at prices that are fair without impoverishing the factory stockholders.

Small Country Merchant Tells Results in Business.

And what does it mean to the growers? Why, a little country merchant came in from Farley, Ky., to see me at Lexington to say "thank you." I said, you don't need to say thank you to me, I havent' done anything in reference to you. He said, yes, you have. For the first time in three years the farmers are coming in to buy shoes and stockings for their wives, and shoes and stockings for their children. You men, Judge Bingham and Jim Stone and Barker—he was kind enough to include me—you have absolutely put a new foundation under the rural life of Kentucky.

Our growers are coming in now to buy a few things that they need. They are coming in to pay their bills in the store. We are paying off our country banks and the country banks they are blossoming out completely solvent. They are paying off their debts in the city and Kentucky is going ahead. One of the bankers told me that the association meant to Kentucky $15,000,000 more than on that burley crop. That $15,000,000 in value was already there. It was simply a question as to whether it would stay in Kentucky or move to the stockholders or a group of buyers or a group of speculators, and the money is staying in Kentucky and is enriching the little towns of Kentucky and enriching the rural life of Kentucky.

They will say to themselves: Why they are really doing something that we could do for ourselves. The Kentucky growers are not asking for government stabilization of prices. The Kentucky growers are not asking for new political parties. The Kentucky growers are not asking Uncle Sam to give them all the money in the government treasury. The Kentucky growers are saying, why men, we have learned to stand on our own feet. They did it in California, and we have done it in Kentucky. (Applause.)

Those men have found themselves. Those growers in Kentucky have found out that there is an economic solution for their story of tobacco. That is the story of Burley bright tobacco, organized similarly. That is the story of Burley dark tobacco organized similarly. That is the story of the Kentucky organizations.

Wisconsin tobacco is organized on the same plan, and tobacco is today the most organized of all the national commodities. It is produced in 12 states, and in each of the states, except Maryland and Pennsylvania, there is an organization of growers today.

You say, what has that to do with Minnesota? A whole lot. Because every single thing that has been done with Burley tobacco can also be done even with wheat, with wool, with dairy products, and with potatoes—with all the things you raise in this state.

Co-operation Will Work for All Commodities.

I know co-operative marketing will work. It won't work in the same degree or in the same way for all commodities, but there isn't a commodity produced on the farm which cannot be helped materially by co-operative marketing.

Alva W. Taylor, in a discussion of English politics, observes that "Common enmities do not bind as common causes do." The world sees the truth of this daily. To be for a thing brings more abiding stamina than just to be against something.

"MOONSHINE" MADE TO SELL NOT TO DRINK, SAYS MR. DAGO

The recent action of a police magistrate of Omaha, Nebraska, in offering to set at liberty an Italian arrested for moonshining on condition that he drink a water glass full of his own concoction, has caused widespread attention because of the novelty of the court's action. The Italian refused to drink his vile stuff, and so did the attorney employed to defend him. The following letter brought about the story, which was sent broadcast over the United States by the Associated Press:

Omaha, Nebr., March 23, 1923.
Mr. Herschel Wence, Town Marshal,
Shelburn, Ind.
Dear Mr. Marshall:

I am in receipt of your letter of the 20th inst, and contents noted. The article you read concerning what took place in the central police station which gave me much publicity was about as "briefed up" as the Associated Press.

I had an Italian whose name I do not now recall, before me for operating an illicit still and manufacturing corn alcohol called by some locally, hootch, and in other parts of the west, skullcap, also white mule. On the stand several gallon glass containers were brought in as evidence.

When the evidence was all in I said to the Italian: "If you will drink a half pint, or a water glass, of this vile stuff, I will turn you loose."

He shook his head and answered: "Not me. I make it to sell and not to drink."

I responded: "If you refuse to drink it I will bind you over to the district court, fixing your bond at $1,500," and he still would not drink it.

I then said: "Bound over. You are in a fine business, manufacturing a poison you will not drink yourself."

I then told the lawyer if he would drink a glass I would turn the dago loose, and he said: 'Nothing doing. I am employed to defend theis man, not to commit suicide."

All thought it such a good story it was used by the Associated Press and I frankly say, locally, it made a hit, and one Prohibition friend of mine, knowing I had always been a liberal, said that it was the best prohibition speech in a few words ever made here and that it would impress itself on the mind of the booze drinkers. I believe many who drank this raw whiskey have sworn off.

(Signed.) William F. Wappich,
Omaha, Nebr. Police Magistrate.

Attends Golden Wedding Anniversary of Parents

Dr. G. W. Booren and Son Present at Wedding Celebration of Well-Known Stillwater Couple.

Dr. G. W. Booren and son, Jack, returned last week from Stillwater, Minn., where they were in attendance at the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. Booren's parents, Mr. and Mrs. August Booren, married 50 years ago in St. Paul. More than 65 relatives of the Minnesota pioneers, were present, and and the following account of the affair is taken from the Stillwater Daily Gazette:

"Fifty years ago, March 27, 1873, August Booren and Miss Carrie A. Wiegren, both of this city, were united in marriage in St. Paul, the Rev. J. Auslund officiating. The happy couple returned to Stillwater and since that date have resided here, honored and respected by a large circle of friends and neighbors.

"The golden wedding was duly observed on March 27, 1923, at the family home, corner of Olive and Sixth streets, about sixty-five relatives and friends gathering at the home to congratulate the couple, talk over the days of long ago, enjoy a social evening and later a feast royal.

"The bride wore her wedding gown of fifty years ago. The brides' bouquet was a corsage of violets, and pink rose buds.

"There were hearty congratulations from all present, besides many useful and beautiful presents, flowers, as well as congratulatory letters and telegrams from friends out of town.

"The bridegroom has been a prominent citizen of Stillwater for many years, having served as a representative in the Minnesota legislature in 1890 and 1892 sessions, and was county treasurer from 1894 to 1900, having served faithfully and well, and with honor to his constituents as well as himself. The couple have been members of the Swedish Lutheran church for many years.

"There are five children and six grandchildren; most of whom were present on the happy occasion, as follows: Dr. G. W. Booren and son, Jack, Thief River Falls; Dr. C. A. Booren, and son, Minneapolis; Harry F. Booren, Plummer, Minn; Winnie S. Booren, at home; Olive C. Booren, Minneapolis."

W. C. T. U. Offers Prizes for Essay on Temperance

One of the mottos of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union is education. The W. C. T. U. of Thief River Falls is requesting the pupils of the city and rural schools to enlist in the essay-writing contest on "Scientific Temperance," not merely for writing for a prize, but for education.

In order to create interest in the contest the local chapter of the union is offering three prizes and $5 will be given to the pupil writing the best essay in the rural schools. To the writer of the second best a silver Eversharp pencil valued at $2.50 will be given, and the third will be given by the A. A. Wangenstein jewelry store.

There will also be cash prizes to high school students and the sixth, seventh and eighth grades respectively. It is expected that in this way genuine interest will be stirred up and that all pupils will test their talents for writing.

The local W. C. T. U. will co-operate in every possible way in making the contest truly competitive and competent judges will make the awards.

Popular Stars in Picture Take Contrasting Roles

A splendid contrast is afforded by Wanda Hawley and Rodolph Valentino, leading woman and star of "The Young Rajah," a Paramount picture coming to the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday. Miss Hawley is a blonde of the Dresden shepherdess variety; Valentino, of course, is dark and Latin in appearance. They make a very pleasing picture as lovers in this strange screen tale.

A moment of brilliancy, a mad tumult, a riot of color, of naked blades, of falling figures, of victors triumphant upon the throne they have usurped—that's your tiny revolution in the small Indian state.

A night of storm and fury in New England—and an old couple ready for bed; a knocking at the door; two dark men with a child standing dripping upon the threshold; jewels poured from a bag; stacks of banknotes—a farewell and a small and miserable Hindu lad who strives to hide his tears at parting from the only friends he has known—that's the story of the adoption.

The gift of prevision—he sees his own death—his own meeting with the girl he learns to love; but he is rescued by faithful retainers in the nick of time. Then he sees in a vision the marriage of himself and his beloved in Hindu fashion—with all the wealth of gorgeous color and ceremony.

The vision of the battle in the clouds in the years of ancient Hindu history, when Arjuna, commanded by Krishna, slays father and brother for the good of the race, is one of the most striking things ever portrayed on the screen; the same for the heavenly meeting between Arjuna and Vishnu. And by clever double exposure, Valentino plays both roles.

It is a picture that will repay a visit to the theatre if only to study the possibilities of the screen. But there is also good acting on the part of Valentino, of Wanda Hawley, Pat Moore, Charles Ogle, Fanny Midgely, Robert Ober, Edward Jobson, Joseph Swickard, and others.

Local Attorney Drew Proposed Marketing Act

W. J. Brown Presented New Law to Both Houses of Present Legislature.

New Law Contains Best Provisions Taken From Laws of Other States.

Minnesota's new Co-Operative Marketing Act, which is reasonably sure to become a law this week, is very largely the product of the brain of W. J. Brown of this city, who not only drew the bill which passed the House last week, but so ably defended the bill before the committee that not a single amendment of consequence was proposed when the bill came up for final passage. The authors of the bill are Representatives Green, of Marshall county, a member of Speaker Nolan's organization, and Representative Welch, spokesman in the legislature for the Farmer-Labor party.

Mr. Brown began studying co-operative measures as they appeared on the statute books of other states prior to the convening of the legislature, and the proposed Minnesota law is a composite which contains all the very best provisions of all of them. He has directed the course of the bill through the legislature, answering thousands of questions and meeting the objections of all opponents of the bill. The Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the South St. Paul Stock Exchange are unalterably opposed to the bill, but Mr. Brown succeeded in convincing the legislature that such a law was needed, and he is recognized today as one of the best posted lawyers of the state upon all questions of co-operative effort.

That his efforts are appreciated is evident from the whole-hearted support tendered him by both factions in the state legislature. A few days ago Mr. Brown gave The Tribune the following statement with reference to the proposed law:

"With the example before us of what real effective co-operative marketing has accomplished for the cotton and tobacco growers, and the producers of figs, prunes, walnuts and fruits, no argument is needed to sustain the porposition that this law provides a short cut between the producer and consumer, eliminating much waste in handling; that it furnishes a plan for the financing of the marketing of agricultural products for twelve months in the year instead of compelling the farmer to dump his crop as soon as harvested; that it minimizes and will eventually eliminate speculation in agricultural products. In my opinion the Co-Operative Marketing Act, which has just passed the House and will pass the Senate in a few days, will prove the greatest constructive act in the interest of the farmer which has been enacted into law for many years."

Inspecting Construction Work.

Isak Helseth of the Minneapolis Bridge company left Thief River Falls Tuesday for Baudette, from where he will go to International Falls and Virginia, Minn., to inspect construction work of the company. He expects to be absent from the city for several days.

For the next three months the post-office department plans to curtail service somewhat because the appropriation is not sufficient to meet expenses on the scale of the last few months up to the close of the fiscal year. As a consequence many postmasters are putting in longer hours, and in some instances doing a mail-gatherer's work.

St. Hilaire Man Has Confidence in Ayershires

W. C. Hartje Buys Sire and Four Cows From Breeders in Wisconsin.

Believes Them Especially Well Adapted to Rigorous Northwest Climate.

W. C. Hartje, farmer and dairyman of St. Hilaire, was in Thief River Falls this week on business connected with his farming and dairying interests on his farm adjoining St. Hilaire.

Mr. Hartje is one of the progressive kind of farmers who believes in finding the best to be had for dairying purposes, recently purchased five head of Ayershire cattle at Menominee, Wis., and has placed them on his farm. There are four cows and a sire in the lot.

It was after close observation of the merits and reputation of the Ayershire breed of dairy cattle that Mr. Hartje finally decided to purchase the cattle, and he states that the demand for Ayershires throughout the Northwest is becoming stronger year after year. Another of the Ayershire enthusiasts in this section of the country is Jens Letnes of Thief River Falls, who has purchased a sire from a Red Wing, Minn., breeder.

According to Mr. Hartje, Ayershire cattle walked off with all the blue ribbons at the Royal Canadian Dairy show, held at Ottawa, Canada, last year, and have also won a number of prizes in the United States. The cows are noted for their easy keeping and their milk-giving qualities.

Several other farmers living tributary to St. Hilaire are contempalting going into the Ayershire industry now that Mr. Hartje has imported his proven stock.

Polk County Woman Bound Over on Moonshine Charge

Fred Robinson of Queen Township Is Another Victim of Raid Conducted by Sheriff Nelson.

Mrs. Carl Borsvold of Rosebud township, and Fred Robinson of Queen township, both residing on farms near Fosston, were each given a hearing before Judge J. A. Hendricks in municipal court Saturday afternoon, on the charge of manufacturing intoxicating liquor, according to the Crookston Times.

They waived eamination and were bound over to the next term of the Polk county district court in June. Mrs. Borsvold gave bonds of $500 for her appearance in court at that time. Robinson also furnished bonds and was released Saturday evening. Mrs. Borsvold was released by Sheriff Nelson Monday morning.

The eastern Polk county parties were arrested last Thursday by Sheriff Anton Nelson and special Deputy Gust Holt of Fosston. A large quantity of mash, "moon," several stills, boilers and other equipment for making the stuff was confiscated by the sheriff and brought to Crookston.

Bottelsons Grandparents.

The news was received in Thief River Falls this week that a daughter was born last week to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Bottelson, residing at Black Duck, Minn. The new baby's father is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bottelson, well known residents of this city.

Radio is giving Mexico a nightly collection of American concerts, which doubtless explains the new impetus to banditry in that unfortunate country.

SCORES OF BOYS AND GIRLS FIND RECREATION ROOM ATTRACTIVE

Men and Women of City Invited to Witness Interest of Young Folks in New Undertaking.

No doubt all right thinking fathers and mothers in the city have an interest in the well being of the young folks of their respective families, but it is a singular fact that few will go out of their way to actually see what is being done along this line by disinterested people.

This is the situation which confronts the efforts of the Community Girls to supply a wholesome place for young people of the city—a place where the atmosphere is clean and uplifting. The Tribune learns that the community recreation room which was opened to the young people at the Community Girls' club room at the corner of Fourth and Horace some three weeks ago has been uniformly successful in attracting scores of boys and girls who spend the evening reading, singing, or playing various games.

Now the Community Girls want the help and advice of the parents of the city. They have repeatedly invited the men of the city to come and see what is being done, but up to this time there have been few responses. If the men could study the two reports recently made by Miss Bertha Poston covering the work accomplished up to date, they would not only sit up and take notice, but would surely take sufficient time to visit the recreation rooms.

Several Girl Scout Troops have been organized, and leaders are wanted. The attendance has been most gratifying, ranging from 25 to 110, but among these are large numbers of small children, and the promoters are anxious to secure the attendance of larger number of men and working girls. The assurance is given that they will be made welcome and will find much to entertain them.

All the Community Girls ask is that the men and women of the city come to the recreation rooms and interest themselves in the work, thus assisting in bringing to the general attention of all classes in the city the value of this work.

City Filtration Plant Estimate Is Laid on Table

Crack in Building Causes Councilmen to Hesitate in Paying $1,545.30.

The city council voted to "table" the fourth estimate of the Robertson Contracting company, having the contract for the erection of the city filtration plant, amounting to $1,545.30, at a regular session of the board of aldermen held last night at the city council chambers. The third estimate of the company, O. K.'d by L. P. Wolff, engineer in charge, was laid on the table at the last regular meeting.

A crack in the building which resulted about a month ago when water was turned into the filters, is believed to have precipitated the action of the council, and it was thought advisable to await the time when frost was completely out of the ground and the building settles on its foundation before final payment is made.

A petition for four blocks of cement sidewalks to be built on the east side of Tindolph avenue from Nora to Gulf streets was received from petitioners on the East side. Joe Votava appeared before the council and stated that he would build at his own expense 100 feet of sidewalk in front of his residence property on Kendall avenue, south of Hughes street, in the event the city would build sidewalk connecting with that which he would build.

Philip Schmitz was selected to fill the vacancy recently caused on the fire department by the resignation of Ole Erickson. Schmitz will commence his duties at once.

The city financial report was read, which showed that city coffers are far short of the amount they held at this time last year. The total in the treasury last month was $27,086.43, and there was paid out for current expenses $21,184.84, leaving a balance of $5,901.59 at present in the treasury. Last year, it was said, between $50,000 and $60,000 was on hand and out on interest.

The application of Carl Prestebak to conduct a refreshment parlor at 201 LaBree avenue north, in the building recently occupied by O. W. Carlson, was granted.

In behalf of property owners along Duluth and Arnold avenues, who complained that basements of their homes are being flooded because of sewers being plugged and inadequate drainage resulting, Fred Niclai appeared before the council and asked that the street department provide relief. This morning several men were put to work cleaning out the sewers and digging ditches leading to sewer entrances in an effort to get the water drained away.

Complaints against the high cost of maintaining the city poor farm and alleged unsatisfactory conditions there were made at the meeting and as a result a proposition to interest the county board in maintaining such an institution was referred to the poor committee. The poor farm at present costs the city between $4,000 and $5,000 per year and the township of North pays in the neighborhood of $1,000 into a poor fund, an amount they feel unable to bear. It was suggested that the county should interest itself in the proposition and perhaps maintain a 40 or 80-acre tract of land in order to provide work for the inmates and assist in providing for their care.

Interest on deferred payments of paving costs in the amount of $190.11 was ordered paid.

Ed. Hill in Auto Supply and Electrical Business

New Business to Be Located on Third Street in Building Formerly Occupied By Stanton Cafe.

Ed. Hill, who recently secured a three months leave of absence from his railroad duties, will soon open an auto supply and electrical business in the building formerly occupied by the Stanton Cafe near Third and Main. Mr. Hill is experienced in this line of work and since a good field exists here for a venture of that kind, he should be successful from the start.

Mr. Hill will carry a full line of auto supplies and accessories, as well as an up-to-date line of electrical goods. He also plans on having in his establishment an experienced lineman and electrical expert. It is expected that the store will be opened Saturday evening or Monday.

No wonder our lakes and streams are full of carp! Dr. Ohage of St. Paul a few years ago put six carp in a 68-acre lake on his private estate. In one season the six carp had increased to 2,000 in number, and the following year, in an effort to remove the carp, 25,000 pounds of them were seined out of the lake, but to no avail. The lake was drained, the fish removed—and the folowing year 1,000 pounds of carp were seined from the lake. Can you beat it?

Aberdeen-Angus Breeder Locates Near This City

The sale this week of the Wm. Riegert farm in Smiley township to Peter Smithknecht of Hennepin county, is one of the most important real estate deals made in this section this year. The Riegert farm is located about seven miles from this city, consists of 240 acres, and is equipped with a fine set of farm buildings, the farm being in a high state of cultivation.

The purchase of the property by Mr. Smithknecht is highly important to the community because of his discriminating knowledge of farm land, and his selection of a farm here is the best evidence of the reputation of Pennington county land, particularly with reference to its adaptability for dairy purposes.

Mr. Smithknecht is quite well known to breeders of the northwest, having for years been foreman of the celebrated Thorpe farm adjoining Ada, Norman county, where he made a specialty of Aberdeen-Angus cattle. He completed the deal for the Riegert farm last Saturday and informed The Tribune that he would move here in about ten days with his family to take possession of the farm.

Since leaving Ada two years ago Mr. Smithknecht has visited many sections of the northwest in quest of a location, and his decision in favor of Pennington county was influenced by a careful study of conditions here. Nowhere else could he find land that would produce such crops of corn, algalfa, clover, small grain and every variety of tame grass, and he was further influenced by the fact that everything considered Pennington land is still the cheapest real estate to be found in Minnesota.

Daughters of Norway to Observe 12th Anniversary

Splendid Program to Be Given at Sons of Norway Hall on Tuesday Evening, April 17.

Members of the Daughters of Norway are arranging a celebration of the 12th anniversary of the founding of the local lodge to be given Tuesday evening, April 17, at the Sons of Norway hall. A splendid program to be rendered by local talent has been arranged, lunch will be served, and the evening devoted to entertainment to be arranged by the committee in charge.

The ladies have issued invitations to members of the Sons of Norway lodge, their wives and sweethearts.

Pete Morse Leaves by Car on Long Trip to the East

Pete Morse, who has conducted the Citizens bowling alleys the past winter, left with his family Monday morning for the twin cities, where he will spend a few days before starting on his long jaunt to points in New Jersey. He expects to make the trip within two weeks.

Morse will work at his trade as a bricklayer in New Jersey, where wages for brick men are said to be the highest in the country. During the summer season last year, Morse was employed in Chicago and returned in the fall in time to open up his establishment for the start of the fall bowling season. It is the intention of Morse to return here in the fall again.

Veterinarian Drives From Fargo Here in Ford Coupe

Makes Trip Without Trouble Until Reaching Snow Drift Near Fair Grounds West of City.

L. R. Twete, veterinarian, who has decided to make Thief River Falls his home in the future and will practice his profession here, drove up from Fargo yesterday in his Ford coupe, making the trip in about seven hours actual running time. Mr. Twete made the trip without mishap until reaching the fair grounds west of the city, where he was hung up for two hours in a large snow drift.

The roads from Fargo on to Crookston are in pretty good shape, according to Mr. Twete. However, there are some bad spots between Shelly and Halstad. From Crookston to Red Lake Falls they are fairly good considering the large amount of snow still on the ground. The grades are all high and dry, he stated.

W. L. George, the English writer, says, "Any man can wed any woman if he knows how to read her emotional index." But experimenting with a woman's emotional index is sometimes more deadly than monkeying with a bear trap.

Divers Subjects Brought In for Front Page News

Selection Made Difficult Because of Injection of Personal Opinions.

"A Front Page Story" to Be Run at Lyceum Theatre Friday and Saturday.

Thief River Falls has many good newswriters. That fact was demonstrated this week as specimens of news articles written by local talent came into Thief River Falls newspaper offices.

In conjunction with "A Front Page Story," to be shown at the Lyceum theatre Friday and Saturday, The Times and The Tribune offered three prizes to their readers for the best news stories written by their readers, and as a result a number of contestants responded. Selection of the prize winners was made difficult because the writers were inclined to inject their own personal opinion into the copy. One of the rules of the contest provided that opinions should not enter into the story, but writers should "stick to the facts" only. Several of the stories were editorials and for that reason could not be considered on their true merits by judges of the contest.

Herbert Johnson was selected as winner of the $3 first prize, Joel Shoberg second prize of $2, and Miss Eileen Arneson third prize, five tickets to the Lyceum theatre. George ("Bugs") Johnson is deserving of honorable mention for his article on the activities of the Y. M. C. A., as is Miss Lucille Curtis for her human interest story. The newspapers intend to publish all the stories submitted, as most of them touch on timely and interesting subects. The prize winners are published in their order, as follows:

Minors and Students Must Keep Out of Pool Halls.

(By Herbert Johnson.)

Acting on an order from headquarters, Patrolman Ralston started the spring clean-up of the local pool halls.

Throughout the winter months the local recreation parlors have been patronized by many minors and high school students. This is contrary to the state law, and now since the city has been cleaned up of bootleggers, moonshine and the like, the officers are determined to lift up the moral standard of the town.

The state law regarding such places makes it illegal for any boy or student under 21 years old to make use of the various means of entertainment available at such places. Boys 18 years old may be permitted to go in these places but not permitted to use any of the games. Students are porhibited until they have reached their 21st birthday.

This law has not been enforced as strenuously during the past months, but from now on the police department intends to enforce every phase to the fullest extent of their ability, and ask the co-operation of every citizen in the city. With plenty of legitimate entertainment, such as the Y. M. C. A., the high school athletics, the theatre, spring football, baseball, there should be no reason why the students and minors cannot find enough desirable and permissible recreation during their spare hours.

Mystery Clue in Holdup Case.

(By Joel Shoberg.)

A mysterious clue towards the capture and identification of the two prowlers who last Saturday night attempted to hold up the Rosewood Bargain Store and severely wounded the owner, John Remmem, in the ensuing scuffle, was given on Sunday by two farmers from Norden township, just across the line in Pennington county.

The gentlemen, whose names are withheld, are both elderly men and have been engaged in farming in Norden for many years and are well known throughout the community. They appeared here on Sunday afternoon and sought out Mr. Remmem, and in the presence of several witnesses, and in evident good faith, disclosed that they knew who the youthful bandits were, but refused to give any information whatsoever unless they were guaranteed $600 for their advice, when they would both trace and appear as witnesses to have the bandits convicted. "One of the culprits is at present not far away, and I can place my hand on his shoulder any day, and the other is at a distance where it would cost approximately $30 to bring him back," one of the men told Mr. Remmem.

Had the mysterious clue been furnished by less prominent persons, or under different circumstances, it would evidently have been considered a huge joke or something of that sort. As it is, however, it was a serious statement made and demands investigation. Only the admission that the gentlemen possessed sufficient knowledge to capture and convict lawbreakers and refusing to divulge it, places themselves in liability of prosecution in concealing a punishable offense.

Dam Unable to Withstand Spring Ice Jam.

(By Miss Eileen Arneson.)

With the force of pent-up fury the rapidly loosening ice is rushing down upon the feeble dam of our city. The dam, long in need of repair, is of too flimsy structure to stand the onrush of the year's unusually heavy ice float, due to the heavy storms of this winter and the rains of the late spring. Much talk but little action has been done in view of this menacing danger. The proposition of a steel dam and bridge combined has been brought before the city council but no definite action has been taken as yet. The project has been postponed because of the expense, which will add greatly to the load of the already overburdened taxpayers.

With this appalling situation within our very city, and so near at hand, does it not seem only sane for some immediate and definite action to be taken by the people of Thief River Falls?

Let's hear from someone else on the subject, through the columns of our papers.

Opie Read Pleased Large Audience Last Evening

Opie Read, famous writer and author, delightfully entertained the large audience which greeted him last evening at the Sons of Norway hall. He is a picturesque figure to look at. The most outstanding thing about him is his hair, which seemed sadly neglected, and which strangely reminded one of some of the passages in "The Jucklins," one of Mr. Read's best sellers.

Mr. Read took for his subject "Human Interest and Politics," a sort of literary goulash which covered a wide range of thought. His human interest stories, particularly those dealing with his own experiences as a newspaper reporter, related as only Mr. Read can relate them, were gems of humor and pathos.

Mr. Read held up to contempt present day tendencies to make heroes of thieves and notoriety seekers, humorously relating how a man who advertised himself extensively as an automobile thief, drew large audiences and received flattering offers to go on the stage, had his career spoiled by a newspaper man who exposed him as an honest man. All going to show that the public is looking for the morbid rather than the good in man or woman.

Mr. Read appeared in the last number on the Lyceum course. He was introduced by G. Halvorson, who expressed the hope that the course had been entertaining, though it had been anything but a paying venture.

O'Malley Has Role Made Famous By Boucicault

"My Wild Irish Rose" is a production which requires fine character actors, and these were secured to make the production one of the outstanding pictures of the season and one which will appeal to all natives of Erin's Isle. The picture will be shown at the Lyceum Sunday and Monday.

Pauline Starke and Pat O'Malley head the cast. A special part has been written into the story for "Micky" Daniels, who made such a hit in Vitagraph's "The Little Minister" as Micah Dow. In "My Wild Irish Rose" Daniels is cast as the young brother of Moya, a character taken by Pauline Starke. He will also be the nephew of Father Dolan, whose niece Moya is. This combination of Miss Starke and the freckled little Daniels should prove an exceptionally strong one.

The part of Conn, the shaughraun, was given to Pat O'Malley. He proves a typical version in personality of the devil-may-care Irishman, for which the part originally was written.

The story is based upon Dion Boucicault's famous play, "The Shaughraun," and describes the shaughraun as the soul of every fair, the life of every funeral and the first fiddle at all weddings.

Unable to find anyone suitable for the role when the play was produced in the Drury Lane Theatre in London, and later when it was produced in Wallack's Theatre, New York, Mr. Boucicault assumed the role himself. Mr. O'Malley gives the role a characterization equal to that of Mr. Boucicault. Henry Hebert, a player of note, makes a fine Captain Molineaux, a British captain who loses his heart to the beautiful sister of the man he was seeking to capture. The balance of the cast were selected with special care for the Irish atmosphere. All the picturesqueness of the Emerald Isle, the bitter battles against what was deemed English oppression, the wit and beauty of the Celtic character and face resulted in a splendid picture under the direction of David Smith.

An English critic says there are not half enough doors in American homes. The neighbors generally figure that we should all have more windows.

Government Insurance Free From Ordinary Restrictions

Provides Protection Against Permanent Disability Any Time When Payments Are Made.

Government insurance policies are free from all usual restrictions and carry exemption provisions against all taxation, garnishment or attachment.

The value of this insurance is more apparent to the insured upon the realization that he may pursue the extra hazardous lines of work without payment of increased premiums; that he may travel or reside wherever he pleases or serve in the military or naval establishments without impairing the efficacy of his policy. All of these he is privileged to do and receive protection against total permanent disability and protection of dependents at death, at a premium rate he cannot match elsewhere.

It is immaterial when total permanent disability occurs, before or after the age 60, or from what cause, the insured, if he has kept his policy in force, will receive the disability benefits under the policy.

To the ex-service man who is now serving as railroad employe, city fireman or policeman, telephone or telegraph lineman, or in any other occupation which debars him from receiving insurance protection with commercial companies, government insurance is a Godsend. He is thus enabled to not only secure protection as men in non-hazardous occupations may, but he may do so on the extremely liberal basis offered to ex-service men and women and none other. He is given a value for his money obtainable nowhere else.

Those who carry this insurance are assured they and their beneficiaries will receive the full amount of protection purchased as the proceeds are in no sense subject to the demands of creditors or others nor are they subject to taxation in any form.

Grain Co-Operatives Seek Marketing Pact

Representatives of co-operative grain marketing organizations of the Northwest—the U. S. Grain Growers Sales Company of Minneapolis, the Northwest Wheat Growers and the Equity Co-operative Exchange, met at Fargo, N. D., April 10, to discuss an arrangement to assure harmonious growth of all agencies.

The meeting was called by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, who also is president of the U. S. Grain Growers Sales Company of Minneapolis.

"Because of our interest in the welfare of the producer," Mr. Reed said, "we are anxious to obtain an understanding which will prevent friction in the future. We have three recognized agencies in the Northwest and we feel that the marketing of grain should go forward without intra-organization competition. The Fargo meeting was called to accomplish that end. I am hopeful for desired results. However, if an agreement fails, the full support of growers will be behind the policies of the U. S. Grain Growers Sales Company."

An agreement to co-ordinate grain marketing efforts in Washington, Oregon, Montana, Idaho, Nebraska, Kansas, Oklohama and Texas was reached at Kansas City last week at a meeting attended by representatives of the Wheat Growers' organizations and of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc. The agreement provides that the wheat growers shall restrict their operations to wheat in states indicated above, while the Grain Growers are to operate in Ohio, Illinois, Iowa and Indiana. The U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., is to handle coarse grains in all the states.

Both organizations are to have terminal facilities, but will work together in organization, field service and publicity. The idea is to eliminate competition between the groups, but not to bring about a consolidation.

The Fargo meeting this week is to determine what can be done along similar lines insofar as Minnesota and North and South Dakota are concerned. The situation in the Northwest is slightly different from that in other sections, for here is the only place where the U. S. Grain Growers has been able to put a sales agency into the field.

At a meeting of directors of the U. S. Grain Growers, Inc., held in Chicago, recently, Harry L. Keefe, of Walthill, Nebr., was elected president, Howard Leonard of Illinois, vice president, and J. M. Mehl, secretary and acting treasurer. An executive committee composed of President Keefe, R. A. Cowles of Illinois and T. I. Ferris of Indiana was named to have charge of developing the selling plans of the association.

Many Farm Boys and Girls Attend Junior Short Course

Over one hundred junior farm boys and farm girls from twelve northwestern Minnesota counties attended the junior short course last week at the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston. Special interest was taken in the bread-making demonstrations, in which ten teams of three girls each took part. The winning teams from each district will go to the state fair and there compete for the honor of securing a free trip to Chicago. The winner in the contest was the team from Humboldt, Kittson county, composed of Marabel Sylvester, Verta McCrystal and Margaret Ash. The team from Glyndon, Clay county, won second. The members were Elva Gingery, Alice Langreth and Loraine Carlson.

The week was full of practical exercises, lectures by farm and home experts, moving picture programs and excursions. The last evening's session was devoted to short addresses by T. A. Erickson, University Farm, St. Paul, state leader of boys' and girls' club work, and Supt. C. G. Selvig of the Northwest School, who congratulated the juniors on the fine record they had made.

These addresses were followed by the awarding of prizes to the winners in the various contests, which included the work covered by the students during the week. The winners in these contests were:

Sewing—Edna Hoff, Perley, first; Belinda Vik, Bronson, second, and Marie Aas, Climax, third.

Corn Judging—Oscar Nordine, Lancaster, first; Alice Landro, Hendrum, second, and Walter Beck, Lancaster, third.

Swine Judging — Ralph Pingree, Georgetown, first; Adolph Olson, Warren, second, and Alice Landro, Hendrum, third.

Dairy Calf Judging—Alice Landro, Hendrum, first; Fred Pierson, Cummings, N. D., second, and Oscar Nordine, Lancaster, third.

Poultry Judging—Stephen Easter, St. Vincent, first; Alice Landro, Hendrum, second, and Raymond Chandler, East Grand Forks, third.

Veterans to Study New Cattle Disorder

Outbreaks of a new cattle disorder, very fatal in character and usually connected with the feeding of sweet clover hay, have been reported to the veterinarians at the University farm from Marshall, Polk, Swift, Traverse and other counties. More than 50 such outbreaks have occured in North Dakota, all being associated with the feeding of sweet clover. The disease is also prevalent in parts of Canada. The most striking symptomss are bleeding at the nose, lack of appetite, no rise of temperature, and large subcutaneous swellings made up entirely of blood. Death follows in two to ten days. Postmortems reveal large deposits of blood in the abdominal cavity and other places.

Dr. C. P. Fitch, chief of the division of veterinary medicine of the state university, says:

"The disease is a new condition and imperfectly understood. Most of the outbreaks have been associated with the feeding of sweet clover hay, with occasional complaint as to sweet clover pasture. In some instances moldy or poor hay is given as the cause, but there is no clear evidence as yet that molds are responsible for the condition. Taking all things into consideration, it would not be advisable for farmers to alter their plans in feeding sweet clover. Many tons of such hay and pasture to correspond, are fed yearly without any ill effects. When we have more data at hand it is quite possible that we will find that sweet clover becomes toxic or disease producing only under very restricted conditions and with relative infrequency. It may also be shown that the condition is one caused by poor rations. However, farmers should bear in mind that a disease may be associated with feeding such hay and be constantly on their guard."

Inasmuch as the lovely human friendships reach an earthly end—we know not when—now is the time to cling to them and to be worthy of them.

"Found Seven Dead Rats in Bin Next Morning."

Robert Woodruff says: "My premises were infested with rates. I tried RAT-SNAP on friend's recommendation. Next morning found seven dead rats in bin, two near feed box, three in stall. Found large number since. No smell from dead rats; RAT-SNAP dries them up. Best thing I have ever used." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Hall Brothers Co.—Adv.

Announcing

Our Co-Operation in the New

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

Following out our policy of extending the facilities of this bank in whatever way we can to serve the public, we have arranged to give our co-operation to the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

We realize what the automobile means to the average family in bringing them greater enjoyment of life, and believe our action in helping those who desire to become Ford owners will be appreciated by many families who can now realize that ambition thru the new Ford Weekly Purchase Plan.

Under this plan, you can begin with an initial deposit as low as $5. Then select the type of Ford Car you want—Touring Car, Runabout, Coupe, Sedan, etc.,—and arrange to make weekly deposits on which interest will be computed at our regular savings rate.

Come in and let us explain the Ford Weekly Purchase Plan to you, or, if you wish, go to nearest Ford Dealer for further details.

Start today, and before you realize it you will be driving your own car.

Wisconsin Growers Back Potato Plans

Potato growers of Wisconsin have taken steps to perfect a states sales agency and to co-ordinate the work with the movement now under way in Minnesota. A temporary organization committee was appointed at a meeting at Cameron on March 28, after the plan had been explained by Walton Peteet, marketing director for the American Farm Bureau Federation.

This hot one was published in last week's Minnesota Lake Tribune: 'To Whom It May Concern: I wish to state to the person to whom it may concern that when you enter a man's chicken coop, like on the place Friday night, please be part man about yourself and shut the door so the few chickens you leave won't freeze.—A Resident in Danville."

"I Never Knew You Could Keep Rats Out of Butcher Shop."

What Ralph Watkins says: "Figured rats around store had enough to feed on; wouldn't touch anything suspicious. Heard about RAT-SNAP, gave it a trial. Results were wonderful. Cleaned all rats out in ten days. Dogs about store night and day never touch RAT-SNAP." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Hall Brothers Co.—Adv.

ROSEWOOD

Clue in Holdup Case.

A mysterious clue which may lead to the capture of the two prowlers who last Saturday night attempted to hold up the Rosewood Bargain store and severely wounded the owner, John Remmem, was given Sunday by two farmers from Norden. The gentlemen, whose names are withheld, are both elderly men. They appeared here on Sunday afternoon and sought out Mr. Remmem. In the presence of several witnesses they made the claim that they knew who the youthful bandits were but refused to give any information whatsoever unless they were guaranteed $600 for their trouble, and for this amount they agreed both to trace the bandits and appear as witnesses against them. 'One of the culprits is not far away and I can place my hand on his shoulder any day, and the other is at a distance where it will cost about $30 to bring him back," one of the men told Mr. Remmem.

Had the clue been furnished by less prominent persons or under different circumstances, it would have been considered a huge joke or something of that sort. The admission of the two men that they possessed knowledge to capture and convict the criminals and refusing to divulge it, places them in a criminally liable position. Mr. Remmem left Monday for Thief River Falls to consult the sheriff in regard to the matter.

Gopher and Crow Bounty.

As some confusion seems to exist within the township as to the gopher and crow bounty voted for at the last town election, it has been requested that the following information be given: The town on Tuesday, March 13, voted to pay 10 cents for the evidence of every crow killed, 10 cents for the evidence of every pocket gopher and 5 cents for every gray or striped gopher killed within the township during the entire year of 1923. Further, the Marshall county board voted to pay out of county funds 10 cents for every crow killed, 5 cents for pocket gophers and 3 cents for common gophers. This will bring the total bounty on crows to 20 cents, on pocket gophers 15 cents and common gophers 8 cents. The evidence shall consist of both legs of the crows and the full tails of the gophers. Martin Jarshaw, E. A. Silverness and Selmer Haugen, town supervisors, will all accept the evidence, as will the town clerk, John Halvorson. Payment will be made only on the minimum of 10 evidences of each kind, this being done to save the officers much extra labor. Checks will be issued by town treasurer P. Sorenson on the last Saturday only of each month. These rules apply only to the township of New Solum.

Ladies Organize.

A number of the ladies of the community met at the home of Mrs. O. S. Hellerud last Friday afternoon and organized the Friday Afternoon Club. The club's purpose will be to encourage home sewing and fancy work and to further sociability among the members. As officers were elected: President, Mrs. O. S. Hellerud; vice president, Miss Gena Aos; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. E. Anderson. The club will meet at homes of members every other Friday afternoon, and the next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. James Thompson on Friday, April 20.

Toby Scheie arrived here Wednesday evening and the following day cried the sale at the Mrs. Julia Axelson farm. The sale was a success and everything brought a good price.

A. Myrom was up from Thief River Falls between trains last Thursday to visit among his former neighbors and to attend the Mrs. Axelson sale.

Miss Gladys Swenson, former sales girl at the Carlson store, left Thursday evening for Thief River Falls and from there she expects to leave in a short time for Minneapolis, where she has secured clerical employment at one of the stores for the summer months.

L. L. Furan went to Thief River Falls Wednesday evening to secure some additional supplies for his radio outfit.

Alec Hellquist, Joel Shoberg, Olof Opseth and Alfred Thoreson went to Thief River Falls Saturday evening to shop and visit among friends.

Mrs. Selmer Haugen, who had spent a week visiting with relatives at Angus and Crookston, returned home on Saturday.

Mrs. Julia Axelson went to Warren Saturday morning to attend to business matters.

M. B. Rafteseth came home Saturday morning from Hibbing, where he is employed, for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Rafteseth.

Ted Jensen was out from Thief River Falls last Thursday to attend the auction sale and to call on some of his old friends.

Albert Lappegaard, who has leased the Oen farm southeast of town, has been up from Thief River Falls this week arranging things and expects to move up with his family this week.

Steiner Johnson left Thursday for Fosston, where he will visit with his brother for a few weeks.

Miss Ida Sorenson spent a few days of last week visiting with the John Sorenson people at Thief River Falls.

Miss Laura Kron, who teaches in a school five miles east of Erie, is spending her Easter vacation at her home here. She has one more month left to teach.

John Hanson commenced work on the local railway section last Monday. The number of broken rails on this section now exceeds 40, and each one must be temporarily repaired by boring four holes and bolting down two angle irons, thus causing a very large increase in the section work.

Arthur Thompson returned on Friday from the woods near International Falls, where he has been employed.

Nick Nelson, who has made Middle River his headquarters the past winter, spent part of last week visiting among old timers in this community.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION LABEL THIEF RIVER FALLS

OUR WEAK LEADERS.

General George Goethals, whose office as New York State Fuel Administrator recently became non-existent, is quoted in an Associated Press report as saying that the people of the United States have been "frozen, gouged by extortionate prices, and have suffered from unequal division of fuel supplies because there wasn't enough courage in official Washington to dictate to the coal barons of Pennsylvania." He is further quoted as saying: "Time and again I appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission at Washington, and would have to wait for an answer. This was the one body that had power to act for the people, but it showed itself to be a purely political body and a haven for lame ducks. It did nothing to prevent cheating and gouging."

Goethals talks like a man who ought to be president of the United States. But the trouble with the whole situation is that the minute a man gets where he can do something he becomes lamb-like and docile. His nerve fails him when he steps in the ring. That is why LaFollette has such a following today in many parts of the country.

Is it not a depressing condition of affairs for the great state of Minnesota to get down on its knees and beg Hank Ford to let the University use a little of the power in the Mississippi he has hogged to himself? Is this country for millionaire nuts like the flivver maker or do the common people have a few rights?—Worthington Globe.

Unless we are very much mistaken, the high dam contract with Mr. Ford makes ample provision for the University power needs for all time to come. Not only that, but we are informed that as a part of the deal Mr. Ford has agreed to construct a hydro-electric plant to be the finest in the world and which will at all times be open to University students. Most people regard the letting of the high dam privileges to Henry Ford as an extremely favorable proposition.

Referring to the increased bounties upon wolves, the Owatonna Journal-Chronicle suggests a bounty on moonshiners. Why not? We would favor any drastic legislation to hunt these varmints from their holes. A prairie wolf or a sneaking coyote is a respectable beast of prey as compared with the moonshiner, who seeks to destroy the body and soul of his victim. Why should they be tolerated anywhere any more than rats, wolves or skunks? By all means let us make it profitable to hunt moonshiners as other public nuisances are sought out and destroyed.

The legislature used good sense when it provided a stiff jail sentence for the man who drives a car when intoxicated. A car is a dangerous thing to monkey with when a man is sober, but in the hands of a drunken fool it becomes an engine of death and destruction. We trust every judge in the state will have the nerve to enforce this law to the letter, whether the offender be a millionaire or a pauper.

The Norman County Post at Ada has suspended publication, the assets of the defunct paper having been sold to the Herald of that city. The Post was operated by the farmers of Norman county, but its patronage dwindled to such proportions as to make the venture extremely unprofitable.

FEDERAL INSPECTORS CONDEMNED.

An investigating committee of the Minnesota legislature recommends the removal from the state of Chief Inspector Miller of the Federal Grain Inspection service. The report states that Miller has interfered with the state inspectors and the Grain Board of Appeals to such an extent as to prejudice the price of grain against the farmers.

We have always advocated the return to Minnesota grading regulations, and in view of the great importance of such change it is surprising that so little has been attempted by the members of congress. Except for the efforts of Congressman Steenerson, who repeatedly brought the matter to the attention of congress, we do not recall that any move worthy of the name has been undertaken. The farmers of the northwest should bombard House members and Senators with appeals for the repeal of existing Federal Inspection laws. Only in that way can the elimination of wheat grades be eliminated. As is the case now the inspection service is too far removed from the wrath of those who are its victims.

Livestock Partnership Plan That Will Work

A livestock partnership plan is recommended by W. H. Peters, chief of the division of animal husbandry of the University of Minnesota, to keep the boy on the farm and to get together the veteran farmer who would like to retire and the young man who would like to farm but who is not able to buy and who fears he cannot make progress under the usual method of renting. The plan works equally well with the owner and the renter.

"So long as 'dad' is boss and all the boy has to do is work there is bound to be some dissatisfaction," according to Mr. Peters. "Some of the country's most successful farms are now being operated on the livestock partnership plan, the chief requisite of which is that both land owner and renter be intelligent, broad-minded men. The principal item in the contract for such a partnership is that the owner put his investment in land and buildings against the renter's management and labor. Usually the renter supplies machinery and horses and all labor for operating the farm. The farm is operated as a livestock enterprise, and livestock and other products of the farm are divided on a fifty-fifty basis; also expenditures.

"Sometimes it is necessary for the owner of the farm to lend the renter part of the money required in the initial investment, but such loans have usually proved safe. Where such partnership plans have been carefully worked out and a complete understanding arrived at in the beginning they have usually proved successful."

Here is one man's idea of the modern girl: "She could swing a six-pound dumbbell, she could fence and she could box; she could row on the river, she could climb among the rocks; she could golf from morn till evening, and play tennis all day long, but she couldn't help her mother, because she wasn't very strong."

Hartog Pontiac Colantha Maid, an eight-year-old Holstein cow owned by W. W. Walker of Austin, has just finished a semi-official year record of 24,078 pounds of milk, containing 1,02 pounds of butter fat. The fat production is equal to 1,281 pounds of butter. Her average fat test was 4.26 per cent. Only seventy-five cows of all breeds have exceeded the production of 1,000 pounds of butter fat in a year.

City Zoning Rapidly Increasing.

City zoning shows a nation-wide growth. The building and housing division of the Department of Commerce reports that 27 per cent of the urban population of the nation lives in zoned municipalities. Of the 50 largest cities in the country 22 have zoning ordinances. In the entire country 109 cities and towns were zoned January 1. 1923, as compared with 55 a year before. Of this group 14 towns of about 10,000 population, and 12 of about 5,000, are zoned.

Orchard and Garden Notes

Chrysanthemums for next fall flowering may be rooted now.

Annuals may be planted in cold frames or sheltered places to transplant later.

Lilac and some other shrub branches taken into the home and placed in water will soon flower.

Sweet peas may be sown in the garden as soon as the ground can be spaded.

Put up bird houses now for early birds. Often the bird prefers an old house to a new one.

The spray ring saves money for the fruit grower. From five to a dozen growers are plenty to form one. This is a good year to try it out.

One of the local florists used pans of potted violets effectively at Easter time. Wild violets may be potted and used alone or with small wild ferns for table decorations. The violets will last several days while the ferns often last for weeks.

The Ohio state highway department has begun a campaign against advertising placards along highways. It has recently torn down and removed nine truck loads of these signs. This is done under a state law. Let's clear Minnesota's highways of all these nuisances.—LeRoy Cady, associate horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

The Present Moment.

Man is today struggling with many problems, but there is one which saint and sinner, priest and peasant, millionaire and pauper alike are trying to solve.

It is not the desire for longer life, it is not the desire for knowledge of a future life, but an overwhelming desire for more life today.

The cry comes from all classes: the paper, who feels sure wealth would give him all that he covets, a fuller life; the millionaire, harassed and haunted by a myriad details, looks back with longing to care for the days of poverty, freedom from the burden of riches, a fuller life.

The professional man is restricted and hampered and looks longingly towards fields and woods and nature's great domain, and therein sees fuller life, more life; the farmer, during his weary toil from sun to sun, gazes longingly at the express train thundering by with its luxurious parlor and dining cars and men and women who smoke and eat and laugh, and he, too, longs for that fuller, more abundant life.

The woman with the endless routine of household drudgery tries to suppress a sigh and sees in the busy business world of her husband a larger, fuller life; and the man would be free from the crash and grind of business responsibilities, and sees more life, fuller life, anywhere and everywhere outside his own rut of existence.

Do you know what the trouble is? Just this. We are trying to find life in its fulness in great big segments—in large payments, cash down.

No life is so mean and sordid, so obscure or degraded but that all along the pathway there are opportunities immeasurable for recreation, for instruction, for rest; but the traveler despises and ignores all these details, rushing onward for some great unknown goal, trampling on and despising life's jewels all along the way.

If we do not know how to use the present moment in such a way that we find satisfaction in its experience, we will never know how to find satisfaction in that time to which we are looking forward.

Now is the time. The past is dead and cannot be altered. You hold in your hand today the key to the future, and that key is the Present Moment.

There are not problems before you greater than the present moment. This moment is the climax of all before. If you are able to find life in its fulness at all, you can find it now.

This moment, this day, is a fresh, clean page, unsullied by the past, unshadowed by the future. Do with it as you will, but within it lies life in all its fulness.

Only inside property will be sold at the big lot sale April 30.

Keep the fishing tackle in the attic for the next few weeks. The season on all kinds of game fish except trout closed on March 1. No more game fish of any variety may be taken until April 15, when the trout season opens. The bars will be raised May 15 for the taking of all kinds of fish except black bass, which are protected until June 15.

Bredeson-Carlson.

A wedding which came as a surprise to the friends of the contracting parties took place March 27 at San Francisco, Calif., when Miss Florence Bredeson of this city was united in marriage to Irwin Carlson, a former basket ball star and baesball player of this city. Miss Bredeson was formerly a saleslady in the Mulry Bazaar and is well known here. The newlyweds have a large number of friends here who wish them much happiness.

MOVIE STUNT IS BAFFLING PUZZLE

How is it done?

This is the question that is asked by nine out of every ten who see the Larry Semon comedy, "Golf," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday. In several of the sequences a squirrel is used. This animal performs stunts which are unbelievable of a squirrel or any other animal for that matter.

The little squirrel lives on a golf course and has its borrough near a hole. Whenever a ball lands near the squirrel's home the animal amuses himself and startles the player by putting the ball in the hole, taking it out and moving it from place to place upon the green.

But this is not all that Larry Semon's squirrel does. The animal deliberately aims and fires a revolver in plain sight of the audience. Larry spent weeks in working out this stunt and when he finally filmed it only the squirrel, the camera man and himself; therefore the means he used to accomplish the results remains a secret.

It is a puzzle that has baffled many old time film directors and one which will prove interesting for the fan to work over. Larry is silent as to how he accomplished the feat.

"It can be done," he said, and he should know, for he did it. It remains now for some fan who enjoys working over problems of this sort to decipher the secret and explain how it is done.

THE OLD BANK

THIS OLD, STRONG BANK has for 25 years served the people of this community.

Through good times and bad times, in war and in peace, it is always on the job to do its duty. It is the oldest Bank and the largest capitalized Bank in Pennington county.

Some of our stockholders and directors have been in the banking business continuously for over thirty years and are well known as sound bankers with large means and long experience. No officer, director or stockholder of this Bank has ever been connected with any Bank which has ever for a single day declined to pay to its depositors and to carry out its contracts.

Better times are coming for Thief River Falls. Mr. E. G. Quamme, the President of the Federal Land Bank, says that the worst is over for the farmers of Minnesota, and that farms will now increase in value for many years.

No matter what you do with your money, the first necessity is to know that it is secure. It is this absolute security that we offer you in our interest bearing Certificate of Deposit.

In our Savings Department we pay interest four times a year.

Does It Pay to Worry About Appendicitis?

Can appendicitis be guarded against? Yes, by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH, upper and lower bowel, removing ALL foul, decaying matter which might start infection. EXCELLENT for gas on stomach or chronic constipation. It removes matter which you never thought was in your system and which nothing else can dislodge. One man reports it is unbelievable the awful impurities Adler-i-ka brought out. F. J. DAIRY PROSPECTS NEVER SO BRIGHT

Forty-Cent Butter in June Probable, Says Mr. McGuire, Back From Eastern Trip.

Never have prospects for the dairy farmer been so bright. This is the opinion of A. J. McGuire, general manager of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association, who has returned from a trip east. Mr. McGuire, accompanied by John Brandt of Litchfield, new president, spent ten days looking into dairy market conditions at Chicago, New York, Washington and Philadelphia.

"While we were in New York, butter was selling for 50 cents and every one was talking 40-cent butter in June. Stored stocks are low, and while there has been a marked increase in butter production, consumption has grown to such an extent that the supply is hardly equaling the demand," Mr. McGuire says.

A constant improvement in the quality of butter made by co-operative creameries is noticeable in Eastern markets, according to Mr. McGuire. While he and Mr. Brandt were in New York, the office of the association there made a contract for the delivery of all the butter from one of the small creameries in the western part of the state, the price being 3 cents above what had been paid. This higher price, Mr. McGuire said, was due entirely to the better quality of butter that is being made. This is an example of what the state association has been able to do for member creameries.

Creamery officials are convinced, Mr. McGuire says, that the time is at hand for the association to employ a high class butter salesman to handle the marketing department of the association. Several outstanding butter marketing specialists have been interviewed but no announcement will be made until after a definite selection has been made.

The association contemplates opening a Chicago office in the near future. The New York office handled 170 cars in March.

225 Boys and Girls Visit University Farm

The boys' and girls' short course at University Farm the week of March 26 to 30 was one of the most successful of the series of 13 annual short courses held at that point. Two hundred twenty-five boys and girls and a dozen or more club leaders attended. Simultaneously a short course was held at the West Central school at Morris.

A feature of the week's program at University Farm was a district contest between advanced breadmaking teams, all expenses of which were paid by the Russell Miller Milling company of Minneapolis. Six teams were entered. The Rush City trio was first, the Buffalo trio a very close second, and Anoka and Farmington tied for third place. The Rush City team will represent the district at the state contest at the State Fair in Steptember. The forenoon program of work prepared for the girls was the best ever presented at a Minnesota short course, according to T. A. Erickson, the state leader. Experts were called to give the girls instruction in care of hair and skin, in selecting becoming colors, in choosing food, and selecting and making clothing.

Announcement was made during the course that the Home Pattern company, which is an enterprise of The Ladies' Home Journal, had offered $250 to pay the expenses of the winning team in both classes A and B demonstrating garments made from Home Journal patterns to the National Club Exposition at Chicago the first week in December.

Hand Tools Needed to Do Good Brushing Job

Several different methods of brush removal are used in the cutover districts. Fire and livestock are effective and inexpensive and can be made to fit in with the regular farm operations very nicely. Mechanical menas, however, are needed to remove the heavier growths economically. When there are no stumps to interfere wholesale methods, such as plowing the brush under with large breaking plows or using specially made brush mowers, are often used to great advantage. But most sections of the strictly cutover districts have stumps, wind falls and other obstructions and in all such the brushing must be done with hand tools.

Perhaps the two tools most commonly used for this purpose are the double bitted ax and the brush scythe. The ax is used for the larger growth. It should weigh about three and three-fourths pounds and have a wide blade. The scythe is about 15 inches long and is made extra heavy. This is perhaps the most effective tool for small growth up to one inch in diameter.

The brush hoe has been found to do good work where the brush is not too large and has a tendency to grow in small clusters. As the hoe has a large flat blade and an off-set handle, it can be used to clip the clusters close to the ground. The brush hook is a tool not to be ignored. It is operated by a pulling action upward and can be used in brush up to one and one-half to two inches in diameter. A brush knife about 22 inches long, which may be made by a blacksmith from an old auto spring, is effective for removing brush two inches or more in diameter.

We notice by the Bemidji papers that an effort was made last week to secure the services of M. J. Sorflaten, last year's leader of the Thief River Falls City Band, as leader of the famous Boys' Band of Bemidji. It seems, however, that Mr. Sorflaten did not like the contract offered him and he will remain at Morris this season.

GOODRIDGE NEWS

Kalpin-Kiesow.

On Monday, April 2, occurred the wedding of Gustave Kalpin and Miss Caroline S. Kiesow, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kiesow, ten miles northeast of Goodridge, in the presence of a large circle of relatives and friends. The house was tastily decorated.

The ceremony was performed by the pastor, H. Lutz, of Goodridge. The attendants were Richard Kiesow, Hulda Kalpin, H. Kalpin and Rose Kiesow. After the ceremony a splendid dinner was served.

The bride is a popular young lady who has grown to womanhood in this community. The bridegroom is an industrious young man who was raised in the vicinity of Parkers Prairie and has spent most of his time in Canada recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Kalpin have not as yet announced their plans for the future. Most likely they will engage in farming, either here or at Parkers Prairie. Their many friends in this community wish them a long, happy and prosperous life.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Iverson, a baby boy, on April 2.

J. A. Sundquist was a passenger to Thief River Falls last Wednesday.

SUGAR BEETS, ALFALFA AND COWS GO TOGETHER

(From Karlstad Advocate.)

A. V. Dahlberg, field man for the Northern Sugar Corporation, was here last week again in the interest of sugar beets. He had cancelled some acreage at some of the other towns and he signed up 20 acres here. Pete Westerlund decided to try some sugar beets on the S. Erickson land east of town and he signed up for the 20 acres. This was all that could be taken at the time but Mr. Dahlberg informed us that he expected to be able to sign up a possible 20 or 30 acres more here.

Mr. Dahlberg, in speaking of beets, on which subject he is well versed, having been chemist with a sugar company in Colorado for many years and made sugar beets a study, says that they will grow wonderfully well up here. Beets grown in this section have been found to contain a larger sugar percentage than anywhere else in the country. They are a safer crop from year to year than potatoes or grain. They are not subject to any of the diseases that make grain and spud raising so precarious, and so long as the price is guaranteed for the crop in the fall the marketing end of it is safe. He further states that the sugar company finances the crop all the way through, furnishing seed, fertilizer if desired, use of drill and Mexican labor, at a total cost per acre of about $30. The gross return on an average beet crop amounts to about $80 an acre, leaving a net return to the grower of about $50 an acre for his work. Besides this the farmer also has from two to three tons per acre of beet tops, which is a fine food for the cows and is worth $10 to $15 per acre more. The sugar company deducts in the fall from the crop for seed, machinery, help, etc.

"The reason so many farmers are conservative about going into the raising of sugar beets is mostly due to the fact that they are afraid that they are undertaking something which may involve a large financial loss. This is through misunderstanding. So fair a labor contract is made out with the Mexican labor that if the farmer should get a poor stand of beets, that is if they fail to come up well enough to warrant carrying the crop to maturity and it is too late to make a replanting, there is no obligation on the farmer's part to go ahead with the crop. If there is time to replant this is of course done. If the farmer should decide that the crop, although not showing up as well as desired, still might pay a profit and therefore has the crop thinned by hand workers, and he later on should decide that the crop does not show up well enough to warrant carrying to maturity, the farmer would pay for only what had been done, that is, $8 per acre. The beets are such a dependable crop after a stand is secured that the chance of failure is very slight and it would be a poor crop indeed which would not pay expenses. Less risk is involved than in planting 12 bushels of potatoes per acre at 75 cents a bushel for seed and then not knowing whether or not they can be marketed in the fall. There is no crop which can be grown which will leave the land cleaner and more fit for another crop.

"We need to grow more alfalfa up here in order to get better fodder for our milk cows, so that we will get better cream checks. Sugar beets and alfalfa work so well together. Why not grow them? Help to improve this northern Minnesota by better farming and so help yourself too."

HIAWATHA SCHOOL
Dist. No. 32.

In spite of the inclement weather, the following pupils received perfect attendance certificates: Harold Matzke, Willie Anderson, Vivian Olson, Ruth and Earl Turnwall, Pat Beerbower, Marie, Gertrude and William Grundhaus.

Washington and Lincoln booklets were prepared by the lower grade pupils.

The most important event this month was our basket social, which was given February 23. About 75 people were present. Before the baskets were sold the eighth grade girls gave a comedy in two acts. The reading, "Settin' a Hen," given by Arthur Asp, was generously applauded. We realized $34 from the baskets, lunch and fishpond. This money will be used to purchase playground equipment for our school. After lunch nearly all partook in a spell-down, which proved quite interesting. Games formed the amusement for the remainder of the evening. — Agnes Kvall, Secretary.

Dist. No. 4.

Our club held its regular meeting on the afternoon of February 23. A patriotic program was given after the business meeting. Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays and the National Week of Song were observed.

Those who received perfect attendance certificates for the fifth month were: George and Hazel Kaiser, Alta Weckwerth, Jalmer and Oscar Valsvik, and Dora and Arthur Laubach.

Those whose marks entitled them to a place on the honor roll for the last month were Gina and Signa Valsvik, Arthur Laubach and Clarabelle Wiener. All are working hard to improve their work and we hope to have a longer honor roll next month.

LUNDWOOD SCHOOL
Dist. No. 57.

Our Little Citizens League gave a surprise program. Parents and friends were present. Our League has its meetings every two weeks.

All the pupils of our school visited the Woodrow school the first part of March. The weather must have been planned especially for us. At least that is what a crow flying across our way tried to tell us. But maybe we scared spring since it's been so cold and stormy ever since. The first part of the afternoon games were played. A spelling contest that consisted of two human alphabets was held. Everyone present took part. After this a lunch was served and we arrived home just in time for supper. A very enjoyable time was reported by all.

At present we have been busy getting our playground apparatus. It consists of two chinning poles, a volley ball and net, and a playground baseball and bat. Toob ad school is out so early.

Hot lunch has been served every day since December. We like it very much. The children bring milk, cream, vegetables and meat from home. The money for groceries was secured by piling wood last fall. Our menu this week was as follows: Monday, fruit soup; Tuesday, rice pudding; Wednesday, cocoa; Thursday, mashed potatoes; Friday, postum.—Martina Storle, Teacher.

FAIRVIEW SCHOOL
Dist. No. 56.

The attendance seems to have improved greatly during the past month, and we are hoping that conditions will favor its continuance.

LeRoy Allan succeeded in getting a large certificate of perfect attendance for four months.

The manual training class just recently started has made broom-holders as their first work. Some of them were well made and will probably be sent for exhibit with other work to the fair.

"Signs of Spring" is the topic of our primary language classes now. The pupils are making booklets for the purpose of decorating the covers with suggestions of the season.

In the study of factoring in algebra, we have come to the process of extracting the highest common factors (H. C. F.) of numbers. While reviewing, the question was asked: "What does H. C. F. stand for?" A pupil answered: "High cost of factoring."

We are anxiously awaiting our Easter holiday as we all need a vacation, after which we have but one month of work.

We wish everyone a joyful Easter.

CITY VIEW SCHOOL
Dist. No. 135

At the last meeting of our Little Citizens League we voted on a name and motto for our school. "City View" was chosen as the name, and "Not How Much, But How Well" as the motto. We have made Lincoln, Edison and Washington booklets this month as part of our language work.

The fourth graders have finished their scrap books and are now making salt maps of South America.

Those having perfect attendance during February are as follows: Ardis Ayers, Eldred Ayers, Gudren Howick, Morris Howick, Lloyd Howick, Evangeline Ness, Lawrence Olson, Glenn Olson, Kenneth Olson, Lilias Olson and Bessie Slinger.

Bessie Slinger and Eldred Aayers have had perfect attendance for six months.

One morning for opening exercises we all wrote letters to Gladys Sorenson, who has been absent for some time on account of illness.

Owing to the bad storm Feb. 14 our Valentine box was postponed until Feb. 16. Lawrence Olson and George Shogren acted as postmen.

Lloyd Howick received a pencil as a prize for being the best speller in a contest held by the president of the League, Evelyn Ness.—Ardis Ayers, Secretary of Little Citizens League.

Dist. No. 30.

School opened on Tuesday again after a short Easter vacation.

The Little Citizens League gave a lovely Easter program on Thursday afternoon in memory of the day. These programs are prepared entirely by the children without the teacher's help.

Supt. Sande visited our school last month.

The following have been absent a week or more on account of illness: Fred and Hannah Johnson, Erwin Helgeland, Marcus and Colettia Reller, Ruby Solmonson and Gilmen Omundson.

We have been wishing for spring for a good while now as the snow drifts are still so large as to prevent our enjoying the Norwegian ball game.

The seventh grade pupils are putting forth greater effort than ever to overcome the difficulties which prevented their passing the March examinations. We trust they will succeed in May. Some of them did splendidly in spite of the fact that we had not completed all of our work.—Mabel Shefveland, Teacher.

Dairy Marketing Plan Proposed By Committee

Plans for the establishment of a national dairy products sales agency were presented to a conference held at Chicago on April 9. Representatives of all dairy marketing organizations in the Mid-West were invited.

The report of the committee of 9, which has been working for weeks on a sales plan, was presented. In brief, the plan of the committee provides for the establishment of a national sales agency, organized along commodity co-operative marketing lines, and the creation of a buyers' demand for co-operatively made dairy products through a central advertising and publicity service.

H. B. Nickerson of Elk River and W. F. Schilling of Northfield are the Minnesota members of the committee of 9.

Quamme Says Farms Will Prove the Best Investment

E. G. Quamme, president of the Federal Land Bank, St. Paul, told the Minnesota Realty association Monday that rockbottom prices for farms had been reached in Minnesota last October, and that farm property would prove to be the best investment in the next decade. He said the time to buy farm property had arrived because prices had started to ascend and this condition would continue for the next thirty years.

MILLIONS OF FAMILIES

"I will build a car for the Multitude"

Said Henry Ford in 1903—Read how the fulfillment of that prophecy is now made possible through the

Ford Weekly Purchase Plan

For many years it has been Henry Ford's personal ambition to make the Ford the universal family car—to put it within the reach of the millions of people who have never been privileged to enjoy the benefits of motor car ownership.

During the past fifteen years over 7,500,000 Ford cars have been placed in the hands of retail customers—more than a million and a half of them within the past twelve months—and yet there are still millions of families who are hopefully looking forward to the day when they can own a Ford.

And now the way is open.

Under the terms of this plan you can select your Ford Car, set aside a small amount each week, and you will be surprised how soon you will own it. In the meantime your money will be safely deposited to your credit in one of the local banks where it will draw interest.

Think it over. Five dollars will start an account. The whole family can participate in it—father, mother, brothers and sisters each doing a little.

Why not start today. Stop in and talk it over with your local Ford dealer. He will be glad to fully explain the details of the plan and help you get started toward the ownership of a Ford car.

AS OTHERS THINK

What Chances For Success Will a Cheese Factory Have in Thief River Falls?

A cheese factory in Thief River Falls at the present stage of the game in dairying is doomed to failure from the very beginning for the simple reason that there is not enough milk available in this vicinity to make cheese from. It takes a lot of milk to operate a cheese factory successfully, and besides, milk can not be hauled long distances.

Over a radius of six miles around Thief River Falls there is not more than one-fourth of the acreage devoted to intensified dairying, and the few thousand pounds of skim milk that a few farmers could have a chance to dispose of during the summer months for cheese making purposes would only be a drop in the bucket. Hence the construction of a cheese making establishment in connection with our creamery would be a criminal squandering of money.

If those cheese enthusiasts are so anxious to have their milk manufactured into cheese, why not start something with their own money instead of using the creamery's funds for this very doubtful experiment? We have a first class creamery here in Thief River Falls, which has been gaining in volume of business and prestige every year that has passed since its organization, and under proper management it should continue to do so in the future. Let us bend our best energy toward developing our creamery along the lines most adapted to the conditions of the country, and not venture out on anything we do not know anything about. The co-operative creameries have enemies enough to contend with and it takes a lot of energy to combat them.

Supposing a few thousand dollars were spent for this purpose and some farmers were induced to haul milk to the cheese factory under the presumption that they would get more for their product by having it manufactured into cheese than by separating the milk and hauling the cream to the creamery. It would cripple the creamery to a certain extent and what deficiency the cheese making department would show would have to be made up by farmers hauling cream, which would again have a tendency to disgust many farmers, who would turn to the centralizers instead of patronizing the creamery. There are too many who are doing this very thing already.

Whoever is behind this cheese making propaganda, whether it is the creamery board or somebody on the outside in connection with the same, they are certainly not working for the best interests of the creamery. As for the skim milk being such a problem in this locality as mentioned by both papers in their last issues, would say that it is not any more of a problem now than it has ever been. Farmers have hogs, calves and chickens to feed this byproduct to and it can be disposed of to good advantage. I feed even a good deal of my skim milk to the cows, who over night return the same with cream on. Hogs, calves and chickens on different farms around Thief River Falls will have the cheese making department in connection with the Thief River Falls Co-operative creamery all skinned and will make a better return for the skim milk than the latter would.

Yours for a larger and better creamery year by year in the future as well as in the past,

P. ENGELSTAD.

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. F. J. Stebbins, druggist.—Adv.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of One Thousand Seventy-one and 66-100 ($1,071.66) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Theodore Bjorge, a single man, Mortgagor, to First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained; duly recorded, in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of January, 1919, at 4:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 12 of Mortgages, on page 477.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, to George Pockelwald by written assignment dated the 31st day of January, 1919, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 10th day of February, 1919, at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book 63 of Mortgages, on page 43, and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof:

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Fifteen (15), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40), containing one hundred sixty acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 7th day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1,071.66 and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty and 00-100 Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated March 6th, A. D. 1923.

STATEMENT OF THE OWNERSHIP, MANAGEMENT, CIRCULATION, ETC., REQUIRED BY THE ACT OF CONGRESS OF AUGUST 24, 1912.

Of The Tribune, published weekly at Thief River Falls, Minn., for April 1, 1922.

State of Minnesota, County of Pennington, ss.

Before me, a Notary Public in and for the State and county aforesaid, personally appeared J. S. Arneson, who, having been duly sworn according to law, deposes and says that he is the owner of The Tribune, and that the following is, to the best of his knowledge and belief, a true statement of the ownership, management, etc., of the aforesaid publication for the date shown in the above caption, required by the Act of August 24, 1912, embodied in section 443, Postal Laws and Regulations, to-wit:

2. That the owners are: (Give names and addresses of individual owners, or, if a corporation, give its name and the names and addresses of stockholders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of the total amount of stock.)

J. S. Arneson, Thief River Falls, Minn.

3. That the known bondholders, mortgagees, and other security holders owning or holding 1 per cent or more of total amount of bonds, mortgages, or other securities are:

Pennington Printing Co., Thief River Falls, Minn.

First National Bank, Thief River Falls Minn.

4. That the two paragraphs next above, giving the names of the owners, stockholders, and security holders, if any, contain not only the list of stockholders and security holders as they appear upon the books of the company but also, in cases where the stockholder or security holder appears upon the books of the company as trustee or in any other fiduciary relation, the name of the person or corporation for whom such trustee is acting, is given; also that the said two paragraphs contain statements embracing affiant's full knowledge and belief as to the circumstances and conditions under which stockholders and security holders who do not appear upon the books of the company as trustees, hold stock and securities in a capacity other than that of a bona fide owner; and this affiant has no reason to believe that any other person, association, or corporation has any interest direct or indirect in the said stock, bonds, or other securities than as so stated by him.

J. S. ARNESON.

Mother: "Johnny! You go right up stairs and wash your mouth out with soap."

Johnny: "It's no use, mamma. I've been eatin' soap for half an hour just so I could do this."

Versed in Vamps.

Mother: "How did my little daughter come out in the intelligence test?"

Teacher: "Not so badly. Her real age is twelve and we find she has a mental age of ten. However, her cinema age is a sophisticated forty-two."

L. P. Christianson, Owner of Mint, Dies at Fertile

Well-Known Resident of This City for Past 15 Years, Passes at Home of Brother.

L. P. Christianson, a resident of this city for the past 15 years and owner of The Mint, local restaurant and soft drink parlor, died Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of his brother residing at Fertile, Minn. Deceased was about 55 years old.

Mr. Christianson had been in failing health for the past four years and three years ago underwent an operation at a local hospital for rupture of the stomach. He rallied somewhat after this operation, but never regained his former health.

During his residency in Thief River Falls Mr. Christianson had built up a wide acquaintanceship among patrons of The Mint, who will remember him as possessed of a unique personality and a man of square dealing. Prior to the time of prohibition Mr. Christianson conducted a saloon at The Mint, after which he conducted the place as a restaurant.

There are no known survivors except the brother residing at Fertile, from which place Mr. Christianson came when he located in this city. Funeral arrangements had not been completed up to the time of going to press, but it is understood that burial will be made at Fertile tomorrow afternoon.

GIVES POINTERS TO PRODUCERS OF BEEF

N. K. Carnes of the animal husbandry division of the University of Minnesota offers several suggestions to producers of beef as to how to improve their position in these times of narrow margins and high taxes. He says beef producers can get larger returns by—

Producing what the market demands.

Marketing through co-operative associations.

Investing the minimum of capital only in buildings and equipment.

Feeding comparatively inexpensive rations during the winter.

Mr. Carnes lays emphasis on feeding and type. "Good cattle command a premium on our livestock markets," he says. "Good typed animals do not consume less food than the scrub, but they make more economical use of it. The Bureau of Animal Industry maintains that a steak from a high class beef animal contains 40 per cent more food value than does a steak from a scrub."

Mr. Carnes holds that feeds for wintering the breeding herd need not be expensive. Silage supplemented with dry roughage and some protein concentrate will carry beef animals along economically. If the dry roughage consists of a legume hay the protein concentrate can be omitted from the ration. "Under some conditions," he says, "it might be more economical to sell part of the legume hay and substitute for it the cheaper roughages with some highly concentrated protein feed. Relative prices should determine."

All inside property to be sold at the big lot sale April 30.

The Cost of Government.

The cost of government is a question that has been given little attention, but during the next year or two it will be so analyzed that every man, woman and child will understand just how much of every dollar they earn goes to pay the cost of government—direct and indirect. The National Budget Committee has already contributed very valuable information on this subject by publication of comparative statistics designed to show that city governments take a larger percentage of a man's earnings than the federal government does. In a city of 30,000 inhabitants or more, it was calculated that city government cost each individual $44.32 annually and federal government $35.47—a total tax of $79.79 each year for every man, woman and child. Throughout the nation the Budget Committee estimates the total cost of government, including school taxes, at about 15 per cent of $15.00 on each $1,000 every man and woman earns. The people need more of this education—and should insist on having it. They know about the direct tax, but don't know how much they are paying as indirect taxes.

Handiwork of State Pupils to Be Shown at Washington

There will be an exhibit in the normal training department at the Washington school Saturday afternoon of handiwork done by all the training departments of the state, which have been assembled by the department of education into one exhibit and which is the finest ever shown in Minnesota.

The exhibit was shown last fall at the state fair and won many prizes. It was commented on by the newspapers and public as being worthy of public exhibition and for that reason was brought here through efforts of local school officials.

Teachers, pupils and everyone wishing to view the exhibit are invited to come to the Washington school, Saturday afternoon.

Labor Takes Hand in Ruhr Matter.

J. Ramsay Macdonald, British Labor leader in the House of Commons, who was recently entertained by the King and Queen, addressed a three-day conference of Labor and Socialistic delegates in London last Monday. The conference is being attended by French and German delegates and leaders. In his address Mr. Macdonald declared that as a result of other conferences with Labor and Socialistic leaders from France, Italy, Belgium, Germany and Great Britain, the Labor Party was going to begin a settlement of the Ruhr question, which would never be settled by the governments acting alone. He said private enterprise was a failure and that the capitalist system had broken down all around. This latter fact was proved because daily the capitalists were going to Parliament asking for state guarantees for state loans and also state protection.

It does not matter much to the people of the world just how or by whom or through what means peace and confidence may be restored to the politically warring states and nations of Europe, and if the Labor party and Socialists can get together on some common, human basis it may be the first great step toward a brotherhood of man spirit that will end wars in the right way.

As our dear ones drop away from us one by one, life becomes both a richer and a poorer thing; richer in our growing memories of the departed; poorer because the journey must grow lonely without the human comradeship of other days.

Excel Woman Expires.

The death of Emily Amelia Slack, whose husband is a farmer in Excel township, occurred on April 7, the immediate cause of death being heart trouble with which she had been afflicted for some time. She is survived by her husband and four children and was 56 years of age at the time of her death.

Mrs. Slack came here with her husband three years ago from Iowa, the remains being shipped to Boone, Ia., for interment.

Minot Lawyer Would Like to Debate Price-Fixing

A challenge to debate the question: "Resolved, that the immediate passage of the Gooding bill stabilizing the price of wheat for 1923 at a minimum of $1.75, and creating a board to handle same as provided in that law, would be for the best interests of the people of the United States," was this week issued to Curtis L. Mosher, assistant federal reserve agent of Minneapolis, by Halvor L. Halvorson, Minot, N. D., attorney.

Mr. Halvorson said that he issued the challenge after reading remarks which Mosher is reported to have made at a recent farmer-banker meeting at Crookston, opposing price-fixing legislation.

The challenger asserts that while he favors co-operative marketing, investigation has led him to believe that it will not give relief so far as the wheat grower is concerned.

It doesn't make any difference where you put your money, savings bank, building and loan, life insurance, installments on a lot or house—the important thing is to save something regularly. Even if a fellow should make a mistake and put his money into an unsafe proposition, he is not altogether the loser, for he has established the habit of thrift. But put your money where it will be safe, if you can. Don't be tempted into unsafe propositions by promises or hope of extravagant profits. You can tell the difference between an investment and a gambling proposition by the per cent of profits promised.—Faribault News.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD CHILD BURNED TO DEATH IN STORE FIRE AT ERIE

Historical Society

Mrs. Aubol and Sister Rescue Baby and Little Boy From Seething Furnace Created by Explosion of Kerosene Tank—Women Badly Burned.

In a fire which completely destroyed the store of Alfred Aubol a half mile south of Erie postoffice early Thursday morning, little Myrtle Aubol, aged four, was burned to death, and Mrs. Aubol and her sister, Ella Swenson, were badly burned about the hands, face and back as they sought to escape from the upper story of the building with the two younger children in their arms. The two women were alone with the children at the time, Mr. Aubol being in this city on a business trip and remaining here over night.

The fire occurred at 2:30 in the morning. Mrs. Aubol was the first to wake up. She was aroused by her sister and the women snatched the two younger children from their beds and started for the stairway, which was located near the center of the building. Just then a large kerosene tank in the rear of the store exploded, and fanned by a high south wind which was blowing at the time, the interior of the store became a roaring furnace.

The women were enveloped in flames, their night clothes being burned to a crisp, and they barely reached a front window through which they leaped to the frozen ground below. Realizing the plight of the older child, Mrs. Aubol made a frantic attempt to re-enter the building, but the fierceness of the flames made it impossible to approach from any quarter. The remains of the burned child were found in the ruins directly under the window from which Mrs. Aubol and her sister escaped, indicating that little Myrtle had made an attempt to crawl out that way when she was overcome by smoke and fire.

Mrs. Aubol and her sister and the two children sought shelter at the home of a bachelor who resides about a half block from the store building. It was found that the women were quite seriously burned and the two children sustained a number of cuts and bruises in making their escape from the burning building. The baby has a severe cut on its head, and the three-year-old boy was cut about the face, legs and abdomen. The injured are being cared for by Dr. Froehlich of this city, who was among the first to reach the scene of the fire.

The tragedy which resulted in the loss of their oldest child has left the Aubol family practically destitute, and kindly neighbors have rendered all possible assistance in providing for their comfort. As will be noted in an announcement in another part of The Tribune, a social has been arranged for Saturday evening at the Singer hall, the proceeds to go to the stricken family.

While the exact origin of the fire has not been discovered, it is presumed to have started from an overheated stove. The building and contents were destroyed in just a few minutes. No insurance was carried by Mr. Aubol on his stock, and it is not known whether the building, which was a rented one, was insured.

The burned building was a landmark in Erie, being the original store and postoffice which served the early settlers in eastern Pennington county. It was located a half mile south of the present Erie postoffice.

It is needless to say Mr. Aubol and his wife have the sincere sympathy of the residents of Erie in their bereavement and misfortune.

Aubol Family to Receive Benefit of Postcard Social

Social to Be Given at Singer Hall, Erie, Saturday Evening, April 21.

According to an announcement received by The Tribune, a post card social will be held at Singer's hall, Erie, on Saturday evening, April 21. Ladies and children bring a box of lunch for two and a card. Old and young are invited to come.

No dance will be given following sale of cards, but games will be played.

All receipts of sale are for the benefit of the Aubol family, whose home was destroyed by fire.

The affair is being sponsored by the Welfare and Community Club.

City to Entertain C. E. Societies April 27 to 29

Three-Day Session to Open at Presbyterian Church Friday, April 27.

Pastors and Workers From Northwestern Section of State Will Attend.

All the Christian Endeavor Societies in Northwestern Minnesota will assemble in their annual convention this year at Thief River Falls, April 27 to 29. The convention will be held in the Presbyterian church and will be in charge of the Intermediate and Senior Societies of that church.

Friday evening, April 27, will be the opening meeting, followed by sessions all day Saturday, a banquet Saturday evening besides a public meeting, a sunrise prayer meeting Sunday morning, Sunday school and church service, an afternoon vesper service, and a large closing meeting Sunday evening. Addresses and conferences on methods will be given by various Northern Minnesota pastors and state Christian Endeavor workers. The local societies have decided to invite the young people of all the churches in Thief River Falls to share in this conference on young people's work.

Committees are already working on plans to make the convention as successful as possible. Miss Minnie Leavitt is in general charge, with the following people in charge of committees: Bert Umland, decorations; Ariel Kinghorn, banquet; Keith Craik, reception; Mrs. Haug and Mrs. F. E. Hunt, registration; Craig Halvorson, social events; Eileen Arneson, music; Henry Vorlicky, publicity.

Iowa Farmer in City.

John Burkum, Clear Lake, Iowa, farmer who owns the O'Neill farm south of the city, arrived here this morning to look after the renting of his place for the summer. He is quartered at the Park Hotel, where he may be found by prospective tenants. He informs The Tribune that conditions in Iowa are but slightly better than here, the farmers having done a little discing and harrowing but have put no seed in the ground. The snow, however, is all gone and farmers are expected to get in the field the latter part of this week.

PENNINGTON COUNTY TO EXHIBIT AT 1923 MINNESOTA STATE FAIR

Believing in common with a great many other people that Pennington county's resources are worthy of widespread advertising, the members of the Pennington County Agricultural Association in session at the Commercial Club rooms last evening placed J. S. Arneson, editor of The Tribune, in charge of the collection of a suitable exhibited at the state fair.

Pennington county has not been represented among the county exhibits at the state fair in many years. It is now planned to make the exhibit a permanent one and strenuous efforts will be made to bring to this section of Minnesota the silver trophy annually awarded to northern counties excelling in the quality of their products. Not only will the exhibit include the best of Pennington county's agricultural and dairy products, but a showing will also be made of the products of all manufacturing enterprises in the county.

How the value of such an exhibit is viewed will be apparent from the following excerpt taken from a letter received this morning from Thos. H. Smith of Mavie, one of the finest boosters in the county:

"It would seem highly desirable that Pennington county should have a county exhibit at the Minnesota state fair next fall. There is no better way to advertise our county than by showing to the hundreds of thousands of people that visit our state fair what can be grown here. Thousands of people who visit the state fair are prospective farm owners for northern Minnesota. Other counties are out after these prospects. Many counties, less desirable than Pennington county, are getting them. They are getting them because they are out after them. It would seem that this is an appropriate time to initiate a move in the direction of arranging for a county exhibit for Pennington county at the Minnesota state fair."

Something different in the way of an entertainment will be staged at the Auditorium on Tuesday, April 24, by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Fine Feathers of Long Ago Features Daughters of Norway Anniversary.

Girls of 1940 Bring on Prolonged Fluttering of Many Male Hearts.

The celebration of their 12th anniversary last evening by the Daughters of Norway took on the features of a style show depicting past, present and future feminine modes, prominent ladies of the city donning the fine feathers of long ago to indicate the fleeting fancy of style architects of the past two decades, and to cap the climax two very prepossessing young ladies appeared on the scene in a costume of 1940, a creation of the imagination, we suppose, but nevertheless very chic and alluring.

The program consisted of songs and musical numbers contributed by Dr. Nesse, Miss Thora Hanson, H. O. Chommie, Miss Eileen Arneson and Henry Arneson, notable among which was the number, "Hardangerfesten," rendered by Mr. Chommie. A fine recitation was contributed by Mrs. Arnold.

Mrs. Nesse presided and announced the closing number to be the style show above mentioned, and Mrs. T. L. Melgaard was in charge of this entertaining part of the program. While many of the styles of the past appeared attractive, probably due to the excellent taste shown in the selection of models to wear them, the concensus of male opinion favored the present day modes. The styles of 1940 are sans skirts, which shows conclusively what the women have been thinking about for a long time. The modern wearing apparel was loaned by the Oen Mercantile company, whose artistic representative, Mr. Prytz, successfully made up a beautiful evening dress without the use of scissors and thread—just being careful with pins.

Thoughts of spring are somewhat blighted by the idea that the fish liar will then be with us again.

MRS. JOHNSRUD DIES

Mrs. A. R. Johnsrud, wife of A. R. Johnsrud, 111 Fifth street east, died early this morning after a long siege of heart trouble. She is survived by her husband and one child. Mr. Johnsrud, who was resting today after the long vigil at his wife's bedside, could not be reached, hence no particulars with reference to funeral arrangements could be obtained.

Red Lake Falls Girl Stars in Film Coming to Lyceum

Presence of Well-Known Young Lady in Cast of "The Golden Flame" Adds Local Interest.

Miss Erin LaBissionere, daughter of Theodore LaBissioniere, a prominent Red Lake Falls merchant, appears in the leading role of "The Golden Flame," which will be shown at the Lyceum theatre Thursday only.

Miss LaBissioniere was born and reared in Red Lake Falls, and after finishing her high school education in that city she attended the Laurette Academy Hall at Denver, Colorado, studying dramatic arts and classical dancing. She first appeared on the speaking stage, but seeing the great possibilities in the silent drama, went to California, where she immediately was cast in the leading role of "The Golden Flame."

Miss LaBissioniere is at present working under the direction of Cecil B. DeMille, the director general of the Famous Players-Lasky Corporation. She is a cousin of Miss Mae Rowan of this city and is well known by many people of Thief River Falls.

DEATH OF SILAS SYVERSON

Silas Syverson, who has been conducting a farm in the township of Smiley for the past two years, passed away Monday night after a lingering illness diagnosed as basel meningitis. Deceased was 42 years of age and single, making his home in this city prior to removing to Smiley.

He is survived by his brothers, Nels, Theodore and Dan, all of Smiley, and four sisters, namely Mrs. Celia Kelly, Mrs. Regina Johnson, Miss Belle Syverson, all of this city, and Mrs. Julia Anderson, of Pomeroy, Washington.

Up to the hour of going to press no funeral arrangements have been made, pending word from distant relatives who are expected to attend the last rites.

Auxiliary to Stage Home Talent Play Next Tuesday

Something different in the line of entertainment will be given next Tuesday evening at the City Auditorium, when the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion presents a home talent play entitled "The Womanless Marriage." Mrs. Hodgson of Crookston, widely experienced in this kind of work, has been engaged to direct the play. There will be various vaudeville stunts between acts, several musical numbers, dances, etc. In fact, the program will be a "howl" from start to finish.

Among the special added attractions will be several vocal solos by Roy Prytz and Karl Sundahl. A special matinee for children will be given at 3:30 p. m.

Heaven help the town whose citizens are self-satisfied!

CREDIT ACT AND MARKETING BILL MOST IMPORTANT LAWS ENACTED

Legislature Which Adjourns Tomorrow Has Made Fine Record in Passing Beneficial Farm Legislation.

Legislation authorizing the establishment of a state long time loan system is among the 1922-23 legislatures' most important acts, from the viewpoint of farmers. The legislature adjourns tomorrow.

The state rural credit bill was passed and signed shortly before adjournment. The law differs from the original bill but slightly. The system will be handled by a board of three—a "dirt" farmer and a man with special knowledge as to real estate values and loan practices to be appointed by the governor—and a representative of the attorney general's office. The law provides that loans shall be for not more than 60 per cent of appraised value, plus 33 1-3 per cent of the value of the improvements, which improvements shall in no case be considered to be worth more than $8,000.

Loans ranging from $500 to $15,000 are provided. Money may be borrowed to liquidate present indebtedness, to buy equipment or livestock, to build improvements or to make a first payment on land subject to a second mortgage. Repayment of the loan on an amortization plan, running for not more than 35 years and a reduction in the interest rate over that now being made, are the two most important factors that farmers wanted when they passed the amendment and which have been included in the bill from the first draft.

Ranking close to the credit bill, is legislation providing for the extension of co-operative marketing organizations. Monday afternoon, Gov. Preus signed the so-called standard co-operative marketing bill, which includes all major features in a similar law that has been passed in 18 states and is pending in several others. Its principal features remove all question as to the legality of contracts between growers and their associations and provides a penatly for spreading false reports about a co-operative. The new potato growers' organization took steps to organize under the bill shortly after it was signed. Another co-operative bill was passed which protects and strengthens co-operatives already organized in Minnesota.

Other legislation of interest to farmers, briefly summarized, follows:

Filled milk law, prohibiting the removal of butterfat from full milk and substituting therefore vegetable fats. This bill was strongly supported by the dairy interests.

A law authorizing the governor and attorney general to act as a committee to protect the interests of the state against the practice of basing steel prices on what is known as "Pittsburgh Plus."

Reduction of the legal interest rate in the state from 10 to 8 per cent.

Providing for labeling butter made from neutralized cream. This bill was supported by the friends of the co-operative creameries of the state.

A resolution submitting to the voters at the next election a proposal to build a state-owned terminal elevator.

A memorial to congress, asking restoration of Minnesota grades on wheat, so farmers may realize on their wheat according to its gluten content.

Enabling farmers, under certain restrictions, to use hog cholera virus.

A joint resolution providing for the appointment of a legislative commission to meet with similar commissions from North Dakota, South Dakota and Montana, regarding the grading and marketing of farm products.

Among the important bills that were reported as having been passed, but which had not been signed, at the time this was written, were auto tax legislation, an act providing that state prison machinery shall be sold to dealers at 5 per cent above cost, several warehousing measures and a large number of minor measures.

BUSINESS MEN TO DISCUSS WINTER SHOWS PROPOSITION TOMORROW

Commercial Club to Meet With Community Girls at 6:30 Tomorrow (Thursday) Evening—Big Program and Feed Is Free.

"There certinly aren't any flies on the Community Girls," remarked one Thief River Falls business man to The Tribune man last week when the announcement was made that the club had accepted the invitation of the Community Girls for a free feed and program to be given at the quarters of the club tomorrow (Thursday) evening.

The generous offer of the Community girls was made last Thursday by Miss Poston, and was promptly accepted.

Accordingly the Commercial Club of Thief River Falls will probably have the liveliest session of its career tomorrow evening, when a dandy program will be given, and live subjects such as the proposed Winter Shows for Thief River Falls, will be discussed.

The matter of reviving the question of holding Winter Shows in Thief River Falls was presented to the club last Thursday by a committee consisting of M. T. McFarland, Olaf Nest and Dave Gustafson, and these gentlemen were appointed to gather information upon the subject to be presented tomorrow evening.

Those who feel that the city should continue to play second fiddle to Crookston, should remain away from the meeting. On the other hand, if you are interested in making your own home town a live one, building it up for your own and your neighbor's benefit, why, come to the meeting and speak up loud and strong.

New Law Firm.

Palmer Benson, of the new law firm of Benson & Underdahl, who recently purchased the law practice of the late E. M. Stanton, arrived in the city last week to open the offices of the firm over the First and Peoples State bank. Mr. Benson has been connected with the firm of Allen & Fletcher, Minneapolis attorneys, prior to locating here. Mr. Benson is a former Kenyon, Minn., resident, and his partner, Mr. Underdahl, will arrive here soon from Minneapolis.

Goodridge Community Club.

Stuart McLeod of Goodridge was in the city Monday morning on business. While here he informed The Tribune that the Mavie people would entertain Goodridge at the regular meeting of the Community Club Friday evening, with a play called "Back to the Farm."

Rev. Nygren to Speak Here.

Rev. Lundell informs The Tribune that services will be conducted at the Swedish Mission church in this city by Rev. P. A. Nygren of Lancaster tomorrow (Thursday) evening. This will be Rev. Nygren's farewell address prior to his departure for his new charge at River Falls, Wis.

Antlered Tribe to Meet.

Secretary Austad of the Elks lodge wants to serve notice upon the members of No. 1308 that the first meeting under the administration of Exalted Ruler Connell will take place Friday evening, April 20, and a severe penalty consisting of missing a fine feed will attach to such as absent themselves at that time. Committees will be announced and a snappy session will follow.

Halseth Opens Paint Shop.

A. Halseth, well known in the city as a painter and decorator, has opened a paint shop in his old quarters on Second street, recently occupied by the Morrissette grocery, where he carries a full line of paints, varnishes and wall paper. His stock is selected with an eye to the up-to-date and artistic and he is unusually well equipped to serve the public in his line.

Stanton Dahlen Improving.

The many friends of Stanton Dahlen will be pleased to know that he is on the mend. He sat up last Sunday for the first time since taken ill in January, and a steady and marked improvement is noted in his condition from day to day. Stanton was seized with a peculiar malady following an operation for the removal of an abcess early in the winter, and not until two weeks ago did the disease yield to treatment.

"Back to the Farm."

The Mavie Community Club will stage their play, "Back to the Farm," at Goodridge Friday evening, April 20. The electric line will run a special from Thief River Falls, leaving at 7 p. m. and returning after the program. This play was staged in Mavie a short time ago and met with such success that they were requested to give the same performance in Goodridge. A good crowd has already signified its intention of going from this city and Mavie to Goodridge that evening.

There is one sign that seemingly the superstitious do not believe in—"Fresh Paint!"

DAWSON SENTINEL BURNS

Word comes that the plant of the Dawson Sentinel, owned by Representative Christianson, was practically destroyed by fire early this morning. Press reports give the extent of the loss at from $12,000 to $15,000.

New Auto Firm Takes Agency For Chevrolet

Tire Vulcanizing and Battery Repair Shop Also to Be in Operation.

Local Men Secure Building on Corner of Main Avenue and First Street.

Agency for the Chevrolet automobile has been taken over in Thief River Falls by a new automobile firm starting business here this week under the management of Edward Fiterman and A. R. Kohn. A carload of Chevrolet cars arrived yesterday and hve been placed in the display room of the building leased by the concern on the corner of Main avenue and First street. The shipment includes one Chevrolet coupe and one sedan.

Both Mr. Fiterman and Mr. Kohn are well known in Thief River Falls. Mr. Fiterman has for the past year been associated with his father in the conduct of the Northern Trading company, and Mr. Kohn has been employed at the Minneapolis Bridge company. The latter will sever his connection with the bridge company about May 1, when it is expected the automobile business will open up.

The concern has taken the agency for Diamond tires and tubes and in this connection will offer those not acquainted with this brand of tire an alluring tire proposition, offering six months' free service on every tire purchased. In order to introduce automobile owners to the new firm, it offers to repair inner tubes at the low price of five cents per tube.

Mr. Fiterman and Mr. Kohn have retained the agency for the Philco battery and will sell batteries for every make of car. They have placed in charge of the department Art Boos, an expert service man who has had many years of experience in the manufacture and repair of automobile batteries. Mr. Boos commenced his duties this week.

The vulcanizing department will be in charge of Tony Hornseth, who is well known to Thief River Falls automobile owners. There has been installed in the repair department up-to-date vulcanizing and repairing machinery and the department will be prepared to handle all work of this nature in a satisfactory and expeditious manner.

The concern will make a strong effort to introduce the new Chevrolet into Thief River Falls territory, where it has always been a favorite among car owners desiring an automobile of low price and upkeep. The car has many of the newest improvements and those interested in the Chevrolet are invited to come to the showrooms and give the car a thorough investigation. An advertisement on an inside page contains the opening announcement of the concern and readers are asked to look it over.

Mrs. C. O. Erickson to Give Piano Recital on April 26

The pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson will appear in public recital at the high school auditorium on Thursday evening, April 26, at 8 o'clock sharp. This is the first of a series to be presented by Mrs. Erickson. The public is cordially invited to attend.

The recital program to be rendered will be found on page three.

Ed. Hill Opens New Store.

Ed. Hill opened his new auto accessory store on Third street Monday evening. He is in the old Stanton Cafe building. Ed. is a pretty good mechanic and knows what the average driver needs, so he has blossomed out with a nice stock of accessories and electrical goods of every kind. He aims to cater to the wants of all, but as he expressed it to a Tribune man yesterday, "if you don't see what you want, ask for it." Which means that Ed. will get it for you. Go in and see him and you will be surprised to see how willing Ed. is to sell you new fangled gimcracks for your old boat.

Austad Assumes New Job.

Tom Austad has taken Ed Korstad's place at the Elks' lodge, entering upon his new duties last week. Tom recently underwent a siege of illness at the hospital but is on the way to normalcy at this writing.

FARMERS TURN DOWN CHEESE FACTORY BY VOTE OF 18 TO 30

Present Facilities of Creamery Deemed Inadequate For New Enterprise, Is Decision of Membership.

Members of the Thief River Falls Co-Operative Creamery Association who met at the rooms of the Commercial Club last Saturday to consider a cheese factory as an adjunct to the business of the creamery, turned the proposition down decisively, the vote being 18 for and 30 against.

The meeting was quite well attended, about 65 farmers being present when the meeting opened in the forenoon. A discussion of the merits of a cheese factory brought out considerable oratory pro and con. However, the idea that the creamery facilities are sufficiently taxed at present to care for the increasing business of the association, and that there are too few cows within easy hauling distance to warrant the building of a cheese factory, seemed to prevail among those present, hence the adverse vote recorded above.

S. E. Hunt, president of the creamery association, presided at the meeting. The only other business to be transacted was the adoption of a change in the by-laws of the association to the effect that stock-holders and non-stock-holders alike be charged one cent upon butter-fat for the sinking fund, thus increasing the tax upon stock-holders one-half cent. It is possible that the cheese factory idea may be revived after a new creamery has been erected, according to members who attended the Saturday meeting.

A Continental "Bloc."

The recent discussion in France and other European countries of the possibility of creating a "continental bloc" from which Great Britain is to be excluded, may be ascribed as one of the causes for the tremendous effort being made by England to form a close corporation with the United States. This nation, through its debt leverages, would be able to make most of the continental nations walk the straight and narrow path—that is, if we had men and munitions sufficient.

But such a "bloc" is seriously considered and England is alarmed. Many of these European nations have come to the conclusion, despite the League of Nations, that the idea that humanity could construct some alternative security for nations than armaments, and some other sanction for international agreements than force, has utterly failed, and the only thing to do is to go back to the old-time system of alliances and militarism as the basis of national defense and commercial freedom.

It is claimed by some nations that America can stop this threatened combination by joining the League of Nations. It is true America might contribute some weight in that direction if all the nations of the world, including America, accepted the compulsory jurisdiction of the International Court of the League, but that seems to be out of the question. It certainly is out of the question so far as America is concerned.

The proposed "bloc" may be composed of France, Italy, Belgium, Turkey and the Little Entente, with still another force in the background composed of Japan, Russia and Germany.

Whether such a combination is possible or not, the discussion shows the way of the wind, and it is this that leads to the talk of "the next war."

America contributed its money and its men for the principle of the freedom of the seas, the open door for trade, and the right of self-determination among the peoples of all nations. Our 14 points seemed to please the people, but not the rulers, and they were all turned down. The people of many of the nations of Europe are insisting on some of these points. America has set and is setting an example in government that many of the European nations are endeavoring to copy. Would it not be well to trim our own sails, continue to set even a better example, and give the people of the old world a chance to work out their own salvation? It will be done sometime, anyway.

An Armful of Deer.

Park Rapids Enterprise: Raymond Hinckley, who is employed at Itasca State Park, caught a deer by hand the first of the week but it is doubtful if he will take such chances again. A woven wire gate had been opened and left lying on the ground and a deer had become tangled in the wire. Mr. Hinckley was attempting to release the old deer, and while doing so a young deer, a yearling buck, ran past him twice. When the deer attempted to pass him the third time Mr. Hinckley jumped and caught it, throwing his arms around its neck and hanging on until it was overpowered. Mr. Hinckley was relieved of a large part of his clothing by the deer before the struggle ended, but finally succeeded in his effort, and the young buck will be confined during the summer in the pasture near the forestry school.

Of all parasites affecting poultry, ordinary poultry mites are probably the most troublesome and destructive unless kept under control. Unlike the lice, poultry mites are bloodsucking parasites and live entirely on the blood of the fowl. They are very small and when not filled with blood are gray in color and are called gray mites. However, when they have been on the body of the fowl and filled themselves with blood they look red and are called red mites. They do not stay on the fowl's body all the time, like lice, but during the day hide away in cracks and crevices, behind boards that are near the roosts, in the cracks of coops and in other places. At night when the fowls and chicks go to roost the mites come out from their hiding places, crawl onto the birds and suck the blood from their bodies. The irritation and loss of blood causes mature fowls to become pale in comb and wattles and poor in flesh; sitting hens may desert their nests and spoil the eggs, if they do not lie on the nests, and chickens become weak and droopy and in many instances die from the attacks. Since poultry mites hide away in the cracks and crevices during the day, the first thing that must be done to get rid of them is to give the poultry houses, roosts, nests, etc., a good cleaning. After the cleaning, spray thoroughly with kerosene, crude oil, or some effective coal tar preparation, making sure that the spray will reach al lthe cracks and crevices and every other place where the mites might be hiding. The coal tar preparation is most effective and last the longest. It can be purchased locally and with full directions for mixing and use. It is necessary to spray thoroughly and often, especially during warm weather, if the mites are to be kept from annoying the fowls.

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. F. J. Stebbins, druggist.—Adv.

Whenever it thunders and lightnings before the leaves come out in the spring the season is sure to be late and backward, says this weather prophet. It looks like he knew what he was talking about.

Someone has expressed the opinion that the letter "E" is the most unfortunate letter in the English alphabet, because it is always out of cash, forever in debt, never out of danger, and in hell all the time. For some reason he overlooked the good fortune of the letter, so we call attention to the fact that "E" is never in war, always in peace and never in prison. It is the beginning of existence, the commencement of ease and the end of trouble. Without it there would be no life, no heaven, no sleep and no eats. It is the center of honesty, makes love perfect, and without it there would be no League.

FATHER, DEAR FATHER, ETC.

The following is dedicated to a member of the Minnesota legislature who has a dear one waiting for him at home:

Husband, dear husband, come home to me now,
I'm scenting the odor of spring;
You've stayed long enough in the capitol there,
You're much safer under my wing.
The old horse is pawing the stable like mad,
The colt's in a terrible stew;
Old Holstein has had a pair of twin calves,
And the pigs are squealing for you.
Husband, dear husband, come home to me, dear,
It's time to be settin' the hens;
And something seems to be telling me, love,
You're not always seen with the men.
You've fixed up the pre-primary law, my dear,
And everything else seems fine;
But the corn is waiting to go in the ground,
For that old sweetheart of mine.
Husband, dear husband, come home to me, dear,
I've mended your old farm socks;
If we don't sell our wheat, we will surely be beat,
And the old farm will be on the rocks.
Come to your Nancy, honey, dear,
The bright lights will ruin your eyes.
They say you're jazzing and shimmying up there,
And I am, indeed, surprised.
Husband, dear husband, come home right away,
The lambs are skipping about;
The robins of spring are now on the wing,
And the 'taters are begiming to sprout.
The grass on the hills is getting quite green,
And the maples are running their sap.
I am getting the spring fever for you, dear,
I want to be held on your lap.
They say there is desperate flirtin' up there,
With widows and maids not a few;
But, dearie, how is it with you?

Firestone Prices on Fabric and Cord Passenger Car Tires and Tubes, also Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Will Advance May 1st

The postponement of this price revision is possible only because of our realization of the price danger in the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act which became effective November 1, 1922. We were fortunate in our rubber purchases before the Restriction Act increased the price of crude rubber 150%.

We have always endeavored to champion the cause of better made tires delivered at lowest cost to the tire user by economic manufacturing and distribution. And we are glad of the opportunity to give the car-owner the additional saving at this time.

Firestone Cords embody certain special processes which result in their producing mileage records, heretofore unheard-of in the industry. Among the more important of these superior methods are blending, tempering, air-bag cure and double gum-dipping.

Firestone Dealers are co-operating with us in our movement to supply your needs at present prices as long as their stock lasts and we have advised our dealers that we will supply them with additional tires this month only so far as our output will permit.

Mrs. L. Fevig of Detroit arrived on Monday to be a guest at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Barnett.

Some of the citizens of Erskine have strongly resented the fact that their representative in the state legislature has helped to wreck their consolidated school, and have condemned the above named representative in a resolution drawn up by the appeal committee. It does in truth seem strange that a legislator can find time to absent himself from important duties at the state capitol in order to go out and wreck an educational institution. Strange that such a man should be chairman of the committee on University and State Schools, and a member of the committee on Education.—McIntosh Times.

A runaway at Lancaster last week culminated at the print shop, and Editor Bjoraa, who was in the midst of a pleasant editorial dream when the crash occurred, has the following observation to make in the Herald: 'We were dreaming that it was resurrection day and the Angel Gabriel was blowing his trumpet and all our delinquent subscribers were coming in a mob, trying to get into the office to pay their long overdue subscriptions for fear that St. Peter might refuse them admission at the pearly gates. Just then we woke up to the sound of breaking glass and the snorting of a horse. Our dream was so vivid that at first we thought maybe that it was one of the subscribers that came mounted—in order to be the first in."

Mrs. M. D. Gillette and Mrs. J. E. Wilson left Monday for Spokane, Wash., where they will visit relatives and friends for a week or two.

Miss Ruth Lonson, teacher near Rosewood, visited relatives here Wednesday and returned to Rosewood on Thursday morning.

Mrs. C. Hodgson of Crookston arrived Monday to direct the play, "The Womanless Wedding," which is to be given by the Legion Auxiliary.

Mrs. J. C. Toms and Mrs. W. H. Kline left Thursday for East Grand Forks to attend the missionary convention of the Presbyterian church.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Griswold of Warroad spent Monday here enroute to St. Cloud, where they will visit with relatives.

Mrs. E. M. Bennes, Mrs. O. D. Ostby and Miss Maebelle Ostby left Monday for Minneapolis, where they will spend some time visiting.

The year and a half old son of Ben Hajicek of Hutchinson fell off a chair while he had a cup in his hand. The cup was broken and a sharp piece pierced the baby's eyeball. He is in a Minneapolis hospital where efforts are being made to save his sight.

Moose are protected indefinitely under the terms of the new game law, while deer may be killed only in even numbered years, which means that there will be no big game hunting this year. The migratory bird season opens on Sept. 16, and ducks may not be shot from the public highways. Permanent blinds are prohibited.

Gus Mahlke, living four miles east of Fairfax, had a very unfortunate experience. An agent for a hog powder and worm capsules stopped at his place and told him that some forty pigs which he had running about the farm, were wormy, and suggested that he dose them with worm capsules. He did so, but instead of getting the pigs to swallow the capsules they lodged in a pocket in the back of the throat. This happened because the gun used to give the capsules was shoved too far down the throat of the pig. In two days 21 pigs died and more will follow. In cutting the throat open it was found that the pills had dissolved and the throat and windpipe were "burned out."—Arlington Enterprise.

Must You Die Naturally to Lose Life on Railway?

Great Northern Establishes Record of Carrying 36,000,000 Passengers in Five Years—Not One Killed.

The Great Northern Railway has established a new record for safeguarding human life. The Hill line carried approximately 36,000,000 passengers in the last five years without killing a single soul.

National safety experts regard this as a remarkable demonstration of the effectiveness of the "Safety First" educational campaign which common carriers and public utility corporations have religiously conducted in recent years at no small financial cost.

C. L. LaFountaine, general safety supervisor of the Great Northern railway, attributes this unusual record of his road to improvements in safety devices, coupled with the growing carefulness of trainmen and the public itself. He says the newspapers of the country have been one of the greatest aiding factors in impressing the word "Caution" upon the public mind. "It is no wonder insurance companies double the death premium if a person is killed on a railway train," he says. "It would be a good safe competitive business proposition for them to treble it, in the face of present day safeguarding measures."

NINE REASONS FOR GOING TO CHURCH.

By Theodore Roosevelt.

1. In this actual world, a churchless community, a community where men have abandoned and scoffed at or ignored their religious needs, is a community on the rapid down grade.

2. Church work and church attendance mean the cultivation of the habit of feeling some responsibility for others.

3. There are enough holidays for most of us. Sundays differ from other holidays in the fact that there are fifty-two of them every year—therefore, on Sundays go to church.

4. Yes, I know all the excuses. I know that one can worship the Creator in a grove of trees or by a running brook, or in a man's own house just as well as in church. But I also know as a matter of cold fact the average man does not thus worship.

5. He may not hear a good sermon at church. He will hear a sermon by a good man who, with his good wife, is engaged all week in making hard lives a little easier.

6. He will listen to and take part in reading passages from the Bible. And if he is not familiar with the Bible, he has suffered a loss.

7. He will take part in singing some good hymns.

8. He will meet and nod or speak to good, quiet neighbors. He will come away feeling a little more charitably toward all the world, even toward those excessively foolish young men who regard church going as a soft performance.

9. I advocate a man's joining in church work for the sake of showing his faith by his work.

Quite a few disabled war veterans are purchasing land in Aitkin county. A large settlement located there last year and they have made quite a success of the chicken business. The settlement is called Veteransville and a small store was opened there last week by one of the veterans. Last week another tract of land was inspected by 100 veterans, but we have not learned whether or not they decided to locate.

While working with a power saw on his brother's farm, Arthur Bickel, 18 years old, of Northfield, threw a stick at a rabbit and accidentally got his right hand in the way of the saw. It was nearly severed but physicians are trying to save it.

DOES NOT REPLACE—IT ASSISTS THE GAS CARBURETOR

Did you ever notice on a damp lay or evening how much smoother your car runs, how much more pep and power it has? It is true of every make and size of car. This is due to moisture from the atmosphere which is drawn into the motor.

Water (H2O) under certain conditions decomposes ito its gases, Hydrogen and Oxygen. Hydrogen gas burns, increasing the power, while the Oxygen gas not only aids combustion but unites with the carbon in the gasoline vapor and passes out through the exhaust as a gas, thus keeping the spark plugs clean.

The moisture taken from the atmosphere on damp days is a very noticeable help, but the Automatic Steam Carburetor is Absolutely Guaranteed to increase the mileage you get from your gasoline 20 per cent to 40 per cent, and also to eliminate carbon. It adds pep to the motor—gives it more speed, more power. It doesn't replace the gasoline carburetor—it helps it.

It is a scientific device which should be placed on every automobile, truck or tractor. The Automatic Steam Carburetor manufactures live hot steam, which is automatically injected into the gasoline manifold in the proper proportion for every speed. It has received the endorsement of many universities, government officials, business institutions and motor EXPERTS.

In addition, more than a hundred thousand car owners are using it to cut down their gasoline bills and make their cars run smoother, produce more power, and eliminate carbon.

It is absolutely guaranteed to increase the mileage you get from your gasoline 20 per cent to 40 per cent.

To eliminate carbon.
To keep spark plugs clean.
To increase motor efficiency.
To increase both speed and power of motor with a smaller consumption of fuel.

FORD WILL NOT DO.

The main objections to Henry Ford are that he seems to know how to run a railroad.

He raised wages and tried to reduce freight rates.

He placed automobiles within the reach of the poor man.

He wants to take over the coal mines in order to reduce the price of coal to the consumer.

He has set the highest standard of wages attempted by any large business institution in the United States.

If elected he would fire about 75,000 useless government employes.

He might make the postoffice department a paying proposition.

He would cut off pork barrel appropriations.

He might clip the wings of the profiteers who are just now engaged in plundering the people of the United States under the plea that they are forced to do so because of the protective tariff.

He might seek the reduction of the army appropriation, which is the most inexcusable burden now being borne by the tax payers of the United States.

He might run the whole United States on a business basis, as other well conducted business is run, which would be a sad blow to the grafters of the country.

Therefore he is a dangerous man, not to be trusted with the job of being president of the United States.

BETTER TIMES COMING.

There was a refreshing note of optimism in the address delivered by E. G. Quamme, president of the Federal Farm Land Bank at the convention of the Minnesota Realty Association recently. He said that land values and farming conditions generally had reached rock bottom last October and were now on the up-curve and would continue to advance.

Mr. Quamme but expressed the conviction of all those who have given serious thought to the conditions affecting agriculture.

We, in the Red River Valley, both farmers and business men, have, in conjunction with agricultural sections all over the United States, been passing through three or four years of depression that has been most trying. Some have lost hope, a few have lost their farms, and there have been a few business failures. But none have lost faith in the Red River Valley as the most productive farming section of the nation.

And these four years have not been without their profitable lessons. They have taught us better systems of farming, more economical methods of conducting business and the need for closer co-operation in marketing our products, all of which will prove of value in the new day which is about to break.

The Times has no wish to set itself up as a prophet. It does not often make predictions for the future. But it believes it is safe in saying now that within the next two years the agricultural conditions in the Red River Valley will be on a firm and prosperous basis, and will remain so for many years to come.'

Manufacturing is now having its boom of inflated prices and big profits while agriculture has been going through its "winter of discontent." But the conditions are slowly reversing themselves and the cycle of higher priced farm products and renewed demand for farm land is to follow a smash in prices of manufactured articles due to the over-production which is now taking place. — Crookston Times.

TOWNLEY ADMITS FAILURE.

In a recent statement A. C. Townley frankly admits the failure of some of the state owned schemes tried in North Dakota. He states how he arrived at his conclusions in the following authorized interview:

"By experience. A good many years ago, the farmers in the northwest thought that they could improve their condition by going into business. They subscribed capital and set up local stores—small retail businesses. They struggled along, not very successfully, and some of them failed because the farmers who ran them were not adept at business. Then the idea was conceived that the reason these stores were not more successful was because they were not big enough, and so the farmers subscribed more capital and set themselves up in the wholesale business. But even that did not bring them efficient service, and the wholesale business was unsuccessful because it was controlled by men who had neither the time nor training to conduct it.

"Next someone proposed that the farmers ought to control the manufacture of their products, and the farmers were coerced into undertaking a meat packing and milling industry. Then the idea was advanced that all those previous units of business had been too small and that the power of the state must be utilized in the intermediate process between producer and consumer. That is where I came into it, and we organized politically in North Dakota, to get the power to put the theory into operation.

"We succeeded in getting control of the state government but the enterprise was not successful. We strove manfully, but I for one became convinced that there forces in the economic system more powerful than the state which make it impossible for state enterprises to succeed.

"But I maintain that it is unsound for farmers to try to conduct such a highly specialized industry as meat packing, for instance, where experience has shown that he is absolutely at sea regarding costs. Even in the retail stores nine times out of ten the farmers did not know what it was costing them to do business. They did not even know the costs of their primary business—farming.

"So I say, that each part in the service that goes to make up the economic system—production, transportation, distribution and financing—must be performed by specialists, and the farmer's specialty is product."

Our government gives us the distressing information that about 60,000 girls disappear under the stars and stripes annually. All these girls certainly do not disappear voluntarily. Most of them are deceived and lured away in some manner. It has been well established that there exists in our land of the free and the home of the brave a national organization, whose business is to secure girls for the White Slave traffic. It is also quite well established that this organization is tending strictly to business, and makes a study of ways and means of catching the girls. It is therefore no wonder that a great many girls are caught in the nets set in the large cities by this organization. Rescuers are working to counteract this evil, but they seem either not to be properly supported or properly organized to make much impression on their enemies. Yet, they rescue and save thousands—Chisago Press.

KINDNESS TO ANIMALS.

Last week was "kindness to animals week," and we almost overlooked the fact. For the purpose of directing attention to people who are habitually cruel to animals, such a week may serve some good purpose, but we contend that kindness to animals should not be confined to any day or week. A man who is cruel to animals will be cruel to human beings, even to the extent of abusing his wife and children. Just recall instances of men who are mean to their horses or dogs. Isn't it a fact that the children of such men have a frightened, hang-dog look on their faces?

Therefore, shun like you would a pest the men who are cruel to animals. They constitute the scum of the earth.

In his speech favoring the Babcock bond issue, Senator Sullivan of St. Cloud said he would rather "listen to the crowing of a rooster than to the croaking of a raven." Let that go double, senator. So would we. The bond issue has been defeated because of the ambitions of members of the legislature who construed a few unfriendly letters to mean wholesale opposition on the part of the farmers of the state. Few farmers who understand the proposal are against it, and the weak and timid who feared to stand by a thing they knew to be right because, forsooth, it might defeat them for office in the future, should and will be relegated to the scrap heap.

It is currently reported that a farm tenant who recently moved onto a farm which had been occupied by a man who spent considerable time making "moon" mysteriously lost all his hogs. Investigation disclosed the fact that the porkers died from the effects of moonshine mash, indicating that there are limits to the endurance of the porcine stomach.

The men of Thief River Falls are asked by the Community Girls to be their guests tomorrow evening at 6:30. How can any man refuse such an invitation and retain his self respect?

A legislature made up of men who have no intention of seeking re-election would doubtless prove to be exceedingly efficient in constructive effort.—North Branch Review.

The above paragraph by Elias Nordgren, former member of the legislature, contains a world of truth. The itch for office, the desire to remain in the limelight, accounts for much of the cowardice displayed in both branches of the law making body. A man may go there ever so well intentioned, but the desire to remain in public life gets him the minute he takes his seat. And right away he becomes an office seeker rather than a statesman. He backs and fills, stretches and contracts, is hot and cold, in the endeavor to please all his constituents. Net result: He pleases nobody.

The flogging to death of poor Martin Tabert in a Florida lumber camp almost causes one to wonder what our vaunted American civilization is coming to. We send missionaries to the cannibals of South Africa and seek to reform the heathen Chinese. We criticize butchers of Soviet Russia and heap abuse upon the Turks, while right under our nose a boy whose only offense was stealing a ride on a freight train, is flogged to death when too weak and sick to do the bidding of a cruel convict boss. Does it not seem that our own front yard offers ample opportunity for reform work on the part of those so engaged?

The recent decision of the supreme court of the United States declaring invalid the minimum wage law passed by congress in no way affects the validity of the Minnesota law. The supreme court of the United States has upheld the right of states to pass minimum wage laws.

A Grand Rapids man arrested for moonshining entered the novel defense that his wife used the finished product to wash her feet in. As an antidote for stinking feet we can understand how moonshine might become quite a household necessity.

Influence of Good Roads.

Associated with the extraordinarily rapid development of the automobile and the motor truck within the last few years has come a nation-wide awakening to the necessity of good roads. Incidentally, the building of good roads carries with it a standard of higher living, economic advancement, and growth in educational and other departments of life. The road which is almost impassable in summer because of deep sand, or quite impassable in winter because of unfathomable mud, is no longer countenanced if there seems to be the slightest possibility of bettering it. On the other hand, the well-built highway exercises an influence far more than economic upon the community through which it runs, lifting the people literally out of ruts of mental and social stagnation.

Average Citizen Neglect Business.

Wherever there is an apparent failure of democracy, nationally or otherwise, the cause of that failure can be traced to the ignorant or careless refusal of the average citizen to realize and to accept the responsibilities incumbent upon him. An analysis of the total vote cast at the last presidential election shows conclusively that the average citizen is not a citizen at the polls—not until and unless some self-appointed political leader steps on his toes. Then he emits a howl that may be heard from coast to coast. The average citizen has neglected his business. It's time he examined Webster's dictionary for a definition of that little-big word "think."

General George W. Goethals, who has been serving as New York state Fuel Administrator, indulges in some very cutting comments on the Interstate Commerce Commission, to whom he appealed for coal in behalf of the freezing people. He said: "This was the one body that had power to act for the people but it showed itself to be a purely political body and a haven for lame ducks. It did nothing to prevent cheating and gouging." General Goethals has always had a reputation as a man of vigorous action and business principles. Unless he puts the soft pedal on his personal opinions he may be classed as a "radical"—whatever that may be.

Science claims that every human being has two brains, one of which is never used during life. And in many of us the other is as good as new.

Campaign to Perfect Wool Pool Outlined

Series of Meetings in State Called For Week of April 23 to April 28.

Organization of Minnesota for the co-operative marketing of the 1923 wool clip started this week, under the auspices of the new wool marketing association, co-operating with the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and the State Department of Agriculture.

A series of meetings will be held next week in the northwest section of the state. Arrangements have been made for meetings at Hallock on April 23, at Warren on April 24, at Roseau on April 25, at Thief River Falls on April 26, at Crookston on April 27, and at Fergus Falls on April 28. Alex Huddleston of Wabasha, president of the state organization, and J. H. Hay, deputy State Commissioner of Agriculture, will be speakers. These meetings are to be followed by others, the schedule for which has not been completed.

ARBOR AND BIRD DAY.

Recognizing that the forests are essential to the states' industrial and commercial life, Governor J. A. O. Preus has issued a proclamation calling upon all citizens of the state to observe April 27 as Arbor and Bird Day by planting a tree, some shrubbery and flowers. The governor says that the people of Minnesota should heed the message of President Harding requesting that teachers, officers of public instruction, commercial and other associations, and the press, unite in thought and effort for the preservation of the nation's forests by holding appropriate exercises during the week of April 22.

"TIL SATERS"

The Norwegian comedy, "Til Saters," will be rendered by Thief River Falls home talent at the Auditorium on Wednesday evening, May 2. Several rehearsals have already taken place and the company is sparing no effort to make the play a success.

The members of the cast are all experienced actors, most of whom have taken part in the same play, so that it will be rendered in a high class manner. The purpose of the occasion is to raise funds with which to defray the expenses necessarily involved in taking care of the Scandinavian Sangerfest which will be held in this city the latter part of June.

In later issues of this paper more particulars will appear as to the individual actors and characters in the play.

St. Hilaire Editor Here.

Editor Gunstad of the St. Hilaire Spectator was in the city yesterday on business. He drove up with one of the St. Hilaire bankers. Mr. Gunstad says the road south is now in very fair condition, and no trouble was experienced except in a few isolated wet spots which will dry up in a day or two.

National Dairy Sales Agency Law Presented

Plans for the establishment of a national dairy products sales agency, to serve dairy farmers and co-operative organizations, were presented to a conference held last week at Chicago. Uniform quality, standard grades and trademarks are among the foremost objects sought. Aaron Sapiro, legal advisor to the conference, said that more than $500,000 worth of dairy products annually are marketed in an illogical manner. "Identity of quality butter, for instance," he said, "should not be lost in the process of marketing."

Thanks for the Weather.

The weather of the past few days has been all that could be desired. Unless all signs of the zodiac fail, the farmers will be seeding next week. The street cleaning squad got into action today and The Tribune desires to compliment them on the improved appearance of the city thoroughfares.

South America.

Very few people fully realize the great possibilities of South America. Great cities are being built up there that will rival New York and Chicago, backed up by a tremendously rich country. There is plenty of "raw" country there for hundreds of millions of people. Only 3,000,000 square miles of South America are explored and settled; while 4,500,000 square miles, comprising the richest part of the continent, are almost entirely unknown. The unexplored region, mostly located in Brazil, but including portions of all the other South American countries, is greater than the whole of Europe. Nearly the entire area is drained by the Amazon system, and ocean steamers can ascend the main stream for 2,200 miles. The interior is full of trees and tropical animal and vegetable life, and some day will yield immense riches to those who overcome the difficulties and develop the resources.

BOOST YOUR TOWN!

If you think your town's the best,
  Tell 'em so.
If you'd have her lead the rest,
  Help her grow.
When there's anything to do,
Let the fellows count on you;
You'll feel better when it's through,
  Don't you know.
If you're used to giving knocks,
  Change your style;
Throw bouquets instead of rocks
  For a while.
Let the other fellow roast—
Shun him as you would a ghost,
Meet his hammer with a boast
  And a smile. —Ex.

A citizen who maintained a pawnshop took out a fire insurance policy. The same day a blaze broke out that destroyed the building and its contents. The insurance company tried in vain to find sufficient grounds to refuse payment, and was obliged to content itself with the fololwing letter appended to the check: "Dear Sir: We note that your policy was issued at ten o'clock on Thursday morning and that the fire did not occur until three-thirty. Why this unseemly delay?"—Legion Weekly.

Reports compiled by the Playground and Recreation Association show that nearly $9,500,000 was spent in the United States last year on recreation. This year many of the larger cities have materially increase dtheir appropriations for this purpose, and hundreds of thousands of dollars have been donated in money or in land by individuals. Georgia's Whipping Boss

"I have seen Higginbotham beat five or six men in one night. One day he beat nearly every one of the men in the grading gang and there were more than twenty. Seems like when he got started he wouldn't know when to quit.

"One night when we were all lined up to be counted in before we went into the sleeping shack," Gardner continued, "Higginbotham called three of the men out of line and beat them. Then he called Martin (Tabert) out. Martin was so weak he could hardly answer loud enough to be heard and that made Higginbotham madder. He didn't move fast enough and Higginbotham leaned over and pulled his underclothes off him. We were all standing in line about twenty feet away and watched it, with a dozen guards standing over us.

"Captain Higginbotham began beating Martin (Tabert) and I counted eighty-six licks before he told him to get up," Gardner said. "Martin was too weak to get up quick enough to suit him and Higginbotham said, 'Oh, you haven't had enough,' and began licking him again. I didn't count the second time, but it must have been about the same number because it took as long. Higginbotham held his foot on Martin's neck while he beat him.

"Then he told him to get up. Higginbotham hit him over the head with the butt end of the whip and drove him back into the line, beating him all the time he was staggering toward the line.

"A couple of us fellows had to help him get into the sleeping shack. When he got his clothes off I saw his skin was all off his back, in one chunk from his back to his knees, with the blood running down. He tried to say something but his voice was too weak. He just fell over on his cot."

Gardner said Tabert tried to talk but the only thing he could understand was "water." He was trying to say something about "home," but "we couldn't make out what he said," Gardner declared.

The witness said the doctor did not come to see Tabert during the day and "we dared not ask for one," although they knew the boy was dying.

After Tabert died, Gardner said two negroes took the body away after wrapping it in a blanket. He didn't know where they took it.

EGG SALES PLAN TO COVER STATE

Commodity Marketing Agency on Be Based on Contracts With Producers.

A state-wide co-operative egg and poultry sales agency, designed to place the marketing of these products in Minnesota on a business basis, has been designed by a special committee of which J. S. Jones, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation, is chairman.

The plan, now ready for submission to farm organizations, provides a farmer-owned agency for the handling of both eggs and poultry, though for the present the marketing of eggs only will be undertaken.

The importance of the movement is indicated by the fact that last year, according to government figures, Minnesota hens, 13,212,000 in number, produced 722,988,000 eggs, which had an "on the farm" valuation of $20,484,000. "We have drafted a plan," said Mr. Jones, "that follows as closely as conditions in Minnesota will permit, the commodity marketing organizations of California and southern states. The whole scheme rests on a foundation made up of a contract between the association and the grower. Under its terms, a producer agrees to deliver to the association for assembling, grading and sale, all the eggs he will produce for three years. Fair cancellation privileges are provided."

The state will be divided into districts, according to delivery and marketing facilities. In each such district, as it is organized, there will be several delivery points—towns at which a farmer naturally delivers eggs and poultry. In most instances, these delivery points will be local co-operative creameries, though there are localities where inland stores must be used. From these local points products will be delivered to the district headquarters, where they will be graded and sold, under directions from the state office. The association will be organized under the new co-operative marketing law.

Organization of the state will begin in the rural sections, where shipping districts will be formed. When twenty of these districts are ready, steps toward the establishment of the central agency will be taken.

Interest in the egg marketing movement is developing rapidly, according to Mr. Jones. He has received inquiries from several eastern markets. One agency desired to enter into an agreement to take a car weekly and expressed a willingness to pay a premium for eggs graded as to size and color.

The first object of the association will be to supply commercial markets able to absorb car lots. Later, under the plan, it will be possible to serve markets desiring a special quality of eggs, marked as to date of production.

The committee which perfected the association is composed of Mr. Jones, C. L. McNelly, county agent in Dodge county, A. A. McPheeters, county agent in Rice county, Geo. W. Hagberg of Wadena, F. L. Farley of Caledonia, W. G. Boyle of Mora, and Wm. Harpel of Glencoe. In the formation of this plan, the committee had the advice of several persons who have made a study of the egg marketing plan, notably N. E. Chapman and W. J. Corwin of University Farm, St. Paul.

The state organization will have a close relation with the co-operative creameries, through contracts with such local organizations to handle the eggs at receiving points.

Grasshopper Cake.

The southern California Indian cooks used to prepare a dainty known as grasshopper cake. In this case, as in the famous recipe for cooking a hare, it was first catch the grasshoppers.

The Indians had various methods of doing this, but the most popular way and the one most characteristic of the humane and gentle disposition of these Indians, was as follows: Some thirty of forty of the Indians, armed with long, light sticks, would form a large circle around a convenient grasshopper pasture, where the insects lived by millions, and then, at a given signal, all would move slowly toward the common center, yelling and beating the grass with their sticks and driving their prey before them. When they had thus corralled up millions of the grasshoppers and crickets in a sufficiently small circle, they would set the grass all around this circle on fire. A quick blaze that lasted just long enough to burn off the wings and legs of the insects was the result of the fire. Every Indian now plunged into this scorched mass and gathered his individual supply of the dainty.

The insects thus captured were thoroughly dried and ground into a fine powder. Acorn flour was then mixed with this powder, a little water poured on the compound, and the whole stirred with a stick until the paste became of the right consistency. The "dough" thus made was baked into cakes.

Stews and soups were also made of this grasshopper flour, and were considered especially delicious by the Indians, the grasshoppers and crickets giving the stew or soup a rich creamy flavor not unlike that of butter, which was highly prized by the Indian epicures.

An old book by Edwin Bryant thus describes a similar dainty, as prepared by the Indians living near Great Salt Lake, Utah, in 1846 and 1847.

Bryant and his companions had gone into camp not far from the lake. They were in need of food and told some of the Indians, who had at once called to pay their respects and satisfy their curiosity, that they wished to trade for meat. The Indians replied that they had no meat. But, presently, "three females of middle age," to use Bryant's words, "made their appearance, bringing baskets containing a substance which, upon examination, was ascertained to be service berries, crushed to a jam, and mixed with pulverized grasshoppers and crickets.

"These Indians, in order to capture the insects with greater facility, dig a pit in the ground. They then make what hunters, for brevity of expression, call a surround—that is, they form a circle at a distance around this pit and drive the grasshoppers and crickets into it, when they are easily secured. After being killed, they are baked before the fire or dried in the sun and then pulverized between smooth stones. Prejudice aside," concludes Mr. Bryant, "I have tasted what are called delicacies less agreeable to the palate."

Now who'll be the first to revive this old American titbit?—Selected.

Disraeli may have been a cynic, but with very clear vision, he said: "Unless we bring man nearer to heaven, unless government becomes again divine, the insignificance of the human scheme must paralyze all effort."

Perfect Acting in "Trifling Women," Strong Photoplay

Rex Ingram Production to Be Shown at Lyceum Theatre Sunday and Monday is Highly Praised.

"Trifling Women," the latest Rex Ingram production for Metro, which will be seen at the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday, has proved to be an extraordinary photoplay, telling a dramatic story with all the Ingram attention to detail, remarkably well acted, beautifully set, and photographed with rare skill.

In the photoplay are seen the various factors which have contributed to the unique position which this gifted director holds in the motion picture world. Since his epochal production of "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse," he has made photoplays which ahve all borne the stamp of his genius. In the opinion of many who have seen the picture, "Trifling Women" surpasses anything he has hitherto accomplished.

Four of the players who helped make "The Prisoner of Zenda" the notable success that it was, are seen in this new photodrama. They are Lewis Stone, a wealthy Marquis, who marries a notorious siren, Zareda (played by Barbara La Marr); Ramon Novarro, the dashing Rupert of Hentzau, of "Zenda," now a handsome young soldier in love with Zareda; and Edward Connelly, the sterling actor who is seen as Ican's father, the Baron de Maupin, also enamored of Zareda. Pomeroy Cannon, the old Madariaga of "The Four Horsemen," is seen in another role, and others are Hughie Mack, Gene Pouyet, John George and Jesse Weldon. A remarkable bit of acting is furnished by Joe Martin, the intelligent ape.

Mr. Ingrams' dramatic story deals with the fatal power of the beautiful Zareda, a crystal gazer, for whose favor men conspire against each other. An aged Baron loves the siren, and when he discovers that his son Ivan is charmed by her, he packs him off to war. He next must rid Zareda of the presence of the wealthy Marquis Ferroni, but in the attempt to poison him he himself meets death. Zareda marries the Marquis for his money; and when Ivan returns, their interrupted affair is resumed. The husband is seriously wounded in an encounter with Ivan, and the lovers rejoice that he has been put out of the way. But he strangely comes back, his being revitalized by the desire for revenge. His wife and her lover meet death in a room in the Sorcerers' Tower, and, having accomplished his aim, the Marquis, too, expires.

Nothing that Mr. Ingram has done before can approach for dramatic thrill the smashing and terrific climax of this scene, where the lovers meet their death. The atmosphere which has been injected into the room is grewsome and awe-inspiring, a fitting background for the vivid action which takes place in it.

On complaint of the girl's mother, Mrs. Anna Jones of Zippel, her daughter Orma was brought to Baudette from the home of J. C. Laffin of Zippel Wednesday night by Deputy Sheriff Dundas and yesterday afternoon had a hearing before Judge Chilgren, who adjudged her a fit subject for the custody of the state. Mrs. Dundas left with her last night for the Girls' Industrial School at Sauk Center. The girl is nearly sixteen years old but has never had a real home or anybody to look after her properly. The county authorities have for some time been trying to devise ways to get the woman and several smaller children off the "keep" of the county, the mother and part of the children being Canadian citizens, and four smaller ones born in Zippel since they have been "shacking" in that vicinity, while the father put in most of his time in Canada and for the past two years has sent no support whatever for the family.—Baudette Region.

Sansby Bros. Drug Co.:

St. Paul, Minn. Will you please send at once $5.00 worth of your Sto-li-gal. Can truthfully say that my mother is in better condition than for five years. This will make $45 worth of your Sto-li-gal, and when mother began taking it she was in an awful condition, had pains in stomach and back, could not sleep or eat. We did not expect Sto-li-gal to benefit her inasmuch as the doctors said all they could do was to give her temporary relief. It has been five weeks now since mother has felt any distressing symptoms as heretofore, and we thank the Lord for your remedy, as it is through Him we received the knowledge of Sto-li-gal. I remain, yours truly, Mrs. J. E. McDonough, Barronet, Wis., Box 99. Thousands of sufferers everywhere have been relieved of stomach disorders by the use of Sto-li-gal, so don't delay. Go to your druggist at once and demand one box of Sto-li-gal, which will do wonders, and if directions are followed entire relief is usually obtained in attacks of gallstones, stomach ulcers, chronic appendicitis, torpid, lazy liver, indigestion, dyspepsia, gassy, sour stomach, heartburn, pains in stomach and back, dizziness, shortage of breath and habitual constipation. Sold by druggists everywhere, also sent direct on receipt of $1 by Sansby Bros. Drug Co., 800 University Ave., St. Paul, Minn. Circular sent free on request. Sold in Thief River Falls at Dr. Newell's drug store and Roy Lambert's drug store.—adv.

Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

Better Than Ever

There is an erroneous idea abroad. You hear it every day. "Gasoline is not as good as it used to be." The fact is that the Red Crown Gasoline you are getting today is an almost perfect fuel.

Perhaps there is no industry where progress has made such rapid strides as the refining of petroleum.

For example, we cite the Burton Process, developed and perfected in the laboratories of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). The Burton Process has enabled the refiner to bring gasoline to a point of efficiency hitherto unhoped for.

Red Crown Is Made by the Burton Process

Red Crown vaporizes to the last drop. There is no waste—it produces instant starting Winter or Summer — a quick get-away — a smooth running engine—tremendous sustained pulling power and racing speed if you want it.

AS OTHERS THINK

What I Learned at the Cheese Meeting.

Thief River Falls, April 17, 1923.

To the Editor:

A cheese factory in Thief River Falls is a past dream, so we together with the present board did not get a chance to commit crime. The jury, or rather creamery shareholders, returned a vote of two to one in favor of not spending hard earned money for something we do not know anything about, or rather cannot learn anything about.

We learned more truth at this cheese meeting, also out of the letter written in our Thief River Falls papers, than we realized, namely, that we few have no business to waste the earnings of others. Why this has been done in the past I do not know. It is not right now.

Any loss caused by cheese making would have to be borne by farmers hauling cream. More truth is that they haul cream in past, present and future and have been real supporters of our creamery. Therefore any loss caused by extra, special, unfit and poor cream mixed with first grade should be considered. Cream coming from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada and from the Atlantic to the Pacific coast, together with all extra help needed to handle this kind of cream, also special privileges of a few to sell milk and skimmed is paid for by us also.

We learned that skim milk should be fed to animals on farms to get the best results. Some of us do not only say so, but we do it. That is more than some of the intensified dairymen can say of the past.

Now that we cheese boys know where we stand, and as real creamery supporters know what is right, namely, that we must not get separated, but avoid getting hung all together.

Let's unite with our creamery board. Let also the old board work with them like true brothers. Give favors to none, ask for none.

Cut out criminal squandering of money for a few milk haulers, because it is not fair play. Why not give milk haulers' calves, chickens and pigs the same chance as our pigs, etc. When this is done, justice will be done our cattle.

We farmers have learned the first lesson of justice. The next step is justice to the people. By this I mean, play the game of life fair and square, treating others like you wish them to treat you. Work hand in hand—not in mouth, but in action. 'Live and let live." Let milk dealers live, too.

We farmers must learn that we must support our creamery with first class sweet cream, so we can produce first grade cream and butter for the market. Thief River Falls has stayed with us farmers; therefore let us offer the best we have. They pay for our product when we are organized, for example, the creamery.

If you milk cows, work with your creamery. You are bound to be the gainer in the end.

Yours respectfully.
HENRY OEN.

P. S.—Cheese boosters came close to committing a crime, and if found guilty, might have been hung. Milk haulers to be tried next.

Thief River Falls, April 17, 1923.

To the Editor:

I have read all kinds of farm papers, etc., and all the dawgone advice that Wall street, etc., have given us on how to run our farms and whatnot other "nutty" ideas. The Messrs. Mosher and Mitchell proved themselves "boneheads" when they traveled from their easy chair offices to the farming communities. They told all of us to plant flax and they said that it would grow on any land. Their advice was as foolish as trying to plant corn in the Sahara desert or to plant wheat on the Atlantic ocean. Naturally, flax will grow on only new land and not any farther than two years after breaking. I will gladly let Mr. Mosher and his associates use one acre of three-year-old stubble land that had a rotation of flax, wheat and oats. On this stubble I challenge him to sow it to flax and show all of us farmers that flax would grow like he said it would. I assure you and everybody that Mr. Mosher and Mr. Mitchell will be so disgusted with the result that they will vamoose right back to their offices and put a double guard around their desks to keep us from laughing at them.

Again Mr. Mosher spoke at a farmer-banker meeting at Crookston and Duluth recently, and he opposed more credit to the farmers, and price fixing. He is opposed to that because he is not a farmer and does not know the difference between a horse and a cow. Neither does he know why he is opposed to it. If Mr. Mosher will kindly calm down and place himself in the farmer's position he will easily know just why we farmers want more credit and a lower rate of interest, and a fair price for our products so as not to be at the mercy of the speculators. If the manufacturer and the grocer and the miller, etc., demand a certain price for their staple articles, why, then, for reason's sake, can't we farmers demand a certain price for our wheat, etc., instead of being dictated to by others who insist on setting the prices of the farmer's products.

I personally recommend that we farmers all chip in and order a loving cup with this inscription on it:

"Bonehead Trophy; won by Messrs. Mosher and Mitchell; presented by the farmers of the Northwest."

We will also challenge Mr. Mosher and Mr. Mitchell to debate with Mr. Halvorson of Minot, Mr. Brown of Thief River Falls, and myself of Thief River Falls, the debate to take place any place, any time. (Free-for-all fight allowed if it gets too boisterous.) As that makes it two to three, I will let Mr. Quamme of the Federal Land Bank side with the two "fatheads" of flax fame. Anyway the Federal Land Bank is of no benefit to the agricultural industry except to criminally swipe the taxpayers' money, which is unfair to do. I humbly beg the public that reads this to calmly think it over.

Yours truly,
AN AGRICULTURIST.

P. S.—The "Eat More Wheat" scheme will benefit only the millers, who gyp the farmers. The celebrated millers, like Mr. Pillsbury, Mr. Bell and Mr. Washburn, got rich robbing the growers and the consumers.

ROSEWOOD

Breaks Thigh Bone in Fall.

Mrs. E. P. Johnson met with a very serious and painful accident Thursday afternoon when she slipped on the icy road outside the Hanson & Barzen lumber yard and fell in such a manner as to break the thigh bone slightly below the hip. Dr. Bowers of Thief River Falls was summoned and the patient was given the best care possible. It will be several months, however, before Mrs. Johnson will be able to leave her bed. It was an unfortunate accident and Mrs. Johnson has the sympathy of her neighbors and friends.

Parochial School to Open.

A three weeks session of combination Norwegian and American parochial school will open at Rosebank on Monday morning, April 23, with Miss Constance Aakre of Goodridge as instructor. Parochial subjects will be taken up in both languages and parents are invited to send children below confirmation age to enroll in the classes. A three weeks session by the same teacher will be conducted at the Busy Bee school immediately following the term at Rosebank.

Sorenson-Olson.

Miss Ida Sorenson of this place was last Thursday united in marriage to Ludwig Olson of Wales, N. D. The ceremony took place at Warren, the bride being accompanied from this place by her sister Emma and her brother Selmer. The newlyweds arrived here the same evening for a brief visit at the parental home of the bride and will leave later for Wales, where they will go to housekeeping on the groom's farm.

Mrs. Julia Axelson at her home last Saturday evening was hostess to a number of young people at a very pleasant social gathering. The evening was passed in music, conversation and other social pastimes, and terminated with a light lunch. There were ten guests.

Miss Inga Westby of Duluth arrived Friday for an indefinite visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Westby.

Mrs. Morris Halvorson and daughter Oliveen of Viking came Saturday evening for a few days' visit with the former's father, J. E. Hellquist.

Mrs. Carl Bloom went to Thief River Falls last Monday evening to shop and visit relatives for a couple of days.

The new hardware store building will be completed this week and a moderate stock of shelf hardware and repairs will be shipped in at once. Machinery will not be taken up until later in the season, except on special orders. The doors will be open for business as soon as the stock arrives. John Sagmoen will be in charge.

Steiner Johnson returned Thursday morning from a week's visit with relatives at Fosston. He left the same evening for a business trip to Thief River Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sagmoen and daughter Verna left Tuesday evening for Thief River Falls, where they will spend a couple of days to visit at the H. Ostrom home. They will also have some dental work done.

The following have made business trips to Thief River Falls this week, making the trip by team: Sigurd Raftesth, A. M. Gullseth, Oscar Vixie, John Remmem, L. L. Furan, and John and Helmer Bloom.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of One Thousand Seventy-one and 66-100 ($1,071.66) Dollars, which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by Theodore Bjorge, a single man, Mortgagor, to First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, bearing date the 31st day of December, 1918, and with a power of sale therein contained; duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 18th day of January, 1919, at 4:30 o'clock P. M., in Book 12 of Mortgages, on page 477.

Which said Mortgage, together with the debt secured thereby, was duly assigned by said First and Peoples State Bank, Mortgagee, to George Pockelwald by written assignment dated the 31st day of January, 1919, and recorded in the office of said Register of Deeds, on the 10th day of February, 1919, at 9 o'clock A. M., in Book 63 of Mortgages, on page 43; and no action or proceeding having been instituted, at law or otherwise, to recover the debt secured by said Mortgage or any part thereof;

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said Mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, viz:

Northeast Quarter (NE¼) of Section Fifteen (15), Township One Hundred Fifty-four (154), Range Forty (40), containing one hundred sixty acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey thereof, in Pennington County and State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of said Pennington County at the front door of the Court House, in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 7th day of May, 1923, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, at public vendue, to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1,071.66 and interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and Fifty and 00-100 Dollars, Attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said Mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Hugh Walpole believes that more men would read novels if their wives took vacations oftener. We are glad that men find wives more attractive than novels. But, as novels go now, this is not in itself a very high tribute to women.

WINTER SHOWS APPROVED BY MEETING OF LOCAL BUSINESS MEN

Organization to Carry Forward Big Exposition of Livestock to Be Completed Tonight at Commercial Club Rooms.

There was no mistaking the sentiment of Thief River Falls business men with reference to the Winter Shows program discussed informally last Thursday evening at the regular meeting of the Commercial Club. They are all for it, not in a halting, indifferent manner, but with enthusiasm which always spells success for any undertaking.

When the proposition was advanced at the club meeting Thursday evening by the committee selected at a former meeting, namely Messrs. McFarland, Dave Gustafson and Olaf Neset, some misgivings were expressed as to suitable quarters, etc., but it developed that the city is really better equipped in this respect than many of the towns which have carried out the winter show idea in the past—and with that question settled, the sentiment was all one way.

In accordance with the sentiment expressed, a meeting of all interested will be held this evening at the Commercial Club rooms, when plans will be discussed and an effort made to perfect a permanent organization.

The Tribune is glad to note this show of spirit on the part of the city's business men. The finances will be forthcoming, and the city has the advantage of local herds which go to make up the major attraction at the winter shows. Our railroad facilities are unsurpassed and there is every reason to expect that the first show to be held during the coming winter will fully demonstrate the wisdom of the movement so auspiciously started.

Farmer's Buggy Smashed By Auto on City Street

As the result of an accident in which E. O. Green, farmer residing west of the city, had two wheels and the pole of his buggy smashed when he was run into by an automobile late Wednesday evening near the Korstad grocery on Knight avenue, Mr. Green swore out a warrant against Richard Prestebak, proprietor of the Park Hotel, whom he charged with driving a car without lights.

The latter demanded a jury trial when the case came before Judge N. W. Tarrant Thursday morning. J. M. Bishop appeared for Prestebak and County Attorney Quale for the prosecution. The jury returned a verdict of guilty and the judge assessed Prestebak $25 and costs, amounting to $44.56. A notice of appeal to the district court has been filed.

Smiley Farmer Loses Hand in Circular Saw Accident

Leon Lendabeja, who resides in Smiley township, lost his right hand last Thursday while operating a circular saw rig. Lendabeja was cutting out eveners from hardwood timber when his hand slipped into the saw, completely severing the member just below the wrist.

He suffered greatly from loss of blood and has been in a bad way at the Physicians hospital, where he was taken by Dr. Froehlich shortly after the accident. It was stated today that he would recover unless complications set in.

R. M. Sheldon and Family to Leave City on May 15th

It was announced this week that Ralph M. Sheldon, cashier of the First and Peoples Bank of this city, would leave Thief River Falls in the near future to take a position in Minneapolis with the banking firm of Sheldon Bros. & Company. Mr. Sheldon informs The Tribune that the change will take place about May 15. His residence on Riverside avenue was disposed of last week to W. H. Mulry of this city.

Mr. Sheldon has been associated with the First and Peoples for a number of years and is deservedly popular with the patrons of the institution. He and Mrs. Sheldon have been active in the affairs of many civic and social organizations in the city and their removal is a distinct loss to the city.

"Womanless Wedding" Proves Great Success

"A Womanless Wedding," home talent play presented at the Auditorium last evening under the direction of the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion, drew a capacity house. The cast was unusually large, more than 70 people taking part in the production. A lack of time and space prevents The Tribune from any lengthy mention of the various characters, but we are informed that the presentation brought into bold relief thespian talent of a high order.

From mother-in-law to flower girls, including the flustrated groom and the blushing bride, not to mention the beautiful bridesmaids, the wedding was a scream from start to finish. The music was fine and the dancing superb, every line and action reflecting credit upon both actors and directors.

Roads to Chicago Are Bad Says Pete Morse in Letter

Local Ball Player Drives His Car to Windy City, Arriving There in Good Trim.

Pete Morse is on the trek again. He left Thief River Falls several weeks ago with no definite destination in mind, but in a letter to The Tribune, received yesterday, he announces his arrival in Chicago, where he arrived last Friday after a strenuous drive from the twin cities. "The roads were tough," he states.

"The Cubs are going good," he observes, from which we take it that Pete still keeps up his interest in the great American game. He is now at 4503 East Ravenwood, where he undoubtedly intends to camp for the summer. Mr. Morse was accompanied by his family on the drive to Chicago.

Steers Sell High.

The Tribune is informed that John P. Benitt, who resides near Holt, recently disposed of two Holstein steers at a fancy price, receiving for the two animals $220. The steers were two and a half years old and were fattened principally on ensilage, being fed corn for only a few weeks during the finishing process. The record is rather remarkable since Holstein cattle are not generally regarded as good beef stock, but it is explained that the two animals sold by Mr. Benitt were of exceptionally good stock.

According to a South American representative of the Firestone Co., gasoline costs an average of one dollar per gallon in the tropics and it may not be entirely free from adulteration at that, gas stations such as we know in America being unknown.

J. H. HAY TO ADDRESS BUSINESS MEN AT CLUB ROOMS THURSDAY

Prof. J. H. Hay of the State Department of Agriculture has accepted an invitation to address the Commercial Club of the city tomorrow noon. It is expected that a number of farmers will be asked to attend the luncheon tomorrow.

Following the noon luncheon at the club the wool growers of the county will hold a meeting for the purpose of organizing a co-operative marketing pool, and Mr. Hay will also address this meeting. He addressed a similar meeting at Hallock yesterday and will conduct other meetings of wool growers in the Red River valley before returning to St. Paul.

Ella Swenson, Victim of Erie Fire, Suffers Greatly

Skin Grafting May Be Resorted to in Effort to Save Right Arm, According to Doctors.

It was reported yesterday that Miss Ella Swenson, who was seriously burned about the body in the fire which destroyed the Aubol store at Erie, is suffering greatly from the burns she received when she assisted in saving the Aubol children from the fire.

Dr. Froehlich informed The Tribune yesterday that her right arm was so severely burned that skin grafting may be necessary to save the member. Friends and relatives have volunteered to submit to the operation in case such an ordeal becomes imperative.

PROCLAMATION

Our entire city can and should be made as clean and orderly as its cleanest home. Then we will have a cleaner, happier and healthier city. Let us ever keep in mind this worth-while slogan, "A Bigger and Better Thief River Falls."

As mayor, and with the hearty approval of many farseeing and zealous citizens, I am in this manner asking each and every resident to do his or her part in a general clean-up and beautifying campaign, and, by the authority vested in me, as mayor, I hereby proclaim the week of April 30 to May 5 as a

GENERAL CLEAN-UP WEEK

No worthy request has ever been made of the people of Thief River Falls that has not met with the splendid co-operation of its citizens, and, believing that now is the time to commence a general beautifying campaign of the city, I beseech each and every one to do at least some one thing with the object in view of making our city more attractive. Clean up a corner and remove an unsightly appearance, plant a few flowers, a fruit tree perhaps, a few shrubs or a shade tree, here and there.

Let every organization in our city, which has the best interests of the city at heart, give this matter a few moments' consideration. Let every resident do his or her part both as individuals and as members of such civic organizations as they may represent. By doing so we shall soon have commenced a beautifying campaign which will prove lasting and beneficial to all.

JOHN BRATRUD, Mayor.

Last of "Close In" Lots to Be Sold at Auction

Bishop's Big Sale Embraces Remainder of Original Townsite Lots.

Wonderful Opportunity For Home Builders to Secure Desirable Sites.

The big lot sale to be conducted in this city next Monday afternoon, when J. M. Bishop will dispose of the remainder of the lots held by him since the days when Thief River Falls was without modern improvements of any kind, is creating much interest. The auction will commence promptly at 1 o'clock and will be in charge of the Baird Auctioneering Company of Minneapolis. Music will be rendered for the occasion by the City Band.

When the deal was made for these lots less than 20 years ago, this city was without city water or sewers. The Soo railway had not even been projected, and the only railroad facilities then enjoyed my this city consisted of a combination freight and passenger which reached here periodically out of Crookston.

The Red Lake reservation had not been opened, and the north end of the then struggling little village was located upon Indian land. The city was not a county seat and had no high school.

Much of the property in the original townsite was sold in 1914 when all modern improvements had been made, and many of the city's most pretentious homes are located upon these lots. Since that time further improvements have been added by the city and an unusual opportunity is now presented to home builders to secure a desirable home site. Full particulars regarding the big sale will be found in the large announcement on another page of The Tribune.

Weeks Family Has Many Valedictorians of Classes

Three Graduating Classes Since 1916 Headed by Children of J. J. Weeks of This City.

The selection of Miss Pearl Weeks, member of the graduating class of Thief River High '23, as class valedictorian, recalls the fact that she is the third member of her family to be thus honored.

Her brother, Milton Weeks, presented the valedictory of the class of '16. He is now a student at the Luther Theological Seminary at St. Paul, from which institution he will graduate this fall.

Miss Helen Weeks, whose work as a Chinese missionary is mentioned elsewhere in this issue of The Tribune, graduated at the head of the class of '17.

It is a record to be proud of, and we doubt if any other city of its size in the country can claim any one family with so many valedictorians.

Miss Josie Weeks, another member of the family, graduated with high honors from the local high school and is making good as a member of the teaching staff at the present time.

It is a pleasure to record such achievements, and it goes without saying that the numerous friends of the family who have followed their careers, are justly proud of their accomplishments.

Court in Session.

Judge Grindeland is holding an adjourned term of district court here this week to dispose of a number of court cases which went over at the winter term. Among them is a ditch proceeding from the town of Plain, Marshall county, involving a small drainage ditch. Attorneys are here from Red Lake Falls and Warren.

The butcher may not strike you as overly jolly, but you'll have to admit that he does quite a bit of cutting up.

Postoffice Alley Paving Assured by Council Action

Building Permit Granted to Albert Thoreson for Residence to Cost $4,500.

Probably the most important action of the city council last evening was the granting of a hearing upon a petition to pave the alley between second and Third streets, known as "Postoffice Alley." This popular thoroughfare has been almost impassable all spring and a petition signed by every property owner except one induced the council to act.

The report of Engineer Thomas, hired to make a survey of the dam situation, was filed this week but was not presented to the council last evening. Details of the examination will be published in a future issue.

A building permit was granted to Albert W. Thoreson for the construction of a $4,500 frame residence on lot 2, block 5, Oakland addition, being on Main avenue beyond Ninth street.

The council voted down a request for a soft drink license to Carlot Prestebak, new owner of the O. W. Carlson establishment on LaBree avenue. This license was formerly granted by the council but vetoed by Mayor Bratrud.

A soft drink license was issued to Andrew Bottelson, and a pool and billiard license issued to Dahl & Dahl, located on Main avenue. A plumber's license was issued to Ed. Lee.

Pennington County Cows Sought By Dairy Men

Carload of Grade Holsteins Recently Disposed of to Lisbon, North Dakota, Breeder.

The recent purchase of a carload of dairy cows locally indicates that the dairy center of Minnesota has moved up a notch—and is now located near Thief River Falls instead of at Northfield as has heretofore been the case. This conclusion is arrived at from the fact that when F. B. Kraling of Lisbon, N. D., recently started out to increase his herd of dairy cattle, he shopped all over the state but finally found the right kind of stock in the vicinity of this city.

He purchased a full carload of high grade Holstein cows, twenty animals in all, at an average price of $100. The men from whom these cows were purchased are among the best livestock breeders in Pennington county and Mr. Kraling is to be congratulated upon securing such fine breeding stock.

Among those who disposed of cows to Mr. Kraling are M. T. McFarland, Waldie Christenson, Hans Anton and V. C. Noper.

Ry. Postal Clerks Exam.

A government examination for positions as postal clerks will take place at the postoffice in this city on May 26. Any person desiring to take this examination may secure further particulars by applying at the postoffice.

Commissioners to Meet.

It was announced yesterday by T. P. Anderson, county auditor, that the board of county commissioners would meet at the court house to consider road petitions and other business to come before the meeting.

FORD RAN AWAY

Leo Hennen had a narrow escape from a serious accident while in town Wednesday morning. While in the act of cranking his car, it suddenly leaped forward, knocked him down and climbed the concrete walk in the rear of the Big Store, butting squarely against the brick wall. Mr. Hennen's right arm was badly bruised from the wrist to the elbow.—Minneota Mascot.

HELEN WEEKS, THIEF RIVER FALLS MISSIONARY, TEACHER OF CHINESE

Thief River Falls Girl to Continue Work in Province of Honan, the Bandit District of China.

Miss Helen Weeks, who left this city last year to take up missionary work in China under the direction of the Lutheran church, recently graduated with high honors from the Chinese language school at Peking, China, completing the ordinary year's course in six months.

She has now been engaged to teach in a girls school at Sin Yang Chow, a town located in the province of Honan, the terror district of China, a district known to the outside world as the stamping ground of roving bands of Chinese bandits whose depredations have caused the Chinese authorities worlds of trouble, and which have in several instances almost plunged the government into international complications because of the torturing and killing of foreign missionaries. In addition to her school work, Miss Weeks has charge of the local Y. W. C. A. where she regularly conducts religeous services, as well as carrying on evangelistic work in the outlying districts.

That Miss Weeks should make good in her chosen field of endeavor occasions no surprise in Thief River Falls, the young lady having demonstrated during her school work in this city her capacity for hard work and application. Her letters to the home folks are most optimistic, expressing an interest in her work which indicates a purpose of remaining for a continued period of time in the Chinese missionary field.

M. E. Ladies' Aid.

The Ladies' Aid of the M. E. church will meet at the basemet of the church Wedesday afteroon, May 2, at 3:30, and will be entertained by Mesdames Ole Ihle, Leach and T. Chittick. A business meeting of the aid will be held the same afternoon beginning at 2 o'clock.

Woman's Club to Hear Prof. McCall Monday

The public is asked to attend the monthly meeting of the Woman's Club which will be held Monday evening, April 30, at the quarters of the Girls' Community Club, when Prof. McCall of the Northwest College of Agriculture will be the principal speaker.

Prof. McCall, an authority upon all agricultural subjects, will speak on the selection, planting, fertilizing and pruning of trees and shrubs, as well as dealing with the subject of gardening. It is a timely theme, inasmuch as this is the season when thoughts of young and old revert to the idea of beautifying premises and starting the garden. No doubt much useful knowledge may be gained from the address of Prof. McCall and all garden fans and those interested in the general subject of horticulture should be on hand to hear his address.

The Woman's Club is to be congratulated upon their interest in the subject of gardening and the planting of shrubs and trees for the yards of Thief River Falls, and it is to be hoped that a large number will take advantage of their program Monday evening.

St. Paul Postmaster Lauded

Among the good fellowship resolutions adopted by the legislature on the last day of its session, was one out of the usual order, thanking Charles J. Moos, a popular St. Cloud boy, and now postmaster of St. Paul, for "the highly efficient service rendered to this house and individual members," during the session. Mr. Moos is credited with being the most efficient postmaster in the history of St. Paul, and to gain the appreciation of the legislature is confirmation of that testimony.—St. Cloud Journal-Press.

"TIL SAETERS" BY HOME TALENT PRESENTS NOVEL SITUATIONS

To Be Presented at Auditorium Wednesday Evening, May 2d, for Benefit of Sangerfest Fund.

This performance promises to be one of the big events of the spring months. Rehearsals are being held several times every week and the work is nearing perfection.

The cast of characters is as follows:

Ragnhild, Miss Caroline Melby; Sigrid, Mrs. Clara Backe Loveid; Asmund, R. Prytz; Skoleholderen, J. Borry; Students: Nordahl, Dr. P. L. Vistaunet; Stenby, Dreng Bjornaraa; Bush, E. P. Burstad; Halvor, B. Dan Bjorkman; Per, Carl Angell.

The play is built around the love affair between Ragnhild and Asmund, which the school teacher tries to break up, interspersed by the appearance of the traveling students who are out for a pleasure trip and adventure, also by the friendly rivalry between Halvor and Per, who are both in love with Ragnhild's sister, Sigrid.

Mr. Borry is particularly fitted for "Skoleholderen" and his ability to portray the erratic and sagacious schoolmaster, who is in love with Ragnhild, displays high class histrionic ability.

Mr. Prytz in the character of Asmund, honest and capable young man who is in love with Ragnhild, has the faculty of drawing the sympathy of the audience and delineates his part with a finish that will please all. His ability in this regard together with his accomplishment as a vocalist adapts him to that position in the play.

Dr. Vistaunet, who carries the principal dialogue of the three students, knows his part well and injects comedy into many situations. The pretty melodies which he renders carry with them an air of brightness and cheer.

Dreng Bjornaraa, as Stenby, is the first to discover that the schoolmaster, who has been shut up in a stable, is a fraud, and Dreng's disposition to recite poetry indicates that his trend of mind is carrying him toward the emotional, usual to young men of his age. He appears well on the stage and adds much to the cast.

E. P. Burstad as Busk makes much of his minor yet difficult part, many of his lines being of such a nature that the slightest inflection may change the meaning of his speech. He is a faithful worker and does his part well.

The exultant farmer boy "Halvor" is particularly well imitated by B. Dan Bjorkman, who knows how to act and is not ashamed to show it. He treats his pal "Per" rather roughly because they are both in love with Sigrid, the sweet and vivacious sister of Ragnhild, who is light hearted. She speaks distinctly and sings beautifully, does Mrs. Clara Backe Loveid; she dislikes the schoolmaster and does not reciprocate the affection of either Halvor or Per, and it does not appear where her affections are centered. She is particularly adapted to the part and her stage presence is comforting and her acting shows a finish displayed by few amateurs.

Carl Angell as Per is in keeping with his natural personality and displays a shrewdness even in the attempt to bargain for a sweetheart, at the same time disclosing that Halvor (his friend) is willing to barter away his affections.

The part of Ragnhild is particularly well taken by Miss Carolyn Melby, over whom rivalry exists between the schoolmaster and Asmund. She however shows a strong preference for the sturdy Asmund and they are left happy and singing at the conclusion of the play.

The cast is particularly well balanced and under the capable direction of Mr. Borry the stage work is splendid, and will afford entertainment whether you understand the words or not. The costumes are being prepared and will be in keeping with the usages and customs of the times when the play was written.

It is to be expected that the auditorium will be filled as the proceeds will go toward defraying the expenses of the Sangerfest which will be held in Thief River Falls on June 22, 23 and 24.

Miss Doris Halvorson to Present Piano Recital

CAPPER-TINCHER LAW HELD VALID

Supreme Court Decision on Futures Trading Act Farmers' Greatest Victory

The Capper-Tincher law, regulating grain exchanges and providing for the entrance into these organizations of farmer selling agencies paying a patronage dividend, was declared constitutional by the U. S. Supreme Court in a decision handed down Monday.

This was the second time the bill was before the court. The first time, it was held invalid because of a certain tax features, which the court said the federal government did not have power to regulate. The bill, including all major features, was repassed and based on the government's power to regulate interstate commerce.

"The decision is the cap-stone, of victory for years of effort on the part of farm organizations," said J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. "For years they have been asking for equal opportunity in marketing their own products; actual products grown by themselves. It will go a long way toward establishing prices on a real basis, as they should be under a free operation of the law of supply and demand.

"The law itself is the most forward piece of legislation ever enacted governing the marketing of farm products. It will correct many of the evils of which complaint has been made and will prevent the dealing in phantom products which heretofore has been practiced by Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade to the detriment of the marketing of the farmers' products and which was claimed by dealers to be necessary to the maintenance of their business. It simply brings back the application of common honesty rather than speculation or guess as to what prices should be, always considered from the viewpoint of the speculator as to whether he wanted prices up or down."

SEEDING DATES

The Elbow Lake Herald says an interesting record of wheat seeding dates was kept by Ole O. Sand during his lifetime. The records go back to the year 1892 and give the date of seeding wheat for each subsequent year until the time of his death. During the past two years Olof Fjoslien, who has been running the farm for the estate has kept up the record. The record is posted on the granary wall.

It is a very interesting record and shows that this is not the only late spring. In fact the average date for seeding wheat during the period of thirty-one years, was April 17. The earliest date on which Mr. Sand seeded during these years was in 1905 when he planted wheat on the 28th of March. In 1895 he planted wheat on March 30. The latest planting date is in 1893, thirty years ago, when he seeded wheat on May 4. In sixteen of the thirty-one years for which a record was kept, the seeding date was April 15 or later.

The average seeding dates in Pennington county is probably a few days later than in Grant county, and yet as a basis for comparison the record kept by Mr. Sand is extremely interesting. It goes to indicate that the present season, deemed by many to be unusually backward, is a matter of fact, an average one.

1892	April 18	1908	April 10
1893	May 4	1909	April 17
1894	April 23	1910	April 11
1895	March 30	1911	April 15
1896	April 20	1912	April 8
1897	April 20	1913	April 4
1898	April 9	1914	April 16
1899	April 12	1915	April 12
1900	April 6	1916	April 4
1901	April 10	1917	April 20
1902	April 3	1918	April 3
1903	April 13	1919	April 15
1904	April 20	1920	April 16
1905	April 28	1921	April 13
1906	April 22	1922	April 17
1907	April 22	Av.	April 17

What Makes Happiness?

Not long since, we visited a cemetery and saw a tall and costly monument glistening in the sunlight. We knew the man who sleeps beneath it, and we wonder if in the world beyond the stars he found happiness. He certainly did not do so this side of the meridian. He gave his strength in the chase of gold. His schemes by day and dreams by night were how he could increase his harvest. He never saw the powerful face of the widow want nor heard the plaintive voice of childish hunger. Birds sang gaily in the tree tops, innocent flowers wafted their perfume to him and the sunlight danced across his path, but he noticed nothing. The only music he heard was the jingle of the gold as it dropped into his coffers. In the flush of his conquest and power he was striken down and now sleeps on the hill with the poorest. He left behind no legacy of kindly deeds, no aching heart for a friend who was gone. His gold has brought for him a monument of gold and pulseless granite that defies the sobs of humanity. In the democracy of the grave there is no caste and we say that this man wasted his life as much as the rum soaked pauper who sleeps in the potters' field a stone's throw away.—Ex.

Deadly Turkey Disease Is Traced to Chickens

Recent research indicates that chickens and turkeys—especially turkeys—will not thrive when raised together within comparatively close quarters and small field range. It has been found that blackhead, which is said by investigators to be responsible for 90 per cent of losses among growing turkeys, may be produced in the poults by feeding them the eggs of a small worm found in the blind gut of chickens. The germ which causes blackhead may and does live in the eggs of the common intestinal worm of hens.

"Even turkeys sick with blackhead are not so dangerous to their kind," says Dr. W. A. Billings, of the agricultural staff, University of Minnesota, "as are common hens or the soil on which the hens are raised. The turkeys should be hatched and raised where they will not come in contact with chickens or chicken yards, for it is possible to produce blackhead in chickens by simply feeding them contaminated soil from a hen yard."

Damp weather and early morning dews do not cause blackhead, according to investigators. This upset a theory long maintained by some poultry men. In order to contract the disease the turkeys must get the germ, and the fact is established that they often do get it by eating the eggs of the chicken intestinal worm. Dr. Billings says the way to raise turkeys successfully is to protect them from infection which they get from chickens andchickenyards.

CARS WORTH $100,000,000 STOLEN IN ONE YEAR

More automobiles were stolen in the United States during 1922 than all the cars registered in most of the nations of Europe, according to Firestone statisticians who also value this huge number of pilferings at about $100,000,000.

It his been figured out that the present estimated value of motor vehicles in this country approximates $9,000,000,000.

MAKE THE BEST OF IT

There is a whole lot in being able to make the most and the best of life as you go through this world.

Just now the times demand money in big chunks because big things are being done all over the face of the earth, and money is a great power. Occasionally a big chunk falls upon a weakling and crushes him as a ton of rock would crush a grasshoper. But the demands of the times are such that the world can not stop long enough to mourn for him.

Such crushings are occuring every day, and yet there seems to be just as many willing to be crushed as ever there were. Indeed, there are legions of young men seeking opportunities to be crushed.

But there are enough wise ones left to save the race from being ground out of existance by the mills of Mammon, and to build monuments to the times, and to lay foundations for the greater institutions that are to be.

The world can get along very well without the foolish ones who are praying for the rocks and mountains of Mammon to fall upon and hide them from the sight of those who toil most and are happy.

Things are all arranged and well arranged, for the comfort and welfare of man while here on earth; so well arranged that it is only through gross negligence, or indifference, or inexcusable ignorance, that he can fail to get a resonable portion of comfort out of life.

Don't think for a moment that comfort and happiness will be thrust upon you, because it cannot be done, no matter your friends may be to do it. These things come in response to personal effort, and cannot be handed from one to another at will.

Literally speaking, we make our own happiness here on earth.

Be good, but not so good as to set a bad example and nobody wants to be like you. See the beauties around you. There are lots of them. And you will be just like what you see and feel. Remember that its strong to be gentle and it's strength to be true.

Don't sit around cursing the council and venting your spleen on everybody else just to hear your emptiness rattle. Eat three meals a day and drink plenty of good water, and never refuse a second piece of pie if it is pumpkin.

If someone tells you a joke and you don't see the point, laugh anyhow. Don't miss the opportunity, you may get a catch in your side some day and can't laugh.

Smack your lips over the smearcase and tell her so. Be a good member of the fraternity in the town you live in. It meets 365 days of the year. Its best teachings are love, friendship, kindness and all that makes life happy. Its handshake is an open one without any frills.

See the bright side of things, if you have to turn them over three or four times before you see it. If you have rheumatism think how much harder your uncle had it. If it's appendicitis, think of the pearly gates. Take your local paper while here. It may not circulate over yonder.

Varied Farming Brought About By Late Spring

Delayed Planting Season Expected to Cut Down Wheat Acreage

Farmers of Valley Alter Plans to Conform to Weather Conditions

According to the opinions of C. G. Selvig, superintendent, R. S. Dunham and T. M. McCall of the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston, farmers in the Red River Valley will go into diversified farming more than ever this year, partly because of the late spring, but also because of the greater profits to be gained.

It is said that the late spring will reduce the acreage of wheat in the valley, caused by the fear of rust affecting late sown wheat. Durum wheat will be planted to a great extent as it is more rust-resistant.

Because of a reduction in wheat acreage, the substitute crops will be feed crops and flax or potatoes as cash crops, the faculty men say. Flax promises to be a good paying crop. The acreage of potatoes will not be greatly reduced, due to information that southern growers have reduced their acreage by 77 per cent and states producing the second early crop have reduced 24 per cent. Seed is cheap this year which also accounts as a factor. Due to the great demand for flax this crop is expected to take the place of reduced wheat acreage to a large extent.

The corn acreage for ear corn will probably be increased. Soy beans for feed and seed are being grown more commonly than before. Sugar beets will be grown on small acreage in several sections, with a total in the valley of about 10,000 acres.

The members of the Northwest station staff report also that there will be a greater acreage of tame grasses, sweet clover and alfalfa seeded. This, with growing other feed crops and more corn, indicate a healthy trend to a greater diversification.

STILL EXPLODED

Iron Range Town All Shook Up by Still Which Wrecked a Building

A lowd report, followed by screams from Mrs. Steve Milani of Keewatin, brought the neighbors on the run last week on Tuesday, to see what had happened in the range town. Investigation showed the house to be badly wrecked by an explosion, and Mrs. Milani, who was in the house alone at the time, declared someone had put dynamite in the stove. The firemen of the Keewatin department, who answered the alarm that had been turned in, found in the basement the remains of a wrecked still, a can containing some hot moonshine, and a stove that showed no signs of disaster.

Confronted with the evidence, Milani, who is janitor at the Keewatin schools, confessed making moonshine, and in municipal court there was fined $50 and costs. The house was badly wrecked by the explosion, all the windows being blown out, the walls torn loose from the foundation, and the partitions between the rooms pulled from place. The damage to the house is estimated at from $600 to $1,000. So great was the force of the explosion that house plants in the front windows were blown through the window and out into the street.—Grand Rapids Review.

Makes Effort to Recover This Sum for Injuries Sustained in Shop Strike Last Summer

Adolph Purpur of Grand Forks has filed suit against the Great Northern Railway Company for $50,000 for injuries sustained when he was shot by a railway guard during the shop crafts strike last summer. The papers in the suit have been served at the offices of C. J. Murphy, attorney at Grand Forks for the Great Northern.

Purper, a car repairer, who was on strike at the time the shooting occurred claims that when he was in a cornfield near the railroad company's right of way on the morning of Sept. 3 last, he was assaulted and wounded by the discharge of a revolver in the hands of Thomas Mrachek, a guard and special agent for the Great Northern, who was employed during the strike. Purpur claims that as a result of the accident he was in bed for over three months and is totally disabled for life from performing any physical labor.

Derailment of Freight Delays Traffic on Soo

The Soo line freight, which left Bemidji shortly after 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon was reported at 2 o'clock to the Thief River Falls railroad office to have met with an accident about a mile east of Scribner, where six or seven cars ahead of the caboose were derailed. As far as could be ascertained no one was injured in the accident, although several cars were tipped entirely off the tracks.

A wrecking crew was summoned from Thief River Falls and it arrived on the scene about 5 o'clock. The accident delayed other traffic on the line for several hours, since no trains were able to pass until the derailed cars had been righted.

AS OTHERS THINK

Hauling Milk to Creamery.

Thief River Falls, Minn., April 23.

To Editor Tribune:

The article in The Tribune for last week over the signature of Henry Oen, the disappointed cheese boy, apparently left the impression with many that those who are hauling milk to the creamery get a good rake-off for their product. For the benefit of patrons in general, and Henry Oen especially, I give some extracts from my creamery statement for last month:

For butterfat I received $93.96; for skim milk $18.65. Total $112.61.

This milk was brought to the creamery in twenty deliveries. Milk has to be delivered to the creamery regardless of road conditions—rain or shine. It has to be sweet and be at the creamery at 10 o'clock in the morning.

Considering the regular delivery and the extra time spent in hauling this milk compared with bringing cream only, which can be delivered any old day during the week and any old hour during the day, I fail to see much of a privilege hauling milk. If I could not haul together with somebody else, thereby eliminating many trips, I would not have anything to do with this regular daily delivery of milk for what little there is in it.

Every stockholder has had the privilege to haul before as well as now. The present requirement at the creamery is 18 gallons three times a week for each of the 12 milk haulers. Suppose a few more join. The quota will be cut correspondingly to meet the demand of the creamery. Why this envy, Henry Oen? Why entertain a grudge against somebody who is willing to do something that you neither could nor would? Why not be a good boy and play with the rest of us—haul milk the same as we do? Do that, Henry. Come on in, the water is fine. It would be a little milk less on every one of us but I certainly for one would welcome you. Take a month's cure hauling milk to the creamery and if you are not cured of the envy towards the milk haulers by that time, another dose I am sure would be sufficient. With due respect toward all the cheese boys as well as anybody else who may have a different opinion than I have, I remain,

Yours truly,
PAUL ENGELSTAD.

A Tribute.

Mr. John Somondson, at the ripe age of 80 years, has passed to his reward. He was buried the other day at Thief River Falls.

There was one outstanding characteristic with old man Somondson, namely, his courtesy towards others on the road, which impressed me very much during the many years I have known him.

I have never seen a man more courteous, more considerate towards passersby, than he. He always gave the other man the full road. No one had a chance to turn out for him, as he turned out of the road long before the other party ever though of such a thing.

Whenever I meet a 50 or 100 per cent road hog, I will always remember John Somondson. When his funeral cortege passed up along the road from his humble home three miles south of town towards Greenwood cemetery, it was the first time that he was accorded the whole road all the way—he had nothing to say about it.

He possessed to a high degree the politeness, the courtesy and consideration for others that many a one, both old and young, in our day of bolstered up civilization and education are lacking.

It was a pleasure to meet him as he always had a smile under all conditions. He certainly had as much to fret and grumble about as anybody else, but never a word of discontent did he utter.

I am sorry to say that I, like many others, lost a good opportunity in not handing Mr. Somondson this wreath or words of appreciation wihle he was living instead of waiting until he was dead and cold, but such we are. Instead of handing out a few words of appreciation—small roses—now and then, we are heaping them on the casket. Blessed be thy memory.

A stranger, fairly tall, dressed in brown and weighing about 140 pounds, went down to John Billodeau's restaurant last Thursday evening and there cashed a check made out to Tom Cole and signed by a John Hogan, drawn on the First National bank of Grand Rapids. Of course, there was no such account and a warrant was sworn out for the man's arrest. He went out of town owards the range, so it is said, and all are asked to beware.—Grand Rapids Review.

Many people are under the impression that there is no government land suitable for farming. remaining untaken in this district, but Martin Widsten, register and receiver of the U. S. Land Office at Crookston, says there is still considerable land subject to entry and as a matter of fact entries for agricultural land are being made right along. Three entries were recorded Tuesday for land in Clearwater county. This of course is an unusual day's record, but a considerable increase in the number of inquiries has been received during the past few weeks.—Grand Rapids Review.

Firestone
Will Not Increase Prices on Solid and Pneumatic Truck Tires Until May 1st

Never has Firestone been so well situated to give operators the greatest measure of Cushion, Traction and Mileage at the lowest cost.

Today, economical manufacturing and distribution are showing the fullest results. Our favorable purchases of rubber, in advance of the 150% increase brought about by the British Crude Rubber Restriction Act, aid further in maintaining the old price levels.

Whatever the Truck Service—the Firestone Dealer Has the Right Tire

Firestone developments of the past two years have made pace for the industry and set new records in sure, economical performance. Five tires—the Heavy Duty Cushion, the Truck Type Cord, the Maxi-Cushion, the Giant Solid and the High Type—cover the needs of motor haulage in all its forms. Each has a distinct work which it does best. Each possesses a definite and special value for the operator.

Truck owners, using pneumatic tires, will find the answer to every demand of rapid, economical transportation in the Firestone Truck Type Cords with the tread that increases carrying capacity and improves traction, and the powerful gum-dipped carcass construction.

Let the Firestone Service Dealers Keep Your Trucks Moving

There are 800 Firestone Service Dealers, located in the principal trucking centers, fitted by natural ability and a thorough knowledge of trucking, to help you choose the right tire for your roads, loads and service.

Price Protection as Long as Stocks Last

Additional tires will be supplied to Service Dealers only so far as our present output will permit. Consult the nearest Firestone Service Dealer at once regarding your truck tire needs. He is in an advantageous position to give you an unusual tire—a specialized service—and prices which may not be duplicated in months.

Red Crown
The High-Grade Gasoline
Everywhere and Everywhere the Same

WITH the constantly increasing number of hard roads, the display lines above take on a new and deep significance. You are getting out into the country more—you are motoring greater distances.

You are using more gasoline because hard roads permit greater speed.

No Matter Where You Go—

you can get Red Crown Gasoline and you won't have to change the adjustment of your carburetor. This would not hold true with some brands of gasoline sold in restricted areas.

Red Crown is the best, most economical gasoline you can buy. Once you have the right carburetor adjustment you can go and keep going without a sputter—you will have an abundance of sustained pulling power and all the speed your engine can develop.

You will find a Red Crown Service Station every few blocks in the city and every few miles in the country.

WHO PAYS THE TAX?

The big corporations have some merit, if we take a fair look at results. The Standard Oil company, which has been used as a target by all demagogues in the country, has paid more in taxes to the states and the government than it has to its own stockholders in dividends. If all the corporations were wiped out of existence the load of taxation would be a tremendous burden upon the people—and it is quite heavy enough with the taxes collected from the big boys.—St. Cloud Journal-Press.

The trouble is that the public pays both dividends and taxes. The profits of Standard Oil have been enormous, all out of proportion to the service rendered the public, while the farmers of the country—the only real producers—have operated at a loss for several years. If present conditions continue for any length of time, the corporations of America will own everything worth having.

WHAT IS HELL?

A headline in a Tribune exchange wants to know, "what is hell?" We will give our idea of the correct answer.

When a man takes The Tribune for several years and then refuses it at the postoffice, or writes the office that he never ordered it, that is hell.

If any of our readers have a clearer conception of the meaning of the word, we shall be glad to print it.

SPEAKING OF BLUE LAWS.

Those fellows who want to compel everyone to do just what they think is right, may go too far if laws are made that are too unreasonable. An unusually drastic bill for a Sunday closing law is being pushed in the Illinois legislature, prohibiting on Sunday all amusements that are paid for. If too strict Sunday laws are adopted most men would prefer to work on Sunday and have a holiday on some other day of the week. This reminds us of the custom adopted by the religious owners of the Winnipeg Free Press back in 1881 and 1882, when the writer worked there. They said it was wicked to print a Sunday morning edition. So they made us printers work on Sunday to get out a Monday morning paper, which would not offend the good people. But the old time gang of printers had no objection, and most of them preferred to "whoop her up" on Saturdays. It wouldn't take the labor unions very long to change from on Sunday work if blue laws are made too severe.—Norman County Index.

This item is well worth your consideration. Read it: "It is humiliating to think how little of the truth regarding prohibition gets to the public through the public press. Yet how worthy of the front page and generous capitals is the sensational fact that the death rate of the United States has fallen one-third since prohibition went into effect! Death rate per 100,000 in 1918, last year was 150. In 1921 99.4. This is a saving of 60,000 lives in a single year. Boston and New York relief agencies have collected under the direction of that incomparable worker, Mrs. William Tilton of Cambridge, figures relating to poor relief gathered from 18 cities including New York, Chicago, Boston, St. Louis and Cleveland. These give 776 families seeking relief from charity organizations in 1921 as against 5,116 in 1917. Dr. Edward Everett Hale used to say, "Close the saloons and I will personally be responsible for all the poverty remaining in Boston. It was no idle gesture."

In another column we print a tribute to "old man Somondson," by Peter Engelstad, who describes his departed friend as the most courteous, considerate man he ever knew. The editor of The Tribune never knew "old man Somondson," a fact which is deeply regretted, but we have no doubt he was all that Mr. Engelstad says he was, and hence we wish to add our small measure of commendation. As stated by Mr. Engelstad, this belated wreath of appreciation placed upon the casket of Mr. Somondson should have taken the form of some expression of appreciation to the living, but we can be sure the courteous old gentleman craved no reward greater than the satisfaction of being generous, courteous and considerate. No doubt it was his religion. We would not mention the case of Somondson except for the fact that it isn't fashionable to be courteous any more. It is the "independent" man who occupies the center of the stage. The man who makes the weak and feeble take to the ditch receives the plaudits of the multitude. He is a forceful, outstanding character. He gets somewhere in the world. One never reads much in the newspapers about men like Mr. Somondson. But just the same they are the salt of the earth—these quiet unassuming old fellows who scatter good will and sunshine along the pathway of life.

BOOSTING FORD FOR PRESIDENT

The American Economic League, said to have been chartered at Hartford, Conn., is circulating petitions boosting Henry Ford for president on the Progressive party ticket. Its charter states that it stands for the following:

1. Independent, progressive, political action with Henry Ford as candidacy in 1924.
2. Economic stabilization of the United States, though the establishment of a debt-paying system of finance, in place of the debt-creating federal reserve system.
3. A soldier bonus by the direct issue of full legal tender currency from the government.
4. Direct presidential primary and referendum on war, except in case of invasion.

The legislature paid out several thousand dollars of tax payers' money to reimburse both parties to contests for legislative seats. One St. Paul contest cost the state nearly $3,000. We fail to see where the state has any interest in such contests, no matter what the outcome. When a person institutes a contest for a legislative seat such person should be compelled to give a bond sufficiently large to cover every possible cost, to insure the state against loss, and when the bill for attorneys' fees is presented to the legislature we would like to see some member with nerve enough to get up on his feet and lay back his ears like a Missouri mule. It is time the members of both houses ceased being so liberal with other people's money.

Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador, said at a recent dinner: "Young men rise easily from the ranks here in America because the American spirit is so democratic. In Europe now—in Europe one day a clerk remarked to his employer: 'I think we're going to have rain, sir.' 'We?' snarled the employer. 'We are going to have rain? How long have you been a member of the firm.'—Argonaut.

Sheriff O'Brien arrested 16 moonshiners in Itasca county the first 15 days in April. That is a record to be proud of and we dare say if the minion of the law keeps up that pace there is one class of filth which will give Itasca county a wide berth ere many moons. One thing is sure, and that is Pennington county will not allow itself to be made a dumping ground for the "moon" manufacturers.

The need for a poor farm in Pennington county could probably be lessened considerably if all the "moon" makers were invited to make themselves scarce.

Taxes on farm land have more than doubled during the past eight years. The average tax per acre in 1922 was 71 cents as compared with 31 cents in 1914.—Heron Lake News.

Militarism is the world's greatest task-master and slave driver. It has compelled untold millions to eke out their lives in toil and poverty to pay tribute to it. It has done more to hold back the advancement of civilization than all our other sins and vices combined. If mankind seeing all this and knowing all this, has not the intelligence and determination to uproot militarism and war, it deserves to be annihilated by them and will be.—Senator Capper.

SENATOR HANSEN'S RECORD.

For a first termer, Senator Hansen returns from the recent session of the legislature with a very creditable record of accomplishment. While not in full accord with the senator's action upon all measures submitted to him, yet we find that a cursory review of important legislation enacted leaves little to criticise and much to commend.

Among the measures which bore Senator Hansen's name as author or co-author, were the following:

S. F. No. 95—An act permitting savings banks to invest in the bonds of Federal Joint Stock Land Banks, operating to put more funds into circulation for loans to farmers, and thus lowering interest rates.

S. F. No. 767—Extending the time for payment of ditch liens, being an act intending to relieve the present hard pressed farmers who are unable for the time being to meet their ditch assessments.

S. F. No. 793—Refunding to district No. 18 one per cent interest on school loans, a saving to the tax payers of $840 per year. The law is general, but is particularly advantageous to this city.

An act to reimburse counties and municipalities for improvements upon trunk highways, which means that tax payers of Thief River Falls will be reimbursed for 18 feet of the pavement constructed along the route of the Babcock road within the city.

S. F. No. 638—Co-operative marketing act to conform to the Sapiro plan of pooling and marketing farm products. This was the most important piece of farm legislation passed during the session.

S. F. No. 707—Appropriating $9,000 for experiments in peat lands in the district northeast of Thief River Falls.

Mr. Hansen actively gave his support to the supplemental school aid law, by virtue of which district No. 18 of this city will get increased aid amounting to $16,230.00. St. Hilaire will get an increase of $1,618.00, while Goodridge will receive an increase of $1,012.00. Large increases will also be given the rural districts of the three counties.

The senator gave his active support to the bill lowering the contract rate of interest from 10 to 8 per cent, a law which takes effect after January 1 next year.

He also actively supported the rural credits act and succeeded in placing in the law an amendment raising the amount which may be loaned upon farm improvements from 25 per cent of the insurable value to 33 1-3.

In most matters which came before the Senate he acted with the progressive wing of that body, being particularly active in good roads legislation. He was erroneously charged with voting for delay upon the bond issue, when he actually supported every move for quick and direct action.

Moonshine Gets Greenbush Man Into Difficulty

Unable to Furnish Bonds, Victim of "Moon" Is Remanded to Jail

The following story, taken from last week's issue of the Greenbush Tribune, indicates beyond a doubt that the makers and vendors of moonshine booze are pretty much the same the country over. The "moon" peddlers at Greenbush were willing enough to take this man's money as long as he had a cent left, but when it came to a point where they could have aided him by putting up some of this money as a bond to keep him out of joil, they were conspicuous by their absence. A case such as this, which reveals the true character of the average moon peddler, points such a strong moral that The Tribune feels justified in reproducing the entire story as it appeared in the Greenbush paper. Here it is:

"It is with regret that we chronicle this story, but feel for the good of the community the story should be given full publicity. Last Saturday evening, according to the story as told to us, Fred Goslien began to imbibe freely of moonshine and by the wee small hours was so paralyzed drunk that he did not know what he was doing. He went down to the home of Mrs. Johnson, who lives accross the track from the depot, and broke in and scratched Mrs. Johnson, who managed to get out of the house and ran up to the Mattison Hotel for help. When Constable Aas went down, Fred was still there. Not being able to find the door he had raised the window and crawled out that way. He was taken up to Roseau Monday and bound over to the grand jury on $2,000 bond. He came down Wednesday but went back without bail.

"Now, you moonshiners, how do you like your dirty work? Fred is a hard worker and when his mind is right is as fine a fellow as could be. During the past winter these dirty low life bootleggers have been tempting him with their vile stuff, and the result is pitiful. Before going up to Roseau, Fred is said to have stated in the presence of witnesses that he was through with booze, and would squeal on these peddlers of vile poison. One fellow is said to have theratened Fred if he did squeal. Fred had better not come back to Greenbush.

"Now, the question is whether the decent people of this community are to prevail or the city moonshiners. It is time for a showdown. Are our women and children to be at the mercy of otherwise good men who become dangerous characters when filled with vile moonshine? The bootleggers can get their victims into trouble but when it comes to getting said victims out of trouble for which they are the cause the dirty "moonshiners" are not there, at least they were not at the time this was written.

"If any man wants to manufacture vile rank poison and drink it himself at his own home, he can hop to it so far as we are concerned, but they shall not disgrace such a good fellow as is Fred and break the hearts of his aged parents and brother and sister, if we have our say.

NEW LAWS WOULD REGULATE DANCES

In Effect First of June—Are Drastic in Application—Licenses Demanded

Planning and executing a public dance will be more than securing of a suitable floor and hiring a competent orchestra, says the Grand Rapids Herald, after the first of June, for then the new law regulating public dances goes into effect. This law was recently passed by the state legislature, and it gives far more drastic regulation of public dances than anything before attempted.

Too long to quote in full, a brief synopsis of the salient points of the law will be interesting. A public dancing place, within the meaning of this act, is any room, place or space open to the public patronage where dancing is carried on, and to which an admission charge is made, or fee charged for dancing. Before any public dance is given, the person or persons in charge must first secure a permit. This permit must be secured from the governing body if the municipality if in an incorporated village or city, and from the township board or county board under other circumstances. Strict regulations regarding the condition of the building in which the dance is to be held, its cleanliness, lighting and other details, are included before the permit can be issued.

Sale of intoxicating liquor anywhere within 1000 feet of the place where the dance is held, or the giving of it away by any person, or the drinking of it by any person, makes the holders of the permit liable, if this action is brought to his or her knowledge. In every case where a public dance is held, a police officer shall be present, and shall have his fees paid before the dance begins. He is appointed by the body that grants the license, but paid by the party giving the dance.

Girls or boys under the age of 16 may not attend public dances unless accompanied by parent or guardian, and young people over 16, but under 18 years of age, must have with them written consent of parent or guardian, unless accompanied by that useful chaperone. So-called "moonlight dances" are forbidden under the terms of this law, which forbids dimming or extinguishing lights while the dance is in progress.

How Gardner Can Give Potato a Flying Start

There are many things the home gardner can do to hurry up his potatoes. First, says F. A. Krantz of the horticultural division, University of Minnesota, let him place his seed stock in the light for several days. The short, thick sprouts which develop will, when planted, give the crop an advantage of at least a week, says Mr. Krantz. All potatoes showing weak sprouts should be discarded.

"The seed should be planted just as soon as the soil can be put in shape," says Mr. Krantz, "The richer the soil the more vigorous the growth and the earlier the tubers will form. The season is late, therefore plant rather shallow, not more than four or five inches down. The seed pieces should be one and one-half to two ounces in weight. Seed of the Early Ohio or Cobbler is the best to plant for quick returns. Keep the patch clean of weeds by frequent hoeing."

Orchard and Garden

Make a planting of gladiolus bulbs now and repeat every fifteen days until July 1.

So far the so-called everbearing raspberries have not been a great success. As a rule it is more satisfactory to use Latham.

More garden and flower seeds fail to grow because they are planted too deep than because the seed is poor.

When setting out plants, be sure to firm the soil about the roots. The top soil should be left loose.

Spray those fruit trees if you would have clean marketable fruit. Time and money invested in spraying operations give large returns.

Now is the time to get that strawberry and raspberry patch. Latham is the best raspberry to use. Dunlay, Premier and Minnehaha are good June-bearing strawberries. Progressive and Deephaven are good everlasting sorts.

There is still time to set out trees, shrubs and perennials about the home grounds.

NEW PERFECTION Oil Range
with SUPERFEX Burners

Price of range illustrated . . $80.80
Stove, without cabinet and oven $58.50

Announced A Year Ago—
Now Used Nation-Wide

LITERALLY tens of thousands of women are now enthusiastic users of the NEW PERFECTION Oil Range with SUPERFEX Burners, the revolutionizing invention announced only a year ago. The secret of its remarkable success is its powerful SUPERFEX Burners. The speed, intensity and wide range of their cooking heat is unsurpassed by that of any other stove.

This new range, further improved and equipped with removable porcelain enameled burner tray, now brings to country and suburban homes, for the first time, all the cooking speed and satisfaction of gas. To city homes, too, it offers a new saving, its economical fuel costing less than eighty-five-cent gas.

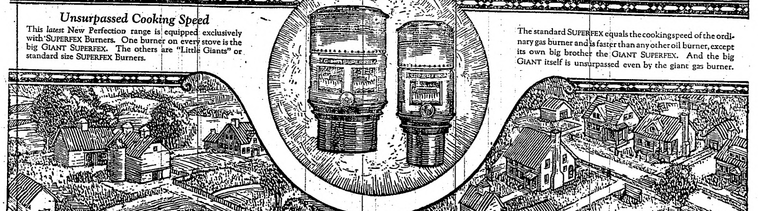
PRICES
(Complete with White Porcelain Enameled Warming Cabinets)
Two-Burner, $47.00; Three-Burner, $58.50; Four-Burner, $74.00;
Four-Burner Oven Range, $105.00; Five-Burner Oven Range, $120.00.
New Perfection "Live Heat" Ovens from $2.50 to $6.80 additional.

In addition to the new SUPERFEX models, our long established Blue Chimney models of the NEW PERFECTION line, used in 4,000,000 homes continue to be the world's most satisfactory oil stove at their lower range of prices.

THE CLEVELAND METAL PRODUCTS COMPANY, CLEVELAND, OHIO
St. Paul Branch: 739 Pillsbury Ave.



Unsurpassed Cooking Speed

This latest New Perfection range is equipped exclusively with SUPERFEX Burners. One burner on every stove is the big GIANT SUPERFEX. The others are "Little Giants" or standard size SUPERFEX Burners.

The standard SUPERFEX equals the cooking speed of the ordinary gas burner and is faster than any other oil burner, except its own big brother the GIANT SUPERFEX. And the big GIANT itself is unsurpassed even by the giant gas burner.

ROSEWOOD

A seven months school term closed at Rosebank last Friday and the teacher, Miss Ruth Lonson, left the same evening for Thief River Falls where she will spend the summer at her home. For the first time in many years there were no festivities, or closing day exercises.

Owing to the illnes of the teacher, Miss Aakre, the parochial school at Rosebank will not comence before on Monday, April 30.

Gust Bakken motored to Thief River Falls on Friday to bring home his son Simon, who will spend the week-end with his home folks.

Mr. Nels Rye from Edmire, North Dakota, arrived here Friday morning for a few days visit with his daughter, Mrs. Albert Lappegaard and family.

Mrs. Carl Mellem and youngest daughter left Thursday morning for Viking where they wil visit until Saturday at the S. S. Norgaard home and with other friends and relatives.

A. M. Gulseth returned on Thursday morning from a brief business stay at Thief River Falls.

Swen Swenson left on Friday evening for Thief River Falls where he will remain over Sunday as guest of Mrs. Johanne Nyrus and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Anderson and daughter Erma left Saturday evening for Thief River Falls where they will visit over Sunday at the C. E. Hellquist home.

Field work on the sand ridges has commenced in general this week.

Mrs. A. A. Linstrom arrived here Monday evening from Warren for a few days visit with the J. E. Thompson family. The Lindstroms have sold out their interests at Warren and Mrs. Lindstrom left on Tuesday for Gully where they expect to make their future home.

Miss Ethel Kron returned Tuesday morning from a brief visiting and shopping tour to Thief River Falls.

Dr. J. T. Bowers from Thief River Falls was in town last Wednesday in connection with the Mrs. E. P. Johnson case. Mrs. Johnson is improving as well as could be expected.

Fred Copp was at Warren on business between trains last Monday.

Mrs. Victor Mosbeck and son from Thief River Falls arrived Wednesday morning to spend the remainder of the week at the former's parental home, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Johnson's.

Miss Serine Tanem arrived Thursday from Goodridge and will visit until Saturday with friends here.

J. E. Hellquist was at Thief River Falls a couple days the beginning of this week to have dental work done.

GRYGLA

(From the Eagle)

In answer to a letter and telegram, received Saturday, Byron Yafer left last Monday for Flint, Mich., on account of the serious illness of his mother. Just when he will return is uncertain.

The weather this week has been of genuine spring order. The snow on the fields is about gone, there is very little water and with no more storms, seeding will be under way next week in good shape.

At the home farm in town of Benville, April 9th, 1923, Mrs. Johanna Borge died, at the age of 82 years, 2 months and 7 days. Services were held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Anderson. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

Word was received here yesterday that Mrs. Abe Johnsrud had died Wednesday at her home in Thief River Falls. The family is well known here, she being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Lee, and having lived here nearly all her life, and at one time she was employed in the Citizen's State Bank. She leaves a husband and one son besides her parents to mourn her death.

There is no use going to the large cities to hear first class entertainment at big expense. This was proved last Sunday evening when a call from Louis Dressley told us to hold the telephone for a concert. He connected our phone with our radio and we heard from Minneapolis, Grand Rapids, Mich., Davenport, Ia., and several other cities, free. It certainly was a fine treat and Mr. Dressley is worthy of a great deal of credit for his liberal and progressive spirit.

WAREHOUSING LAW TO AID PRODUCERS

New Act Provides for Shipping Point Inspection—Road Bond Bill Fails

A new Warehousing law, passed by the recent Minnesota Legislature, paves the way for greatly simplifying one phase of the shipping problems of farmers and their co-operative associations. Provision is made for the bonding and licensing of warehouses and for issuance of receipts which are to be negotiable. Shipping point inspection by warehousemen is made a condition of the license. Where warehousemen—the law is permissive only—operate under it, local storage and financing of the movement of the crops will be facilitated, proponents say. The act will be administered by the state Department of Agriculture, of which N. J. Holmberg was reappointed commissioner for four years.

The final hours of the legislature was featured by the failure of the $20,000,000 road bond bill to pass and by the enactment of a large number of curative laws.

Other bills passed provide that the Minnesota State Prison shall manufacture corn harvesting machinery and that all machines made there shall be sold to dealers at cost plus 5 per cent. Dealers profits are limited to 20 per cent.

The new agricultural extension and county agent law provides for a county Farm Bureau budget committee, on which the commissioners shall have representation. An appropriation of $85,000 to carry on this work was voted.

Both houses passed and the governor signed a resolution providing for the submission to voters of a proposal to amend the constitution to permit construction of two state-owned terminal elevators. A similar proposal with respect to a cement plant was lost.

Area testing for tuberculous in cattle was recognized and an appropriation of $100,000 to start the work voted. This money is to be used for indemnity purposes.

A joint resolution asked for a special session of the legislature if the U. S. Supreme Court declared the state occupational tax on ore void.

New prohibition laws are designed to tighten enforcement.

Appropriations aggregate slightly more than $40,000,000, a net increase of $2,400,000 over 1921.

A CROW HUNT

Some of the sports in adjoining counties have organized crow hunts in order to exterminate as many of these pests as possible. The crows are said to be very destructive in the early spring, picking up corn and all sorts of seed out of the ground. In some cases they also destroy little chicks. Here is an opportunity for the trap shooters of the city to render service of value to the farmers, at the same time displaying their prowess as hunters.

"Bill" St. Pierre has bought himself a car. Since acquiring this piece of property, Bill has spent most of his time at the Booth garage. At times nursing the new flivver and other times grooming it and admiring its beauty. True, it is wind broken has the heaves, string halt, is pin hipped, knock-kneed, cock-ankled and interferes, is spavined, has a ringbone and blind-staggers; but with all this, "Bill" says it is a dandy and can go a mile in less than no time, flat.—Staples World.

OPPLIGER "DIRT" FARMER ON STATE FARM LOAN BOARD

E. J. Oppliger of Forest Lake, Washington county, has been named the "dirt" farmer on the new state Farm Loan board. Appointment was announced by Governor Preus last week. Under the law, Mr. Oppliger will be chairman of the board. T. O. Losthun of Gleenwood is the secretary and T. Gullickson of Spring Grove, the attorney.

NEW CREDIT BANK OFFICIALS NAMED

Officers to administer the new Federal Intermediate Farm Credit Bank have been named. J. A. Rickert of Tracy, Minn., is to be cashier and T. A. Nelson of Portal, N. D., is to be assistant cashier. Announcement of the appointments was made last week. Organization of the new bank was authorized by the recent congress. The bill was passed, largely as a result of strong support given it by the Washington office of the American Farm Bureau Federation.

Headquarters of the new bank will be in St. Paul, offices having been leased in the Guardian Life building.

Amateurs Will Have Own Class at Fair

No longer will "ameteurs" have to compete with "professionals" in the agricultural department of the State Fair, a separate class having been established for professional exhibitors—the men who have been winning year after year. They will give corn growers in general a good chance to carry home some of the premiums and trophies. They are worth going after, too, for nearly $1,000 will be hung up in prizes for corn, $375 in cash and $870 in trophies for grains and seeds, $338 for potatoes—five prizes for each lot or variety—$8, $10 and $12 for the first prizes in the several lots and $450 for a special offer. C. P. Bull has been drafted for the work of building up the agricultural department of the fair, and is to give special attention to the corn and grain exhibits. In this work he will have the hearty co-operation of A. D. Haedecke of the University Farm, secretary of the Minnesota Crop Improvement association, and other officers of that organization.

M. Bothun to Issue Advertising Catalog

Has Received Many Flattering Comments on Work as Originator of Floral Designs.

M. Bothun, for many years a resident of Thief River Falls and during the greater part of that time conducting the Thief River Greenhouses, has built up an excellent business in his line. The Tribune recently put the finishing touches on his catalog of floral designs. The book is a very creditable one, showing the very latest pertaining to flowers, ferns, etc. As soon as the weather and roads permit, Mr. Bothun expects to establish agencies in all the surounding towns within a radius of 300 miles of Thief River Falls.

Mr. Bothun is an expert designer, no doubt one of the best in the entire northwest. He has received hundreds of letters of commendation from customers residing at a distance from Thief River Falls. The Thief River Greenhouses are in every sense a real asset to the city.

TWENTY ACRES OF PINES ARE BURNED

In staging the tremendous forest fire in Reginald Barker's production, "Hearts Aflame," at the Lyceum Sunday and Monday, Mr. Barker has created a spectacle that will stand for a long time as one of the really great achievements of the screen, and serve as a standard for similar scenes in photoplays.

Magnificently terrifying, the fire sweeps across the scene, turning 20 acres of beautiful, towering pines to a cinder-strewn waste. In ten minutes it destroys what nature took a hundred years to build. It is a sight never to be forgotten. Starting at the top of a ridge in the background and rushing down towards the camera with terrific leaps and bounds, the fire envelopes the entire forest in less than a minute.

And through the blaze, in plain view of the spectator. Anna Q. Nilsson drives a locomotive, sticking courageously to the throttle in spite of the flames that lick along the cab and dart in through the windows with every new scorching draft of air. The object of her wild ride is to secure powder to dynamite a ridge and save the women and children in the valley settlement beyond, and the fulfillment of her brave mission furnishes one of the greatest thrills in screen history.

Mule Washed Over Dam But Yet Lives

When the water rose at night in the creek on Lilic Hedge farm, owned by J. D. Bacon of Grand Forks, it washed out a hole under the concrete dam across the creek. In the morning one of the boys employed on the farm was sent to do some work in the field across the creek with a mule named Rosie.

When they came to the stream the boy decided to swim across above the dam. Everything was all right until they approached the hole under the dam. The boy grabbed the dam wall and crawled to safety. The current took Rosie under the dam and she came out several rods beyond minus all her harness but her bridle, it having been pulled off by the swift current.

The remarkable thing is that Rosie survived her early morning bath in the swift water. She crawled out on the bank nearly exausted and absolutely refused to go near the water at all during the day.

Rathbun Gives Up Berth As Bank Superintendent

R. B. Rathbun, state superintendent of banks, on Saturday resigned, and Governor J. A. O. Preus apponited Adolph J. Veigel of Mankato, as his successor.

Mr. Rathbun resigned to accept the cashiership of the Produce State Bank of Minneapolis. It his not been definitely decided what date Mr. Rathbun will leave, but it is expected the newly appointed head of that department will assume his duties very soon.

Mr. Rathbun was appointed by Governor Preus March 6, 1922, and received his re-appointment, which was confirmed by the senate several days ago.

A co-operative livestock agency will be opened on May 3 on the Sioux Falls, S. D. market by the Producers' company, sponsored by the Farm Bureau. B. C. Ash will be manager and Lou Chizum, salesman. The agency will serve Minnesotans living in the southwest section of the state.

Mrs. D.: "Good heavens! Did it kill him?"

Dr.: "Dash it, no! He's entirely well."

Oscar Hauge, patrolman on the state road from Jefferson Highway east to the reservation line, has been busy this week opening culverts and getting the road in shape for dragging.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

Forced to lie in the mud for over an hour until his wife could bring help from a neighboring farm, Emil Dalluge, who lives near Plymouth, Ia., escaped serious injury by lying perfectly still when the enraged Holstein bull that heads his fine dairy farm charged him as he entered the cattle yard, and pawed and trampled him, inflicting injuries about his face and chest. The animal's attack lasted only for a few minutes, but he would not permit the dairyman to rise. Mrs. Dalluge came to the rescue of her husband with a shotgun, but fearing to strike her husband or only enrage the bull, called her brother on an adjoining farm. Mr. Dalluge lay in the mud and cold for more than an hour before help came. Cuts and a broken rib are the only injuries.

The next time an out-of-town silk-stocking agent comes to your door it may be wise for you to meet him with a more or less icy stare and a line of talk something like this: "My dear sir: I need nothing in the way of silk stockings with which the merchants of this city cannot supply me. If they haven't them on hand they will get them for me, and I much prefer to pay them the commission, since they are my friends and neighbors, since they are helping to keep alive all the beneficial things of the community and are much more entitled in every way to my support than you can possibly be. Your goods may be good and your priecs right, but so are theirs—and in common justice they should be given my patronage." Talk to them all that way—treat 'em rough! Whatever they are selling, be it portable palaces or milking stools, the answer is the same. The home town dealers are particularly up and coming; they are perfectly willing to procure the things you want that they may not have in stock. And remember, on every article sold, someone is going to get a commission; if there were no commissions it would be impossible to carry on business. Pay your commission to the man who is going to keep it moving right around in his and your home town. The spring crop of agents of one sort or another is about fat enough to kill—let's go after them! Your town doesn't ever get the benefit of a peddler's license from the most of them who come here representing outside concerns.—Redwood Gazette.

Butter Thieves Become Menace in Small Towns

Bandits have found a new and easy way to golden gains, by robbing creameries of the gilt-edge products. One at Rice has been located a couple of times, and the second raid was made a few days ago on the Clear Lake creamery. The robbery was not discovered until the morning after which gives the pirates plenty of time to get to the Twin cities and unload. If the police can unearth the 'fence" a roundup of the yeggs might follow. They have become a serious menace to creameries in the smaller towns without night police. It is up to them to either take out theft insurance or provide a night watchman. The motto of the thieves is: "We are getting butter and butter, night by night, in any old way."

Sapiro Advisor to Marketing Director

Aaron Sapiro, nationally known authority on co-operative marketing, has been elected to and has accepted a position as legal advisor to the Marketing Department of the American Farm Bureau Federation, at the head of which is Walter Peteet. Announcement of the appointment was made by J. F. Reed, president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and a member of the national board of directors.

CORPORATIONS OWN CARS

Some 600,000 cars in this country, say Firestone men, are owned by corporations. Most of these vehicles are for the use of city salesmen, superintendents and inspectors. This is nearly as many automobiles as there are in the whole of Great Britain for all purposes.

'The largest buyers of American-made automobiles," says a Firestone bulletin, "among other nations, are Canada, Cuba, British Indies and the United Kingdom."

Start of an Unpleasant Evening.

"Oh, how I wish I were young again!" sighed Mrs. Martyr of Martyrsville.

"So do I," agreed her husband. "Say just about a year younger than when I married you."

Possible Explanation.

Mr. Newhubby: "Of course, dear, it's only a rough idea of mine, but don't you think it's possible there was such a thing as a typographical error in that cookery manual of yours?"

According to Schedule.

Uncle Theodore, who was visiting, wished to talk to Betty's father at the office. Not being able to find the telephone directory, he appealed to his little niece for information regarding the number.

"Betty, what does your mother ask for when she talks to Daddy at the office?"

"Money," replied the child promptly.

Starts Bus Line

Commencing Tuesday this week, G. I. Fellman put into operation a bus line which will serve between Thief River Falls, St. Hilaire and Red Lake Falls at present. If conditions warrant, Mr. Fellman plans to extend to take in Crookston later. DEPOT LOCATION TO BE DISCUSSED AT CLUB MEETING TOMORROW NOON

Great Northern Plans to Place New Depot Between Main Avenue and LaBree Unless Citizens Object.

Superintendent O'Brien of the Great Northern Railway, in the city this forenoon, informed President Froehlich of the Commercial club that he would be in Thief River Falls tomorrow to discuss with business men the location of the new depot upon which construction will be commenced forthwith.

The present plans of the company are to build the new depot across the street from the present structure, or about midway between LaBree and Main avenues. Two reasons are advanced for such plan, one being the convenience of using the old depot during the construction of the new, and the further argument is used that the proposed new location would place the depot between two paved streets.

It is proposed to make the passenger end of the depot front on Main avenue as is now the case, with a parking space between the depot and the street where shrubs and trees may be planted to make the grounds more ornamental. Mr. O'Brien will be in the city tomorrow and will meet with the business men at the regular noon luncheon, at which time the permanent location of the depot will be settled.

Unless serious objections are presented to the proposed location by the business men of the city, the new depot, as above suggested, will be placed between LaBree and Main.

Former Local Student Dies in Cedar Township

A former Thief River Falls high school student, Merle Weston Thomas, died at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thomas, in Cedar township, Marshall county, on Wednesday, April 24, from complications arising from an operation for appendicitis performed in February last. Merle was a Freshman in Lincoln high school during '19 and '20 and had since been attending the Middle River high school.

He was born at Garwin, Iowa, Jan. 16, 1906, and is survived by his parents and four brothers, namely Evart, Stanley, John and Clifford, and one sister, Sylvia. A brother, Harold, died at the age of 7.

The remains were brought to the home of Mrs. W. K. Wikel of this city, an aunt, and the funeral exercises were conducted from her home last Friday afternoon, Rev. J. B. Smith of the M. E. church conducting the services. Students from the Middle River high school acted as pall bearers and flowers were strewn upon the casket by the high school girls. The burial was at Greenwood cemetery.

Merle was a studious and popular young man, whose class mates held him in the highest esteem, and his death is sincerely mourned by a legion of friends in the vicinity of his home.

Penney Store Manager to Attend Convention

Semi-Annual Convention of J. C. Penney Store Managers Opens Tomorrow at St. Paul Hotel.

H. E. Nelson, manager of the J. C. Penney Department store, leaves this evening for St. Paul, where he will participate in the semi-annual convention of Penney store managers, which opens tomorrow at St. Paul, headquarters being at the St. Paul Hotel.

Following the convention at St. Paul, the managers will go to Chicago and New York, where they will assist members of the firm in selecting summer and fall goods for the large chain of stores scattered throughout the northwest. Mr. Nelson expects to be absent from the city about two weeks.

"The true felicity of life is to be free from perturbations," said the wise Seneca. Yet we are forever permitting the clash of conflicting and agitating pettinesses to break in upon the serenities of cheerfulness and quiet meditation; listening to noises when we might be attuned to eternal harmonies.

A man was listening to a sermon by radio, and he stepped on a tack. How glad he was that he was not in church.

State Avenue Residence Destroyed By Flames

A fire which presumably caught from an oil stove, totally destroyed the story and a half residence of Mrs. Marie Sherven at 610 State avenue north Monday evening. The contents of the house, including the wearing apparel belonging to the family, was also a total loss.

The fire alarm sounded at 7 o'clock, the department promptly getting on the ground and soon had a stream of water playing on the flames. Chief Midderigh asserts that the fire was beyond control when the fire fighters arrived on the scene, the flames shooting out from the building a distance of more than forty feet. Indications were to the effect that the fire started from an oil stove which was left burning in the kitchen.

Mrs. Sherven was not at home when the fire started and does not have a clear idea as to the origin of the fire. The building and household goods were insured for $1,500. Mrs. Sherven is a widow and has four children, all all of whom were absent when the fire occurred.

Arthur Froseth Dies From Heart Attack

Funeral of Young Son of Alderman Froseth to Take Place Friday Afternoon at 2:00 o'Clock

Arthur Froseth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Froseth, of this city, passed away Monday evening at the Swedenburg Hospital Clinic, as the result of an heart attack which followed a three weeks siege of inflammatory rheumatism.

The deceased young man was born at Cyrus, Pope county, on December 10, 1898. He is survived by his wife and two young children, Phyllis and Ardith, together with his parents, five brothers and sisters, all of whom reside in this city except a sister who resides in Minneapolis.

Funeral exercises will be conducted Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Zion church by the pastor, Rev. George Larson. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery.

Arthur Froseth grew to manhood in this city, having been a student in the local schools, and he was well liked by all who knew him. The bereaved members of his family have the sincere sympathy of the community in their hour of sorrow.

Organizing of Wool Men Postponed to Later Date

The meeting of wool men of the county scheduled to take place at the Commercial Club rooms last Thursday did not materialize in sufficient size to warrant the projected organization of the county wool men. Prof. J. H. Hay was in the city to address the meeting and after conferring with those present, he decided to come here at a later date, probably after spring work is over, and making a renewed attempt to organize a wool pool.

LEONARD THUNE, ALBERT LEA MAN, CHOSEN NEW HIGH SCHOOL COACH

The school authorities feel very fortunate in having signed as teacher and coach the coming year Leonard Thune of Albert Lea. Mr. Thune played center for Albert Lea high school in 1919 when they won the state championship in basket ball. He was also chosen all state high school center that year for Minnesota. The four following years he has played center on the South Dakota State College team of Brookings, and has been the unanimous choice each year for all state collegiate center. One year he was captain of the team that won the conference championship. The past year he coached the girls' basket ball team at South Dakota State College. He is looked upon as one of the two or three most outstanding basket ball men that the northwest has produced in the last years.

Mr. Thune has also been a regular member of the Albert Lea high school football team and of the South Dakota State College team. On the college team his position has been end, to which position he was also assigned on the mythical all state team. Last year their football team won the championship of the conference which is made up of South Dakota University, South Dakota State College, North Dakota University, North Dakota Agricultural College, Morningside University, Creighton University, Omaha, Des Moines University, and Nebraska Wesleyan. This spring Mr. Thune is assisting in the coaching of spring football at South Dakota State College.

Mr. Thune comes unusually well recommended. In addition to coaching he will teach science.

Trade Tourists to Spend Night in Thief River Falls

More than one hundred Minneapolis business men are expected to visit Thief River Falls on May 22, according to J. E. Tatam, secretary of the Trade Tour Committee of the Minneapolis Civic & Commerce Association, who visited here the first of the week.

This will be the eleventh tour into the territory in which Minneapolis does business. The Trade Tour special train will leave Minneapolis May 21 over the Great Northern Railway and will visit fifteen cities on that day, spending the night at Fergus Falls. From Fergus Falls they will tour northward to Warren and then to Thief River Falls, where Tuesday evening will be spent. On Wednesday, Red Lake Falls and cities on the Northern Pacific Railway, as far as Manitoba Junction and then to Wadena, will be visited. The following day the Minneapolis travelers will turn northward again and visit Park Rapids, Walker, Bemidji, Cass Lake, Grand Rapids and other communities on the Duluth-Grand Forks division of the Great Northern. Friday will be spent on the Mesaba Range. The trip will end Saturday with visits to Cloquet and other points along the Northern Pacific to Minneapolis.

Mr. Tatam said, "While the main purpose of our tour into western and northern Minnesota is to make new friendships with the residents in that territory and to exchange friendly advice on business conditions and methods, we also aim to have a good time at every stop and to leave in each town the thought that the city business man, country merchant or banker, and the farmer are all working together for the Northwest.'

The Minneapolis men who are going on this trip represent all the principal lines of commerce, manufacturing and finance in Minnneapolis. They are not visiting the towns and cities in this territory with the idea of selling anything. Their main purpose is to get acquainted with people with whom they do business—only those people whose products are bought by Minneapolis people and those who buy goods handled in Minneapolis.

The Trade Tourists will be accompanied by Michael M. Jalma and his band. This was formerly the 151st Field Artillery Band of the Rainbow Division. The band will lead the march which the tourists will make in a body through every town in which they stop and will play a short concert. At each town a speaker representing Minneapolis will speak briefly in reply to the greetings of the local committee.

WOMEN OF CITY ENTER STRONG PROTEST AGAINST VANDALISM

Destruction of Trees, Shrubs and Lawns Declared By Woman's Club to Be Menace to City Beautification.

The meeting of the Woman's Club at the Girls' Community Club rooms Monday evening resolved itself into an indignation meeting when various members of the club related how vandals had torn up flowers, mutilated shrubs and trees and trampled their lawns in times gone by. The discussion arose during the interim when the meeting awaited the arrival of Prof. McCall of Crookston, scheduled to address the club upon the cultivation and care of trees and shrubbery.

There was no mincing of words by the ladies who related instances of vandalism which had left favorite shrubs and trees, cared for and cultivated by patient hands at great expense of time and money, totally destroyed by tearing off branches and often times pulled out by the roots and left to wither and die. It was stated that fences did not serve to protect property owners from such depradations, and the ladies agreed that drastic steps are necessary if the property owners of the city are to be protected in their efforts to beautify their premises.

It was suggested that the school children be appealed to, but, as one lady suggested, it is not always the younger boys and girls who are to blame in this matter but often times it is grownups who commit the offenses referred to. Young men and young women, out for a lark, are held to be responsible for much of the trouble complained of, and steps may be taken to bring some of the offenders to a realization of the damage to property owners unless the practice stops.

Prof. McCall arrived at the meeting late, due to bad roads, but made up for the delay by delivering an excellent address upon the care and cultivation of shrubs and trees, devoting considerable time to the landscape possibilities surrounding the home.

Talk of Baseball Club Rife in Sporting Circles of City

Members of Legion Propose Organization of Team to Consist of Strictly "Home Talent."

The "talk around town" where the sports of the city have congregated this week has revolved about the organization of a baseball club. The members of the American Legion have been most active in promoting the new organization, which will, it is asserted, be a strictly "home talent" affair.

Practice at the fair grounds this week has brought out considerable talent of a high order and challenges will be issued in the near future to the aggregations of nearby cities.

May 17th, Norway's Natal Day, to Be Observed Here

The Sons of Norway will observe the 17th of May, Norwegian holiday, with appropriate exercises to be carried out at their lodge rooms in this city next Thursday evening. Quite an elaborate program, which includes music, singing and speaking, will be followed by refreshments and dancing.

H. O. Chommie will deliver the address of the evening and a committee of lodge members, which also includes the Daughters of Norway, are busy arranging an attractive program. Invitations for the affair will be issued this week.

Arrives From Denmark.

Anker Hansen arrived in this city last Friday from Nakskov, Denmark, intending to make this city his future home. The young man was employed in a bank in the old country as a bookkeeper and he will seek similar employment here. He made this city his destination because he had read in the Danish newspapers of Senator Hansen, who hails from the same city in Denmark but is not a relative. The young man studied English in the old country and uses the language of his adopted country quite fluently.

SUGAR BEET PLANTING TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK, SAYS MR. MOORE

Carload of Drills Unloaded This Week For Use of Local Planters—Belgian and Mexican Labor Will Be Shipped In.

Earl Moore of the Mason City Sugar Company has been in the city this week arranging for the unloading of planting machinery and other utensils to be used in the cultivation of beets in this territory. In the shipment was also unloaded blankets and camping outfits for the large number of laborers who will begin to arrive in the city next week.

Mr. Moore informs The Tribune that planting will be general next week, experience having demonstrated that early planting is preferable. Any time after the frost period has disappeared is the desirable time.

The labor situation, which has given local sugar beet men some concern, will be fully cared for, according to Mr. Moore, who asserts that his company has secured hundreds of Belgian and Mexican laborers who will begin their work at an early date.

Fifteen Belgian families will arrive in the city this week, to be followed in the next two or three weeks by approximately three hundred Mexicans who are now enroute north from various points in Texas.

Lucile Hermanson Plays in Pleasing Piano Recital

Miss Lucile Hermanson of this city, who gives great promise as a pianist, gave her first recital Saturday evening at the high school auditorium under the direction of her teacher, Miss Doris Halvorson.

The little lady, who has seen but twelve summers, was greeted by a good sized audience which thoroughly enjoyed the excellent program of sixteen numbers. Miss Hermanson showed talent of high order, giving wonderful promise of future greatness as an artist. Her technique was clear and accurate and she played with much expression.

"Jazzmania" is Best Ever Put Over By Mae Murray

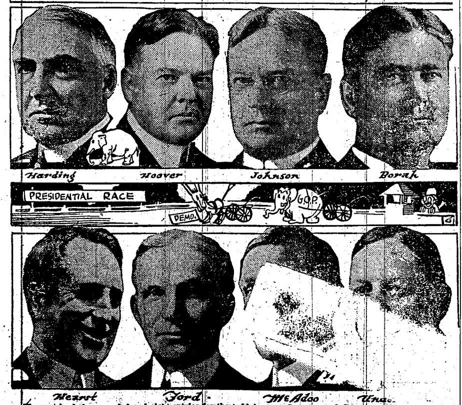
Mae Murray has done the best work of her photoplay career in her latest Metro picture, "Jazzmania," presented Sunday and Monday at the Lyceum. The amazing versatility of this gifted screen star was never more fully evidenced than in this film, and it is by all odds the most popular and entertaining of her pictures.

"Jazzmania" has everything in it. As a matter of fact, it is more than one photoplay. It has its background for the most part in the colorful kingdom of Jassmania, a tiny Balkan principality. It shifts to Paris for a while, then to the Casino at Monte Carlo, and finally to New York. Spectacular scenes follow each other with incredible swiftness, and no sooner has one glimpsed a scene of rare beauty than another is flashed on the screen in its stead. "Jazzmania" is really a New York Hippodrome of filmdom.

Scientists are worrying now because they fear the world is drying up. But anyway, the political spouters are in no such danger.

Entries in Our 1924 Presidential Derby



The post bugle has sounded and eight entries for the United States' four year classic, "The Presidential Derby," are already limbering up and jockeying for advantageous positions.

The four wearing "GOP" colors are headed by the favorite, President Harding. His opponents in the trial heat up to the National convention are Senator Hiram Johnson, of California; Senator Borah, of Idaho and Secretary of Commerce, Herbe[illegible] of California.

Wearers of Democratic colors are going to the po[illegible] with Henry Ford, of Detroit, and William Randolph Hearst, of New York, slightly overruling Former Secretary of Treasury, William McAdoo, of New York, and Senator Oscar Underwood, of Alabama, as favorites to win in the national convention sprint.

Can you pick the winners—and the winner?

INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT TO BENEFIT BY LEGISLATION

Will Receive Better Than $28,000 as Against $12,000 Received Under Old Law. $7,000 Deficit Taken Care of By Appropriation.

The most important piece of legislation so far as the schools of Thief River Falls are concerned—and so far as any school district for that matter is concerned that has low valuation and a consequent high tax rate—that was enacted by the last legislature was the socalled Supplemental Aid Law whereby the state agrees to make up any difference when a 20 mill levy does not produce $40 for each child in attendance forty or more days during the school year. A 20 mill levy in Thief River Falls will raise approximately $21 or $22 a child. The state will, therefore, allow this district $18 or $19 for each apportionment child. Since our enrollment is close to 1,600, it will mean that Thief River Falls will benefit to the extent of approximately $28,000 next year.

A striking thing about this law is that it did not obligate the state to any further extent than that to which it was obligated under the old law. It simply takes the same money that was available under the old law—and redistributes it. The wealthy districts will lose what aid they were receiving and the poorer districts will have their aid increased. Senator Hansen was an ardent supporter of this measure. Last year the state was unable to pay the amounts provided by law and each district, therefore, received only 74 per cent of the money that it had planned in building its budget. For the city of Thief River Falls this amounted to a little better than $7,000. This deficit was made up by the last legislature and can be expected by the local school district as soon as the money becomes available.

Another item of which mention has already been made in the papers is the law reducing the interest rate on certain state loans from five to four per cent. The $84,000 which was borrowed for building the Knox happens to be such a loan and our district will, therefore, benefit to the extent of $840 a year until the bonds commence to mature and thereafter it will benefit to the extent of one per cent on the principal until the entire amount has been paid.

Lloyd Deserves Prominent Place in Hall of Fame For New Play, Grandma's Boy

"Grandma's Boy," Harold Loyd's newest comedy in five parts, and his most ambitious attempt for Associated Exhibitors, comes to the Lyceum theatre Friday and Saturday. It is the comedy that Bob Sherwood in "Life" in would win for Loyd a "room and a bath in the Hall of Fame."

The story, which is by Hal Roach, Sam Taylor and Jean Havez, has for its theme a subject as serious as the regeneration of a coward, but its seriousness adds to rather than detracts from the fun.

Lloyd is the Boy who, all his life, has been gripped by fear. One day, after his weakness has been driven very forcibly home to him, and he is filled with shame, his little old-fashioned grandma tells him a marvelous story of how his grandfather, who had distinguished himself in the Civil war, overcame his cowardice with the aid of a charm given him by a gipsy.

Grandma gives the Boy the charm, and what he does then is too good to tell. Suffice to say that the boy finds that courage is a matter of self-confidence, and he comes out on top.

The cast in support of Harold Lloyd in "Grandma's Boy" presents Mildred Davis as the Girl, Anna Townsend as the Grandmother, Charles Stevenson as the Rival, Dick Sutherland as the Rolling Stone, and Noah Young as the Sheriff.

St. Paul Business Men to Visit Thief River Falls

Thief River Falls has been included in the 1923 Trade Tour in which about 100 of the leading wholesale merchants and manufacturers are visiting eighty cities of the northwest, during the week of May 21 to 26. They will arrive in Thief River Falls at 3:45 o'clock and will remain for one hour. It is announced by those in charge of the trip that it has been the boast of the business men that their train has always been run on absolute schedule time.

The trip will be conducted under the direction of the St. Paul Association, to which all the important jobbers and manufacturers of the city belong.

These excursions have become a regular feature of the Association's program and have been conducted annually for many years. The purpose of the trip is to give the heads of the various wholesale and manufacturing houses of St. Paul an opportunity to meet the business men of the various cities visited. The trip is purely social in character, there being positively no solicitation for business. The trip is made by special train which carries a full equipment of diners and sleeping cars, the first because meals are necessarily taken while the train is running from one town to another, and the sleeping accommodations because the itinerary often requires train movement at night.

The Trade Tour will start from St. Paul Monday morning, May 21, evening stops being made in the following towns: Crookston, Minn., Grafton, Grand Forks, Devils Lake, New Rockford. N. D.; Long Prairie, Minn.

The Sith Infantry Band of 25 pieces will accompany the party and concerts will be given at each stop. A feature of the visit will be the parade of the entire party through the main streets immediately upon arrival.

What's the Matter With Staples?

There is nothing the matter with Staples except that too many of us get up in the morning and climb into sox and underwear made in Utah, pants and slippers made in New York and shovel Ohio coal into fathomless Michigan furnaces, bake our flapjacks from flour ground in the Pillsbury mills and smear them with butter synthetically produced in a St. Paul refinery, and finish our breakfast on bacon packed in Chicago; sweep our floors with St. Louis brooms; eat ice cream made in Wadena and drink spring water bottled in Detroit, write our epistles on letterheads printed in St. Cloud, sit in church pews made in Grand Rapids, and are laid to rest in caskets that come from Eau Claire. Otherwise, we are strong for co-operation.—Staples World.

To Check Drainage Accounts.

Sam L. Carroll, assistant state public examiner, arrived this (Thursday) morning to examine the accounts of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy district board as required by law. The examination must be made of the books of the treasurer, Sam E. Hunt, before the board is in a position to make its final report to the district court. The outstanding drainage district warrants will not be paid until the funds are received from all the counties comprising the district. The state supreme court has ordered the payment of the money.—Red Lake Falls Gazette.

Jonas Johnson, while running out lines over some land on the main shore one day last week, came upon the carcasses of five deer scattered over the deep snow in a space of forty rods square. This wholesale slaughter was done by wolves and the fragments of hide and bones indicated that the deer were attacked from all sides by a large number of wolves unawares, says Jonas, as the snow is so deep in the woods that deer or moose become an easy prey to the denizens of the forests. The eight deer seen in that vicinity a week before by the settlers may be these deer slain.—Warroad Pioneer.

Henry Houser of Lanesboro, Minn., recently made an interesting experiment, the first of its kind ever known. When he was filling an incubator with hens' eggs recently he placed with them an egg just laid by a canary bird owned by his wife. This week a tiny canary picked its way out of the shell, seemingly well satisfied with its electric mother. The bird was placed in the cage containing other young canaries and is thriving.

The High-Grade Gasoline

Gasoline Service is expressed in terms of mileage. When you buy 10 gallons of gasoline, in reality you are buying 150 miles of service, if you get 15 miles to the gallon.

Gasoline becomes a propelling force only when you cause it to vaporize and mix it with air.

The service which you receive is in exact ratio to the manner in which the gasoline vaporizes.

Red Crown Vaporizes to the Last Drop

that's why there is no waste. Red Crown has a Perfect Chain of Boiling Point Fractions, adjusted so as to vaporize at just the correct temperature to produce instant starting Winter or Summer — a quick pickup — smooth acceleration—tremendous sustained pulling power — racing speed if you want it and a maximum of mileage.

All of which is summed up in two words "Real Service."

Minnesota Reports Biggest Road Year

Trunk Route Program More Than Half Completed, Report Shows.

Minnesota trunk highway improvements last year included 1,621 miles of grading, 1,335 miles of graveling, 147 miles of paving and 185 new bridges, exclusive of betterments from maintenance operations extending over the entire 7,000-mile trunk highway system. The figures are from the annual report of Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, which is being circulated this week.

New progress records made on state highway work are said to be equalled or exceeded by those on secondary or local roads throughout the state, although only partial compilations of reports by county and township road officials are available. Relieved of the heavy expense of improving and maintaining the main highways which formerly took an average of 80 per cent of the road and bridge funds, it was explained, counties are left with five times as much money with which to push local road betterments.

Highway officials said that 1922 was a high record year of highway development in Minnesota. Failure of the highway bond proposals in the recent legislature, as already made plain, means that the 1922 progress on the trunk system will not be approached this year or next, the large part of available funds to be taken for upkeep and repairs and little to be left for further improvements.

Rapid progress to date under the new state highway program is shown by comparison with improvement totals listed by counties when the trunk highways were turned over to the state. The state in two years has spread improvements measuring 5,015 miles, compared to 2,936 miles reported as improved when counties were relieved of the responsibility of the trunk routes.

The summary follows:

Miles—	At Start	New Plan	Total
Graded	1,499	2,267	3,766
Graveled	1,371	2,398	3,769
Paved	66	350	416

In addition, there has been much new bridge construction, state maintenance forces reshaped 982 miles and resurfaced 804 miles, and patrol forces carried early good roads benefits to every part of the big system.

Although less than 4,000 miles of the 7,000 miles of trunk highways are completely improved, surfacing doubling on the grading, a conservative estimate is that the state highway program is more than half finished.

A significant feature of the highway report is a showing that more than three-fourths of the money used on the state trunk highways under the new plan has been county reimbursement bond funds and federal aid.

The Good Roads Amendment No. 1 principle was one for a state highway system to be improved without regard to county or other lines. A legislative trend in the opposite direction is disclosed by the figures and its continuance in the extension of the county reimbursement bond law and the failure of the trunk highway bond bill in the recent session.

The requirement that reimbursement funds be used in the counties issuing the bonds has resulted in much disconnected improvement on the system. A further tendency is to increase the mileage of paving, county boards urging use of bond funds for hard-surfacing because other improvements may be looked for under the regular state program.

The commissioner's report makes no direct comment on these matters but they are plainly apparent from the tabulations.

Of the average dollar of income, 66.5 cents went into new construction, 27.3 cents into maintenance, 4.8 cents for equipment and 1.4 cents for general administration expenses.

Division of the construction dollar follows: grading, 30.8 cents; graveling, 22.6 cents; paving 23.5 cents; bridges, culverts, etc., 18.3 cents, and many other items such as clearing, guard rails, etc., 4.8 cents.

Use of the average dollar expended for maintenance is shown in two ways —by class of work and by commodity. Division by work shows: patrol cost 50.8 cents; repairs and replacements 23.4 cents; betterments 13.8 cents, office and field expenses 7.8 cents and special items 4.2 cents. Labor took 76.7 cents of the average maintenance dollar, according to the second distribution, and of the remainder 15.5 cents for general operation and equipment items and 7.8 cents for materials.

Mile costs of state trunk highway improvements averaged the lowest of record in the 1922 figures given in the report. Grading was contracted at an average of $6,030 a mile, $420 more than in 1921 but less in consideration of larger percentages of rock excavating and other unusual work which run up the figures. Gravel surfacing was contracted at $2,793 a mile on the average against $3,383 the year before, and paving at $28.276 compared with $35,520 paid the year before.

Trunk highway averages of maintenance costs are given as follows: dirt roads $278.90 a mile; old gravel roads $511.65 a mile; new gravel roads $368.86 a mile, and paving at $136.30 a mile.

Commissioner Babcock's 1922 report accounts for the year's highway funds in great detail(by counties, trunk routes, revenue sources and so forth. It contains the full traffic census report, tabulations on state aid roads, numerous illustrations and other informative matter.

The report covers the full year and its pubilcation is regarded as prompt inasmuch as statements from sixteen divisions were necessarily collected and distributed in the many tabulations it contains.

Railway Earnings Not Guaranteed, As General Public Wrongly Believes

"There are some fallacies concerning the railroads so commonly urged in argument that I want to discuss them, largely because I believe many of our troubles arise from misunderstandings," says Ralph Budd, president of the Great Northern.

"Probably the most common error is the assertion that the earnings of the railroads are guaranteed by the government. The fact is that while the management of the railroads was restored to the individual companies March 1, 1920, the federal control rental was paid until Sept. 1, 1920. Since then there has been no obligation on the part of the government to make up any shortage of earnings and no such payments have been made by the government on claims advanced by the railroads, although the earnings of the railroads have in fact fallen short by one billion dollars of what the Interstate Commerce Commission had designated as a fair return.

"The Transportation Act declares it the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix railroad rates at such a figure as in its judgment will enable the railroads as a whole or by regions to earn a fair return upon the value of the property used for transportation purposes. Such rate has been fixed at 5¾ per cent, for the present, and may be changed from time to time by the Commission.

"The public interest is carefully protected because if the rates fixed fail to provide a fair return, the railroads have no recourse and must stand the deficiency, while if any road shall earn in excess of a fair return the law requires payment of one-half of such excess to the government.

"It has been stated the railroads were allowed a return on an amount far in excess of their value; in other words, on watered stock. The facts are that the Interstate Commerce Commission not only determines what a fair rate of return is, but also determines the valuation upon which the fair rate of return shall be calculated.

"The valuation is based on a physical inventory and pre-war costs, the amount of stocks and bonds outstanding being wholly disregarded. This valuation is being made in the most painstaking manner, and after eight years of work, at a cost of $90,000,000, it is nearing completion.

"Based on what has been done, the Interstate Commerce Commission has set forth a tentative valuation of $18,-900,000,000 for all the railroads in the United States. This figure exceeds the par value of all railroad stocks and bonds outstanding, but is less than the property investment of the railroads of the United States."

The Interstate Commerce Commission issued on February 23, 1923 a report of its Bureau of Statistics on the "Results of Railroad Operation in 1922." The facts contained in the report are worthy of careful study by every person who wants to learn the truth about railroads. The report states:

1. That the railroads in 1922 had a net railway operating income of $777,000,000.

2. That in view of the fact that the fixed charges of the railroads, including interest, rents and similar deductions, are around $6[illegible]9,000,000, "it will be seen that, regardless of any disputes about valuation, the roads did not earn enough in 1922, even if account be taken of the non-operating income which, before Federal control, averaged about $200,000,000 for the Class I operating steam roads."

3. That a return of 5¾ per cent on the Commission's tentative valuation of Class I roads would be $1.116,000,000 annually, whereas the net railway operating income for 1922 was $777,000,000. In other words, the railroads failed by nearly $340,000,000 to earn the 5¾ per cent allowed by law.

4. That "from the standpoint of the public, which is interested in the adequacy of the service, and in the fairness of the charges, two facts stand out prominently; one, an enormous traffic has recently been handled in spite of the strike handicaps; two, the average revenue per ton mile is pretty well in line with the general level of wholesale prices and there is no reason to believe that the general level of rates is retarding the business revival."

GREAT NORTHERN OPERATING REVENUES FOR YEAR 1922:

1.	Freight Transportation	$ 78,065,562.90
2.	Passenger Transportation	15,112,4[illegible].27

24.	Annual Interest on Funded Debt	8,832,599.60
25.	Left for Dividends	$ 8,443,998.24

It is owned by about 44,000 stockholders. A dividend at the rate of 3 1-3 per cent per annum would require $8,333,333.33.

SENATOR NELSON.

The death of Senator Knute Nelson removes from the stage of Minnesota's political action its most outstanding figure. The Senator held office continuously for more than fifty years, not because he was particularly brilliant, but because he was Minnesota's hardest worker in public office. It is said of him that "he gave Minnesota and the nation the best he had."

Knute Nelson came to this country a penniless immigrant boy with his widowed mother from Norway. From the bottom of the ladder he fought his way to the very top, passing away at the ripe age of eighty, honored as one of the foremost men of the nation. The immigrant boy had abundant faith in his adopted country and its opportunities and he improved every moment of his life, never faltering in his determination to make something of himself and to give the country his best serivce. And so it was that as soldier, statesman and citizen he lived the simple life, giving serious thought to the tasks before him, speaking his mind freely and openly without fear or hope of favor.

No man worked harder than Senator Nelson in the effort to arrive at a proper understanding of the problems of government, and no man fought with greater tenacity for the ideals he thought right. His ear was not attuned to catch popular favor. He strove to be the right kind of a leader and was never swerved from his purpose by noisy opposition.

Senator Nelson died with his boots on, just as he had often expressed a desire to pass away, retaining his wonderful faculties to the last, and he will be laid away in the family burial lot at Alexandria today with the honor and respect due one who was in body and soul a great American, an inspiring commoner and one of whom it can truly be said "he differed with none except to differ honestly."

A SPOTLESS TOWN.

The Tribune cannot too insistently urge upon the people of Thief River Falls a ready compliance with the clean-up proclamation issued last week by Mayor Brattland. There is much to commend the clean-up movement aside from the civic pride which goes with well kept lawns and neat, clean back yards. Cleanliness pays in more ways than one. It is next to Godliness.

But let us consider the matter from the standpoint of dollars and cents. This week officials of the beet sugar company, whose favor we earnestly solicit, are among us. Let us show them what a nice town this is to live in.

In a few days the officials of the Great Northern will be here to plan their new depot, and perhaps they will build a structure commensurate with the importance of the city if we put on our best bib and tucker before they arrive.

Within a couple of weeks several hundred merchants from Minneapolis and St. Paul will parade our streets. Let's send them home with the impression that this city is not only the most progressive, forward looking city on their itinerary—but far and away the cleanest looking.

From now on we are going to have hundreds of visitors from neighboring towns. They will come by train and by auto, but no matter how they come—let's have our face washed nice and clean when they arrive.

We can lose nothing—and can gain much—by each outdoing the other in the matter of making Thief River Falls the spotless town.

THE REAL GAMBLERS.

According to the latest statistics obtainable, 71 per cent of the people of this country are now city residents. It is stated upon reliable authority that 8,000 farms were abandoned in the northwest during the past two years. It is a tough admission to have to make—but one which is probably pretty close to the truth. This exodus from farm to city is due, of course, to the high wages now being paid in all branches of industry, while the farmer is performing long hours of hard work at an actual loss. But we firmly believe the pendulum is about to swing in the other direction. It is not possible that more than a million and a half of people could leave the farms within the space of a year without affecting the food production of the country. And so we look for prices to be much higher because of this fact alone. Then there is the other angle to consider. The farmers have been studying and thinking a whole lot during these four years with the result that they now propose to adopt business methods by which they may have something to say concerning the prices of their products.

Is there anything fundamentally wrong about this? As the matter now stands the producer of food is the greatest gambler on earth and he generally finds himself with a deuce in the hole. Which in gambling parlance means that he is very much out of luck. Why should not the farmer have the assurance of a fair price for his grain or potatoes when the seed is planted in the spring? How else can he estimate his season's overhead expense and be reasonably sure of a gain?

That is all co-operation means so far as the farmer is concerned. A mythical world market has been fixing his prices for him, and supply and demand have reduced him to the levels of a pauper. Farming will never be good business to engage in until the producer can say to the world: My wheat cost $1.00 a bushel to produce. If I am to pay my hired help, taxes, interest, my children's education and a fair return upon my investment, it must bring $1.50 per bushel. That would not only be good business but it would be in line with the business methods of every other successful industry on the face of the American continent.

UP TO THE PARENTS.

The problem discussed the other evening by members of the Woman's Club—the protection of lawns and shrubbery from the depredations of vandals—is one that comes squarely before the parents of the city. We cannot believe that any considerable number of boys or girls would deliberately destroy a beautiful shrub or trample a well kept lawn if their home surroundings were of the right sort. It is all pretty much a matter of thoughtlessness, rather than of malicious intent.

But there is little comfort in reflection of any kind on the part of the patient person who devotes days and weeks to beautifying his premises, only to find some morning that vandals have appeared like a storm in the night—leaving nothing but havoc and ruin in their wake. Surely much can be accomplished by teaching the young folks to respect the property of others, but failing in this there is only one alternative so far as the people of the city are concerned and that is to invoke the strong arm of the law to the end that it may be safe to have a beautiful yard in this city without inviting invasion by an army of destruction.

The person who argues that dairying is being overdone, or is dangerously near that point, appears to be talking through his hat. Last week Tuesday, for example, a cargo of 5,320,000 pounds of butter arrived in New York from Auckland, New Zealand. It was also announced that a fleet of butter-carrying ships are enroute to New York with 10,000,000 pounds of New Zealand butter. New Zealand is not the only country shipping butter to the United States by any means, and we have a long ways to go before we can fill our domestic needs.—Roseau Region.

While we are fussing around to re-establish the world markets, the people of other countries are taking full advantage of the situation by shipping their surplus to America, which now is, always has been and always will be, the best market in the world. If we want to get back to normalcy, the way to do it is to re-establish the purchasing power of the American farmer and there will be no further complaint over hard times.

It is hard to be optimistic in the face of conditions which are most distressing, but if there ever was a time when Pennington county farmers should hang onto their possessions it is now. Things cannot go on as they have in the past, and we firmly believe the dawn of brighter days are here for the hard pressed farmers. In the present instance as in the past, it will be the man who refuses to be discouraged who will win out. Farm prices are inevitably going to be better and those who are flocking to the centers of industry to reap the benefits of high wages may profit for the time being—but they will rue the day they left the farm.

The Tribune hopes the plans of the park board of the city for a swimming pool will be consummated this summer. We can think of no one thing which will bring joy and recreation to so many for the amount of money to be expended.

It is passing strange that President Harding has never been able to find a real dirt farmer in the great northwest capable of serving on the Federal Reserve Board. There are several men right here in Pennington county, Mr. President, who would grace a place on the board with becoming dignity and outstanding ability.—And, by the way, Minnesota, which contributed a handsome majority to the election of Mr. Harding, has not fared well at the administration pie counter up to this time.

The non-stop dancing record of 107 hours is held for the present by a man. The young man who now holds the record was hard pressed by a number of fool girls for the honor of being the "biggest fool" in the United States, and we trust the "weaker sex" will allow this doubtful honor to remain where it is.

We were much surprised to receive a birthday card the other day from Bro. Welles of the Worthington Globe, announcing the fact that he had passed three score and ten. Bro. Welles is as sprightly and chipper as a high school flapper, and his excellent newspaper, which is always highly militant and interesting, continues to improve with age. Our hand is extended in best wishes for many years of usefulness to one of the best fellows in the editorial profession.

The Crookston Leader is the latest newspaper to be involved in financial troubles, a receiver having been applied for in Judge Watts' court by the former owner of the plant. The labor unions of Crookston have been operating the paper for some time in conjunction with the farmer stockholders.

We hope the New Settlers' Association has not decided to go out of business. The movement was in the proper direction and we believe its revival would accomplish much good for Pennington county.

John R. Mitchell has resigned as a member of the Federal Reserve Board. He probably discovered that he was not qualified to go out and teach the farmers of the country how to run their farms.

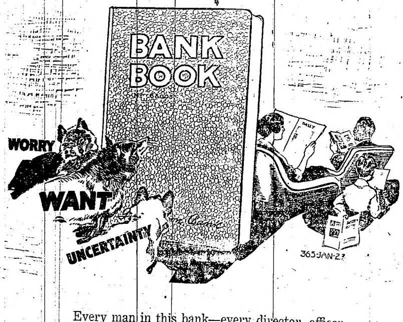
The Bank that Helps



Every man in this bank—every director, officer, teller and clerk—is working with the spirit of helpfulness to customers.

We know that people want to do their banking where they are known and understood and liked.

The routine of deposit and loan transactions is to us only the body of banking. Personal relation to every customer is the soul of it.

The steady growth of this bank is based on the fact that it has really helped customers build up their business.

One Year of College in Thief Fiver Falls

Arrangements are being made to organize the local teacher training department of the high school on strictly graduate basis. Heretofore the local school authorities have been authorized to admit high school seniors into the department, but next year all candidates must be high school graduates. The department is maintained by the state and may be looked upon as an extension of the state teachers' colleges in so far as a graduate from a high school normal training department which is organized on a graduate basis will after having taught eight months be given credit for a full years' work at any teachers' college. For those who anticipate teaching, the normal training department in our local high school provides the opportunity to take a year of college at home. When one stops to consider how much it costs to go away to college, the advantage of such an arrangement is readily apparent. Quite a number of the present class have already filed their applications as have also a number of graduates of the high schools in the nearby towns.

Mr. Simley is particularly anxious to have all those who plan on taking the course confer with him at once so that definite plans may be made as to the type of department to organize.

PIANO TUNING

THE average owner of a piano uses less judgment in caring for it than any other piece of furniture he possesses. A good washtub costs one dollar. A good piano costs more than three hundred times as much, yet sometimes the washtub receives the most actual care.

Some people expect impossibilities of their pianos. It would seem that because the purchasing of a piano is to many a very important event and involves a comparatively large expenditure, they expect it not only to last a long lifetime, but to keep in perfect order and give satisfaction without its receiving any care other than seeing that it remains in the house right side up.

A piano should have more care than a watch, and certainly no thinking person would expect his watch to keep good time and run year after year without care, and without being cleaned and regulated about every twelve months. A piano has a delicate mechanism and many of the parts are as finely adjusted as the works of a watch. It needs more care because its case and works (action, etc.) will not stand the changes of temperature so well.

You ask, "How often should my piano be tuned?" Perhaps the best answer is: "As often as it needs it," though many would never be able to judge from such an answer. The piano needs more tuning the first year of its existence than thereafter, because the strings are not sufficiently stretched and the parts settled, or as we say in piano parlance, it is not "fully set." A piano should have at least three tunings the first year. If the instrument is used considerably and is not always in a fairly even temperature, it may require even more tunings.

Your piano came from the factory in good condition, but of course got out of tune, as pianos do every few months, so you sent for a tuner. Now, how did you select that tuner? Here is an important point, for the future of the instrument depends upon skillful treatment. If you employ a bungler, your piano will suffer, and too many bunglers will in time send to the scrap heap the best piano ever made.

I call your attention to these points because I wish to give you a little information about piano tuning and demonstrate to you that I am equipped and will give your piano as tender and skillful care as the most careful physician bestows upon his patient.

Placed in the hands of an expert tuner the life of a good piano is long and its purity of tone will be maintained, not because the strings alone are tuned to a certain accurate pitch, but because the expert will give the instrument the necessary tuning, voicing, adjustments and action regulating.

There are many so-called tuners who have good ears, but utterly lack the mechanical skill and knowledge to repair the action, make adjustments, etc. On the other hand there are plenty of mechanics who can do the mechanical part, but who know no more about voicing and tuning than a novice. You must have the mechanic and tuner combined.

Another point of extreme importance is the accurate setting of the equal temperament (dividing into twelve equal semi-tones the octave from which all the remaining notes are to be tuned), and I could go on and enumerate many other things, all of which the really expert tuner considers and which I will guarantee to give you.

Great progress has been made in piano tuning as well as in other professions, of late years, and to get the best results one must keep abreast of the time. GRYGLA

(From The Eagle.)

A wagon load of fresh fish from Red Lake was on sale on the street today. They were sold fast.

Mrs. W. S. Cottrell left this morning for Pendleton, Neb., in answer to a telegram stating that her father had died at that place.

Mrs. J. Williams of New York left last Saturday for her home after visiting here for a time with the family of her sister, Mrs. Chas. Sawyer.

Dennie Vigen had his household goods brought up by truck from Thief River Falls this week and taken to his farm west of town, where they will live in the future.

John Pethast and Fred Borches of Denver, Iowa, arrived this week to go on the farms they recently purchased from Geo. A. Johnson. They intend putting in a nice crop of flax.

Rain the first half of this week not only took the frost out of the ground but took the bottom out of the road and there is a power of thinking done at times by most of the car drivers.

From present prospects there will be no reason for anyone being short of hay next winter. It is a profit losing game for a farmer to raise more grain than he needs to feed, and buy his hay.

Seldom, if ever, was there a more earnest, heart to heart reception held than was the farewell banquet given A. J. Andersen and family last Saturday evening in the R. N. W. hall in this village. Mr. Andersen came to this village September 15, 1915. and on October 5 the Citizens State Bank was organized with Mr. Andersen as cashier. He continued in that capacity until 1918, when he moved with his family to Thief River Falls on account of sickness. He moved back here in 1919 and continued with the same bank as vice president until the present time. For good and sufficient personal reasons he has decided to sever his connections with this bank and connect himself with the First State Bank of Lockhart, Minn., as cashier, about the 1st of May. While here he has not only worked with and for the bank's best interest but has taken a great interest in the Sunday school, village school and everything that would help put Grygla on the map and make the community a greater and better community. The exercises at the banquet consisted of short talks relative to the occasion, interspersed with instrumental and vocal music, after which a light lunch was served. As a token of the friendship and esteem in which the family are held in the community they were presented with a mahogany finish silver chest, old Colony style, containing 40 pieces, and $24.50 in cash. At the same time the Grygla Sunday school, in which he has been an active worker while here, presented him with two fine volumes, Commentaries on the New Testament. Olaf Ramstad, president of this bank, T. L. Melgaard and C. W. Vorachek, of the Citizens Bank of Thief River Falls, were in attendance at the banquet. The family left today for their new home at Lockhart.

What's the matter with Henry Oen and Paul Engelstad anyway? Come on down to earth again, both of you. Forget your foolishness on the cheese and milk question.

Haul sweet cream to our creamery, so we can make more good butter. That is what the farmers built the co-operative creamery for in the first place. Now, honest, is it not so?

You both have the same privilege of hauling cream any old day during the week and any old hour during the day, thereby eliminating disappointments of those who have been told that we have enough milk already; also eliminating a month's cure hauling milk. This milk cure has taken too well with some people. So well in fact that their calves, etc., have suffered for lack of skim milk. Even some nice heifer calves have had to go to market on account of milk greediness.

Milk cure is as good as honey is to bees. Who was ever foolish enough to think anyone in Thief River Falls would buy sour milk when asking for sweet, without making a sour face. It seems to me it is not necessary to give the cheese boy a month's cure hauling milk when he neither can nor would take it. It is about time, I think, both Henry Oen and Paul Engelstad started hauling only sweet cream..

The oldest and best farmers, whom we have always looked to for advice, say haul cream to the creamery and feed skim milk to the cows, etc. Why those two boys in Rocksbury do not listen to sound advice is a mystery to me. Ministers say, "Do as I say, not as I do." Why in blue blazes keep on hauling milk when it is not right to profit at another's expense. Say one thing and mean the opposite, I guess.

If you feed your cows skim milk you receive it back again next day with cream on it, which is sensible and true. Therefore in time more cream is harvested on places where this is done. In time all skim milk will be cream if this is done. Why Paul overlooked this discovery is funny. Suppose he is one who sees only what he likes.

Boost your creamery with all first class cream. It is the best market for it.

Yours respectfully,
FAITHFUL CREAM HAULER.

Announced A Year Ago—
Now Used Nation-Wide

LITERALLY tens of thousands of women are now enthusiastic users of the NEW PERFECTION Oil Range with SUPERFEX Burners, the revolutionizing invention announced only a year ago. The secret of its remarkable success is its powerful SUPERFEX Burners. The speed, intensity and wide range of their cooking heat is unsurpassed by that of any other stove.

This new range, further improved and equipped with removable porcelain enameled burner tray, now brings to country and suburban homes, for the first time, all the cooking speed and satisfaction of gas. To city homes, too, it offers a new saving, its economical fuel costing less than eighty-five-cent gas.

PRICES
(Complete with White Porcelain Enameled Warming Cabinets)
Two-Burner, $47.00; Three-Burner, $58.50; Four-Burner, $74.00;
Four-Burner Oven Range, $105.00; Five-Burner Oven Range, $120.00.
New Perfection "Live Heat" Ovens from $2.50 to $6.80 additional.

In addition to the new SUPERFEX models, our long established Blue Chimney models of the NEW PERFECTION line, used in 4,000,000 homes continue to be the world's most satisfactory oil stove at their lower range of prices.

GIANT SUPERFEX
SUPERFEX

Unsurpassed Cooking Speed
This latest New Perfection range is equipped exclusively with SUPERFEX Burners. One burner on every stove is the big GIANT SUPERFEX. The others are "Little Giants" or standard size SUPERFEX Burners.

The standard SUPERFEX equals the cooking speed of the ordinary gas burner and is faster than any other oil burner, except its own big brother the GIANT SUPERFEX. And the big GIANT itself is unsurpassed even by the giant gas burner.

Outstanding Facts About Fairbanks' New Photoplay

Coming to Lyceum May 10, 11 and 12. Statistics Give an Idea of Bigness of Fairbanks' "Robin Hood."

Something of an idea of the bigness and general scope of Douglas Fairbanks' latest photoplay sensation, "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood," may be gathered from the summary of facts given herewith. For this last word in Fairbanks super-features which is coming to the Lyceum theatre May 10, 11 and 12, a host of engineers, architects, artists and artisans labored for months before ever a camera lens was opened.

Twenty-two experts delved and studied in the necessary research work for accurate designing of the colossal sets.

Libraries the world over were ransacked by these experts for authoritative facts in ascertaining the histrical data that all might be presented truthfully to the period.

Hundreds of workmen labored three months to build the sets.

One million feet, or approximately thirty-five carloads, of lumber were used in their construction.

This lumber, if laid out in board feet, would cover twenty acres of ground; if placed end to end would span a distance of about five hundred miles.

One carload, or about thirty tons, of nails were consumed in erecting the sets.

Two hundred and fifty tons of material went into the castle walls.

The King's castle set covers two and one-half acres and is 310 feet in height. The exterior is 620 feet long.

In building the castle 178,000 square feet of wall board, plaster board and button lath were required.

There are eight castle towers. If these towers were water tanks, each would hold 276,000 gallons.

The castle is surrounded by a moat, built from historically correct specifications, broad enough and deep enough to serve as a genuine barrier against the taking of this stronghold.

The royal banquet room in the castle is the largest room in the world, being larger even than the concourse of the Pennsylvania Terminal Station in New York city.

Eleven canvas pavilions were built, each one forty feet in height.

The camera staff work from a platform built of selected spruce and airplane wire, with an area of forty square feet, weighs only 400 pounds, and can be assembled by four men in seven minutes.

Twenty thousand yards of heavy velvets and rich cloth material were used in making the 2,500 costumes worn by principals, players and extras.

More than one thousand wigs, each made of human hair, are worn by members of the cast.

More than one thousand pairs of shoes were required for the production, and but one pair could be made from the hide of one sheep. The entire stock of three tanneries was taken in supplying these hides.

Every weapon carried in the production was made entirely by hand. There are 2,000 spears, 1,500 swords, 2,000 shields and 500 daggers.

Saddles and trappings were made for hundreds of horses, all hand-made and hand-sewed.

In making an exact duplicate of the standard used by King Richard I in his Crusade to the Holy Lands, 300 pounds of iron were necessary.

An army of 10,000 extra people is being employed in various scenes at various times.

The prodigal use of hand-work on all effects in "Douglas Fairbanks in Robin Hood" is not a careless extravagance but serves to illustrate the absolute authenticity of the production, for in the period depicted machinery was little used, metals and almost all materials being worked by hand.

We had a mistake in last week's issue of the paper. A good subscriber told us of it. The same day there was a letter in our postoffice box that didn't belong to us. We called for 98 over the phone and got 198. We asked for a spool of No. 50 thread and got No. 60. The train was reported 30 minutes late. We arrived at the depot 20 minutes after train time and the train had left. We got our milk bill and there was a mistake of ten cents in our favor. We felt sick and the doctor said we were eat ing too much meat. We hadn't tasted meat for two months. The garage man said the jitney was missing because it needed a new timer. We cleaned a spark plug and it's run good ever since. Yes, we made a mistake in the last issue of the paper.—Morgan County Republican.

The State of Minnesota, to Karen Erickson, Axel Erickson, Ella Nelson, Eddie Erickson, Julia Bird, Laura Parbst, Hilma Froshaug, Thea Erickson and Henry Erickson and all persons interested in the final account and distribution of the estate of said decedent: The representative of the above named decedent, having filed in this Court his final account of the administration of the estate of said decedent, together with his petition praying for the adjustment and allowance of said final account and for distribution of the residue of said estate to the person thereunto entitled. Therefore, you, and each of you, are hereby cited and required to show cause, if any you have, before this Court at the Probate Court Rooms in the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, on the 12th day of May, 1923, at ten o'clock A. M., why said petition should not be granted.

Witness, the Judge of said Court, and the Seal of said Court, this 14th day of April, 1923.

LARS BACKE,
(Court Seal) Judge of Probate.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale executed and delivered by Henry E. Holt and Laura Holt, his wife, as mortgagors, to the Crookston Building and Loan Association, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, and mortgaging the following described premises situated in the County of Pennington in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lots Seven (7) and Eight (8) of Block Eleven (11), Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Pennington in said State, which mortgage is dated the 26th day of May, 1922, and was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 26th day of May, A. D. 1922, at 2 o'clock P. M., in Book 70 of Mortgages, on page 369; that no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, and the amount now due upon the said mortgage is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred Ninety-one and 70-100 ($1,491.70) Dollars, against which the mortgagors are entitled to a credit of Ninety-five and 20-100 ($95.20) Dollars, the current value of Fourteen (14) shares of the capital stock of the mortgagee, subscribed for by the said mortgagors and forming a part of said transaction, leaving the amount actually due and claimed to be due and owing upon the said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Ninety-six and 50-100 ($1,396.50) Dollars.

Now Notice is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and the statute, in such cases made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of Pennington County on the 20th day of May, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, to pay said debt, interest, attorney fees and the disbursements allowed by law, and taxes, if any, paid by the holder of said mortgage.

Dated March 22nd, 1923.

Local Eighth Grade Pupil Wins State Prize on Essay

Lester E. Rolland, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Rolland, 804 Duluth avenue north, and a member of the present graduating class from the eighth grade, Central school, has just had notice from the Highway Education Board at Washington, D. C., announcing that his essay, which was submitted in the Second National Safety Campaign, had been chosen to receive first prize for the state of Minnesota. He is to receive as a consequence a gold medal and a check for $15. His essay will now be entered for national competition.

To have written the best essay and to have been awarded first for the state of Minnesota is a record of which not only Lester and the city schools may justly be proud, but it is a source of gratification to the entire city of Thief River Falls and Northwestern Minnesota for that matter. Lester is, indeed, to be congratulated upon his excellent record.

TWETEN FAMILY BEREAVED

Ten-Year-Old Boy Dies From Meningitis at Family Home on State Avenue North.

The death of Melvin Wyman Tweten, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Halvor Tweten, at the family home, 502 State avenue north, on Monday of last week from meningitis, was a sad bereavement to the family as well to his playmates in the Washington school, where he was a pupil.

Melvin was born in this city on Dec. 9, 1912. He was a likable little fellow and his untimely demise cast a gloom over the neighborhood in which he lived.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon. He is survived by his parents and two sisters, Delia and Birdie.

SOME SMILES

HALF A SENTENCE.

"Rastus," said the judge sternly, "you're plain no account and shiftless and for this fight I'm going to send you away for a year at hard labor."

"Please, jedge," interrupted Mrs. Rastus from the rear of the courtroom, "will yo' honah jes' kinder split dat sentence? Don't send him away from home, but let dat hard labor stand."—Legion of Honor.

Jones (energetically helping the bazaar)—Won't you put in for this cushion?

Visitor—Oh, no, thanks.

Jones—Of course, it's rather useless and gaudy, and so forth; and, personally, I think the design's rotten. But, do put in for it?

Visitor—No, thanks; I made it.

No Doubt.

"Miss Plain says you told her she was pretty. How does your conscience stand the strain?"

"Oh, I told her the truth."

"The truth? You don't really mean to say you think—"

"Of course not. I told her she was as pretty as she could be. That's safe."

Easily Arranged.

"This illustration won't do," said the novelist.

"Why not?" asked the artist.

"You've drawn my heroine on horseback. She's an invalid and that's what makes the book so confounded pathetic."

"Well, let this picture represent her as she was before she lost her health."

Subtle Animosity.

"As a friend of our irascible colleague, you ought to persuade him to modify the things that he undertakes to print in the Congressional Record."

"But," declared Senator Sorghum, "I'm not at all friendly to him. And for that reason I am in favor of letting him go as far as he likes."

"I see a visitor to New York was arrested the other day because he had $350 in his pocket," said Church.

"Why on earth did they arrest him, then?"

"He was trying to get out of town with it."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

SENATOR PREUS

Appointed to succeed the late Senator Nelson by Governor Louis Collins. Mr. Preus will be 40 on August 28, and is the youngest senator in the United States with the exception of C. C. Dill of Washington, who will be 39 next September. Mr. Preus has been successively executive clerk to Gov. Eberhart, insurance commissioner, state auditor, governor, United States Senator. And he is a young man yet.

CITY DADS TACKLE BIG GRIND AT PROTRACTED COUNCIL MEETING

Licenses and Building Permits Take Up Much Time. Ness Objects to Filtration Plant Estimate.

The session of the city council last night was rather lengthy as considerable business came before the aldermen for attention. Seven building permits were read by the city clerk and all were allowed with the exception of two. Two soft drink applications were received and one was rejected; while two pool room and billiard parlor applications met with favor, as did also a moving picture license application.

Fire Chief Midderigh asked for the customary $200 to permit the local department to attend the annual meeting of the fire companies of the state at Bemidji. The request was granted. An effort will be made to secure the meeting for this city next year.

The use of the Auditorium Saturday night of this week was granted to the Boy Scouts without charge.

The first building permit presented to the council was that of Lloyd Crown for a 28x40 garage. A barn moved from his farm was to be moved onto the lots and converted into a garage. A petition signed by several property owners in the vicinity was presented in opposition, and the application was denied.

Two other garage applications were granted, one to A. J. Oden and the other to H. Holland. S. Lavoid was granted a permit to remodel a house at a cost of $1,500, and Geo. Nicholson was granted a similar request, the cost in his case being $3,200.

The Northern States Oil Co., by its agent, John Gustafson, presented applications for permits to install two oil pumps, one each for A. J. Borry and C. Gustafson & Sons. The aldermen granted the Borry permit but denied the other.

Jas. Cosgrove and Wm. Sheedy were granted renewals of pool room licenses and the Thief River Theatre Company was given a renewal of its license. H. K. Strand was granted a license to sell soft drinks. The application for a similar license by John Farmen and Gust Sandberg of Grygla to operate a refreshment stand in the place lately occupied by Bennie Vigen was turned down.

The customary monthly reports of the city officers were received and ordered filed.

The council ordered in four blocks of sidewalk on Tindolph avenue between Gulf and Nora streets as asked for in a petition received some time ago.

After considerable discussion, the third estimate of the J. G. Robertson Company for equipment in the filtration plant was ordered paid, the sum being $1,611.77, leaving the fourth estimate of about $1,500 held over and the final estimate still to come. Alderman Ness voted against the allowance as he felt that they should not be paid until the plant had been accepted, but the other aldermen saw no reason for holding the money up any longer as the company had nothing to do with the actual construction of the building, which recently developed a bad crack in the walls.

Two-Year-Old Lad Drowns in Thief River Near City

The annual toll of treacherous Thief River was recorded Saturday afternoon when Leonard, the two-year-old son of Adolph Jorde, residing in Excel township five miles north of this city, wandered out of sight of his mother and fell in and drowned before assistance could reach him. Little Leonard was missed about one o'clock Saturday and search for him began immediately. Neighbors were notified and the countryside carefully combed over. About three hours later his body was observed floating in the river three miles south of the Jorde home by a young man named Sannes, who had joined the searchers.

The Jorde farm is loacted on the banks of the river, which just now is extremely swift as demonstrated by the fact that the body of the child floated down the river more than three miles before being found. The little fellow was out of sight for just a few moments when missed, and the members of the family are at a loss to understand how the accident happened.

The funeral was held yesterday from the Trinity church in this city, the exercises being conducted by Rev. T. E. Sweger. The remains were interred in the Greenwood cemetery and a large concourse of friends of the family came in to pay their last respects. Leonard was next to the youngest of four children, and his loss under circumstances so sad has almost prostrated the bereaved parents, who have the sincere sympathy of their friends and neighbors in the hour of mourning for their child.

GOVERNOR LOUIS L. COLLINS

Mexican Sugar Beet Workers Like Country

Reports of Near Mutiny in St. Paul Union Station Greatly Exaggerated.

Many of "Mex" Workers Make Annual Jaunts Into Northern Sections.

Reports of a near mutiny on board a special Soo Line passenger train carrying a large number of Mexican laborers to Thief River Falls, where they will be employed in sugar beet fields this summer, which was said to have taken place in the Union station at St. Paul when the men refused to go farther into the northern regions of the country are greatly exaggerated, according to members of the expedition arriving in this city last Thursday morning.

A Tribune reporter hailed one of the Mexicans sauntering around the city last Friday evening and in bold English asked him how he liked the town.

"I think a pretty fine city," he returned in a voice almost as plain and understandable as the average English used on Thief River Falls streets.

"How do you like the climate? Don't you find it sort of cool in comparison to that of Texas and Arizona?" was asked.

"Sure, it's cool, but I like that kind of climate once in a while. My wife, she thinks it cold here, but not me. She like it better later. Wait till it warms up in July, then she find out."

"You speak very good English. Have you been in the United States long?" was asked.

"I born in Texas and lived in this country all the time. Only been in Mexico a little while in my life. I went to school in southern California, where I have two married sisters. This fall I am going to California, too, if the crop here turns out good, which I hope it will."

"What's your name?"

"Alfredo Obreda." And the young man asked for a piece of paper and wrote it down for the reporter.

"What per cent of your countrymen speak English, Alfred?"

"Oh, not many. Most of the men never learned much of it as this is about the first time they journeyed far from home."

"Does your wife speak English?"

"Sure thing; good, too."

"Have you and your wife any children?"

"No, we only been married short time."

At this point the reporter asked him what there was to published news articles in a St. Paul daily newspaper telling of a near-mutiny aboard the train bearing the party to this city, which told of some of the Mexicans refusing to continue the journey here and that they were told they were to be taken no farther than Mason City, Iowa.

"A few of the men," replied Alfredo, "kind of liked St. Paul, I guess, and wanted to stay there for a few days' visit before coming on, and there was a little trouble, but it didn't amount to anything at all."

The reporter suggested that it was greatly exaggerated and that it was largely the work of some over-ambition news gatherer.

"Sure thing, I think so, too."

"Do you know what farm you are going to be employed on this summer, Alfred?" was then asked.

"No, not yet, but I guess I will find out later on this evening. I hope it is a nice place, and I guess it will be; there are so many nice farms around here, I see."

Just then a young woman, apparently about 25 to 30 years old, sauntered up and spoke something in Spanish. Like her husband, she was bronzed typical of her nationality and native state, and the young Mexican answered her question. Turning to the reporter again, he said:

"My wife wants to know if you are the man we are going to work for, and if you are, for me to be sure to make the deal with you." And he smiled, as did his wife.

"When you get located on the farm where you are to cultivate beets this summer, let me know."

"Sure thing, I'll do that. I'll come down to see you at your place, down where you work."

Which goes to show that the Mexican is a pretty civil sort of an individual and not a bad lot. [illegible] heard of raids by bandits, of [illegible] and killing of Americans in the interior of Mexico, and border [illegible] and clashes between Texas [illegible] and Mexican, and many of us are inclined to guage the new arrivals by former misdeeds of governments and individuals down on the border.

But the Mexicans arriving in Thief River Falls last week appear to be far above the average in intelligence and look like a hustling lot of workers. Some say the Mexicans are lazy, but it might be added that they are no lazier than any other class of people when it comes to doing manual labor.

No man is really to be pitied until he takes himself too seriously.

"Come Out of the Kitchen," Friday evening.

Farm Credits Bureau Ready to Loan Money

Funds Expected to Be Ready Within Next 30 Days; Many Applications.

Information comes to The Tribune this week from the offices of the State Rural Credits Bureau at St. Paul that the bureau is now ready to hear from farmers desiring to make loans and that formal applications will be received. The address of the bureau is 610 Hamm building, St. Paul, where offices have been opened and a clerical force already has been put to work.

It is expected that initial loans will be made at from 5 to 5¼ per cent. The director states that individuals charging farmers more than $5 in making out the papers applying for loans will be considered as charging an exorbitant rate. It is the plan of the bureau to get the money to the borrower by the shortest possible route and at the smallest possible cost.

Pennington county farmers desiring to make loans are advised to make application direct to the bureau, when the necessary papers will be forwarded to the borrower.

While offices of the Minnesota Rural Credit Bureau—to use the official title of the system—have been open but a few days and as yet the new agency is in the organization stage, it is already in position to receive formal applications, according to E. J. Oppliger, "dirt" farmer member of the board and chairman.

"We have received dozens of letters from farmers who want to deal with the bureau," he said. "While funds for loaning purposes will not be available for about 30 days, we are in position to give consideration to informal applications. These letters will be filed in the order in which they are received, and when printed forms are prepared, applications will be sent out."

While the board is losing no time in getting ready for business, it is making every effort to avoid initial mistakes. T. O. Ofthsun, who was assistant cashier of the Federal Land Bank of St. Paul before his appointment, spent last week in South Dakota, studying several phases of the state system there. It is planned to combine the good points of both the South Dakota and Federal Land Bank systems, in arranging details for the Minnesota bureau.

A small office force has been employed. This will be enlarged as soon as necessary printed forms are ready and the work of making actual loans is under way.

Prospects are, according to Mr. Oppliger, that initial loans will be made at 5 to 5¼ per cent. The exact rate will depend upon the interest rate that the state will have to pay in selling bonds. If the board finds it possible to sell its bonds at 4½ per cent, the initial interest rate will be 5. The law requires that the bureau shall charge not less than one-quarter and not more than three-quarters of one per cent, over the rate paid on loans. Prospects are that the bureau will be able to function on a margin of about one-half per cent.

Persons charging more than $5 for preparing papers necessary to obtain a a loan are asking exorbitant rates, according to Mr. Oppliger. Plans of the bureau call for getting the money from the bureau to the borrower by the shortest possible route and at as small a cost as possible. Borrowers will not be required to buy stock in any association or to spend any of the loan for any purpose other than his own needs, except, of course, the small charge made for appraisement, etc. This will not exceed $15 and should be less in most cases.

Senator Hansen's Stolen Coupe Found by Police

Thief Caught When Similarity in Numbers Attracts Attention of Clerk in Holm's Office.

The Ford coupe belonging to Senator Hansen of this city which was stolen early in the winter in front of the St. Paul Hotel, was recovered last week by the St. Paul police department working on information furnished by a clerk named Ferguson in the secretary of state's office.

When a St. Paul man applied for an auto license the numbers given were so nearly similar to the numbers of Senator Hansen's car that the suspicions of Ferguson, the clerk in charge, were aroused [illegible] the matter to the police department with the result that the thief was promptly apprehended. It seems that when the car was first stolen it was taken to Hudson, Wis., and bore a Wisconsin license. The thief claimed to have purchased the car from a stranger.

Lots of folks seem to believe that they will be drafted into heaven without going through any training season.

SUGGEST NAME FOR WINTER SHOWS AND WIN FINE POCKET CAMERA

Prize to Be Offered for Best Name Suggested for Coming Winter Shows—Contest Open to All Persons.

The management of the coming winter shows has decided to offer appropriate prizes for the best name suggested for the show, the contest to be open to all persons in the northwest section of the state. The first prize is a No. 1 folding pocket kodak valued at $15 offered by Roy Lambert, the kodak being on exhibition in the display window of his drug store on Third street. Other prizes may be offered later to second and third best suggestions made to the committee. The names should be sent to J. J. McCann, County Agent, and the prizes will be awarded by a committee to be selected by the Commercial club.

The names suggested will be marked in the order in which they are received and the name selected by the judges will be awarded first prize. In case the winning name happens to be suggested by more than one person, then the time when such entries are received will govern.

It is expected that eleven counties in northwestern Minnesota will participate in the shows, and anyone residing in these counties may win first prize by suggesting a name for the show. It will be a dairy show, a poultry show and an agricultural exhibition, as well as embracing boys' and girls' club work, and the name may be suggestive of all these features.

Committees for the big show were announced this week, the following list being complete except the boys' and girls' committee, which will be supplied later by Superintendent McCann:

Admissions—W. H. Akre, chairman; W. E. Smith, Ed. Brevig, F. E. McGinn, Alvin Holzknecht.

Agricultural Exhibits—Superintendent, Herbert Fuller.

Residence Occupied by Fred Quale Damaged by Flames

Loose Electric Light Wires Ignite Building During Absence of Occupants.

The residence of Fred Quale at 907 Duluth avenue north was badly damaged by fire Monday afternoon when the building caught fire from loose electric light wires which were blown against the roof of the structure by the high wind which raged at that time. The fire department responded promptly and were able to confine the fire to the roof, which was completely destroyed.

Damage to the extent of more than $2,500 was done to the building, and the interior was badly damaged by fire and water. The furniture was removed from the building. Mr. Quale and his wife were in the twin cities when the fire occurred. The building is the property of Mr. Quale's mother.

The fire department was called out Monday afternoon when a chimney fire in the residence of Dr. Biederman threatened serious damage. The blaze was promptly extinguished.

Elks to Stage Big Doings in This City on June 15th

"There will be a hot time in the old town," say those who compose the committee having in charge the membership drive of the Elks when the affair closes on June 15. A big street parade containing floats of various kinds will be participated in by Elks from Mahnomen to Warroad. The parade will wind up at the Auditorium, where the big doings will take place.

A committee is in charge of the celebration, which promises to be the gala event of the season, in fact the biggest event of the kind ever staged in northern Minnesota. Brass bands, clowns and red fire will mark the path of the procession, which will wend its way over the principal streets of the city.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" Extremely Humorous Play

The Senior class play, "Come Out of the Kitchen," will be given at the Auditorium Friday evening, May 11, at 8:15. All seats can be obtained at the same price, 50 cents, and are reserved at Lambert's drug store.

A special matinee for grade children is scheduled for 3 o'clock of the same day.

"Come Out of the Kitchen" is a wholesome three-act comedy abounding in humorous situations and yet carrying a plot which holds the interest throughout. The action centers around the renting of an old Southern country home by a Northerner. The owners, the Daingerfields, find the conditions of the lease difficult to live up to and are forced to resort to many subterfuges in doing so.

The personnel is composed of eleven characters, six boys and five girls, who take the following parts:

Olivia Daingerfield, alias Jane Allen—Eileen Arneson.

Elizabeth Daingerfield, alias Araminta—Lorraine Will.

Mrs. Falkner—Rose Costello.

Cora Falkner—Ruth Knutson.

Mandy—Esther Larson.

Burton Crane—Herbert Johnson.

Randy Weeks—Ernest Barzen.

Paul Daingerfield, alias Smithfield—Stanley Sorenson.

Charles Daingerfield, alias "Boy"—Craig Halvorson.

Solon Tucker—Henry Vorlicky.

Thomas Lefferts—Albert Stengelson.

The cast has been working very hard during the past week and the prospects for a big house are of the best. Seats were placed on reserve at Lambert's drug store Tuesday and are going fast. Those intending to see the play are urged to obtain their seats at once before the best ones are gone.

ORE TAX UPHELD

Approximately $5,000,000 back taxes will become due from mining companies operating in Minnesota under the decision of the federal supreme court on Monday in sustaining Minnesota's law levying a 10 per cent gross earnings tax on all ore mined in the state.

Collection has been held up by the attack of the mining companies on the constitutionality of the law.

Townley Turns on Men Calling Him Radical

Former Nonpartisan League Head Denies He Has Betrayed Farmers.

Defends Action in Courier-News Case at Meeting Held at Bismarck.

A. C. Townley, whose word at one time was supreme authority among the farmers of North Dakota and who ruled the state with probably more supreme power than any other political leader or boss ever had in this country, is defending himself against the charges that he had sold the Courier-News, Nonpartisan newspaper, in violation of a pledge to the members of his former organization and that in attacking the League program he had turned traitor to the organization.

In a meeting at Bismarck Friday night, at which many League officeholders were present, he explained why he had advocated the sale of the paper and why he was promoting the National Producers' Alliance.

"I did not sell the Courier-News, but I did advise its sale," he said. "I was not a member of the national executive committee of the League or a director of the publishing company, but when they wanted money they came to me and I didn't know where I was going to get any more.

"If some of those who are now crying out so hard against the sale of the paper had done a little more to get subscriptions and help out the paper it would still be in League hands."

Referring to the criticism which has been hurled against him for declaring that the League program of state ownership has been a failure, he said:

"My trouble in this movement did not come from the I. V. A. politicians or the I. V. A. My biggest trouble is with the Nonpartisan League politicians. And politicians are pretty much the same whether they are I. V. A. or Nonpartisans.

"I didn't build the Nonpartisan League to get office for somebody in the past or in the future.

"The Nonpartisan League did not accomplish through government ownership what I expected. I have been accused of cooling off a lot in the last year and a half, and I have cooled off a lot.

"Farmers are enrolling faster in the Producers National Alliance than they ever did in the Nonpartisan League. The farmer must be placed on the same business base as the manufacturer and the retailer and that is what we intend to do with our ogranization."

The Courier-News was sold to Dotson & Brown. The name has been changed to the Fargo Tribune. John W. Andrews, the former editor, has started the publication of a weekly newspaper which he calls "The Progressive." In an article in the first edition he states that the Courier-News was in good financial condition and that it was sold when there was an injunction existing preventing its sale. The paper, he contends, was purchased with money paid by the farmers of North Dakota and uses harsh language in denouncing the sale.

Mr. Townley is making a tour of the state in the interest of his new organizations, which will attempt to control the price of grain.

AUTO TAX SLACKERS FACING HARD DRIVE

Sweeping Enforcement of Motor Vehicle Tax Law Undertaken By Three State Departments.

Automobile tax slackers in and around Thief River Falls are facing prosecutions and penalties under a state-wide drive begun this week by state departments with the co-operation of local officials.

Sheriff O. L. Ihle and County Attorney Theo. Quale received an outline of the campaign plan and instructions on procedure from the office of Attorney General Hilton. The sheriff has no alternative than to enforce the tax law, the letter states, failure meaning that he is personally responsible for the amount of the tax. The county attorney is advised that failure to prosecute violators is ground for removal from office.

In justice to the thousands who have paid toward the good roads program by promptly remitting their motor vehicle taxes, Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, has pledged the co-operation of the field forces of the highway department over the whole state at the attorney general's suggestion. Highway employes are to report violations to Mike Holm, secretary of state, who will forward them to county officials for immediate action and maintain a system of follow-up to insure porper disposition of every case.

Secretary Holm announced this week that all regular applications have been filled and there is no longer reason for time extensions. "License applied for" tags are to be regarded as prima facie evidence of violation of the law, the state officials said. All cars without 1923 licenses now are held subject to the maximum $7.50 penalty. Special attention is to be paid to the enforcement of the law relating to cars from other states, partly to prevent the use of foreign tags on Minnesota cars.

Violation of the motor vehicle tax law is punishable as a misdemeanor, and courts are to be urged to impose more severe penalties this year than last.

Moonshine and Autoes Don't Mix, Say Men in Charge of the Law

Intoxicated Car Drivers Fare Badly When Haled Into Court on Charge of Reckless Driving.

Autoists who are inclined to mix drinking of moonshine with the driving of automobiles are due for "a lot of hard luck" this season if exchanges coming to The Tribune desk may be considered a barometer of what is happening to intoxicated drivers of gasoline propelled and "moon"-piloted automobiles in various parts of the state.

Heavy fines are falling on some and upon others comes the ill-fortune of having their automobiles taken from them altogether. In still other cases the judge has decreed that they must stay out of everything automotive whether drivers or not, and that they will be compelled to do their joy-riding in a row boat or a perambulator.

Last week intoxicated drivers at Baudette and Spooner took a hard jolt and will stay out of cars for the summer, according to the judge, unless they want to go to jail the first time they are seen riding in an automobile. The same violators paid heavy fines for their fun.

So far this season Thief River Falls has been blessed with almost an entire absence of intoxicated autoists, but how long this blessing will continue will perhaps depend more or less on the precautions taken by local officials, who say they will not tolerate it even in a mild form.

To drive an automobile in Sauk Rapids or Benton county while in an intoxicated condtion is proving an expensive experience for many motorists and it is believed that if a few more arrests are made the folks who "just must have their little drink" will at least stay out of that vicinity while they are mixing drinks with auto driving.

Offenders on this charge were taken in toll on Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, they being Ward Bonner of St. Cloud, August Fea of Holdingford and Chas. J. Wirth of Minneapolis.

The first was arrested in East St. Cloud, the second near Royalton where he was found asleep under his car, and the last in Sauk Rapids. In each case the men were fined $50 and costs.

Friday evening Sylvester Crankmeyer of Richmond was taken in tow on a plain drunk charge. He paid $12 in Judge Coates' court on Saturday. Another man giving his name as John Doe was arrested in Rice and paid $12 in the local court on Monday.

Bonus Passage and No Tax Cut, Now Predicted

Senator Smoot, New Finance Committee Chairman, Says Law Will Surely Pass Next Session.

Passage of a soldier bonus bill by the new congress is inevitable, and the country must expect no tax reduction, Senator Reed Smoot (rep., Utah) the next chairman of the senate finance committee declared recently. President Harding will be powerless to block the bonus this time by exercise of his veto, in the opinion of Senator Smoot.

Because Senator Smoot supported President Harding in his insistence that if congress passes a bonus bill it should carry a sales tax to raise the money for it, his flatfooted declaration that a bonus law is inevitable was accepted as unusually significant.

"We cannot base permanent revenue legislation on one year's showing," he said. "We do not know what 1923 business will produce in the way of taxes. To open the entire subject of taxation on hopes, especially in view of the approaching bonus legislation, would be foolish. As I see it, the only thing to do is to stand on the present laws for the time being until we see how we are coming out."

"Can't there be quite a slash in taxes once the bonus is out of the way?" Senator Smoot was asked.

"Can't there?" he repeated. "Why, just as sure as fate, service pensions to veterans of the World war will come after the soldier bonus. This is but the entering wedge. The country might as well face the prospect. When pensions start, there will be no decrease in governmental expenditures possible for a generation."

Agriculture Men to Make Raids on Barberry Plants

Persons in Western Counties Asked to Notify Various County Agents of Noxious Weed.

The advance guard of the federal barberry eradication forces in Minnesota took the field this week when a team of scouts was dispatched to make an early inspection for sprouts in counties of the Red River Valley.

The scouts are Roland C. Bevan and Leslie Holt of the University College of Agriculture. Under orders of L. W. Melander, state leader, they will start out by visiting every location in Stearns county where barberry bushes have been found in the past. They will then work west through Pope, Douglas, Grant and Stevens to Big Stone, and then turn north through Traverse, Wilkin, Otter Tail, Becker, Clay, Norman, Mahnomen, Polk, Red Lake, Pennington Marshall, Kittson and Roseau.

Their mission is to make certain the destruction of any sprouts that may have appeared from roots remaining in the ground when barberry bushes were dug up in previous years. They will also search the vicinity of each old planting for new seedlings and bushes that may have been overlooked in the original survey. Their instructions are to take measures to assure the destruction of every barberry in western Minnesota before the bushes begin to rust.

Persons in the western counties who may know or suspect the presence of barberries in any locality are requested to notify their county agent at once so that the information may be passed on to the barberry men for investigation.

Pike to Be Conserved By Reduced Red Lake Fishing

Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner, informed The Tribune last week that the fishing of pike in Red Lake for commercial purposes would be considerably reduced this summer and would gradually be reduced every season from now on for the protection of the game fish.

He stated that when fishing first began at Red Lake the pike were so numerous as to make food scarce for the fish and those taken were thin and emaciated. Last year, however, the fish taken were unusually large and plump, and it will be the policy of the state to reduce fishing to such an extent as to preserve the hook and line fishing of the lake.

Ford Plant is Marvel Factory for Efficiency

6,000 Cars a Day Is New Mark Set for Production Department, Detroit.

60,000 Men Employed in Various Departments Exclusive of Tractor Plant.

The McFarland Auto company of this city, local agents for the Ford Motor company, this week received some interesting statistics from the head office of the company which this newspaper deems worthy of publication and is given below:

Covering a total of nearly 300 acres, of which 123 are under roof, the Highland Park plant of the Ford Motor company is the largest individual motor plant in the world.

Here the Ford car is built, the castings being received from the River Rouge plant and bodies from the various Ford body-building plants.

The unit of Highland Park includes the main offices, the Highland Park power plant, the Detroit sales branch, the boys' industrial school and the manufacturing unit.

Under the latter head are included the motor assembly, car assembly, motor test, top and upholstery departments, stock rooms, drop forge plants, glass factory and others.

Today these plants present the scene of the greatest activity in the history of the Ford Motor company, as every energy is being directed to reaching the 6,000 cars a day schedule set by the manufacturing department.

The manufacture of 6,000 separate Ford units daily presents staggering production figures and calls for the highest degree of accuracy in each manufacturing operation. It means that in the motor assembly department 6,000 motor blocks are handled, 24,000 connecting rods, 48,000 valves and necessary mechanical materials, the installation of 18,000 main motor bearings with other production figures in the same ratio and to a uniformly high standard of quality.

Each of these parts is subjected to exacting balance and micrometer tests and as production at the Highland Park plant increases it is necessarily accompanied with an increase in the accuracy with which individual part is made in order that the various assembly operations may progress in a smooth manner and without interruption.

Production at the plant has not been increased by more work but by increasing man power to the utmost of the mechanical equipment capacity, and at the present time 60,000 men are employed at the plant, working in eight-hour shifts six days a week on a twenty-four hour day basis.

In the huge drop forge plant where 6,000 front axles, 6,000 crank shafts and other drop forge parts are made, there has been added equipment and greater man power is being used to produce the necessary parts and at the same time there has been an increased quality marking every phase of Ford construction.

To guard against the possibility of outside manufacturer failing in this huge production schedule, the glass plant, the fabric plant and other allied plants at the Highland Park group are all working on twenty-four hour schedule.

In the glass factory there is a never ending flow of molten glass from the furnace mouth at which it is rolled out and slipped along in 465-foot ribbon to the cutting end where it is cut into lengths and sent to the polishing machines.

In the plant the work on top material goes on unceasingly and tops an upholstery are cut and sewed by hand into proper parts.

Ford motors undergo the most exacting tests. No human agency is permitted to pass upon the final fitness of each individual motor. Each is operated in test by electricity and under the supervision of an expert, while in a room separate and apart from this, the delicate electrical dynamometer records the test to the utmost fineness, and it is upon the verdict of this instrument that each motor receives its final stamp of approval.

From all departments the various finished parts emerge upon endless conveyors and are carried to the assembly lines and the movement is so synchronized that each unit arrives at the proper point in exact ration to the manufacturing need.

These parts are assembled by expert workmen each performing his specific operation as the motors are carried along on a constantly moving conveyor until they come out completed at the end and in the same manner the motors come to the final assembly line where cars and trucks are completed. They are mounted on the chassis and started so that experts may pass upon the ignition action and other mechanical operations as they are conveyed along the line to be turned out complete and leave the final station under their own power.

Though 1922 set up a production record of 1,351,333 the present year under the schedule now on will increase this by several hundred thousand and indications are that production for the year will pass the million and one-half mark in cars and trucks.

Farmers Urged to Paint Mail Boxes, Dress 'Em Up

Rural route mail boxes and posts will present a more attractive and uniform appearance if all patrons of the routes will act upon a request which has recently been made by the post office department to the effect that all boxes and posts be painted white. The request is made by the department for the purpose of improving the general appearance of rural boxes throughout the country, so that they may be a credit not only to the postal service but the community through which the rural delivery operates.

It is desirable that the boxes be painted white with the name of the head of the family painted on both sides of the box in neat black letters one inch in height; also that the painting be done at least once each year. It is requested also that the posts or supports to which the boxes are attached be painted white. This will improve not only the appearance of the boxes but will add materially to the life of the boxes and posts.

All defective boxes should be replaced with new boxes and a suggestion has been made that mail boxes of the larger type be substituted for the small boxes now in use. Rural mail boxes must all be on the right side of the road, a rule which has been complied generally throughout this section.

BUTTER STEALING GANG IS IN TOILS

Creameries' Association Now Rounding Up Thieves After Two Years' Search.

After a two-year search, officials of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries Association have taken first steps toward breaking up a gang of thieves that have been raiding co-operative creameries in the vicinity of Minneapolis and St. Paul. Thus far, two dealers and four other men are under arrest. Additional developments are forecast.

Butter thieves have been especially active during recent months, one creamery having been robbed of $1000 worth of butter in a single haul. One of the best legal firms in the twin cities has been employed to assist the association in prosecuting the case and it is proposed to round up all implicated, those higher up as well as the actual thieves.

"We have the ring leaders in jail," says A. J. McGuire, general manager, "and we have obtained a confession which greatly simplifies our task. We expect to not only bring criminal actions but will institute civil suits to recover from the dealers the value of the butter stolen.

"Because the case has not yet been presented in court, we can not make statements as to the manner in which the gang operated, but we are convinced that we have the thieves as well as the dealers who have been disposing of the stolen butter. Before we conclude the case, we will have all connected with the plot in jail and our evidence indicates that convictions are assured."

SENATOR PREUS.

The political legerdemain by which Governor Preus becomes United States Senator, and Lieutenant Governor Louis Collins becomes governor, will be generally approved by the friends of the two gentlemen involved in the deal, while it is equally true that much opposition to such a deal will be voiced by their enemies. The St. Paul newspapers are exercised because it gives both senators and the governor to Minneapolis. Since it is inevitable that all state officers will eventually come from the large cities under the beneficent rule of the state wide primary, we can see no great measure of objection on that score.

Governor Preus is well qualified to be senator and if ever Minnesota needed representation in the senate it is now. He knows our needs and stands close to the present administration—more so perhaps than any other man who could have been selected. The governor's course during the legisaltive session showed him to be in sympathy with the interests of agriculture and we believe he will add strength to the present "Farm Bloc" in congress.

The elevation of Louis Collins to the governorship places the mantle of state leadership upon the shoulders of an able man, whose legion of staunch friends are sure he will ably and creditably perform the responsible duties of his high office.

To both Senator Preus and Governor Collins is presented an opportunity for real service to the people of Minnesota, and we feel sure they will be rewarded by the people of the state in exact accordance with the manner in which they perform.

Wall street is considering making another big loan to Germany. Wall street? The street will merely take the commission and small investors will loan them the money.

That Texas young woman and another from New York who danced for more than 90 hours without a stop are mere pikers when compared to a certain French girl who lived in about the year 1553. After she decided to quit and call it a day it took her a week to slow down and her fingers continued to wiggle for three months. And it wasn't a fox-trot, either. Now, how's that?

The Herald at Ceylon, Minn., charges for obituaries of deceased business men who were non-advertisers, but the Martin County Independent takes a more optimistic stand. It offers to publish them free of charge in the hope that their places will be taken by live ones—advertisers.

While eleven thousand Legion posts throughout the nation join with their communities on May 30 in paying tribute to the memory of our hero dead who sleep in the homeland, Legionaires in far-off France, England, Ireland, Scotland and Spain will say a prayer at and lay a wreath on the grave of each of the 32,000 buddies who will rest forever in the cemeteries of Europe. This sacred obligation has been fulfilled by the American Legion every year since the great war. To insure that the graves of our overseas dead will be decorated each Memorial Day for all the years to come, the Legion is now founding an endowment fund, the interest from which will serve to decorate these graves each year, even after the last Legionaire has gone to his reward.

The hope of the farmer is not government restraint but the creation of his own middlemen, hired and doing his bidding for wages paid by him. This action solved the problem for the apple growers of the West and brought them from bankruptcy to a combine that now controls the nation's fruit industry. This action solved the problem for the farmers of Denmark. Government never saved any people. It merely gives them the opportunity to succeed in a legitimate business built on supply and demand. The farmer's salvation is in giving better service to the public than they get now.

Ford's statement that the location of the Ford plant at St. Paul is the best industrial site in the United States indicates that the enthusiastic statements made by twin city residents regarding the two cities becoming the industrial center of the country were not as wild as many believed.—Brainerd Dispatch.

Speaking before an audience at Jamestown, N. D., last week, A. C. Townley, former president of the Nonpartisan League, in explaining the plan of the National Producers' Union, declared that the program of the Nonpartisan League had failed and that farmers must adopt a new program. He urged co-operation politically and in a business way between farmers and merchants and bankers as the only way to solve the problems of the farmers. Farmers must know how much it costs them to produce and how to market in an orderly fashion, declared Mr. Townley, and in that direction expects to lend his influence.

FINE FEATURES OF BIG NEW PICTURE

Pirates being thrown headlong from towering decks; sword fights while cannon boom, and a thrilling swing for life 130 feet across and over the deck of a rakish corsair craft—such are the thrill features of George Fitzmaurice's new Paramount picture production of "To Have and To Hold," with Betty Compson and Bert Lytell in the featured leads, aided by Theodore Kosloff and W. J. Ferguson in strong roles.

The pirate incidents were taken in the ocean off Balboa, Calif., aboard the old South Sea trading schooner, "William G. Irwin," specially rebuilt for pirate purposes. A hundred tough looking pirates with swords, pistols, bandannas and all the other earmarks of their calling, form a vivid background against which the principals play out their thrilling parts.

Mr. Fitzmaurice devoted much time to the closing scenes in the luxurious banquet room of the court of King James I of England. This sequence, with its wealth of gorgeous seventeenth century costumes, particularly those worn by Miss Compson and Mr. Kolsoff, is said to provide a strongly contrasting note to the color of the pirate scenes. In this banquet scene appear "in person" such notables as William Shakespeare, Ben Johnson and the Duke of Buckingham.

Ouida Bergere adapted "To Have and To Hold" from the famous romantic novel by Mary Johnston which was a best seller some years ago. The picture will be presented at the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday. It should prove a strong drawing card.

Goes to Marquette.

Prof. G. M. Harner, teacher of science and mathematics, has been offered and this week accepted a position with Marquette University at Milwaukee, to teach mathematics in that institution next year. Mr. Harner has made friends of both students and faculty during his connection with the local schools and the well wishes of all go with him to his new post.

$700 For Aubol Family.

Peter Engelstad, who has been active in circulating a subscription list for the benefit of the Aubol family, recently rendered destitute by the fire which destroyed their stock and household goods at Erie, reports that he has met with unusual success as the $700 mark has already been passed. The list of contributors will be published in The Tribune at an early date.

Mrs. Leroy Allan left Wednesday morning for Minneapolis, where she will remain indefinitely.

A woman said that she stood upon her porch and saw a man cutting across her lawn. She said to him, "Don't you know that you are spoiling our lawn?" "Well, people cross my lawn," was his reply. He did not so much as apologize for his trespass. An Austin preacher says that one way to stop people from short-cutting over lawns is to paint some wires with fresh paint each night and string them where the trespassers are wont to travel.—Austin Herald.

G. H. Mattson received notice from the state game and fish commission this week that he had been appointed game warden for Roseau county vice C. E. Saunders. Mr. Mattson's appointment becomes effective as soon as his bond has been received and approved, when the commission will be forwarded.—Roseau Times-Region.

The village of Roseau has a real law suit on its hands. H. W. Jensen has brought action to recover $2,000 damages caused by offensive odors from the dumping ground near the Jensen farm. The case will be heard at the May term of court.

Italian Count Was Discoverer of Big Red Lake

How Largest Bodv of Fresh Water Wholly Within One State Was Found.

Few residents of Thief River Falls know a great deal about Red Lake. Due partially to the fact that this splendid and beautiful body of water has been an isolated quantity so far as this section of the Northwest is concerned because of the inaccessibility of roads leading to the lake, it has received few visits from most of us.

Martin Widsten, registrar of the United States land office at Crookston and editor and owner of the Warroad Pioneer, gives some interesting and hitherto unknown information about Red Lake, when he writes about its discovery as follows:

"J. Constantino Beltrami was an Italian lawyer, who got himself disliked by the king for wanting to turn Italy into a republic, on the American plan.

"The king knew exactly what to do about it. He suggested that if J. Constantino liked the American style of government better than his own there was nothing to hinder him from going to America and remaining there. And to facilitate his going the king expelled him from Italy.

"And that was why Beltrami happened to arrive at Fort Snelling early in July of 1823—a hundred years ago—just as the exploration party commanded by Major Long, of the United States army, started on its long journey up the Minnesota river, down the Red river to Winnipeg, up the Winnipeg river to Lake of the Woods, over the Rainy river and lakes, across the portage to Lake Superior and finishing up in the fail at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

"Beltrami was somewhat of a disturber. and by the time they reached Pembina, Major Long had acquired pretty much the same idea of him as the Italian king. Beltrami left the party at Pembina, with a couple of Indian guides, following the route that later became known as the Pembina trail. When they arrived at the crossing of Two Rivers there were signs of hostile Sioux, and the two guides departed through the brush leaving Beltrami to find his way alone.

"The various versions of what happened after that are somewhat contradictory, but it appears that when he got down in the vicinity of Karlstad he turned east on the ridge that runs up into Roseau county, and that he followed this ridge to the Roseau river, crossed its several branches and followed the continuous ridges southeastward until he came to the great bluff, now known as Beltrami mountain, in Beaver Dam township of the new county of Lake of the Woods. From the top of this big hill he looked out over the great stretches of black spruce swamp in three directions, miles and miles of trees standing a couple of feet apart, and concluded that was about as far as he could go in this direction. Retracing his steps a few miles he found a crossing southward over the upper Roseau river and got over on the Birch ridge, which he followed west to Thief Lake and then down the Thief river to the Red Lake river.

"Somewhere along the Thief river he secured a canoe, but had never had any experience in the use of it, so he loaded the provisions and other stuff he was carrying into it, attached a cord to it, and walked on the edge of the stream, trailing the canoe behind him in the water.

"Arrived at the junction of the Thief river with the Red Lake river, which he calls Bloody river, he started eastward walking in the edge of the river and trailing his canoe, and everything went well until the second day on this river, when a very severe storm came up and lasted all day. When he got up toward Red Lake he found the river overflowing for miles and began trying out the canoe in crossing some of the narrow places. He finally got so he could handle it, and after that it became his principal means of transportation.

"At Red Lake he found friendly Chippewas and rested for awhile, after which he started south on Little Rick river into Mud Lake and across the few miles of divide into the Turtle lakes, and finally down the Turtle river into Cass lake, after which he followed the Mississippi back to Fort Snelling.

"Beltrami was a man of 45 when he left Italy, and his lone journey through the wilderness without any serious mishap showed that he was possessed of other qualities besides his obstinacy.

"After his remarkable journey through northern Minnesota, the Italian became a chronic explorer, traveling by canoe into the wildest parts of Mexico and the southern part of the United States, and his books of travel became popular throughout Europe. He lived to be 75 years old, and during his last years was permitted to return to Italy."

Intermediate Credit Bank to Open in St. Paul Soon

The Intermediate Credit Bank of St. Paul will open for business within a few days. The St. Paul bank, like 11 others in various sections of the country, will have an initial working capital of $1,000,000. It has been organized under a law passed by the recent session of congress and is designed to supply farmers with funds to carry on their productive operations. The bank will be located at Fourth and Minnesota, St. Paul.

Tourist Season Formally Opens Through Northwest

The annual tourist season has already commenced and this week several touring parties have been observed going through Thief River Falls. It is expected that before another two weeks' period rolls around that the overland cars will be 'hitting the road" in real ernest.

Last week a large touring car with five passengers on board passed through this city from Chicago bound for western Saskatchewan, Canada. points. The car appeared to have gone through some heavy roads and the drivers stated they had been battling mud almost all the way from the windy city. Another car from Minneapolis was bound for Winnipeg, drawing a trailer.

Mayor Nelson to Accompany Trade Tourists

Baggage Car Filled With Souvenirs Expected to Attract Kids of City.

The Tribune is advised by the St. Paul Association that the Trade Tour, during the week of May 21, which includes this city in its itinerary, bids fair to be the best ever sent out by St. Paul during the half century that these trips have been conducted.

The forward steps of St. Paul in the acquisition of the Ford plant and other industries is reflected in the optimism of the participants in the party.

The personnel will be made up almost entirely of the chief executives of the principal business institutions of St. Paul. There will be presidents of some firms, vice presidents of others, and general managers of still others, and they are all looking forward to the trip with keen interest. John Seeger, president of the St. Paul Association, will spend the entire week with the party, while the personnel contains many names that are familiar to the retail merchants of the state.

Mayor Arthur E. Nelson has also signified his intention of joining the group and is providing himself with a comfortable pair of shoes for the long pilgrimage.

With a parade immediately upon arrival. there will be a band concert in the business district by the Sixth Infantry Band. Soloists will accompany the party and will sing, with a variety of entertainment following.

In many towns visited. the thumbscrews of oppression will be untwisted and a short holiday given the children for an opportunity to be at the station when the special train arrives. The boosters carry with them a baggage car for their souvenirs, which will be distributed to the kiddies with as much delight on the part of the boosters as to the children.

The St. Paul visitors are out to meet the local people and to get first hand knowledge of the conditions outside of St. Paul. Business men are requested to go to their places of business immediately after the arrival of the special train. They will have callers soon thereafter. One of the special purposes of the trip is to give an opportunity for the St. Paul business men to meet the business men of the Northwest and to greet them in their places of business.

In years past, it has been the boast of the tourists that they have kept their train on absolute schedule, and locomotive whistles at the scheduled time will mean that the St. Paul Special is "pulling into town."

ROSEWOOD

Axel Larson and Olof Nordhagen motored to Gully last Wednesday to bring home an automobile that the latter has purchased.

Gilbert Haugen left Tuesday evening for Thief River Falls, where he will receive medical attention. He will later go to Crookston for a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Christina Brekken.

Miss Gunda Mattson is employed at the Albert Lappegaard home and has been there since last Thursday.

O. A. Slattum, who suffered a stroke of apoplexy about two weeks ago, is still confined to his bed. His left side is partially paralyzed, as well as his organs of speech, and recovery is very slow.

R. R. George of Minneapolis has spent the past week here looking after his real estate interests northwest of town.

The town board of Numedal was out inspecting roads last Wednesday and paid a short visit to Rosewood on their way home.

The New Solum town board met last Thursday and among other business looked after was the grading on the road through Rosewood. The contract was awarded to Rafteseth Bros.

Mrs. Ella Sorenson, who spent a few days the first of the week visiting at the Haugen and Sorenson homes, went to the Thief River Falls hospital Wednesday to seek medical teratment.

Mrs. J. Meyers arrived Friday from Red Wing and will visit among friends and relatives at this place and Steiner for some time.

Oscar Sorenson of Newfolden was in town last Friday and purchased a team of horses from John Sagmoen.

Miss Julia Axelson came home from Thief River Falls last Thursday, being ill with an affection of the eyes.

Carl Bloom and Carl Mellem attended the Lloyd Crown auction sale in town of Rocksbury last Friday.

Rev. Drotts arrived Saturday evening from Viking and conducted a very successful meeting of the young people at the Swedish church the same evening. He spoke twice at the same church on Sunday.

A carload of flour and feed was shipped in at the Hanson & Barzen elevator the first of the week.

Seeding on the sand ridges is completed and work in general on the prairie lands will commence this week. Owing to the late season we understand very little wheat is being put in, the general trend being towards flax, feed crops and cultivated crops. Buckwheat is receiving a considerable boost this year. Hogs and poultry are also receiving considerable attention.

Seven Maniacs Flee Hospital at Fergus Fall

Leader of Escaped Men, One of Three Still at Large Is Convicted Murderer.

Police of three state, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, are searching for three maniacs, one of them a convicted murderer, who escaped a week ago (Wednesday) from the insane hospital at Fergus Falls.

Three of the men have been captured and returned to the hospital.

Officials of the states mentioned are on the lookout for the men still at large and it is believed they will be apprehended, although the man believed to be the leader of the gang, John Kensky, murderer, who superintended the delivery, is known to be a desperate character.

Seven patients participated in the escape, unlocking the door of a third floor ward with a skeleton key fashioned from a spoon, and making their way from the building while the nurse on duty in the early morning was making the rounds of the floor above.

Two of the men, Tena Matti and Louis Levina, were recaptured near Clitherall, 30 miles east of Fergus Falls. The pair had visited a farm house, asking for food, and were later seen walking aimlessly about the lake shore and in the woods.

Guards from the hospital were notified and hurried to the vicinity. The two patients declared they were glad to go back.

An hour before the Clitherall fugitives reached Fergus Falls word was received that two others had been taken at Carlisle, ten miles away. The other three, including John Kensky, thought to have been the leader in the asylum delivery, are still at large.

Kensky ten years ago was sentenced to a 30-year term in the penitentiary after killing a man in a drunken quarrel. Five years after his imprisonment he was adjudged insane and moved to the Fergus Falls hospital.

Death of Mrs. L. A. Westphal.

After an illness of two years, during which time she suffered untold agony, Mrs. Westphal was relieved from further suffering when death occurred Saturday morning at 6:30 at the family home two miles west of town. Mrs. Westphal was born July 24, 1880, at Egg Harbor, Wis., and was 42 years and 9 months of age at the time of her death. Se was united in marriage to Mr. Westphal on June 26, 1897. To this union ten children were born, nine of whom survive. Eight of the children are at home, and one daughter, Mrs. Pilley, resides at Fergus Falls. All the children with the exception of Mrs. Pilley, who is ill, were home when their mother passed away. Mrs. Westphal is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Miller, and three brothers, Henry, Ernest and Charles, all at Miami, Florida, and five sisters, who are: Mrs. A. Babcock and Mrs. W. Burse, of Miami, Mrs. A. C. Mumbleau and Mrs. Dan Mumbleau of Minneapolis, and Mrs. A. Mumbleau of Morris, Minn.

Funeral services were conducted by Rev. E. Halter from the Westphal home Tuesday afternoon and interment was made in the cemetery east of town. Heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended to Mr. Westphal and family in their sad loss of wife and mother.—St. Hilaire Spectator.

New Ruling on Soldiers Dependency Takes Effect

All Dependents of Service Men Before or After Discharge Have Claim for Allowance.

Under a decision of the Comptroller General recently rendered, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau will be permitted to consider a class of claims heretofore regarded as unauthorized.

By this ruling, claims which were made for government family allowance after the veteran's discharge from the service can now be considered where the person to whom it was desired to make the allowance was subsequently brought by law within the permitted class of beneficiaries.

In the particular case submitted by the Veterans' Bureau for decision, an attempt was made by an enlisted man to claim allowance for his aunt, who, he showed, was absolutely dependent upon him for support. At that time the claim was disallowed because an aunt was not then, nor is now, within the permitted class of family allowance beneficiaries. The aunt involved in this case however stood in loco parentis to the enlisted man.

Following the discharge of the enlisted man from the service, the Sweet Bill (Section 4 of the Act of December 24, 1919, 41 Stat. 371) amended the War Risk Insurance Act by enlarging the permitted class to whom allowances might be made to include "persons who have stood in loco parentis to a member of the military or naval forces at any time prior to his enlistment or induction for period of not less than one year." This amendment was made retroactive in its force to October 6, 1917. The aunt in the case ruled upon held such a status.

In view of this retroactive provision the Comptroller has ruled that a regulation of the Veterans' Bureau requiring that applications for family allowance must have been made while the enlisted man was still in service to form a basis for a successful claim does not apply where a subsequently enacted law has given rights which could not have been claimed while the enlisted man was in the service.

THE OLD FOOL

He never grew up—he was always a kid,
He could not make coin like the other folks did;
He cared not for style, and his thoughts seem to run
Away from all things that did not promise fun.
He joked and he laughed as the years hustled by,
His friends shook their heads, as he passed with a sigh,
And said. "What a shame he's so shiftless," but he Declared, "They ain't none of 'em happy as me."
He'd pass up the swells that he met on the way
Content with a dog or a youngster to play,
While others picked dollars, he roamed in the fields
And knew all the gladness the marigold yields.
The years ran away, and his hair was all white,
But his step was still blithe ,and his eyes were still bright,
And he sought every hour for the touch of romance
That breathes on the hills where the young breezes dance.
He died—and the neighbors all gossiped, "How vain
His life without honor, position or gain."
But the youngtsers who found him a pal to the end
Said, "Gee, but it's tough to have lost such a friend."

The penny may not be the best money in the world. but it goes to church more often than the dime, quarter or dollar.

Holt and Laura Holt, his wife, as mortgagors, to the Crookston Building and Loan Association, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, and mortgaging the following described premises situated in the County of Pennington in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lots Seven (7) and Eight (8) of Block Eleven (11), Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Pennington in said State, which mortgage is dated the 20th day of May, 1922, and was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 26th day of May, A. D. 1922, at 2 o'clock P. M., in Book 70 of Mortgages, on page 369; that no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, and the amount now due upon the said mortgage is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred Ninety-one and 70-100 ($1,491.70) Dollars, against which the mortgagors are entitled to a credit of Ninety-five and 20-100 ($95.20) Dollars, the current value of Fourteen (14) shares of the capital stock of the mortgagee, subscribed for by the said mortgagors and forming a part of said transaction, leaving the amount actually due and claimed to be due and owing upon the said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Ninety-six and 50-100 ($1,396.50) Dollars.

Now Notice is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and the statute in such cases made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of Pennington County on the 29th day of May, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, to pay said debt, interest, attorney fees and the disbursements allowed by law, and taxes, if any, paid by the holder of said mortgage.

Ostby-Magnuson.

A very pretty wedding took place Sunday afternoon at the O. D. Ostby home on Horace avenue, when Maebelle Constance Ostby was united in marriage to Andrew Milton Magnuson. The ceremony took place at two o'clock, Rev. T. E. Sweger officiating in the presence of relatives and friends. Miss Ruby Bennes, cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Orin Ostby, her brother, was best man. Miss Irma Thompson and Arthur Magnuson, both of Sacred Heart, this state, also stood up with the bride and groom. The bride wore a white gown of Canton crepe and carried a bridal bouquet of roses. The groom was dressed in the conventional black. White roses and sweet peas were used profusely throughout the rooms. A fine wedding dinner was served immediately after the ceremony, covers being laid for twenty. The young couple left Sunday evening for Winnipeg and other points on their ohneymoon. A large number of friends were at the depot to bid them bon voyage on their journey.

30 Million Whitefish Fry Put in Red Lake This Year

State Fisheries to Be Continued According to Statement of Commissioner Carlos Avery.

Thirty million white fish fry are being placed in Red Lake this week as part of the propagation project being conducted there under the orders of Carlos Avery, state game and fish commissioner. The fry being placed in Red Lake at this time are from spawn which was taken from Red Lake in the fall of 1922 and which was taken to the hatchery at French River, Minn., near Duluth, at that time to be hatched. It requires six and one-half months to hatch white fish eggs and the spawn has remained at the hatchery since last fall.

The fry were shipped to Red Lake this week and were placed in the lake there Wednesday. With the propagation plan of Mr. Avery the state owned fisheries at Red Lake may operate indefinitely as there will always be an abundance of whitefish in that body of water.—Bemidji Sentinel.

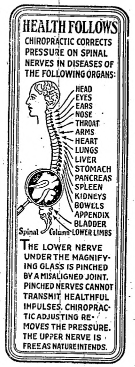
The Weak Eyes That Come After Measles

What measles may do to the eyes of the sufferer from this disease depends on the ability of the eyes to resist. Those in whom resistance is weak may be seriously affected, even blinded, while those in whom resistance is strong, will quickly recover after the course of the disease is run.

Uncle Ben Says: "Honesty is not a virtue, Nevvy, it is just an expected and necessary part of any normal human being, like eyes, teeth and legs."



HEALTH FOLLOWS

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

Every mother owes it to the child that has had measles to see that the eyes come back to normal. To insure this the sufferer needs chiropractic spinal adjustments. The adjustments will raise resistance to normal by restoring the normal transmission of life impulses over spinal nerve and connective nerve lines.

EYES ARE NORMAL

"For quite a number of years I suffered dreadfully with my eyes. I had eye headaches. After I started a course of chiropractic spinal adjustments I noticed a decided improvement. Today they are all well and have not had a headache since."—Miss A. Goe,, Chiropractic Research Bureau No. 1328H.

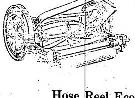
HALL BROTHERS COMPANY

Old Mother Nature is in the midst of her annual rejuvenation. She's cast aside the dull drab of winter and is garbing herself in the green and white and pink of spring.

At this time most of us get a longing, want-to-get-out-doors feeling. Let's take advantage of this and get out and rake up the yard, spade the garden, plant garden, flower and grass seeds, and do the little odd jobs of fixing up and painting that are necessary to keep our premises in tune with nature's mood.

Make It A Pleasure

With the right tools this work becomes a real pleasure. But a wobbly wheelbarrow, a hoe with a loose handle, or a lawn mower that must continuously be adjusted robs you of the enjoyment you naturally would take in "fixin' up."



Lawn Mowers

It will pay you to buy a lawn mower from us for it will last a lifetime.

Hose Reel Economy

The use of a reel more than doubles the life of hose as the hose is thoroughly drained out after each use and because it keeps the hose off the ground where the sun will rot it. Pays for itself many times over and in addition it's much cleaner and more convenient to keep hose on a reel.

Sixth Infantry Band Concert Monday Afternoon at 4:30; Jalma's Military Band 151st Regiment Tuesday Evening at 7:35; Beautiful Souvenirs to be Distributed by Business Men of St. Paul and Minneapolis. Come, Enjoy It!

Minneapolis Men to Spend Tuesday Night in This City

Street Concert to Be Rendered By the Celebrated Jalma Military Band.

Speeches By Visitors and Local Orators to Feature Business Meeting.

According to G. W. Irwin, chairman of the Trade Tour committee of the Minneapolis Civics & Commerce Association, arrangements are now complete for the trade tour which will visit 79 communities in northern Minnesota during the week of May 21. More than 100 business men, representing practically every line of business in Minneapolis, will be on the train. "Souvenirs are being packed up and men are grueling themselves for a week of constant activity," said Mr. Irwin. "While some people may look upon the trade tour as a pleasure trip for these men, it would only be necessary for one of them to become an active participant to realize that there is hard work involved. However, the pleasure of meeting people whom we seldom see yet with whom we have constant business relations more than offsets any disagreeable feature. We look forward to meeting these people and getting their point of view and to discuss with them the problems which the northwest faces."

C. S. CUNNINGHAM.
President of the Commercial Bulletin Co., member of the St. Paul trade tourists who will visit this city on May 21.

The Trade Tour train this year consists of 13 cars—a baggage car for personal baggage and supplies of souvenirs, dining and sleeping cars. All meals are served while the train is moving from town to town and members of the party sleep on the train at night. It is practically a hotel on wheels.

One of the chief items of interest on the trade tour is Jalma's Band, formerly the 151st Field Artillery Band. This organization accompanied the regiment on all of its campaigns in France and of the men which Captain Jalma will have with him this year more than half are veterans of the 151st Field Artillery Band, and practically all of the others saw service in army or navy musical organizations.

There will be special souvenirs for the children and it is hoped that they will be able to come down town during the visit of the Minneapolis people and hear the band play. The trade tour will arrive here Tuesday evening at 7:35. Following the visits upon business houses a general meeting will be held at the Auditorium, when local and visiting orators will be given an opportunity to orate to their heart's content.

Carl Sundahl Will Sing at 17th of May Festival

At the 17th of May festival to be given tomorrow evening by the Sons of Norway, Carl Sundahl has agreed to sing a solo as well as a duet with Roy Prytz. Gordon Overland will play a violin solo and several songs will be contributed by Brage Chorus.

The address of the evening will be delivered by H. O. Chommie. After the program lunch will be served and then the devotees of terpsichore will be given fully sway for the balance of the night.

Bibulous Young Men Warned By Judge Tarrant

Roads to Be Made Rough For Those Making Night Hideous on Streets.

Youth Arrested By Night Officer Ralston For Being Drunk and Disorderly.

It behooves the young men of this city and vicinity to stay off the streets after midnight from now on, if the sentence imposed on Art Ostmo Monday in municipal court by Judge N. W. Tarrant is to be taken as a criterion. This lad, who was arrested on a charge of being drunk and disorderly, was given a fine of $10 and thirty days in jail. However, the jail sentence was suspended pending good behavior of the young man by not appearing on the streets of this city after midnight for the next six months.

Night Patrolman Ralston on Sunday evening arrested the young man, who with several others, had been altogether too boisterous to suit the taste of the officer of the law. The young man was taken to jail, where he remained until court convened Monday morning. The others in the crowd were advised to make themselves scarce, which they did without delay. Mr. Ralston was forced to draw his club before it was possible to subdue young Ostmo.

In handing out the sentence, the court admonished the defendant that "all honest men are in bed by midnight but roues are out traveling," as the old Scotch saying goes. Judge Tarrant also gave orders to the police to hereafter arrest all young men who are caught on the streets after midnight when they are creating a disturbance, as the habit has become altogether too common. A lot of the young boys and men seem to have an idea that they can go out to country dances until midnight and then come to town and make the night hideous until daybreak. If they do from now on they will regret it.

On June 1 the new state law regarding public dances will go into effect, and undoubtedly the county attorney and sheriff will see that its provisions are strictly enforced. There are some rather sharp teeth in the law and it behooves not only those attending public dances but also those who stage them and the owners of the buildings, to run them in a clean manner or feel the effects of the law.

Baseball Talent to Be Tried Out Next Sunday

Weeding Out Process to Determine Fitness of Local Horse Hiders to Tackle Fast Company

Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds has been selected as the time and place when baseball enthusiasts will gather to pick the pennant winners for Thief River Falls.

It will be the 'survival of the fittest" say those in charge of the combing out process. "No man will get very far on his shape," said one of the critics whose eye has been on several promising youngsters during the past few weeks.

"Let the boys get out Sunday afternoon and show their mettle." We appear to have a plethora of baseball talent in the old town and this year it is proposed to confine the team to home talent.

Soon the boys who are away attending various colleges and universities will be home and it is of the opinion of most people that the city can be represented on the diamond by an aggregation which will creditably defend the baseball reputation of Thief River Falls.

Young Farmer Is Burned to Death in Brush Fire

Warroad, Minn., May 15.—The body of Lee Pieper of Cedarbend, was found in a burning brush pile. The young man, who was subject to fits occasionally, went out to burn some brush piles where they had been clearing on his father's land. It is believed that he took a fit while attending to the fire and fell onto the burning pile.

Goodridge.

The Ladies' Aid will hold their annual sale at the school house on Friday evening, May 18, at 8 o'clock. A program will be rendered and lunch served. John Nystul will be the auctioneer. All are welcome.

TRADE TOUR PROGRAM

No local entertainment will be attempted for the St. Paul trade tourists who will visit the city Monday afternoon. They will be accompanied by their band and their stay in the city will be taken up with visits upon the various mercantile establishments of the city.

The Minneapolis trade tourists will arrive in the city on Tuesday evening and will be entertained at the City Auditorium, where the public is invited at 9 o'clock. Following the public meeting the trade tourists will be entertained by members of the Commercial Club at a smoker which will be given at the Elks Club.

The St. Paul party will be here at 4:30 Monday.

Illicit Liquor Hurt His Heart.

Coroner Liljeblad returned here this morning after conducting an investigatoin into the death of John Hill, who was found dead by school children on the Cingmars road Thursday. The investigation revealed that the man's name was John Hill and that he had come to his death through heart trouble, caused by over-indulgence in moonshine. Hill was about 48 years old and had no dependents so far as is known. The body was shipped here this morning and deceased will be buried as a public charge.—International Falls Press.

St. Paul Tourists to Stage Hook 'Em Cow Parade

Sixth Infantry Band to Give Concert at Bank Corner During Visit Here.

Kids Advised to Hold Up Trade Tourists for Attractive Souvenirs.

"Everything is in readiness," it is announced by the St. Paul Association, for the greatest Trade Tour which has ever left St. Paul. The special train will leave St. Paul Sunday evening, May 20, and will arrive in Thief River Falls at 4:30 p. m. on Monday, May 21.

It has been a tradition of the Trade Tour, The Tribune is informed, that the approach of the Trade Tour Special is announced at each city along the route by "tying down" the locomotive whistle so that from the very start the Tour opens with a blast.

Immediately upon arrival, the St. Paul visitors will stage their "white hat hook 'em cow" parade, headed by the Sixth Infantry Band, which will be uniformed in that of the regulation Infantry Band.

The children will form behind the band and parade along with the boosters to the corner which will be selected for the band concert, where an extra special program for "kids" only has been prepared by the boosters.

Each of the tourists will carry his pockets stuffed with souvenirs for the children and any girl or boy is privileged to "hold up" any of the white hatted visitors and demand to be shown the contents of his pockets.

This is the 47th year of Trade Tours that have gone forth from St. Paul to learn that the problems of the business men in the small city and farms are exactly the same as his brothers' in the city.

More than one hundred business men, the chief executives of St. Paul business firms, will make up the party of the tour this year; both Mayor Nelson and President John Seeger of the Association will be members of the party.

A representative of the United States Railway Mail Service, William R. Hilgedick, will accompany the tour to investigate railway mail service in the towns that the business men visit. It will be his endeavor to go into all problems that are presented by the communities with a view of improving the railway mail service wherever it is possible. The business men of our city who have specific instances are urged to present them to Mr. Hilgedick. He will be found at the postoffice.

A representative of the St. Paul Association freight service committee, Charles Liggett, will also accompany the tour, to check freight service and to receive suggestions for its improvement.

Spick and span new Great Northern equipment, from baggage car through diners and sleepers o the final observation car, is being supplied the boosters by the railroad company. When this splendid train brings the visitors to town, at least the children may be assured that a good time is in store for them.

Woman's Auxiliary Will Handle Sale of Poppies

Service Men Not to Be Asked to Sell Poppies For Decorative Purposes.

Committees representing the Woman's Auxiliary of the American Legion will call on the business men of Thief River Falls and take orders for poppies to be used for Memorial Day decorations.

It has been the practice in the large cities of the state to place this sale in the hands of the disabled veterans, but local members of the Auxiliary feel that the men should be spared such efforts to swell their funds, and hence the Auxiliary decided to attend to the matter.

Expensive Law Making.

Oscar Arneson, chief clerk, has made some computations and shows that the late lamented Minnesota legislature cost $13.18 a minute during the time it was in session. There were 2,310,000 words spoken during the sessions of the House and Senate and 469 bills became laws. The cost was $901 per law, which is a high price, quality considered.—Detroit Record.

THIEF RIVER FALLS TO HEAR PRESIDENT COFFMAN OF "U"

This city will be afforded an opportunity to hear President Lotus D. Coffman of the State University, on Friday, May 25, at one o'clock, when he will appear here in company with Coach Spaulding and Athletic Director Luhring to urge the need for a stadium and auditorium at the University.

The mass meeting will be held at the Auditorium under the direction of the members of the Alumni of the University residing in Thief River Falls, of which there are said to be twenty-eight in all.

No effort will be made to raise money at the meeting but the needs of the University with respect to larger stadium and auditorium facilities will be discussed by the visitors.

H. O. Chommie has been selected to head the drive in Pennington county. The amount aimed at is $2,000,000 for a stadium and auditorium. Of this amount, $1,500,000 has already been raised in a drive in the three large cities of the state. The balance will be subscribed in the rural communities.

President Coffman is a fine public speaker, as common as an old shoe, and the people of the city will miss a real treat if they fail to hear him on the occasion of his local visit.

TO DISCUSS DAM MATTER

Engineer Thomas, who recently made his report to the city council on the dam matter, will be the principal speaker at tomorrow's Commercial Club luncheon. Inasmuch as his point of view will be of interest to all tax payers it is desirable that all members attend the meeting tomorrow.

Applicants should get in touch with Mr. Fuller at once in order to make sure of approval by the military officers.

DR. O. F. MELLBY

Dr. Mellby Named Member of State Board of Health

Important Appointment by Governor Preus Complete Surprise to Local Physician.

Dr. O. F. Mellby of the Physicians Hospital staff was last week appointed a member of the State Board of Health by Governor Preus. The appointment came as a complete surprise to Dr. Mellby, who was not even aware that such a vacancy existed.

The commission was dated last Thursday and is for one of the unexpired terms running to January 1, 1925. The Tribune has been unable to ascertain whose place on the board is to be filled by the appointment of Dr. Mellby.

The appointment on this important state board is a particularly desirable one and constitutes one of the first cases on record where the appointment has come to a member unsolicited. Dr. Mellby is one of the oldest practitioners in this section of the state and it is needless to say the selection will meet with the approval of medical men everywhere.

The state board, of which Dr. Mellby now becomes a member, has general supervision over all health movements within the state. They have an office at the state capitol and meet regularly to consider measures for conserving the public health, being particularly active in cases where epidemics occur. The appointment of Dr. Mellby becomes effective at once.

Senior Play Excellent.

The senior class play, "Come Out of the Kitchen." presented last Friday evening by members of the graduating class of '23, proved unusually attractive. The class play brought out a record house which showed its approval by frequent and prolonged applause as the members of the cast interpreted the difficult roles. Receipts were in excess of $400, which will be used in defraying class expenses.

One has to be a nut in order to play the shell game.

WHEAT GROWERS PERFECT STATE WIDE MARKETING ORGANIZATION

This City to Be Headquarters For Big Co-Operative Marketing Wheat Pool for the State.

The temporary organization of the Minnesota Wheat Growers Co-Operative Marketing Association has now been perfected. with this city as the headquarters of the organization. Two of the important officers are local men, namely, J. B. Conner, state president, and W. H. Frederick, state secretary, who is also in charge of the organization in Minnesota.

Plans for the Minnesota co-operative organization were made in accordance with those of twelve other states which are now selling large portions of their wheat under the pool arrangement, as well as conforming to the co-operative law passed last winter by the legislature.

Last year more than ten million bushels of wheat were sold by the Northwest Wheat Growers Associated and a splendid record was made in obtaining both better grades and better prices for the farmers. This year an attempt will be made to handle at least one hundred million bushels, and if the organization continues its growth according to the ratio now being maintained, that goal will easily be attained.

The present aim of the association is to secure more orderly marketing, and as the pool grows in size it is likely that some attempt at price fixing will be made. While the task is a large one yet the success of similar associations which have handled fruit, tobacco and cotton have met with phenomenal success, and the proposed wheat pool will more than justify the attempt to secure better prices for the basic product of the country if it is only moderately successful as compared with other commodities.

The drive for memberships is going steadily forward, a large acreage having already been signed up in the most important wheat growing counties of the state. Meetings which are being held the coming week in Kansas City and Minneapolis will determine to a large extent the future course to be pursued, and an early issue of The Tribune will carry a complete writeup of the plan of the Minnesota association.

J. H. Sorum of Holt is vice president; Dan Suprenant of East Grand Forks is treasurer; the present board of directors are Jorgen Eide, Thief River Falls; Ferman Derosier, Red Lake Falls; W. B. Bosworth, Ada; Dan Supernant, East Grand Forks, and H. F. Sprung, Ada. New officers and directors will be elected at the annual meeting, which will be held in this city on June 6.

County May Issue Bonds For Roads to be Completed

State to Approve Reimbursement Bond Issues for Improvements.

Policy Designed to Insure Building of Betterments in Importance Order.

Pennington county has the power to issue road bonds to insure the construction of needed road improvements under the new state refundment plan, and it is possible that such action may be taken by this county in the near future. County commissioners have the power to vote a bond issue to the amount of $250,000 without a special election, according to the new law, and it is probable that this will be done in a number of instances where roads are badly needed and which will not be built this year by the highway department owing to the fact that the $20,000,000 highway bond issue failed of passage at the last session of the legislature.

The Pennington county board will meet in regular session on Friday, May 18, and it is thought that the bond proposition will be taken up at that time. The completion of the Jefferson Highway into this city has been receiving the consideration of the board, although it is not yet known whether the state highway department will complete the road.

County reimbursement bond issues under the new 1923 law for state trunk highway improvements will be limited to necessities, the state highway department this week advised County Auditor T. P. Anderson.

The policy framed is to prevent the taking of highway funds for minor local improvements before important projects more needed to serve the greatest number of taxpayers are carried out.

The statement from the department follows a ruling on the new law given by the attorney general and points out changes from the old reimbursement bond law. The department estimates that about $4,000,000 of new bonds will be issued, against more than $11,000,000 that would be piled up under a more liberal policy and added to the $26,000,000 now charged for payment from automobile tax receipts.

Charles M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, after receiving the ruling from the attorney general and counseling with his engineers, announced that only bond projects to carry out needed improvements will be approved.

"Minnesota adopted a trunk highway development plan by a 5 to 2 vote of the people," said the commissioner. "The principle is that a system of main highways be improved on a state-wide scale and without regard to county or other local lines. The department cannot sanction departures from this first principle—schemes that would put minor local improvements ahead and take state money that logically and justly should be used for more necessary betterments on more important an heavier traveled highways."

Under any other policy, it was pointed out, money needed for improvement of a highway carrying 1,000 or more vehicles a day might be diverted to an unimportant project on a section serving less than 150 vehicles daily.

The new reimbursement bond authorization subject will be taken up this week in many counties, some boards having called special meetings for that purpose. Under the old law a three-fifths vote of the board would pass $125,000 of bonds and a unanimous vote $250,000 while larger sums could be voted at county elections. The new law simply authorizes issues up to $250,000 by a three-fifths vote of the commissioners.

The old authorization resulted in a larger percentage of paving than would have been built otherwise. This was because the commissioners, believing that other needs would be provided from regular state funds, insisted that the county bond money be used for hard-surfacing.

The statement from the highway department invites the county board to first decide on improvements it favors, giving the general route and termini. After approval is given, the board will proceed with right-of-way acquisition or other necessary preliminaries and with the sale of the bonds, while the state is calling for bids and awarding the contract. The law requires that all projects be under state specifications and supervision, and the county now will be relieved of all the responsibility and insured specific reimbursement. Operations are to start in each instance as the bond proceeds are turned over to the state treasurer.

Any balance over the cost of the agreed undertaking, the law provides, shall be expended on other sections of trunk highways in the county within a year.

Marshall County Board Charged With Unfairness

The Tribune has received a communication from C. J. Larson of Viking, charging the Marshall county board of commissioners with unfair tactics in awarding contracts for road dragging this spring. Mr. Larson says:

"On March 14 last the road dragging on 36 divisions of state aid roads was let by the county board and highway engineer in charge. As an example I will give you the facts about the letting of Div. 19, state aid road D, on which there were six bidders, as follows:

"Edward Sorenson, 37c per mile for dragging and $107.50 per month alternate bid.

"Morris Hanson, 39c per mile for dragging and $110 per month alternate bid.

"Pontius Larson, 40c per mile for dragging and $125 per month alternate.

"Gust M. Peterson, 40c per mile for dragging and $100 per month alternate.

"C. J. Larson, 30c per mile for dragging and $110 alternate.

"P. E. Waldren, 32c per mile for dragging and $90 per month alternate.

"Any man with common sense can see by this that the job should have been let to Mr. Waldren, his bid being the lowest on account of a lot of day labor being required on this division, as well as on division 20 of the same road, and Mr. Lodoen, our commissioner, as well as P. B. Malberg of Steiner, made a proposition at the meeting that the patrolman should be hired by the month only. But regardless of this the job was let to Mr. Peterson, who was one of the highest bidders and very undesirable in the view of the people out here, with the exception of only a few.

"If this was only in one instance it might be excusable, but we understand this same kind of stuff is adhered to all along the line.

"Taxpayers of our county, don't you think it is high time that this kind of monkey business or advertising stunt is cut out and that expense saved, when in all probability it is nothing but a farce and so much scrap paper? Why should people be fooled to go to the expense of sending in bids, and even some are traveling long distances not to mention cutting their bids to the bone, and come to naught, finding that officials awarded the job to the man with the highest figures. If this is justice and economy, you've got to show me. I cannot see it in that light."

Squatters Ousted From Old Lake Bed By Land Decision

A case that for several years has been in litigation, involving the ownership of certain lake shore lands in sections 28 and 33 in Hill River township, near McIntosh, has just been decided by the commissioner of the United States land department.

When the lands adjoining these lakes were taken under the homestead act many years ago the waters in the lakes covered a much greater area than they do at present. As the waters receded a strip of land surrounding these lakes amounting to several hundreds of acres was left uncovered. Some years ago these lands were squatted upon by John Berg and Julian Brinkman and an application was made for a homestead filing under the settlement right. The granting of the homestead application was opposed by the land owners whose lands originally adjoined the lakes, and the applications were denied.

Then followed a series of litigation that has extended over a number of years and was ended yesterday when the United States land commissioner decided in favor of the owners of the lands that originally adjoined the lakes.

Made Maniac With Moonshine.

Crazed as the result of drinking poisonous moonshine, Willard Christenson, 34 years old, of Shovel Lake, was committed to the Fergus Falls detention hospital Wednesday after an examination in the probate court. Christenson has been a married man, his wife dying in 1913, and it believed this grief started him drinking. Up to that time he was well respected in his community. Christenson's mania took the form of hallucinations in which he imagined that he was the victim of railroad usurpation of his property. He stated that an engine had crashed into his shack and that he had received 55 wounds from machine guns stationed near his farm by railway officials. Items from the daily press, enlarged upon and distorted, seemed to be the basis of other imaginary dangers.—Aitkin Independent-Age.

The annual convention of the Norwegian Church of America will take place at St. Paul June 7 to 15 inclusive. Dr. H. G. Stub is president of the body. Two big musical events will feature the opening of the convention, a concert on Thursday evening, June 7, by the famous St. Olaf college choir, Northfield, Minn., and another the following evening by the Norwegian Lutheran choral union of between 1,500 and 2,000 voices. Included in the important matters to come before the convention are the question of union with the Lutheran Free church, Icelandic Lutheran Synod and the United Danish Lutheran church; elecion of officers; election of president of Luther college, Decorah, Iowa, to succeed the late president, C K. Preus, father of Gov. J. A. O. Preus of Minnesota; report of the interim committee on efficiency and economy; change from triennial to biennial conventions; proposed changes in the budget system, and formation of an English district of association.

Look Out For Thief River.

Thief River Falls high school has secured Leonard Thune of Albert Lea as its science teacher and athletic coach. Thune was Minnesota's all-state high school basket ball center in 1919 and has been all state center in South Dakota during his four past college years. So the 1924 Ada basket ball team of next winter can either prepare to get ate up or get ready to battle with a real team when Thief River shows up.—Norman County Index.

THE UNDERPAID FARMER.

The United States Department of Agriculture recently compiled a survey of over 6,000 representatives farms in an effort to ascertain what return the average American farmer gets from his invested capital. The results are not only interesting but instructive, especially in view of the recent supreme court decision which affirms the principle "that legislation which precludes a fair return on the investment which it affects is confiscatory and unconstitutional."

The Department of Agriculture finds that the average invested capital of these 6,000 farms is $16,400.

The average return on this capital was only $715—less than 4.5 per cent.

That return, however, does not include one dollar for his labor. To get the less than 4.5 per cent on his investment he has had to work for nothing.

He has had, however, an increase of $202 in inventories, crops, livestock, and machinery, which makes his total gross earnings on his investment a little less than 6 per cent.

Estimating the value of his labor at the figures decided upon by three different surveys, as to how much is required to support a family and live decently without saving a dollar, he should be credited with $1,900 a year in addition to his gross return on his invested capital. From this might be deducted the $294 which the department reports show was the value of food and fuel consumed on the farm.

Putting the 6,000 farms on the same financial basis with the New York Telephone company, or the railroads which are guaranteed 5.5 per cent on their stock (watered or otherwise), the farm as a commercial enterprise is losing over $1,500 a year. This may explain the cause of nearly thirteen thousand millions of dollars of indebtedness recorded against American farms and farmers.

Legislation that permits a charge of 9 per cent interest to the farmers for the use of government money, together with high freight rates, might be construed as "confiscatory"—when viewed from the fact that the gross cash earnings will not pay it.

The supreme court decision, in the case of Prendergast vs. New York Telephone Co., will also have the effect of blocking the "Farm Bloc" in the proposed program to lower railroad rates, and it will affect legislation in nearly every state and city.

Following this line of argument to its logical conclusion, the day may come when professional people, school teachers and superintendents, printers and preachers, engineers and skilled mechanics, will capitalize the money and years of time spent in preparing themselves, and demand a fair return on that investment in addition to a reasonable wage or overhead expense. The knowledge acquired after years of study and expense certainly becomes invested capital—at least as much as a piece of inanimate machinery, or a mine mule.

ALIENS SMUGGLED IN.

Reports coming into the immigration department at St. Paul state that large numbers of undesirable aliens, chiefly from southern European countries, are pouring over the 75-mile stretch of land lying between Warroad and Noyes. These aliens are said to be aided in their efforts to cross the line by an organized smuggling gang. Now the labor department at Washington is taking a hand in the matter and is going to arrest every foreigner who cannot give a good account of his presence here.

The reports, coming close on the heels of appeals from eastern employers for modification of the immigration laws which would permit of cheap labor getting into the country to be put to work in the steel mills and textile centers, might cause one to ponder at this juncture to uncover a reason for labor smuggling activities now confronting Minnesota.

Replying to Judge Gary's appeal for the cancellation of restrictions on immigration, that the U. S. Steel Corporation may secure a sufficient supply of labor, Commissioner Husband of the Immigration Bureau makes the flat assertion that there is no reason to throw down the barriers so long as many of the countries have not nearly exhausted their quotas. The restriction on immigration operates only against Russia and south European countries, like Italy and the Slavic states, which have exhausted their quotas, and still would-be immigrants clamoring at the ship agencies in their seaport towns. The commissioner of immigration suggests mildly that perhaps if conditions of employment in the steel mills of the United States were more humane, more adapted to attract a higher class of labor, it would not be necessary for the appeal to be made that the United States should throw open its doors to the least desirable class of men from the Balkans and southeastern Europe. There is still an opportunity for 75,000 workers from Germany, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, and the states of northern Europe to enter the United States. Why is that opportunity not eagerly seized? It would be if conditions of employment were such as to attract desirable citizens. The 12-hour day of the United States Steel Corporation cannot be held as a bright promise of better things for the self-respecting European workman seeking advancement.

Howard University asserts that there are 1,000,000 negroes in the South who are available to supply any lack of labor in the steel mills or other northern industries. The Southern planter, on the other hand, is anxious to keep the negro where he is because they have strong bodies and their labor is cheap.

The fact of the matter is we already have in the United States nearly as many "foreign-born" adults as there are real Americans. When the population statistics are carefully analyzed this statement will be found practically correct. More than 11,000,000 of our total population are in the Phillipines, Hawaii, Porto Rico. About 10,000,000 more are public charges—inmates of prisons, reformatories, asylums, poor houses and public institutions. This leaves us about 90,000,000, of whom 24,000,000 are children under 10 years of age. Of this remaining 66,000,000 about 14,000,000 are foreign born. Deducting the foreign born adults leaves us with 52,000,000, of whom nearly 11,000,000 are negroes. This reduces the real native white American population, including all children above 10 years of age, to about 41,000,000, on whom the duty of Americanizing rests almost entirely.

Figure it out for yourself, and after you have done that, consider the fact that there are over 1,100 newspapers and periodicals and newspapers, and among them 125 daily newspapers, in 40 different languages, printed and circulated in this country, with combined circulations over the million mark.

The best thing the United States can do for the next generation is to adopt some national system of Americanizing those already here—if the land and government our fathers won for us is to be preserved.

The mere mention a few years ago of a bankers' association assisting farmers in their producing and marketing problems was like smearing mud in their faces. Now, however, in the passing of the days and the adjustment period, we find these bankers vigorously supporting co-operative marketing of all farm products along the California plan. Now the Minneapolis chamber of commerce is abusing the bankers for their activity in support of the co-operative movement and denouncing them in mean terms. All of which is a healthy sign, The Tribune hopes, for the farmer.

ALL DAYS ARE MOTHERS' DAYS.

That woman blinking over her mending basket by the evening lamp, or putting the paper aside because the print is too small, was and is your fathers' ideal of the slender grace of beauty, of the fire and magic that lie within our human life. Today she plans tomorrow's meals, next week's shopping, the garden things of summer, just as once she planned your schooling and sister's clothes and taught a baby how to walk. It's proper to send her a letter or telegram or wear a white carnation for her. But your real tribute is your heart's understanding of hers. Love only can keep our souls free from dusty forgetfulness heaped by the passing years. To those who see life, every day is Mother's Day.—Collier's Weekly.

In a recent speech at Mansfield, Ohio, Postmaster General New stated that there was too much political unrest in the country. Very true, and the appointment of Mr. New and other lame ducks by President Harding has in no way diminished such unrest.

The appointment of an Iowa dirt farmer on the federal reserve board by President Harding would indicate that the supply of defeated congressmen and senators had about given out.

Nearly two carloads of sugar beet seed and phosphate fertilizer were distrubted among the farmers of Pennington county last week. This is one of the northern counties of the state, but it appears to be very modern and wide awake.—Dassel Dispatch.

Through the medium of Tribune articles which are widely copied or commented upon in various sections of Minnesota, Pennington county is rapidly taking its rightful place as the leading agricultural county of the state. The sugar beet industry is in line with dairying and the two will combine to make real estate in this county more valuable than ever before.

A girl at Dubuque is dead from injuries received when she jumped from a speeding car to protect her decency against the attack of a brute. There is surely a vacant cell somewhere in every town for a hyena of that kind which should be promptly filled. Meantime, the young woman who accepts an invitation to ride at midnight bids for annoyance and insult.—Albert Lea Enterprise.

No self respecting girl will accept an invitation to ride with a stranger. Last week a school girl was assaulted near Long Prairie by an automobile driver who escaped. Such things happen every day despite the repeated warnings of newspapers. Girls should carry a long hatpin which they should insert deep in the vitals of strangers who accost them on the highways or streets.

Frank Day has been appointed a member of the state board of visitors by Governor Preus. If there is any need for such a board, then we are sure Mr. Day will make a creditable member thereof, but we wish he had refused the paltry office, for as an office holder he will be far less picturesque than as editor of the leading free lance newspaper of the state.

Two boys over near Brainerd were this week charged with burning a building, four automobiles and other property. The boys went to the garage to drain the gasoline from one of the cars preparatory to taking "a trip around the world," and lit a match to see if the gasoline was running into the pail. It was.

"President Hears Charges of Bribery Among Dry Agents," says a news headline. Who ever thought the moonshiners could ever stoop so low as all that. Impossible!

The state of Florida has a senator who voted to continue chattel slavery in the south, whites and blacks alike, which leads The Tribune to speculate as to what his color may be. He owns a lumber camp and occupies a seat in the Florida senate.

The general laws passed by the recent legislature were sent out as a supplement with last weeks' issue of The Tribune. The laws are properly indexed and persons interested in any of the measures passed will have no difficulty in finding what they are seeking. The supplement should be filed away for future reference.

A fellow who was being solicited for life insurance said: "I don't believe in leaving a lot of life insurance for my widow. She would marry a man as soon as I died." "Well, the moral is that she should have married a man in the first place," says an exchange.

Judge Morris says congress fools away too much time, and he ought to know, having been a member some years ago. The fact of the matter is most congressmen and senate members are too busy perpetuating themselves in office to give much time and attention to the needs of the country.

The cold wave of last week extended to all parts of the United States, several eastern states having experienced severe snow storms. All in all northwestern Minnesota has much to be thankful for, including the absence from this region of tornadoes which have raised havoc in many places in the country.

SELLS GOVERNMENT LAND

Crook Finds Many Suckers in Eastern States for Land Not Even Homesteaded.

According to the following story printed last week by the Baudette Region, a lively business in northern Minnesota lands is being done by a crook named Smith who finds his victims in eastern states:

"A man with the name of Wm. Smith is due for a lot of trouble if he doesn't refrain from selling land in the North West Angle, which belongs to the government. Mr. Smith, who is not known in this district, has been going through Ohio and Indiana selling land located in 166-34, which is still in the hands of the government. The facts were brought out this week when some of the purchasers sent letters of inquiry concerning taxes to John Clark, county treasurer. Smith evidently has been issuing deeds to land which has not even been homesteaded, and he is cooking up a large batch of trouble for himself."

Jeanette Sletten of Grygla Bride of Edwin H. Olson

The marriage of Jeanette Sletten of Grygla to Edwin H. Olson of this city took place Thursday evening, May 10, at the Trinity parsonage, Rev. T. E. Sweger performing the ceremony in the presence of Richard and Clara Sletten, brother and sister of the bride. The young folks will make their future home in this city. The bridegroom is a son of Halvor Olson, well known resident of the East side.

Rev. F. O. Anderson, who has been doing missionary work off and on the past seven years, is still able to cover some territory. During the past two weeks he has covered over 300 miles, walking most of the time, in Beltrami, Clearwater, Koochiching and Lake of the Woods counties, and held 27 services. He now has a set of "traps," playing as high as seven instruments at once and manipulating them all himself. These traps are sure to get big crowds wherever he goes.—Baudette Region.

Haldor J. Samstad of Barto returned Friday from Minneapolis, where he has been living for about one year. He says he has had plenty of the city. His wife will also return in a short time. They were induced to move down there by the children, who are employed. Mr. Samstad says they pay $40 per month for five rooms and it cost them $160 per month for eight people to live. He says a man of his age could not get a day's work on a bet. There are now at least four men for every job, so many having rushed to the cities from every direction on account of the Ford project. The many holdups and auto accidents also got on his nerves, he admitted.—Badger Herald-Rustler.

Injured by Gas Tractor.

Saturday afternoon Helmer Bergh who lives north of town, was rather seriously injured by a peculiar accident with a Fordson tractor.

Mr. Bergh had backed up to a drag with the Fordson and dismounted to make the coupling while keeping the clutch in neutral with one foot, the motor still running with the transmission set in reverse.

In some manner Bergh's foot slipped from the clutch pedal and the tractor jumped backward; by a quick move Helmer, who was directly behind the tractor, missed being caught by the rear wheels but was knocked down and run over by one of the front wheels, which caused a crushing injury to the spine in the region of the hips.

The Fordson with its front wheels cramped continued swiftly backward in a small circle, Helmer managing to drag himself out of the machine's path. Someone near the scene of the accident caught the runaway tractor, stopped its wild flight and removed Mr. Bergh to the house and summoned Dr. Shedlov. While the injury is of quite a serious nature, so far nothing unfavorable has developed and hopes for Helmer's complete recovery are held out.—Gully Advance.

We notice that Dan Wallace of St. Paul, editor of the Farmer, is building a large summer cottage at Walker, hewn logs being used in the construction of the building. Ten of Mr. Wallace's friends have purchased lots and will build later on.

AGED VALLEY PIONEER DIES AT HALMA, MINN.

Deceased was born July 7, 1852, at Valders, Norway. He was married in Norway 50 years ago to Ragnhild Vengstad. They came to the United States in 1881 and settled in Wisconsin, where they lived but two years. In 1883 they moved on with many other Scandinavian settlers to the Red River Valley, and arrived at Fisher, Polk county, where they stayed for over a year but later moved on to Kittson county, where they homesteaded in what is now the town of Deerwood. The family resided on the old homestead until 10 years ago, when they moved to Halma.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Entertains For Mother.

Mrs. J. L. Stitt entertained Thursday afternoon in honor of the 81st birthday anniversary of her mother, Mrs. E. Bacon. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent in needlework and conversation. A fine lunch was served by the hostess at five o'clock. Mrs. Bacon was presented with a purse of money as a memento of the occasion. The guests included Mesdames E. Bacon, O. Halldin, O. C. Hanson, E. Richards, Olson, C. M. Carlson, Julia Leavitt, J. Skog, F. W. Johnson, J. Lund and J. Anderson.

Soderberg-Peterson.

A wedding of much local interest took place last Wednesday afternoon at the Swedish Mission church, when Miss Minnie Soderberg, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Soderberg, was united in marriage to Ira Peterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Peterson. Luella Peterson, sister of the groom, and Harry Mjelde were the attendants. Both bride and groom are well known in this city, having lived here practically of their lives. The young couple left in the evening for Gladstone, Wis., where they will probably make their home.

Mrs. Fisher in Recital

Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, formerly of this city, now a resident of Minneapoils, delighted "the home folks" with a song recital given Monday evening at Grand Forks, concerning which the Herald has the following to say:

"That Grand Forks has produced a musicina whose excellence in her art is rarely equalled was evidenced last evening when Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher, contralto, gave a song recital in the First Methodist church under the auspices of the fourth division of the Aid society of the church.

Mrs. Fisher's voice, though always immensely pleasing, has developed remarkably within the past two years during her residence in Minneapolis where she has studied very vigorously. Her singing is truly professional, her voice reflecting not only a native ability, but a good deal of training and intensive study. The tone quality is mellow and soft, and has a force and range that make her voice most exceptional. Her interpretations are those of a thinking artist and in her program last evening, the variety of her numbers gave ample opportunity for a display of her versitility.

A fairly large audience heard Mrs. Fisher last evening, and their appreciation of her splendid work was very whole-hearted. Applause was generous through the entire program, and the singer was gracious in responding.

Giving able assistance at the piano was Miss Lilah Sannes, who helped with her sympathetic accompaniments to make the concert an enjoyable one.

The first group which Mrs. Fisher sang included three selections, "Do Not Go, My Love," by Hangeman; "I Passed By Your Window," by Brahe and "Floods of Spring" by Rachmaninoff. These three were well given as was the difficult aria from "Samson et Delia," by Saint-Saens which followed.

In the third part were three very beautiful and simple ballads, "Irish Love Song" by Lang, "Star" by Rogers and "Pale Moon,, by Logan. The first and last numgers in this group were two of the most popular numbers sung during the evening, "Pale Moon" especially being given with much feeling and sympathy.

Two German numbers by Schumann, "Im Wundersohnen Monat mai" and "Lie Lotusblume" comprised the fourth group, and in the last part were one French and three English songs, "Jai Pleure en reve," by Hue "The Spring Flower" by Campbell-Tipton, "When the Roses Bloom," by Reichardt, and Pearl Curran's "Dawn." The last group was sung with perhaps more feeling and enthusiasm than the singer had evidenced earlier in the evening, and the very last number was a fitting climax for the splendid program.

For encore numbers through the evening, Mrs. Singer sang "Mighty Lak a Rose," "Heaps. O' Lickens," and "The Sweetest Story Ever Told."

Mrs. Fisher has been the guest of her parents, Mrs. and Mrs. E. O. Mallory here for the past week, and she expects to return to Minneapolis very soon after which she plans to go to Chicago to continue her voice study."

Guerdette-Majeres Nuptials.

The following account of the wedding of Thomas Majeres, formerly of this city, to a Crookston young lady, appeared in yesterday's issue of the Crookston Daily Times: "In the presence of a few relatives and friends, the Reverend Fr. Wurm solemnized the marriage of Miss Cecilia Guerdette and Mr. Thomas Majeres this morning at seven o'clock in the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception. The nuptial mass was read immediately following the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Guerdette, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Majeres of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Dorn of Thief River Falls, the latter a sister of Mr. Majeres, were the attendants. The bride was attired in a three-piece suit of beige tricotine, and wore a leghorn picture hat trimmed in irridescent taffeta. All accessories matched the suit and her corsage was fashioned of Columbia roses, lilies of the valley and lace fern. Baskets of white marguerites and lighted candles in tall holders tied with white tulle were the table adornments at the home of the bride's parents when, at eleven o'clock, a five course wedding breakfast was served, the guests including immediate relatives only. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. N. Majeres and daughter, Anna, of Thief River Falls; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Godden of Algona, Iowa, and Mr and Mrs. A. H. Dorn of Thief River Falls. Mr. and Mrs. Majeres departed at noon for a honeymoon trip to the west coast, and expect to spend a month at San Francisco and Los Angeles. Upon their return they will establish their home in this city. Mr. Majeres is employed in the local offices of the Great Northern Railway company as operator and ticket agent."

GOOD ROADS 'MELON' CUT BY MINNESOTA

State Divides Aid For County Highways—Gains For Small Valuation Districts.

Pennington county this year will receive $20,170 of state road aid. It paid $5,532 into the fund, the 1-mill general property tax levy.

The state "good roads melon" for counties this year totalled $2,017,000, including the proceeds of the 1-mill tax, and receipts from lands, Babcock tests and other items. Operation of the state road aid law results in the richer counties paying toward road improvements in counties with smaller totals of taxable property.

More than $2,000,000 of state aid with regular tax receipts makes about $18,300,000 of county road funds and a grand total of nearly $27,000.000 this year to spend on local roads. The local road funds are nearly four times those available for use on the state trunk highways, which carry eight per cent of the tonnage and traffic on Minnesota roads.

Scarlet Fever Weakens Kidneys

Scarlet fever invariably leaves its victim with after effects that are often less painful but more to be feared because of their weakening effect on the every day health of the victim. Weakness of the kidneys frequently develops after scarlet fever.

"The next thing you know, Nevvy, some morning newspaper is going to start running bed time stories for night watchmen."

HEALTH FOLLOWS

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

Life when it functions 100 per cent in any organ of the body means health and vigor. It is the nervous system, radiating from the brain out through the openings of the spine, that keeps the body in healthful balance. When there is weakness in the kidneys it is due to interference with the transmission of mental impulses over spinal nerve lines to the kidneys. Chiropractic spinal adjustments remove this interference and restore the conditions of health.

KIDNEY WEAKNESS TURNS TO HEALTH

"All regular physicians whom I consulted about my case called it a breaking down of the kidney cells. In time they said I would have no kidneys. This condition was shown by analysis of urine. I began chiropractic spinal adjustments and to test results had a urine analysis made once more and found all trace of albumen and evidence of tissue decay had cleared up. Today I am entirely well." —Irving A. Sievert, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1098H.

More Moonshiners Hooked.

Sheriff George O'Brien and deputies went up in the vicinity of Round Lake, near Max, last Saturday and returned with four moonshiners, their outfits, including stills, and some quantity of moonshine. The men were tried before Judge Keo Leroux and sentenced. Nick Gimmer, as the worst offender, received 90 days or $100 fine. Will Washington was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 or serve 30 days in the county jail. Walter Losh drew the same sentence as meted out to Washington. Chas. Harmon was fined $50 and costs, which he paid. The three first named are still in the county jail but are endeavoring to raise money enough to pay their fines. Three prosperous moonshine establishments were broken up by the unexpected raid so successfully carried out.—Grand Rapids Review.

Swinging Iron Hook Nearly Kills Hazel Section Hand

Peter Nelson Has Narrow Escape While Unloading Rails Three Miles East of City.

Peter Nelson, aged 35, had a miraculous escape from instant death last Saturday afternoon when a huge iron hook attached to a swinging crane struck him a terrific blow on the side of the head as he was unloading rails three miles south of the city on the main line of the Soo. Mr. Nelson, a member of the Hazel section crew, was stationed beside a flat car and was attaching the grappling hook to the end of the rails. As the big hook swung towards him it missed the rail and hit him on the right side of the head, the terrific impact fracturing his skull and horribly mutilating the man's face.

He was immediately brought to the Swedenburg Hospital in this city by the members of the section crew and placed under the care of physicians. He remained unconscious for several hours and was at one time thought to be in a dying condition owing to the severe shock and loss of blood, but a turn for the better took place yesterday and at last reports he was said to be out of danger.

Nelson is a married man and has made his home at Hazel for some time. Considering the nature of his injuries his recovery is said to be most remarkable.

An exchange says that on account of a complimentary article recently printed, the one complimented sent the editor of the Poketown Gazette a few bottles of home brew. The same day he received for publication a wedding announcement and a notice of an auction sale. Here is the result:

"Wm. Smith and Miss Lucy Anderson were disposed of at public auction at my farm one mile east of a beautiful cluster of roses on her breast and two white calves, before a background of farm implements too numerous to mention in the presence of about 70 guests including two milch cows, six mules and one bob sled. Rev. Jackson tied the nuptial knot with 200 feet of hay rope and the bridal couple left one good John Deere gang plow for an extended trip with terms to suit purchaser."

Stearns county is achieving fame throughout the state for the raising of tobacco. Most of the tobacco grown in the county is in the Richmond community, where the acreage is the largest. Other communities interested are St. Cloud, Clear Lake, Kimball and Watkins. Michael Nies, a Richmond farmer, had seven acres in the crop and realized $1,250. John Schreiffels, also of Richmond, had four acres and his income was $698. Hail in the Clear Lake section and the dry weather cut the yield materially. Tobacco men say that the Minnesota product is of high quality.

There are approximately 140 disabled veterans taking project training in agriculture in the five colonies located at Orchard Gardens, Veteransville, Moose Lake, Silver Star and Onamia, Minn. With the coming of spring they are planning many new departments in their work, and the first to attract attention is the foundation they are laying for a big poultry output from their productive poultry stocks. As a rule, they are buying day-old chicks in preference to buying and incubating eggs. In every case the chicks come from selected laying strains of hens. The principal variety is the white Leghorn. It is estimated that 400 day-old chicks will give a man 100 very choice laying pullets. Losses, rejection and sale of unpromising birds and cockerels will account for the other 300. The 28 men at Orchard Gardens plan on about 600 chicks each or a total of 16,800 for the colony. The 16 men near Onamia will go into poultry less extensively and will purchase only 2,600 chicks. The Veteransville project with 32 men will buy or incubate only about 3,000 as they are looking forward to a more general type of farming. Silver Star with 12 men, plans on 1,000 chicks. A portion of the colony of 52 men at Moose Lake will engage extensively in the poultry industry, the present orders calling for 15,700 chicks. The above gives a grand total of 39,100 chicks already ordered for these projects. On the conservative basis of one-fourth of them becoming desirable laying pullets these men will enter the producing season with approximately 10,000 laying hens. These hens will be one of the first productive factors in the farm experience of these disabled soldiers, and upon the moderate estimate of $1.50 net from each hen, will return them the tidy sum of $15,000 from this one source alone.

The street in front of each business place in Cokato must be raked every Saturday morning before 10 o'clock. If the work is not done at the time specified a charge of 50 cents will be levied and the street commissioner authorized to do the work.

The village of Appleton settled a $15,000 law suit the other day for $500. Mrs. Gertrude Watterson of that village stubbed her toe against a projecting slab of concrete in a sidewalk and was thrown violently. The amount paid by the village would have put all of the walks in that village in repair, and then some.

It's a fine thing to dream of success, but it's a better thing to work for it.

Gum-Dipped Cords
Gaining New Fame for Service
194% Sales Increase in Last Six Months
Shows Trend Toward Firestone

The public has emphatically spoken. The popular preference in all territories is unmistakably the Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

A standard of service has been set by these famous tires without parallel in the past. It has brought a sales increase of 194% for the past six months over the same period of a year ago—the greatest gain in all Firestone history.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is the mighty achievement which has enabled Firestone to break the tremendous record of past Firestone success.

The tire buying public has been aroused to the results in economical mileage of the Firestone process of double gum-dipping. The buying-swing toward Firestone shows how it has advanced the public's standard of tire value.

Ask owners about Firestone performance on their cars. Note the big taxicab fleets Firestone-equipped. Watch the new cars you see—just from the factories; Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are seen everywhere in fast increasing numbers.

Get the maximum extra mileage that only the Firestone name assures you. Only by insisting on this name can you be sure of getting the genuine gum-dipped construction.

Widsten in City.

Martin Widsten, register of the Crookston Land Office, was in the city yesterday on his return from Warroad to Crookston. Mr. Widsten informed The Tribune that an unusual number of land filings nave been made this year. Most of the filings cover small parcels in Roseau, Clearwater and the Northwest Angle.

The young couple that left a baby girl at Pipestone a couple of weeks ago were apprehended in Garretson, S. D., and were lodged in the jail at Pipestone to await trial on the charge of child desertion. They are very young, he being only 18 and she one year younger.

George Ade has run Aesop a good race in the matter of producing snappy fables, but that isn't all George has done. He has goe Aesop one better, or rather two, for it is two stories he has written for the movies. The first was "Our Leading Citizen," starring Thomas Meighan, and the second is "Back Home and Broke," with the same star. The latest production will be shown here for the first time at the Lyceum theatre next Sunday and Monday.

Mr. Meighan, who has no trouble winning popularity contests for being the best liked screen actor, will probably be a few more thousand votes ahead in the next balloting, for "Back Home and Broke" is a type of vehicle particularly suited to him. It is one of those stories which reaches the heart and which everyone can understand.

The latest Ade story is typically Ade, which is to say that it has that peculiarly human appeal which makes George Ade's writings so popular. Mr. Meighan has the role of the young man who is born at the top of the financial and social ladders, comparatively, then drops to the bottom with a bang. He leaves his home town for what he believes to be a field of success, determined to make good and "show 'em"—the townspeople who regarded him with amusement and disdain. He comes home broke, apparently, and meets with ridicule. Even the town papers poke fun at him. The general fun doesn't begin here—it bubbles all through the picture, but it riots at this point where "Tommy" turns the tables in a novel and exciting way.

Another Moonshiner Nabbed.

Andrew Musial of Whiteford township was arrested last Wednesday by county authorities and brought to Warren. Sixteen gallons of moonshine and a quantity of mash was discovered in his possession. He waived examination before Justice Braggans and was bound over to district court on $500 bail.—Warren Sheaf.

ST. HILAIRE

(From The Spectator.)

K. B. Johnson of Caribou, who reived a badly slashed arm and lost considerable blood as the result of a wood saw accident a short time ago, is reported to be improving. He will not lose his arm, as was the first report, but the member will be disabled permanently.

John Nelson, 32 year old son of C. A. Nelson of Bray township, died last Tuesday evening at Sunnyrest Sanitorium at Crookston after a long illness of tuberculosis. The remains were brough back last week and the funeral services were conducted by Rev. C. M. Grimsrud from the C. A. Nelson home yesterday afternoon. Interment was made at the Lanstad cemetery.

A particularly sad death occurred last Thursday night when Arthur Gustafson, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Gustafson, passed away at the family home southeast of town after an illness of 18 days. Arthur was a fine young man, well liked and held in high esteem by all with whom he came in contact and his death at this time when he was just entering manhood is a sad blow to his parents, brothers and sisters as well as to his many friends. Arthur was born in Iowa on April 5, 1901, and was 22 years and 27 days of age at the time when the Angel of Death called him. Besides his parents he is survived by five brothers and one sister, who are: George, Frank and Ernest, who all reside at the former family home at Gailsboro, Sask., Canada. Mrs. Herbert Giese of the same place, and Walter and Carl, who reside here with their parents.

BOARD OF EDUCATION

Regular meeting of Board of Education held at Lincoln High School Monday evening, April 9, 1923, with following members present:

Froehlich, Rayson, Mogensen, Barzen, Melgaard, Larsen, Simley.

The following resolution was offered by E. O. Mogensen, who moved its adoption:

"Whereas, the application of Independent School District No. 18, in the County of Pennington, State of Minnesota, for a loan of $84,000 at 4 per cent interest, for the purpose of constructing and equipping a school house, was approved by the State Board of Investment prior to the 10th day of June, 1921, and said district was thereafter required to issue its bonds at 5 per cent interest in order to obtain such loan;

"And, Whereas, said district let contract for the construction of such school house on the 9th day of May, 1922, before receipt of notice of the increase upon its bonds from 4 to 5 per cent;

"Be It Resolved, by the school board of said school district, at a duly called meeting thereof duly held on the 9th day of April, 1923, a quorum being present, that the treasurer of said district is hereby authorized and directed to apply to said State Board of Investment for a reduction in the interest rate upon said bonds from 5 to 4 per cent pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 59, General Laws 1923."

Said motion was supported by Trustee T. L. Melgaard and duly carried.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain mortgage containing a power of sale executed and delivered by Henry E. Holt and Laura Holt, his wife, as mortgagors, to the Crookston Building and Loan Association, a corporation under the laws of the State of Minnesota, as mortgagee, and mortgaging the following described premises situated in the County of Pennington in the State of Minnesota, to-wit: Lots Seven (7) and Eight (8) of Block Eleven (11), Original Townsite of Thief River Falls, according to the plat thereof on file and of record in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for said County of Pennington in said State, which mortgage is dated the 26th day of May, 1922, and was recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds within and for Pennington County, Minnesota, on the 26th day of May, A. D. 1922, at 2 o'clock P. M., in Book 70 of Mortgages, on page 369; that no action or proceeding has been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, and the amount now due upon the said mortgage is the sum of One Thousand Four Hundred Ninety-one and 70-100 ($1,491.70) Dollars, against which the mortgagors are entitled to a credit of Ninety-five and 20-100 ($95.20) Dollars, the current value of Fourteen (14) shares of the capital stock of the mortgagee, subscribed for by the said mortgagors and forming a part of said transaction, leaving the amount actually due and claimed to be due and owing upon the said mortgage at the date of this notice the sum of One Thousand Three Hundred Ninety-six and 50-100 ($1,396.50) Dollars.

Now Notice is Hereby Given, that by virtue of the said power of sale, and the statute in such cases made and provided, said mortgage will be foreclosed, and said premises sold at public auction by the Sheriff of Pennington County on the 29th day of May, 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, Pennington County, Minnesota, to pay said debt, interest, attorney fees and the disbursements allowed by law, and taxes, if any, paid by the holder of said mortgage.

Dated March 22nd, 1923.

"She's Goin' to Be a Bear Cat," Roy Brown Asserts

Makes Statement in Speaking of Elks' Celebration to Be Staged Here on Friday, June 15.

Roy Brown, member of the arrangements committee of the big Elks' initiation and celebration to be pulled off in this city on Friday, June 15, is authority for the statement that all other events of the kind will fade into obscure oblivion when comparisons are made following this one.

At least fifty automobiles from Mahnomen to Warroad will participate in the big parade, which will start on a tour of the down town streets promptly at 8 o'clock, headed by the City Band. A number of novel and attractive floats are being arranged and some of the stunts which will be pulled off are both new and original.

Following the street parade the procession will wend its way to the Auditorium, where the big initiation takes place. Hundreds of visitors will be here and leading men of the northwest will speak at the banquet which will be held in the lodge rooms after the initiation.

Bureau Official in City.

Fred W. Zeller of the U. S. Veterans Bureau is in the city this week calling on the Post Commander, Oscar Paulson of the American Legion and ex-service men. Mr. Zeller is supervising the ex-service men who are taking training under the bureau in this locality and assisting them in filing claims for compensation, also advising them in securing necessary evidence. He is also reinstating and converting their government life insurance.

G. A. Lindquist, who farms in Bray township, was in the city Saturday and while here favored The Tribune with a pleasant call. Mr. Lindquist informed the editor that wheat and oats seeding had been completed and most farmers were busy with their corn planting in that neighborhood. He stated that the cold weather of the spring had set back many fields of winter rye with the result that some of them would be disced up and reseeded to barley or oats.

Minnesota was admitted to the Union on May 11, 1858, thus being exactly sixty-five years old last Friday. Willis A. Gorman of Indiana became the first governor of the state.

Radio Fans Attention.

On the evening of May 17 Dr. Chas. DeForrest will speak on the development of better health habits in school children from the Chicago Board of Trade station, which is WDAP. The speech will be delivered at 9:30 p. m. May 17 and radio fans are requested to "tune in."

Sundberg on Regent Board.

Rumor has it that J. E. Sundberg, Kittson county attorney and farmer, is slated for an appointment on the board of regents of the State University. Under the new law fathered by Representative Waldal of this district the board members must be selected from the various congressional districts of the state.

Gus. Flygare, district engineer of the Highway Department, with headquarters at Fergus Falls, visited Thief River Falls last week in company with B. W. Sewell, maintenance engineer, of Crookston.

Memorial Day to Be Fittingly Observed

Mayor Bratrud Calls Meeting of Citizens to Arrange for Appropriate Program.

A mass meeting of citizens was held at the Commercial Club rooms last evening at the request of Mayor Bratrud to arrange appropriate Memorial Day exercises. A program will be given at the Auditorium at 10:30 in the forenoon, when an address will be delivered by a local speaker.

Following the exercises at the Auditorium the parade to the cemetery will be formed, with W. B. Fuller as marshal in charge. Lodges, Boy Scouts adn other organizations will be asked to participate.

Committees have been selected to arrange the program, which will appear in the next issue of The Tribune.

"Clean Up Day" Fixed By Park Board of City

Monday, May 28, Citizens Are Requested to Appear With Rakes, Forks and Other Weapons.

The park board proposes to put the city park in slick shape for the reception of the hundreds of tourists who are expected to visit the city during the summer by asking citizens to assist in the clean up campaign which will be inaugurated on Monday, May 28.

The Woman's Club will serve lunch and will come prepared with smelling salts and first aid to the business men who falter on the job. The work proposed by the park board is badly needed and it would not be amiss for some of the fat boys around town to practice up a little for the strenuous day ahead.

Potato Growers to Meet in Thief River Falls May 21

Leaders in New Commodity Marketing Plan Coming to Pennington County.

Potato growers of Pennington county should aim to attend a meeting to be held at Thief River Falls May 21. Present, representing the state organization committee will be A. M. Dunton, who will explain in detail objects of the undertaking, its importance to the potato growing industry in this section, and arrange for the formation of a county organization committee to have charge of the work in this community.

The task in Pennington county, in which the coming meeting is to be the first step, is to sign up at least 50 per cent of the acreage here. Arrangements for the coming meeting have been made through J. J. McCann, county agent at Thief River Falls.

Booze Party; Manslaughter.

Tom Anderson, farm helper, aged 60 years, was killed last week by an automobile on the Miller highway near St. Mary's Lake, a few miles out of Eveleth. The driver of the car sped away while other motorists stopped to aid the victim of the mishap. Anderson was picked up by motorists and removed to the More hospital at Eveleth, where he died at 11 o'clock, an hour after the accident. He was injured internally. The car, a big Paige, is said to have been enroute from Gilbert, and it is said that the occupants had been on a "booze party." The car was being driven at a rate of about 50 miles an hour at the time, witnesses who were in a car but a short distance away state. They attempted pursuit but the car was too speedy for them. Police officials in all nearby towns have been notified and have been given a perfect description of the car that struck Anderson. It is very likely arrests will soon follow. The Hibbing department is tracing down several strong clews.—Virginia Enterprise.

Rev. E. H. Kreidt, accompanied by his son, Robert, left yesterday for Los Angeles, where he will spend four or five weeks visiting his parents, whom he has not seen in seven years. Arrangemens havte been made for filling his pulpit as will be seen by the church announcements published in another column.

Flames Destroy Times Plant

Thief River Falls Newspaper Suffers Loss of From $25,000 to $30,000 in Disastrous Blaze Last Night, Starting in Furnace Room.

Structure Completely Gutted and Costly Printing Plant Lies a Mass of Ruins—Fire Department Saves Neighboring Business Institutions.

BIG PROPERTY LOSS.

The loss to The Times plant is variously estimated. Owing to the the fact that it has as yet been impossible to figure the value of the salvage that may be made of the costly machinery, the exact amount will not be known for several days. The Goss Rotary news press, valued at between $10,000 and $12,000, was not touched by the flames, yet smoke and water has wrought much damage to it, many of the intricate adjustments being ruined. The linotype machine, one of the latest models, is valued at $6,500, and it is thought there will be a 50 per cent loss. The linotype was untouched by fire. Two platen presses crashed into the basement, two others remaining on the floor, although badly damaged. The paper cutter, a power device, is practically a total loss, as are type cabinets, stones, slugs, leads and numerous other expensive articles of printing machinery.

A fire which broke out last night at about 11 o'clock in the office of the Thief River Falls Times practically destroyed the entire newspaper plant, one of the finest and most complete printing establishments in northern Minnesota and entailed a property loss estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000. The plant was invoiced at $42,000 and carried insurance of but $12,000, according to R. H. Ross business manager. This does not include insurance on paper stock, office supplies, etc.

Flames Make Steady Progress.

The section of the building which housed the newspaper plant, known as the Connelly block, was completed gutted by the flames, almost all of the main floor on which stood the heavy presses, linotype, paper cutter, type cabinets, makeup stones, etc., having fallen into the basement as the disastrous flames crept along, eating their way toward the front part of the building from near the furnace room. where it is believed the fire started from a cause as yet undetermined.

Employe Turns in Alarm.

The fire was discovered at about 11 o'clock by "Dick" Halvorson, foreman of The Times, who went to the office to get a coat he had left there during the day. Smelling smoke, he went to the basement and opened a door leading to a toilet off the pressroom. Flames were seen creeping along the ceiling and Halvorson immediately notified the fire department.

The pressroom of The Times extends all along the space occupied by the Shaw insurance office, the Ralston barber shop and The Times, and by the time the fire department had arrived a veritable furnace had developed, the entire ceiling of the basement being in flames. It was evident that the fire had then been raging for some time, it having gained such headway that flames were soon after shooting through the first floor and up into the composing room, where today not a thing remains but gaping holes thru which have fallen heavy pieces of printing machinery, cabinets, etc.

Great Crowds Gather.

Great crowds of people gathered to witness the conflagration, the Minneapolis trade tourists being in the city, with a large number of out-of-town people who had come to spend the day. All of LaBree avenue from First street to Third and along the alleyways were lined with automobiles and it presented a spectacular sight. The fire department almost from the outset had five streams of water playing on the flames, throwing thousands of gallons of water into the holocaust in an attempt to check its progress. The work of the department is to be commended, the members risking their lives in penetrating the building in order to plan the best means of fighting the flames.

Vault Crashes Through Floor.

Crash after crash came as heavy pieces of machinery precipitated into the basement and pressroom when their supports burned from beneath. At one time when the big four-ton vault, standing in the office, went thru the floor it sounded more like an explosion as it struck the thick concrete floor in the basement with a tremendous thud.

Much Inflammable Material.

The plant contained much material of a highly inflammable character, such as gasoline cans, printing inks, and cleaning chemicals, and it is thought that these added to the difficulty of putting out the flames. A large barrel of news ink caught fire and the flames leaped to new frenzy, frightening the onlookers and causing them to hunt for cover. Occasionally small explosions were heard when gasoline cans ignited and their contents spilled.

Smoke was belching from the windows of the Brumund hotel and a great amount of damage has resulted, and it will be necessary to redecorate all that part of the hotel over The Times plant, the Shaw insurance office and the Ralston barber shop. The latter will suffer little loss, having taken the barber chairs and tonsorial supplies to the street before the fire and smoke reached them. The same is true of the Shaw insurance office, although there will be a loss to the building on account of smoke and water, but this will be taken into account in the general loss to the building.

The Princess theater suffered somewhat, but it is not yet known what the property damage will be. The theater is the property of Harry Brumund, owner of the Lyceum.

High Grade Machinery Ruined.

The costliest piece of machinery in the plant, the Goss Rotary news press, was untouched by the flames, although there will be a considerable loss on account of smoke and water, there being more than two feet of water in the basement this morning when a Tribune reporter was surveying the extent of the damage. Another heavy loss is entailed in the linotype machine, costing $4,200, with about $2,000 in extra equipment, which will be about a 50 per cent loss. Two of the platen presses crashed to the basement and are a total loss. Two others still remain on the floor, although heavily listing and badly damaged by smoke and water. Steel imposing stones and type cabinets had all gone through the floor and lay an impossible mass in the ruins of the plant. The same is true of the power paper cutting machine, stitching machines, casting machines, etc.

There is also a heavy loss to paper stock and other supplies. Some completed jobs, undelivered, will amount to a total loss. One of these in the near stages of completion is a catalog for Loken Brothers of Madison, Wis., which had about $3,000 tied up in paper stock, labor, cuts, illustrations and etchings.

This year's issue of "The Prowler," the high school annual, had been delivered the day of the fire with the exception of 180 copies which had not been called for by members of the class, and it is thought that these copies will be almost a total loss, although the senior class is jubilant over the fact that they secured the bulk of them. Altogether the annual represents a value of something like $1,200.

Fire Gotten Under Control.

It was after 3 o'clock this morning before the flames were completely under control after one of the most stubborn fires ever encountered by the local fire department. High compliment was paid the department in various quarters for their efficient work. At no time was the blaze beyond control but the nature of the blaze practically prevented quick quenching.

The plant this morning presented a sorrowful mass of twisted, smoldering and impossible ruins of what was yesterday a magnificent array of printing material which had been a distinct pleasure to look upon by men versed in the quality of articles going into the manufacture of the printers' art. The Times plant contained nothing but the best, but today it impressed one as the worst. Little types were seen strewn over great inventions of printers and pressmen. Tiny matrices that yesterday clicked merrily through the shiny magazines of the Mergenthaler linotype, the greatest invention in the history of the world's mechanical science, lay spilled through the greed of fire.

Second Times Catastrophe.

The fire yesterday, which destroyed the plant of The Times, was the second in the history of that newspaper. A little more than three years ago, while the newspaper was located in the Union block, fire swept the plant and almost entirely destroyed it. The plant which burned this morning has been purchased since that time and embodied all the newer and more up-to-date devices.

Future plans of The Times are as yet unannounced. The Tribune has offered to lend its assistance in every possible way in order that the next issue may reach its readers, however, Mr. Ross, the manager, in an interview with a Tribune reporter at noon today stated that he is undecided as to the future. He said:

"The suddenness of the fire has left me dazed and undecided as to the future and for publication in The Tribune you can say I do not know. There will be some definite plan made today or tomorrow, but what they will be, I cannot say."

Lloyd Ralston Is Instantly Killed in Gas Explosion

Lloyd Ralston, 28 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon Ralston, local night patrolman, was instantly killed yesterday afternoon about 2:30 o'clock, when an acetylene welding tank in the blacksmith shop and garage of C. Porteous at Middle River, a brother-in-law of young Ralston, by whom the latter was employed.

The welding apparatus had been lighted preparatory to making a weld, the tank being located just outside one of the doors. It had been in use at the shop for a period of several months and there had been no cause for suspicion of it from a standpoint of safety.

Young Ralston had just come from dinner ready to go to work when the blast came. The whole side of the wall was blown in and Ralston was thrown back several feet, mortally injured. John Sorum, a fellow workman, received severe lacerations of the leg, and another man whose name The Tribune could not learn up to the time of going to press, had three steel rivets blown clear through the lower part of his right leg. Both the latter will recover.

Medical aid for Ralston was rushed from Thief River Falls, but it was impossible to save his life owing to the extent of his injuries. His left eye was blown from its socket and he suffered other body wounds in addition to the fatal injuries already told of. He lived, however, two hours after the explosion.

Ralston had been employed at Middle River for the past two months and attended the public schools here. He was an ex-service man and a member of the American Legion. He was unmarried and is survived by his father, two sisters, Mrs. Porteous of Middle River, and Edith, who resides in this city. He is also survived by a brother, Robert, who resides at home.

The funeral will be held at Warren, the date of which has not yet been decided.

McAdams Dies Here.

I. A. McAdams of Roseau county died Sunday morning at 2 o'clock at the home of his brother, L. D. McAdams, 512 Horace avenue north, death being due to a hemorrhage.

Mr. McAdams arrived in this city Friday and was visiting at the home of his brother when the sudden death occurred. Survivors among immediate relatives are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angus McAdams of Pine City, and three brothers, P. J and James of International Falls and L. D. McAdams of this city. Two sisters, Mrs. A. P. Hanson of Litchfield, N. D., and Mrs. R. R. Whitney of Montevideo, also survive

The funeral services will be held Friday in Pine City.

Memorial Day Program Fixed By Committee

Exercises at Auditorium to Commence at 10:30, With Parade Following.

Procession to Go to Cemetery; Graves of Soldiers Will Be Decorated.

The Memorial Day program for May 30th has been definitely arranged by a committee which has been at work for the past several days arranging the exercises at the Auditorium and the parade that will be formed immediately following for a march to the cemetery, where the graves of soldiers will be honored.

The exercises at the Auditorium are scheduled to commence promptly at 10:30 o'clock and will be presided over by Mayor John Bratrud. Miss Maude L. Johnson, music supervisor of the Thief River Falls public schools, will have charge of the musical program and several numbers will be rendered by the band which is being organized under the auspices of the Legion.

The program will take up about an hour's time and will be as follows:

Potato Growers of County Make Marketing Body

Meeting Held Monday Night at Commercial Club Rooms Elects Officers.

Plans to Go Forward Seeking to Bring Every Grower Into Organization.

A meeting of Pennington county potato growers was held last Monday night at the Commercial club rooms which was addressed by J. J. Dunton, secretary of the Minnesota Potato Exchange, who spoke at length to the growers present on the co-operative marketing plan for all farmers' products.

Senator C. L. Hansen presided at the meeting and expressed the purpose of the meeting, calling the attention of the farmers to the need for co-operative marketing of all farm products in the face of the present inadequate prices paid agriculturists for the things they grow. Mr. Hansen stated that the potato industry in Pennington county was secondary only to the dairy industry and for that reason required marketing protection.

Senator Hansen stated that it was the purpose of all business men to work hand in hand with the farmer and to lend his assistance to every movement calculated to be of benefit to the producer on the farm because it is only in the same measure of prosperity that the agriculturist enjoys that the business man prospers. It is an impossibility for the business man to show a profit where the farmer cannot show one at the end of the year. Mr. Hansen then introduced Mr. Dunton, who spoke in part as follows:

"The co-operative marketing plan is not altogether a new plan." he stated, "but merely one that has been improved upon by men who have made extensive study of the problem and are now offering it as a solution of the present unsatisfactory marketing facilities facing the farmers of the country. Like every other business that is highly organized and able to show a profit, farming must do the same. Steel, flour, clothing and machinery manufacturers have for years known its benefits and have conducted their businesses accordingly, and have reaped the benefits.

"The time has come for the farmer to do likewise and it is along that line that I have come to try to interest you. Potato growers in some parts of the country are already organized and are going along in fine shape, satisfied with the results already shown."

Mr. Dunton stated that only about 25 per cent of the growers in this state have organized, but that he believed that a sufficient number will become members of the association this year to make a showing when the 1923 crop is marketed.

Olaf Ramstad was elected to serve as president of the new Pennington county association; F. T. Satre, vice president; Senator C. L. Hansen, vice president; J. J. McCann. secretary and treasurer.

Baseball Gets Under Hide of Local Fanatics

Unable to Remain "Ball-less" For Season, Team Will Be Placed in Field.

Performers in Considerable Numbers Get Out For Practice Sunday.

And it won't be a joke team, either. Plenty of material is on hand and they are getting out at every possible chance, getting kinks out of their hurling arms and limbering up for the "opener" to be played with St. Hilaire at Thief River Falls next Wednesday, Memorial Day.

Several new faces on the diamond so far as Thief River Falls is concerned are in the city and ready to play. There is Dalton, a local Soo Line dispatcher, who recently came here from North Dakota, who is reputed to be a player of considerable ability in both the catching and pitching departments of the game.

Orville Herron, who pitches some and plays baseball a lot, is said to be

Trade Tourists of Two Towns Pay City Visit

St. Paul Men Monday and Minneapolitans Yesterday Give Us Once Over.

Band Concert By Jalma's Band and Novelty Stunts Entertain Crowds.

Trade tourists from the twin cities paid Thief River Falls a visit this week, the St. Paul crowd spending an hour here on Monday afternoon and Minneapolis business men laying over in the city last night. Each aggregation totailed in the neighborhood of 100 persons, 100 per cent boosters.

St. Paul business men arrived over the Great Northern at 4:30 o'clock on Monday afternoon and were met by a delegation of Thief River Falls business men up the line. The special train bearing them to the city was stopped at the foot of Third street and a St. Paul band led the procession to the corner of LaBree avenue and Third street, where varied forms of entertainment were put on at the band stand.

Mayor John Bratrud welcomed the visitors to the city and stated that Thief River Falls felt honored to be visited by the tourists. A response was made by Arthur E. Nelson, mayor of St. Paul, and Curtis M. Johnson, president of the state fair board. The president of the St. Paul association also made a short address. During the band concert members of the delegation called on various customers here and 5:30 o'clock departed for the south. It spent the night at Crookston.

The Minneapolis trade tourists arrived at 7:30 o'clock last night and spent the night here. Jalma's band presented a concert at Auditorium square, after which a program of speeches, songs, etc., was given at the Auditorium, attended by a large number of local citizens. Speakers were presented and gave short addresses, chiefly along the line of better co-operation between city and country. Among these was Thomas A. Van Lear. former mayor of Minneapolis, who gave a splendid address.

Immediately following the doings at the Auditorium, the Minneapolis tourists became guests of the Commercial club and a reception was tendered them at the Elks' club rooms. Snyder's orchestra furnished music for a dancing party.

Son of A. Wangenstein Dies at Fergus Hospital; Death Due to Brain Fever

Resident of Locality For Past Twenty Years Passes After Short Illness. Funeral Tomorrow.

Arthur B. Anderson, 31 years old, a son of A. Wangenstein, local jeweler, died Saturday at the Fergus Falls hospital, where he had been taken on May 11, suffering from mental derangement and despondency.

Mr. Anderson had lived in this section for the past 20 years and for the last four and one-half years had been engaged in farming in Silverton township, 4½ miles east of Thief River Falls along the Goodridge road.

Some time ago it was observed that the young man's mentality was failing him and, although quite rational at times, he showed that he was suffering from mental derangement and was taken to the Fergus Falls institution. He was taken ill with brain fever about ten days ago and succumbed Saturday. His father was with him when he died.

Deceased wos born at Park River, N. D., and is survived by his wife and three small children. as follows: Alf, 4½ years old; Geneva three years old, and Glen, 1½ years old.

The body was brought to Thief River Falls on Monday and the funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock from Trinity Lutheran church. interment to be made in Greenwood cemetery.

Norsk Highway Director Visits Red River Valley

Hon. A. Baalsrud, the Norwegian Chas. Babcock, Views American Roads For Pointers.

Hon. A. Baalsrud, Director of Public Roads in the Kingdom of Norway, flitted through Thief River Falls last Thursday on a tour of inspection of the highways of the Red River Valley. Mr. Baalsrud, who is in the country on a trip for the Norwegian government for the purpose of securing data to be used in improving the construction and maintenance of Norwegian roads, was accompanied on his tour of Minnesota by Engineer Rosenwald and other officials of the state highway department.

His stay in Thief River Falls was exceedingly brief but he found time to talk to a representative of The Tribune during the temporary halt in the city.

Contrary to the general belief, Norwegian roads are not so well built and permanent as many believe, said Mr. Baalsrud. In the old days of horse drawn vehicles the Norwegian roads were regarded as well nigh impervious to injury by heavy traffic. But your American automobiles have made a change in all that, said the director. A fast traveling automobile has a suction which will destroy any road except the hard surface roads now being constructed in many places in your state, said the visitor, and Norway finds itself in a position where it must readjust all its former road building plans.

It was the opinion of Mr. Baalsrud, who has traveled in many countries, that America has the most ambitious and forward looking road building plans and the time will soon be here when this country will lead in this respect as well as in all others.

The Norwegian roads have been found to be too narrow and the authorities have found their most perplexing problem to be one of proper maintenance. Their roads, which were formerly smooth and easily maintained, are now rough and filled with deep ruts.

The Norwegian director stated that the administrative machinery now in charge of Norwegian roads is very similar to the Minnesota plan. Each county or subdivision has its construction and maintenance engineer who works under Mr. Baalsrud.

Mr. Baalsrud visited Connecticut, Wisconsin and Minnesota in his American tour and went from here to Manitoba, where he will inspect Canadian roads. He speaks English quite fluently and uses such terms as "trunk roads," "lateral roads," and other terms commonly used here.

Since Mr. Baalsrud happened to be in Thief River Falls on May 17, the Norwegian 4th of July, he was invited by the editor of The Tribune to remain for the celebration at the Sons of Norway hall in the evening, but he had already agreed to be at Fergus Falls at a similar celebration so begged to be excused. He said he had often heard Thief River Falls spoken of in the old country and knew a number of people who had friends or relatives here.

Fire Destroys Two Livery Barns in Red Lake Falls

Fire of unknown origin totally destroyed the Guerin and the Kienast and Vatthauer livery barns at the corner of Main street and Third avenue morning last week, at 2 o'clocketaoi at Red Lake Falls on Wednesday Wednesday morning of last week lin Brothers garage located just north of the Guerin livery barn was also badly damager but was saved by the fire department from complete destruction. There were no animals in the barn at the time of the blaze.

The barns were of frame construction and burned very rapidly, the flames starting in the office of the Guerin barn and quickly spreading to the adjoining buildings. Some fifteen cars were in the garage but all were removed without any damage to the machines. The batteries which were in the garage to be charged exploded with a noise resembling tire blowouts. The heat from the blaze was so intense that it craked the plate glass window in the meat market across the street.

The Guerin barn was one of the oldest landmarks of Red Lake Falls, it being more than forty years old, and is remembered by many of the old pioneers of this vicinity who traded in that village in the early days.

The loss is partially covered by insurance.

CONTRACTS FOR RED LAKE—

Contracts totalling in the neighborhood of $85,000 were awarded by the Red Lake County board of commissioners last week for the construction of 6.8T miles of new road northwest from Red Lake Falls and shortening the distance to St. Hilaire by more than a mile.

The grading, approximately 160,645 cubic yards in all, was let to a combination consisting of Reierson & Nohre of Thief River Falls, and Moen & Sollom of Middle River, at a price of 27 cents per cubic yard plus 2 cents for overhaul. This will make the cost of this work more than $49,000. Construction will be announced as soon as bonds can be approved and the necessary equipment moved. Among the bidders for the construction work was also Pat Roark of this city.

Swedish Comedian, "Olle i Skratthult," Is Coming Here Saturday, May 26

"Ollie i Skrathult," America's most popular Swedish comedian, accompanied by a splendid company, will appear in Thief River Falls at the city auditorium next Saturday evening, May 26. "Ollie," himself, Hjalmer Peterson, is the leading performer and is assisted by his charming wife, Olga Lindgren-Peterson, soprano, and other artists in song and music.

A prominent member of the troupe is Annar Myhre, celebrated barytone singer, who is well known to Thief River Falls audiences, having appeared here at various occasions. A short time ago he took part in a talent Norwegian play, "Petter og Inger," shown in this city, following which he took the leading role in a well received play presented by the Swedish Dramatic club of Minneapolis at the Metropolitan theatre. He joined the Skratthult company when they started on their western tour where they met with much success and were received by enthusiastic and packed houses in the largest cities.

"Ollie i Skrathult" is now in his seventeenth season in America and each year marks even greater success than the preceding. H was in this city last summer also when the auditorium was filled to capacity, many coming a considerable distance. His laugh-provoking stories and the singing, playing and dancing o fthe other members of the company are the outstanding features of the program. A complete change of program is made each season.

Many Pennington County Young Folks to Take Part in State Exhibitions

More than 900 boys and girls will participate in the children's club work at the Minnesota State Fair, September 1 to 8, according to T. A. Erickson, state club leader and superintendent of the department.

J. J. McCann, county agent, who is in charge of club work in this community, states that about two hundred boys and girls are enrolled in club work in Pennington county this year. These are distributed in the calf, sheep, pig, poultry and breadmaking divisions.

These young club workers will exhibit at the county fair here August 1, 2 and 3 to determine who shall get the free trip to the state fair in September and take part in the state contests. The exhibitions will not be judged according to the specimens alone but will also depend on the records kept by the exhibitor and the accompanying story giving a summary of how the calf, pig, sheep or grain was raised.

It is expected that about fifteen club workers from this county will go to the twin cities to attend the state fair and the livestock show at South St. Paul. Lawrence Letnes of Thief River Falls and Vergil Denhart of St. Hilaire, who won high honors for their work last year, will take part in the boys' summer camp during the fair week.

A breadmaking contest for this county will be held at the high school building Saturday, May 26, which will be judged by Miss Schenck of the Northwest School of Agriculture. Practically all of the contestants who have designated their intention of taking part are students of domestic science at the high school.

This year the state fair is offering $19,075.00 in cash, special prizes and trips to the exposition, to boys and girls who have won honors in club work in Minnesota. This is the largest sum ever offered by any fair in the world for this kind of work. It includes an appropriation of $4,000.00 for the farm boys' camp.

The potato club show will be a new feature. Cash premiums totaling $150.00 will be distributed for the best displays of potatoes of the leading varieties. The pig club, dairy calf club, acre-yield corn club, potato club, canning club and garment making club exhibits will be leading features.

Demonstrations of club work of all kinds approved for Minnesota will be conducted each day in the boys' and girls' club work building. The champion demonstration team of the fair will be given a free trip to the Interstate Fair at Sioux City, Ia., where teams from a dozen middle western states will compete for the regional championship.

A special premium list telling all about the prizes offered by the coming fair may be obtained from the county agents of the state or T. A. Erickson, University Farm, St. Paul.

Battery Sale Is Good Trade Barometer, Said

The return of prosperity is well evidenced by the present condition of the storage battery business, according to P. G. Downton, Northwestern manager for the manufacturers of Exide batteries. Mr. Downton was here yesterday with the Trade Tour.

Shipments of Exide batteries into this territory for April were the largest in the history of the company. This increasing business is based entirely on the satisfactory service that Exide batteries have given consistently since Exide made possible the electric starter on the 1912 Cadillac.

Miss Gran Leaves

Miss Caspara Gran, who for more than a year has operated the Mari Posa Beauty Shoppe in this city, closed her parlors last Tues day. closed her parlors Tuesday of last week. She left this city Monday together with her mother, Mrs. O. C. Gran and a brother, Carl, for Minot, N. D. where they will visit with Mrs. Ed. Peterson, a daughter of Mrs. Gran. They are making the trip by car and will be joined by Mr. Gran at Minot. After a short visit there Miss Gran will continue her journey to Pheonix, Arizona, where she will locate, having secured a beauty parlor there, where she will open for business October 1st. She will employ two operators. Two of her brothers are located at Phoenix.

During the period of successful business in this city Mrs. Gran made numerous friends, who are sorry to see her leave. Before entering into the Beauty Parlor business she was engaged in nursing here, being a graduate of the Maternity hospital of Minneapolis.

Another Wild Report
(Red Lake Falls Gazette)

Several of the daily newspapers of the Twin Cities carried a very exagerated report of flood and weather conditions in Roseau and Marshall counties under the date of May 11. The reports claim that "100,000 acres of land in Roseau and Marshall counties are inundated and that farmers will be unable to put crops into the lands this year, and further adds, that "a heavy blanket of snow which remained on the ground until about a week ago was the cause of the flood."

Just how such an untruthful, exagerated and totally misleading report could gain momentum and be published under glaring headlines, is beyond our imagination or the conjecture of anyone else in this section.

"Damage to the farm buildings was negligible," further reads the report. Just why the diabolical reporter of the wild story did not add that lives were in danger or lost in the great flood of "insane imagination" when the wild waters overflowed their banks, we cannot understand.

H. C. Lende is resigning as farm agent of Lake of the Woods county and he will relinquish his duties as soon as a suitable man can be secured to fill the vacancy. It is Mr. Lende's intention to remain in Baudette, and he will go into the business of harvesting wild rice, and will also experiment in the breeding of wild ducks. He was away above the average as a farm agent and it will require a mighty good man to fill his shoes.—Baudette Region.

H. A. Low, the cheerful man from Iowa, is here and is hard at it rushing things on his land east of town. He has his big caterpillar tractor out there and has also invested in a Fordson with other machinery and will try hard to get several hundred acres of peat land seeded to flax and grasses. Carl Olson is the chief engineer and Ed Bjorklund and Ernest Olson have been helping a few days getting the new machinery put up.—Karlstad Advocate.

Telephone Directory Is Being Issued This Week

The semi-annual issue of the directory of the Thief River Falls branch of the Bell Telephone company is being issued this week from The Tribune office. The directory will be issued in about the same form as former issues and will contain about the same number of names, there being approximately 1350 names therein. The list has been entirely reset in different form so as to give ready accessibility to all names.

According to W. G. Plenty, the local manager, this issue of the directory will take the same form as telephone directories in all of the larger cities of the country and is gotten out in such shape as to give subscribers the best possible service. It is expected that the new directories will be mailed to subscribers during the latter part of this week.

Orchard and Garden
(May 22-29)

Keep the asparagus bed cultivated and free of weeds.

Late this month if the weather is settled and warm, cannas and other bedding plants may be set out.

Cultivate all garden crops once or twice a week and after every rain.

Do not allow rhubarb to go to seed if you use the plant over a long season.

Window boxes may be put up now and more tender bedding plants set out.

Cucumbers may be grown on a fence or trellis if one is crowded for room.

Muskmellons and watermelons may be planted now. Use rich warm soil.

The best time to prune spring flowering shrubs is just after they are through blooming. Prune, fertilize and cultivate if you want the best results next year.

Spray the currants with arsenate of lead for the currant worm just as soon as any worms are seen. Paris green and lime may be dusted on and is sometimes easier.—Le Roy Cady, associate horticulturist, University Farm, St. Paul.

$4 Out of $5 For Local Road Purposes, Plan

Counties and Townships to Spend Most of '23 Funds; Fifth For Trunks.

State Plan Enables Counties to Cut Tax Levies and Hurry Improvements.

Minnesota counties are spending nearly five times as much on local roads since the state under the Babcock good roads plan relieved them of the expense of improving and maintaining the main highways. Townships also are making new high records in road improvements, having voted to use $445,000 more this year than last. Progress on the state highway program, however, will be slowed up by lack of working capital.

The showing is from official figures given in a state highway bulletin. The records disclose that out of every $5 of Minnesota road funds this year $4 will go on local roads and the remaining $1 on the trunk highways which serve 80 per cent of the highway users. State trunk highway income, if put up to the agreed $18 tax on the average motor vehicle, it has been announced, would prove adequate to meet demands although the present method of using the funds will not yield the quickest or largest results.

Pennington county road and bridge funds for this year and last are taken from the state auditor's tax abstract and are official:

Local Road Taxes—	1922	1923
State Aid	$ 5,825	$ 5,532
County Funds	20,275	30,426
City-Village	1,506	1,512
Township Funds	25,813	22,793
Totals	$63,419	$60,263

The funds itemized above will be used by local road authorities for betterments and repairs inside the county on other than trunk highways.

Minnesota road funds to be used this year include $25,900,000 for local roads and $5,860,000 of current revenues for trunk highways, the latter figure being exclusive of county reimbursement bond money which cannot be estimated yet with any accuracy, but which will approximate $4,000,000 for both 1923 and 1924. The division of this money with 1922 comparisons follows, the last figure given being for 1923:

Motor vehicle taxes, $6,500,000, $6,500,000; federal aid, $1,420,000, $1,850,000; county reimbursement bonds, $5,112,000, $2,000,000 estimated; totals, $13,032,000, $10,350,000; county bonds, interest, $2,250,000; totals available, $13,032,000, $8,150,000.

Maintenance cost on trunk routes this year are placed nearly $500,000 higher than last, making a further reduction in available building funds.

A significant feature this year is the increase of more than $500,000 in township road taxes voted mainly by farmers. This is held proof that the farmers favor the building of good roads and are willing to pay for them.

While local road and bridge levies are reduced by $2,200,000—nearly as much as the first year under the Babcock plan—the available total, it will be noted, is increased more than $7,000,000 by the county bond item.

The new highway plan has operated to provide counties with nearly five times as much road money as before, the bulletin states. Under the old plan the average county spent 80 per cent of its funds on the main highways which are now being improved by the state with auto tax money mainly. Farms fronting trunk highways pay the regular county and township road and bridge taxes all of which are used on local roads. Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth car owners pay about a third of the auto tax and that goes for rural highways, not a dollar being used within those cities.

Although the trunk routes carry four-fifths of the traffic and tonnage on the highways of the state, funds for their improvement and maintenance are proportionately small this year.

Good roads advocates are deprecating this fact and asserting that the trunk highways are more than self-supporting. They point to practical tests demonstrating that the improvement of the entire system could be paid for in full within five years with the savings on car and truck operation to be made on good roads. They add that tourists who leave more than $30,000,000 of new money in the state every year are a source of revenue to be credited chiefly to good roads attractions. Also, they add that the proposed tax on gasoline will add to the direct returns, and at a 2-cent rate provide $3,000,000 more road money each year, at a cost of but $8 to the average car owner.

The same good roads faction declares that in justice and economy to the automobile and truck owner the average tax should have been put at $18 as agreed. "It would soon be worth $18 a year of any car owner's money to enjoy the privilege of driving on Minnesota's improved roads, to say nothing of reasonable car taxes," declared an enthusiast.

Sarah Bernhardt Praised Laurette Taylor, Actress

"Will Become Foremost Actress in This Country," Wrote the Divine Sarah.

While "Peg O' My Heart" was playing in New York, with Laurette Taylor in the stellar role, the divine Sarah Bernhardt arrived in the metropolis. After watching Miss Taylor act, Bernhardt wrote:

"One young artist in New York has not allowed herself to be blinded. She has worked hard and is still working, although she is already a very agreeable comedienne possessing humor, emotion, and a rare thing for her age—power. I speak of Laurette Taylor, who will become within five years the foremost actress of this country."

It is this same play, "Peg O' My Heart," which Miss Taylor has just finished immortalizing on the screen for Metro, under the direction of King Vidor. This brilliant actress has had a career of eminence in the theatre second to none. Off the stage she has always been an interesting personality, whose deviations from the ordinary were marked from early childhood.

She possessed so much vitality and imagination that, if nothing was stirring, if it was a dull, monotonous day, she soon managed to enliven it in one way or another. She would do such things as—well let Miss Taylor tell it herself. Speaking of her childhood days in New York, recently, she said:

'One Sunday I aws walking through a deserted street in Harlem. Nothing stirred. The dead silence was too much for me. The only living thing besides myself was a horse tied to a post. I untied him, gave him a switch and yelled 'Runaway horse.'

'Instantly the whole street swarmed with people. The horse was caught, no harm was done, and I went home satisfied."

John Brumund Leaves to Attend Annual Meet of Picture Theatre Owners

Convention to Be Attended By More Than 4,000 Members of Association.

John Brumund left last Friday for Chicago, where he will be in attendance at the fourth annual convention of the National Moving Picture Thetre Owners of America, which is being held all of this week in the windy city.

This year's convention of the theatre owners will be the largest ever held and theatre owners from every state in the Union will have representatives there. The sessions are of great benefit to the operators of theatres and are addressed by men of national prominence. The convention will hear an address by a special representative of President Harding and yesterday the gathering was addressed by Governor Preus.

Mr. Brumund will not return to Thief River Falls for about three weeks and will spend some time attending to other business affairs.

AN APPEAL FOR DISABLED VETERANS.

Steps to prepare for the assimilation into civil life of the thousands of disabled veterans who will soon be ending their periods of training are urged by the Citizens Committee of America, in appeals addressed to President Harding, members of congress and governors of all the states.

The time is fast approaching when the period of government provision for rehabilitation will be closed. During their training period these men have been receiving the generous assistance of the government in the form of compensation amounting to $100 to $170 a month. But when their training periods end they will suddenly be thrown upon their own resources, and the support of themselves and their families will become at once of the greatest concern.

The problem is one for the American people to take up where the government left off. The veteran should not be forced to endure further hardship by reason of his disability, or through lack of sufficient training be deprived of obtaining suitable occupation.

He who is willing to sacrifice will never have to.

When your heart is laughing, boy,
Every blessed minute,
And you scatter wide the joy
That is bright within it;
Then the world grows bright and fair
With the love you harvest there.

County Board Issues $90,000 Highway Bonds

Funds to Be Used For Completion of Old Jefferson Highway Into City.

At a meeting of the Pennington county board held at the court house last week. the commissioners ordered the issuance of $90,000 Pennington county bonds, the sale of which will go to defray the cost of completing the old Jefferson highway into Thief River Falls, now better known as Trunk Highway No. 32.

The bonds are issued under the provisions of chapter 330, laws of 1923, passed at the last session of the Minnesota legislature, which permitted county boards to issue up to $250,000 county road bonds without a referendum vote where the funds go to defray the cost of completing designated trunk highways.

The bond issue now assures the completion of the old Jefferson highway into this city, which has been going without repair for a long period awaiting the time when the road would be completed under the Babcock plan. It has been in a bad state of repair for some time.

The new road will enter the city on a line with the sanitarium road and will lie wholly on the east side of the Great Northern right-of-way. It will be straightened and many of the curves taken from the road and, it is understood, will have but three curves in the entire distance from St. Hilaire and will cross the Great Northern tracks but once.

The course of the road after reaching the city limits has not yet been determined, according to County Auditor Anderson, there being several routes under consideration and the board will be guided by the best possible method. The present bridge at the sanitarium has been condemned by road officials as spring waters have washed away bridge moorings and caused disastrous caveins to the structure and concrete work. A new railing has been placed on the bridge, which will not allow two vehicles to pass over at the same time.

Notice of the official action of the county board and a call for the sale of the road bonds are published in this issue of The Tribune, the official newspaper of the county, and readers are asked to refer to them for detailed information concerning the issue. The bonds are to bear 5¼ per cent interest, payable semi-annually, and to mature in from 10 to 20 years.

The contract for the completion of the state highway running north and south from Highlanding to Goodridge was also awarded, the contract having been let to Contractor Landeen of Warren. The road contract calls for an expenditure of $14,500, and will complete the road from a distance two miles south of Goodridge down to Highlanding, at the river, and for two miles on the south side of the bridge into Deer Park township. It is expected construction on the latter project will commence at once.

Local Masonic Lodge Goes Visiting Around District

Northern Lodge No. 236 A. F. & A. M. Accepts Invitations of Neighboring Lodges.

The Northern Lodge No. 236, A. F. & A. M., of this city seems to be very popular with the Masonic lodges of our neighboring towns. Having enjoyed the hospitality of Red Lake Falls May 11, they responded to invitations of East Grand Forks the 18th and Crookston lodge the 21st.

At the East Grond Forks meeting G. L. Sterns met and joined the local delegation, which added much to the enjoyment of the evening. A very fine banquet was served by the ladies of the Eastern Star. Deserved compliments are due them. It was immense.

At 8 o'clock, M. M. degree was conferred on three as fine specimens of young manhood as the writer ever saw anywhere. After work well done, a good fellowship session was had. The wit and wisdom was so thick it could be cut with a knife. Bro. Rickert, Master of Red River Lodge, Bro. Lystad, Cec. Chris Anderson, Geo. Snyder, A. E. Hallen and all the other members over there are dandy good fellows, and it was fine to meet them again. Those attending from here were F. F. Haynes, C. Storholm, O. C. Paulson, Rev. J. B. Smith, L. M. Rayson, E. M. Bennes, G. L. Sterns and Andrew Bottelson.

Crookston lodge started the evening with a three-course dinner to its two hundred members and guests present. This put all hands in the proper condition for the more serious work of the later evening. Six candidates were raised to the sublime degree of Master Masons. They will make a fine addition to the already fine, very large, Crookston lodge. Grand Master McConnell was present and availed the opportunity for personal contact with the members from the Northwest. His address was one conceded by all to be most lucid, instructive and promotive of good Masonry. Our Grand Master is certainly a man of education and brains, with the command of language to convey to the listener his ideas and Masonic exposition. Northern Lodge members attending were F. F. Haynes, O. C. Paulson, C. Storholm, E. P. Brevig, T. P. Anderson, B. F. Umland, J. O. Yotter, Adolf Eklund, S. J. Malone, C. Porter, L. C. Dillon, C. Lieberman, Nels Christianson, H. C. Johnson, C. A. Nason, L. M. Rayson, H. A. Pratt and Andrew Bottelson.—Contributed.

POISON GAS AS A LIFE SAVER.

Through experiments with chlorine gas army chemists have established the fact that epidemics of influenza, grip or colds may be checked almost instantly, it is stated, through the inductions of weak concentrations of the gas into the room occupied by those who are to be exposed.

That mustard gas is a specific for tuberculosis apparently has been demonstrated by the experiments conducted under the direction of Lieut. Col. Edward B. Vedder, of the army medical corps. Guinea pigs inoculated with tuberculosis germs and with a certain concentration of mustard gas apparently were rendered immune by the gas and all failed to contract the disease. At the same time, an equal number of guinea pigs inoculated with the tuberculosis germs, and not subjected to the mustard gas treatment, all contracted this disease.

As a result of experiments in the burning gas known as Lewisite, army chemists have evolved what appears to be an efficacious remedy, if not an infallible cure, for paresis and locomotor ataxia. Lewisite is a burning gas composed of arsenic and acetylene gas.

Dr. Lovenhart, of the University of Wisconsin, has the records of some 42 cases of persons committed to hospitals for the insane with paresis. Of that number 21 have been entirely cured and have left the hospital and taken up lucrative employment, and seven bid fair to soon be discharged as cured.

Judging from the above, it is possible that poison gas, one of the horrors of the late war, may ultimately save more lives than it has destroyed or ever will destroy. It may, indeed, prove to be a great blessing to humanity, and especially so if war, which gave it birth, can be abolished.

A lady here called on a local physician for treatment for a wart on her nose, and the doctor told her it would be absolutely necessary for her to refrain from playing the piano and singing. A friend who happened to be in the doctor's office at the time overheard his directions and after the lady had left he asked in astonishment: "You ordered her to refrain from playing on the piano and singing for a wart on the nose! I can't see the philosophy of that kind of philosophy in that kind of treatment." "Perhaps you can see the philosophy of it when I tell you she lives next door to my house," replied the physician.

Fellow up state lost his wife and auto. He advertised for the machine.

SOCIAL AFFAIRS

Soards-Plough.

A very pretty wedding took place Monday evening when Esther Loretta Soards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Soards, 307 Duluth avenue south, was united in marriage to Samuel Plough, Rev. M. J. Noesen of St. Bernard's church officiating. The bride was dressed in a three-piece suit of navy poiret twill with accessories to match, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas. The attendants were Mrs. Rex Beck of Harvey, N. D., sister of the bride, and William Sheedy, a cousin.

Immediately after the ceremony a splendid four-course lunch was served by the bride's parents at their home, with only immediate relatives present. The dining room was prettily decorated in pink and white. A huge three-layer wedding cake made a beautiful center piece. The reception room was banked with potted plants and cut flowers.

The bride is well known in this community, having made this city her home for a number of years, and she is a graduate of the local high school with the class of '21. Mr. Plough is also well known here, having been in the barber business here for the past two years. The young couple left for Winnipeg, where they will spend their honeymoon. They have a host of friends who extend congratulations and best wishes.

Hofto. Mary Ove and the Misses Olga and Edna Olson and Myrtle Bugge.

For Miss Gran.

A group of friends gathered at the home of Mrs. John Hoffseth Friday evening in honor of Miss Caspara Gran, who is leaving the latter part of this week for Phoenix, Arizona. The evening was spent in cards, singing and dancing. A fine lunch was served at midnight. Miss Gran was presented with a large thermos bottle as a token of regard from her many friends.

***

Reception For Teachers.

The Girls' Community Club entertained at the Sons of Norway hall on Monday evening in honor of the teachers of the city. The hall was decorated with red, white and blue streamers. A musical program was rendered by Miss Dora Holmes, Mrs. Clarence Erickson and Miss Mildred Engen, which was highly enjoyed by all. A fine lunch followed at a late hour. Dancing was the chief diversion of the evening.

Miss Dahlen Entertains.

Miss Lydia Dahlen entertained a gathering of friends Wednesday evening. The rooms were decorated in a color scheme suggestive of spring. The evening was given over to music and cards. A fine lunch was served at 11:30. The examination wil Itake place at the high school and will be conducted by a member of the post office staff.

Ban on Indian "Pow Wows"

Tourists who have made trips to the Indian reservations to see the dances of braves and their squaws, will be disappointed this season. An order has come out from Washington from the commission of Indian affairs prohibiting any Indian tribal dances in the summer for the reason that the Indians waste too much time which they otherwise could devote to earning a living and supporting their families.

The dances will be allowed in the winter, it is stated, but will lose their interest for tourists for the reason that in winter the roads will be impassable for tourists.

The ruling, although not directed primarily at the Indians living in northern Minnesota, includes them within its scope. Any Indian receiving federal aid is under the order.

A Good Movement.

/The nation-wide fight to abolish the traveling carnivals that trail behind them debauchery and crookedness is one of the finest movements of the day. Every city or village has had its experience with these leprous exhibitions which under the pretense of "amusement" protect crooks and villains, inveigle young men and girls into paths of sin, take money away from the community and leave nothing but corruption and crime behind them. They should not be tolerated anywhere. It is good news that all fair associations are banding together to put the "carnivals" out of business. They are mostly the spawn of hell, and their existence is a reflection on American decency.—Winnebago City Enterprise.

Another "Dry" Question

Crookston Awards Paving Contract

In case of protests from a group of property owners who must pay a paving tax of about $300 on a fifty-foot lot, the city council of Crookston let a $16,542.50 contract to pave a certain stretch of street over which there has been much discussion and controversy.

Ross Resident Dies Here

Olaf O. Tveiten of Ross died in this city last Thursday, pulmonary tuberculosis being the cause of death. Mr. Tveiten is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ole J. Tveiten also residents of Ross. Mr. Tveiten was 22 years old. He came to this country when he was 3 years of age from Telemarken, Norway, where he was born, April 24, 1901. He was ill for only a month when death occurred. To mourn his death he leaves his parents and one brother.

The remains were interred in the Pine Creek cemetery.

American Legion Plans to Organize Band Unit Here

Requests That All Citizens Possessing Band Instruments Come to Legion Hall.

Elmer Eklund post of the American Legion is planning on organizing a band at once, in order to place the contemplated musical organization on a "playing basis by Memorial day.".

A plan has been under way for some time on the part of the Legion to place some kind of a band on the streets of Thief River Falls this season, but it has been impossible to drum up enough enthusiasm to make the venture a go. Now, however, those in charge believe that local musicians in general and the city as a whole are anxious to see plans materialize.

It is requested by members of the Legion that all formerly playing in the band and all new musicians who have come to the city during the past several months, whether members of the Legion or not, come to the Legion hall on Thursday night, at which time an organization will be perfected.

Internal Revenue Bulletin May Be Had, Says Collector

As a material stop in promiting cooperation between the government and taxpayers, Commissioner of Internal Revenue Davied H. Blair has inaugurated a new program in the issuance of the Internal Revenue Bulletin, which contains decisions and rulings on various tax and prohibition questions. The Internal Revenue Bulletin now is issued weekly, presenting to taxpayers the latest rulings and opinions of the Attorney General, solicitor of internal revenue, and Treasury Decisions, dealing with income, sales, capital-stock, tobacco, oleomargarine and miscellaneous taxes. In addition, the bulletin contains a great fund of information on ta xand prohibition matters.

Supplementing the weekly bulletin, the Internal Revenue Bulletin service consists of a quarterly digest, which will contain, griefed but retaining their full import, the rulings previously published in the weekly bulletins and semi-annual cumulative bulletin in which will appear in full all new rulings, decisions, etc., published during the preceeding six months. The semi-annual bulletins will beissued in July and January.

The promptness with which tax informataion now is made available to the public will greatly enhance the value of the bulletin service. The weekly bulletin will be issued each Monday. To assure the widest and most expeditious distribution, Commissioner Blair has ordered that subscribers on the Pacific coast and all points west of the Mississippi be given preference in the mailing of the bulletin.

The Internal Revenue Bulletin service now has more than 200,000 subscribers, and under the new plan of Commissioner Blair it is expected the subscription list will be doubled.

Information concerning the service, which is furnished on a subscription basis, may be obtained from the Bureau of Internal Revenue, or Superintendent of Public Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

Contracts For Red Lake County Work Awarded

The Minneapolis Bridge company was awarded the contract for building a new steel bridge with 171 foot main span and two 60 foot approach spans across the Red Lake river, the price being 32,000. The Lyle Culvert company was given the contract for furnishing all the metal culverts on the road.

Construction on a pjortion of the project will have to be delayed until the right of way is secured, condemnation proceedings being necessary in some instances. As laid out the route will start from the east end of the Clearwater river bridge, wil langle diagonally northeast to Broadway at the Nimergern corner and will continue east along Ninth street, past the Adam Zins house, and after crossing the Red Lake river turns north through the center of Section 13-151-44 and 12-151-44 until it strikes the G. N. right of way, thence continuing north 2 miles cutting diagonally northeast to the south $quarter corner of Section 30-152-43 where it joins the present trunk highway and runs north 1 mile to the county line.

The cost of the right of way is riughly estimated at $10,000 making the total cost of the project about $95,000. One half of the cost of the road from the Nimesgern corner east will be paid by federal aid.

Will Build S. of N. Home

The orders of the Sons and Daughters of Norway lodges in Grand Forks are now considering plans for raising funds with which to erect a lodge home in the near future, according to reports last week, when weetings were held for that purpose.

More than $6,000 has already been raised for the erection of the new home, which will be located on Walnut street and First avenue. The lodge home will cost approximately $30,000. Definite plans for the building, it is said, have not been decided upon as yet.

Dairymen Advised to Feed Their Cows More Bonemeal

What is sold under the name of raw bonemeal should be fed to dairy cows suffering from abnormal appetite, says C. H. Eckles, chief of the dairy division, University of Minnesota. The term "raw bonemeal" does not mean that the bones are cut up fresh. As a matter of fact, they are boiled in steam seven or eight hours so there is no danger of disease, says Dr. Eckles.

As to feeding Dr. Eckles recommends that a small quantity of salt, about one to five, be mixed with the bonemeal and placed where the animals will have free access to it. "You will be surprised at the amount they will eat," he says. "At first they will take five or six pounds a week per head, tapering off to a pound or two per head a week. Our recommendation is that for cows in milk bonemeal be kept available all the time."

Many reports of this strange condition among cattle have been received at University Farm, where the trouble is attributed primarily to the low mineral content of the soil and the feed produced from it, especially regarding phosphorus. It is always more pronounced when the previous season was dry, as was the case in 1922 in sections of Minnesota. In one instance which Dr. Eckles investigated the pelvic bones of the suffering animals had actually broken in two.

The steam calliope will soon be along, and once more music will have charms to sooth the savage breast.

What has become of the old-fashioned man who used to put tallow on his boots.

THE POWER AND LIGHT QUESTION.

Citizens of Thief River Falls will soon be called upon to decide what course is to be pursued with reference to the power and lighting situation. That a crisis exists is undeniable. The present dam may go out any minute. leaving the city at the mercy of the two Diesel engines which have been in use more than 11 years.

Should the dam go out or should an engine be put out of commission, the city would be plunged into comparative darkness, as it naturally follows that necessary requirements would have to be served first. Since the city is inadequately served at present by the dam and its auxiliary plant, it will at once be apparent that there is need for immediate action.

The purchase of the dam with its flowage rights and the further cost of placing the property in such shape as to meet requirements for a number of years, will cost the city approximately $200,000, according to the figures submitted by Engineer Thomas, who recently made his report to the council. We understand that an expenditure of $55,000 is necessary to replenish the auxiliary plant in order to make reasonably safe a supply of current to supply present needs. At best such an expenditure would be a makeshift, and would not only fail to safeguard present demands upon the plant, but would utterly fail to care for the future light and power needs of the city. The other alternative is the purchase of current from outside sources. However, we believe few people will think such a course wise.

Naturally the council shrinks from the job of determining for the people what is the best course to be pursued. They have their views which are no doubt sound and based upon their close connection with and observation of the present plants. Such views they will doubtless express, but they have very sensibly asked for the assistance of a citizens committee which will aid them in presenting the whole matter to the public.

A vote of the people will be taken in the near future and The Tribune would suggest June 18, the time set for the senatorial primary, as the best time since no extra expense would then accrue.

The Tribune has no suggestions to make other than to caution fair and deliberate judgment on the part of the voters. The question is onew hich deserves to be settled upon its merits and settled right. The questions submitted should be studied with reference to the best interests of the city and personalities and factional differences must be eschewed if the decision of the voters is to be a just one.

Thief River Falls is known everywhere as the best town in northwestern Minnesota. The city has a great future and its potential possibilities as a city of smal factories would be seriously menaced should a backward step be taken at this time. So let all citizens forget the mistakes of the past, if mistakes have occurred, and let us set our face to the rising sun of the future and settle this matter in a way which will not only keep Thief River Falls on the map as the best lighted city in the northewest but also one which invites the attention of industries in need of superior power facilities.

THE PERVERSE MALE.

If a man had to sit cramped up in a boat six hours in a cold wind, holding a fish pole in one hand and bailing water out with the other, in order to make a living, a howl would go up that would split the blue dome above. But he'll do it cheerfully in order to get one poor lonely little fish.—Winnebago Enterprise.

Man is the funniest animal on the face of the globe. Ask him to wheel the baby around the block and he will holler like a stuck pig, but he will get up four o'clock in the morning with the temperature down to zero, drive all day in the cold and crawl on his belly through slimy places just to get a shot at a mud hen. He will pout and grouch all day if his coffee is cold or his toast is burned, but let a friend offer him a drink of moonshine and he cares not how it was made or where he drinks it. He will cheerfully pay $10 a quart for poison which is liable to strike him blind or paralyze him for life, but he calls it extravagance when his wife spends $5 for a new hat. He smokes 15 cent cigars and never questions the cost of poker chips, but he kicks like a bay steer if his taxes have increased $1.12 per annum. Men hate to go to bed and hate to get up. But tough as they are and queer as they may be, they are all—every mother's son of them—the delight of some woman's heart.

If we seem to have a great deal to say about co-operation from time to time it is because we believe it to be the only permanent salvation of the farmer. He may get good prices for his products occasionally due to such contingencies as short crops in certain areas, or in a crisis like the World war, but if agriculture is to be placed on a par with other business the farmer must so combine with his neighbors as to give him at least a reasonable control over prices. Such a condition would impose no hardship on the consumer. If the farmers were getting $1 per bushel for their potatoes, $2 per bushel for their wheat, $1.50 for rye, 50 cents for oats, 35 cents for fresh eggs and 50 cents for butterfat, and such prices remained on a fairly steady level, the purchasing power of more than thirty millions of people would be restored, and it would be correspondingly easy for those engaged in any other industry to make a living. It would be ever so much better all around and the farmer would be placed in position to enjoy some of the ease and luxury of life which is now denied him.

An exchange mentions a man who married a widow named Elizabeth. The widow had two children and now his neighbors are mean enough to say he acquired a second hand Lizzie and two runabouts.

The Tribune cannot understand why the state immigration department should fritter away its money and energy in an attempt to settle people on cut over stump land when there is so much nice open prairie land in Pennington county ready for the settler's plow. This county is as fertile as the Valley of the Nile and only needs the coaxing of the settler's plow to make it blossom like the rose. We have room for 5,000 settlers and the opportunities are unparalleled on the American continent.

There are barn dances and barn dances, by which we mean that some are good but many are bad. Under the law anyone contemplating giving such a dance must first get a permit from the town officers, then get a license, and then must provide a police officer whose duty it will be to see that decent regulations are observed. The necessity for such a law was occasioned by the alarming increase in drunkenness and immorality on the part of young people who attended such dances.

It seems that the city of Dawson in Lac qui Parle county has a power and light situation quite similar to our own. They have two engines, one of which is already out of commission, their generators are worn out, and the whole outfit is ready for the scrap heap. Also, like this city, they have the old system of direct current, and face the proposition of rewiring the entire city when a new plant is constructed. We have one great advantage over Dawson in having at our front door a dam which can be so harnessed as to provide both light and power at a great saving over such service supplied by means of engine power.

COUNTY BONDS FOR ROADS.

The action of the county commissioners in issuing road bonds in the sum of $90,000 for the completion of the project between this city and St. Hilaire looks like good business for Pennington county. Some money will be left over for the west project connecting this city with Warren and bonds will no doubt be issued in the course of time for completing this project.

There will be those who will criticize the board for their action and to such people are due an explanation of the essential facts concerning the bonds. The bonds in question do not become an obligation upon the tax payers of Pennington county as many people believe. The bonds are merely underwritten for a period of twenty years by the county and are eventually paid out of the collection of automobile taxes by the state, hence only such proportion of the automobile taxes as are paid by local tax payers are applied to the payment of such bonds.

Since the big cities pay a major portion of these taxes without getting anything back, it follows that this arrangement is of great benefit to the rural communities, and no better system of securing good roads in the country districts could be devised according to our way of thinking.

Some complaint is heard now and then because this money is spent upon trunk highways, which means the roads that "go somewhere," and therefore the farmers residing in remote places get very little benefit, but it must be remembeerd that the "through" roads must be first built if there is to be orderly construction. Any other course would be as ridiculous as for a railroad to build its sidetracks first and come along later with the main line.

It is hardly to be expected that a department of such magnitude as the one presided over by Mr. Babcock could function without some adverse criticism, but we feel that all fair-minded people will agree that remarkable progress toward a good roads system has been made in this state since the adoption of amendment No. 1. And though we do not claim Mr. Babcock to be infallible in his judgment of what is best in the way of road building, we have yet to hear of anything better proposed by those who oppose him.

Among the Golfers

Thief River Falls has a golf course of which any twice its size might be proud. Not only is the local course attractive from a scenic point of view but experts have stated that the ground is unusually well adapted to the purpose. The pioneers in the game who have succeeded in putting the project over are entitled to the plaudits of all, for the time will come when all citizens will realize the benefits to the town from having such an institution.

—o—

Nearly every town of any pretensions now has its golf course and those who openly sneered at the game a few years ago as being for the old and decrepit now are among the most ardent devotees of the healthful and invigorating game. It requires an active mind and a well developed body to be a good golfer, and yet the game is not one which taxes the vitality of the player as do the more strenuous athletic games, hence its popularity among all classes of people.

Bemidji is building its second nine hole course this year, the presence of outside players in large numbers having made the extension necessary. Alexandria, which has a beautiful nine hole course, is also building another across the road from the old course to take care of the increased number of players in that city. A fine farm house of large proportions which was purchased with the last property, is being converted into a modern club house.

—o—

The Thief River course has now been seeded in its entirety and by July it is expected that the full nine hole course will be ready for play. President Barnard contemplates a number of tournaments this summer which will demonstrate the ability of local players when pitted against some of the fast players from the outside.

—o—

Park Rapids is one of the smaller towns of the state which has taken to golf, but we judge it to be a pretty lively community by token of the following "golf item" which appeared in last week's Journal of that city:

"W. M. Taber, chairman of the greens committee, has the lumber on the ground for the erection of a temporary club house. The site selected is on the peak of the highest hill overlooking the course and Fish Hook lake.

"The club house will be occupied by the carekeeper and his wife during the golf season and lunches and soft drinks will be served to those desiring the service. Two wells will also be put down on the course for the convenience of players. The new fence will be completed this week and a flock of sheep pastured on the course to keep the grass down adn help clean up the rough between the fareways.

"Mr. Taber has the course in fine shape for a new one and the number of players turning out to enjoy it is increasing every day."

Veterans' Bureau Items

Dalton D. Long, a U. S. Veterans' Bureau trainee at the School of Agriculture, University Farm School, St. Paul, recently won first place in horse judging and was presented with a medal at a banquet of the Block and Bridle Club.

—o—

Shirley S. Packard, a disabled veteran in training at the Minneapolis School of Art under the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, was awarded first in the poster contest of the Minneapolis Clean-Up Committee this month. The prize was $20 in cash.

—o—

April 6th witnessed an interesting event at Veteransville, Minn., as on that date the first anniversary of the founding of this soldier settlement was celebrated. The community club house was filled to overflowing and a delightful program of speeches, music and dancing was rendered. Several Veterans' Bureau officials were present, as well as a large number of settlers, some of whom came many miles to attend.

It is important to note that on July 1, 1922, the U. S. Veterans' Bureau had 102,108 men in vocational training in the United States, whereas on March 1, 1923, there were 93,019, or a decrease of 8,098, showing a decrease in the number of men being cared for in this way.

WHAT WE NEED

POLITICAL parties are the evolution of principles. When the dynamic of the principle is exhausted the party dies. Organization machinery cannot make a political party. There isn't anything binding nor inspiring in the mere frame work of organization.

We should force the riff-raff of the United States who believe in every ism, who are unstable in government, unsound in patriotism, unwelcomed in citizenship. unworthy of leadership, who are opportunists, political vagabonds and beggars into a party which should be called the anti-federal party.

They are opposed to this government. Let us force them to say so in a political organization and in a political declaration and by political machinery, for which we can hold them responsible

As our parties exist today they have in their rank and file men who are guilty of treason, who are unworthy of respect, who are cowardly, who are anarchists, socialists and traitors to the constitution and the flag.

America's greatest need is a party made up of brains and character and statesmanship and courage; made up of men who believe in the constitution, who are controlled by fundamental principles, who will never be moved by expediency, who will never yield to the cowardly doctrine of compromise, who will live to establish the right, or die to defend principle.

Florence Haney Passes Away After Long Illness

The many friends of Florence Olive Haney, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. C. Haney, will be grieved to hear of her death, which occurred Monday, May 21, after a prolonged illness of tuberculosis, at the Oakland Park Sanatorium.

Florence was born in Madison, this state, November 27, 1904. The family moved to this city in 1912, where they have resided up to the present time. She received practically all of her schooling in the public schools of this city and had completed her third year of high school training. She gained the reputation of being a good student. Because of failing health her studies were discontinued and she entered the Sanatorium for treatment about a year ago. Her condition varied from time to time and high hopes were held for her recovery. She had a very engaging personality and was well liked by all who knew her. The loss is keenly felt throughout the community.

She leaves to mourn her death besides her father and mother, two sisters, Dorothy and Ardith, and three brothers, Morris, Robert and Thomas. The funeral will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 at the Haney home and at the Presbyterian church. Rev. Chas. Gerlinger will officiate.

Baseball Gets Under Hide of Local Fans

ready to go and will be groomed by the management as a pitcher. Herron played on the team last year, when this city was "full-fledged" in the short-lived Red River Valley league. Walter Jonas is another of the war horses that can do honor to most any kind of a team at the third station. He has been out for practice and looks as good as ever. Harry Prugh is another of the veterans and he probably will be tried out at first. Although short physically, Prugh can extend himself in most any position.

Martin Brudie will play second and will be supported by none other than Roy Brown at shortstop, fighting, slugging and hard-playing performer on most any kind of a team that ever journeyed out of the confines of this city. Brown is well known to local fans and will be out for practice. Guy Lane is another that has been seen out in uniform and will be ready when called on. Sidney Schutt played last year and will again this season, he says.

A new addition to the string of available material is Chas. Simpson, who conducts a shine parlor at the Cosgrove pool hall, who is said to be a baseball performer of great ability, having played with the famous Tennessee Rats, best known colored baseball team in the country. Many would say that anybody who ever had the honor of picking up bats for the famous Tennessee aggregation would be good enough to play on Thief River Falls club from a strictly playing standpoint.

Gordon LaBree and Dennis McGinn will be back again when their school terms expire and will be well received. Both are players of known ability.

Finance of the new aggregation is causing some concern to the management, but it has been decided that there will be no public donations asked for in order to support the team. Rather, it is planned that season tickets be sold at a price of about $3 each and in the event a goodly number can be sold, there will be money enough, in addition to what can be taken in at the gate. As other plans mature, they will be announced in The Tribune.

Darby Anderson is the manager of the baseball playing aggregation and has charge of all the arrangements for getting the team under way. He is lending every effort to make the club a success and deserves the support of every baseball-loving fan in Thief River Falls.

Council Orders Paving of Postoffice Alley at Meeting

Session of City Dads at Auditorium Last Night Is Short and Snappy Affair.

The session of the city council last night was short and snappy and adjournment was taken in less than half an hour after the roll call, which showed all aldermen present except Brandon.

Three resolutions were read and passed upon favorably. The first was that authorizing the pavement of the alley in block 36, commonly known as the postoffice alley. The second resolution authorized the appointment of B. F. Umland as engineer in charge of this work. The third resolution was one ordering in a sidewalk on the south side of Sixth street between LaBree and Knight avenues.

The only other business transacted was the reading of the minutes of the last meeting and the allowance of the regular accumulation of bills, following which adjournment was taken for one week, at which time the matter of buying the dam will be up for consideration.

Use Caution, [illegible] Not Timidity

Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, gives sound advice in summing up the manner in which we should hold onto prosperity. The most encouraging note in his remarks of course lies in the fact that so astute [illegible] should state without qualification that prosperity [illegible] us, that it can be preserved, and that the existing business conditions are not in any sense comparable with the wasteful boom conditions of 1920.

Secretary Hoover calls for caution, for confidence, for courage, and marks emphatically the difference between caution and timidity.

This is a warning that might well be taken to heart by every local merchant in the land. Caution means sound buying and courage demands a realization that goods can be marketed.

He points out that efficiency in production has increased from 10 to 15 per cent per capita since the period immediately preceding the war. Mathematically it means that America could supply each person the same amount of commodities consumed ten years ago and yet lay off 2,000,000 people from work. The answer is greater consumption which in turn means that the selling efficiency must be brought [illegible] measure to the standard of increased productivity. [illegible] us and progressive merchant has sound prosperity [illegible]

Jones of Journal Is Strong Booster For Tourist Trade

Autoists Bring $100,000,000 Into Minnesota Annually, Says Newspaper Man.

Jones of the Journal was one of the trade tourists on the special train here yesterday boosting Minneapolis, but Jones sees farther than Minneapolis. He senses the tremendous possibilities of boosting tourist travel into the state of Minnesota and in that connection spoke at length to a Tribune reporter who interviewed him this morning.

North and South Dakota and other states are furnishing a large quota of the hundreds of thousands of travelers who annually come into Minnesota for a vacation and Minnesota communities near the Dakota borders are favorably situated to enjoy their share of the benefits of the state's tourist traffic, which soon will mean to the state a summer cash income of $100,000,000. This is indicated by the records of the Minneapolis Journal Travel and Resort Bureau, according to Mr. Jones.

"You are fortunately located in a section of this vacation-land," said Mr. Jones, "where you are in the line of those who may stay for varying lengths of time or for those who are on their way to other points. In either case your community receives a call from the traveler with attendant expenditures and future possibilities which cannot be foreseen. It is because The Journal sees in the development of the tourist traffic an actual important element in the future greatness of the state that it has established its extensive travel and resort bureau which last year sent thousands of travelers your way and is doing the same this year with greatly increased facilities for serving the public without charge. We invite your townspeople to take advantage of our free service covering all travel information.

"However, to get the best results from the tourist traffic every community should be alert and figure out a way for intercepting the stream. Small but adequate information bureaus, perhaps in a business place on which all are agreed, should be established and the least that could be done would be to keep the Journal bureau advised of vacation facilities and road conditions. In this way the bureau is equipped at all times with the up-to-the-minute information necessary for properly directing the travel your way. Once he has landed here, the job is yours to sell the traveler on what your particular community has to offer. Here is your chance to get actual personal touch with prospects of every kind who may be made of inestimable value to you in times ahead. We are carrying daily articles in our paper which are of value to the motorist and other travelers and these also serve to keep the tourist possibilities before the people of the state."

NEW MARKETS OPEN FOR CO-OP. BUTTER

Markets which heretofore have been all but closed to Minnesota's best butter will be absorbing large quantities when sales plans now being considered by officers of the Minnesota Cooperative Creameries association are fully developed.

Since that organization announced its determination to organize a special sales department, centers in which cooperative butter has been almost unknown, have been inquiring as to possibilities of obtaining quantities on contract. Inquiries have been received from Cleveland and Akron, Ohio; Warren, Pa. and other points, according to A. J. McGuire, general manager of the state association.

"Dozens of letters received, "Mr. McGuire says, "convince us that one of the important steps before us in our plan to organize a state sales agency is the development of smaller markets. This will relieve congestion now frequently found in New York, Chicago, and Philadelphia and tend to strengthen and stabilize the price on quality products."

Mr. McGuire, in an effort to determine exactly what creameries affiliated with the organization want in the way of a sales agency has recently sent out letters of inquiry. Some of the stronger local creameries have indicated satisfaction with their present outlet, while others have welcomed the idea of a special sales department in the association. There is no disposition on the part of the state office, Mr. McGuire says, to change the market for any local that now is obtaining a fair price for its products. However, the number of creameries that want a better outlet is sufficient to assure success for the selling plan, once it is agreed upon and put into operation.

Jazz!

A tin dishpan and an auto horn,
A squeaky fiddle and a rat eating corn,

Death of Theo. Beaulieu,, Big White Earth Indian

The Detroit Record has the following to say regarding the death of Theo. H. Beaulieu, the best known member of the White Earth tribe, which occurred recently:

"Detroit people were immeasurably saddened Sunday evening when word was received here telling of the death of Theodore H. Beaulieu at Mound Park Sanatorium, St. Paul, where he had been a patient for the past four weeks. The remains were brought back to White Earth and the funeral was held there this week, the remains being laid in the Catholic cemetery beside the daughter who died a few years ago.

"Mr. Beaulieu was entitled to and generally recognized as the leading citizen and member of the White Earth Indian reservation, for he was a man of much learning and a capable speaker with power to convince his hearers. Ever active in community work, he desired for the members of his race an education and a thorough assimilation with the white people. He was a striking individual example of the aims to which he aspired for all others. His place in this particular will be difficult, if not impossible, to fill.

"Deceased was born at Kaukauna, Wisconsin, on September 4, 1853, and was a son of Bazil H. and Mary (Sulliard) Beulieu, the former a native of Wisconsin and the latter of Michigan. After completing his education and spending twelve years at the printing trade, Mr. Beaulieu left Wisconsin in 1874 and the following year he entered the International Marine Service between Philadelphia and Liverpool, where he spent two years. In 1879 he entered the employ of the government service, where he remained until 1882. He served as United States Land Examiner for two years and was in charge of the land department of the government Indian Service at the White Earth Reservation for a number of years.

"He established the first newspaper in the Indian country, this being known as "The Progress" and was published from 1887 to 1888, and then turned over to the Chippewa tribe and is continued today as "The Tomahawk." To this he was the leading and most valuable contributor, as well as serving as correspondent for the dailies in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

"In 1907 Mr. Beaulieu engaged in the real estate business at White Earth, and later platted a summer resort on the shores of White Earth lake. In this business he continued until his death. He was always active in community betterment, intensely patriotic, and invariably in charge of the Memorial Day services at White Earth. For a number of years he had served as one of the supervisors of his township, and was filling that position when death called him.

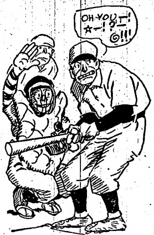
"For the last few years his health has been failing and on January 15th he entered Eitel Hospital, Minneapolis, and submitted to an operation. This was, apparently, successful, and he returned home on April 3rd. However, the shock of the operation was greater than at first thought and during the succeeding ten days he failed rapidly so that on April 15th he entered the Mounds Park Sanatorium, St. Paul, for special treatment in hopes that his recovery might be hastened. However, the nervous shock to a man of his age seemingly made all medical skill fruitless, and dissolution came at 1:30 Sunday afternoon.

"For many years Mr. Beaulieu was an honored member of the Masonic lodge at Detroit, and his demise brings deep regret to hundreds of his associates in this city and country, and throughout a large section of the Northwest where he was so generally known and universally admired.

"He is surivved by his wife, Julia E. Beaulieu, Clarence R. Beaulieu and Frank D. Beaulieu, sons; both of White Earth; and a daughter, Mrs. Florence E. Dahl of Seattle, Wash."

Law Supplements.

This office has on hand a few extra copies of the 1923 law supplements, which will be given away free to anyone desiring them. The Tribune sent law supplements to every one of its subscribers within the county, while the general practice of newspapers is to send them only to enough readers to comply with the law, which is about 240.



Two Strikes and Nothing

Wilhelm Ostrand was arrested on the combined charges of reckless automobile driving and driving while intoxicated in this city and brought before Justice W. O. Braggans Monday, where he was given a fine of $100 or 70 days in the county jail. Automobile speeding must be stopped and no leniency will be shown violators of the law by the court.—Warren Sheaf.

Woman Wins $1$1,850 Woman Wins $11,850

One of the largest personal injury damage awards ever returned by a jury in Hennepin county district court in an automobile accident case wes returned before Judge G. W. Buffington late Tuesday, when a jury brought in a verdict of $11,850 for Mrs. Mary Shorba, 1802 Second street south, against Walter Pelch, 701 Marshal street northeast.

Mrs. Shorba, who was represented in the case by Attorney John Greathouse, was injured on June 11, 1922, when struck by an automobile while crossing the street at Second avenue south and Cedar avenue.

Lightning Plays Tag on Boy's Body.

Physicians in charge of Steve Koppy, Mandan, N. D., boy, aged 18, declare the boy will recover but will always carry scars showing how a bolt of lightning played tag about his body.

The bolt tore through his hat, followed down the back to the waist, where it ran around his body, up his right breast, circled his shoulder and passed down his arm. The scars are as though caused by a hot iron.

The young man was driving a four horse team hitched to a wagon when lightning struck, killing two of the animals and stunning the other two and knocking Koppy from the wagon seat.

A. Carlson, representing the Linograph Company of Davenport, Iowa, spent Sunday in this city. He was on his way to Hallock. where he expected to sell a machine to the Peoples Press, the Nonpartisan newspaper.

There is timely caution in the following paragraph from the Benson Monitor: "You laugh at prohibition laws; the libertine laughs at the marriage laws; the anarchist laughs at the property laws; watch out that your son does not laugh at all laws; better quit laughing at any law."

At this commencement season it might be well to remind the young men who are about to leave the schools that the fellows on Easy street had to work hard to get there. Book learning may be a fine thing, but it furnishes no alibi for a lazy man, says the Dawson Sentinel.

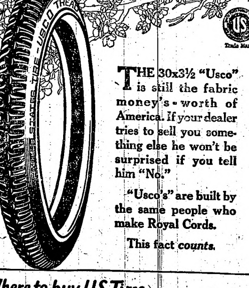
Former Residents Hold Reunion.

The first annual reunion of Minneapolis residents who formerly lived in Thief River Falls was held last evening at the Minnesota union on the university campus. J. H. Hay, deputy state commissioner of agriculture, and D. P. O'Neill of Minneapolis, were the principal speakers. It is reported that the attendance was quite large and an excellent program was enjoyed by those present. The Tribune will endeavor to secure a good account of the pleasant affair for its next issue.

The following paragraph from the pen of Fred Hadley of the Winnebago Enterprise will strike a responsive chord: "Right down in his innermost heart, is any sane man ever an atheist? We doubt it. He may dislike some particular form of theology; he may have taken offense at some particular dogma; he may oppose some one church; but can he stand in the quietness under the stars, or watch the recurring splendors of spring, or contemplate the onward sweep of humanity, without some consciousness of God at work in the wonders of nature, in the aspirations of mankind, in the individual heart of man?"

We noticed quite a few Mexicans around town Sunday. The dark skinned workers seemed to.. enjoy the sights. Farmers who are making use of this class of labor speak in the highest terms of their hired help. They are alert, clean and industrious, mind their own business, and when it comes to ridding a piece of ground of weeds they have no equals among their whiter brothers.

The rattlesnake is full of venom—but did you ever hear a couple of gossips hitting on all six?



UNITED STATES TIRE - USCO TREAD

It's "Usco" Time Again
United States Tires are Good Tires

THE 30x3½ "Usco" is still the fabric money's-worth of America. If your dealer tries to sell you something else he won't be surprised if you tell him "No."

"Usco's" are built by the same people who make Royal Cords.

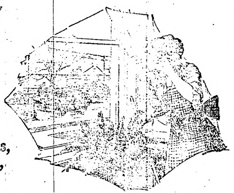
Curiosity calls made at the time of a fire are very likely to delay urgent messages.



There's Danger When Everybody Asks, "Where's the Fire?"

Do you realize the danger in which your community is placed when you ask, "Where's the fire?"

Curiosity calls at the time of a fire always slow down and often paralyze the service, making it impossible for our operators to handle other calls promptly.

A second fire alarm, a call for a doctor or other emergency messages might be held up because of these curiosity calls and tragic results follow.

You will best serve the interest of the community by not asking the operator to give you the location of a fire.

Gum-Dipped Cords
Gaining New Fame for Service
194% Sales Increase in Last Six Months Shows Trend Toward Firestone

The public has emphatically spoken. The popular preference in all territories is unmistakably the Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord.

A standard of service has been set by these famous tires without parallel in the past. It has brought a sales increase of 194% for the past six months over the same period of a year ago—the greatest gain in all Firestone history.

The Firestone Gum-Dipped Cord is the mighty achievement which has enabled Firestone to break the tremendous record of past Firestone success.

The tire buying public has been aroused to the results in economical mileage of the Firestone process of double gum-dipping. The buying-swing toward Firestone shows how it has advanced the public's standard of tire value.

Ask owners about Firestone performance on their cars. Note the big taxicab fleets Firestone-equipped. Watch the new cars you see—just from the factories; Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are seen everywhere in fast increasing numbers.

Get the maximum extra mileage that only the Firestone name assures you. Only by insisting on this name can you be sure of getting the genuine gum-dipped construction.

"ARABIAN NIGHTS" OUTDONE

The achievement of Lieuts. Oakley G. Kelley and John A. Macready of the Army Air Service in crossing the American continent in less than 27 hours commences a new chapter in the wonderful triumphs of this twentieth century.

The Arabian Nights, a book of a thousand and one units of a vivid imagination, includes a story of a magic carpet on which its owner could sit and wish himself in any place where his fancy might direct and he was forthwith transported to the place. Little did the author of that story dream that it would become so near a reality as exists in modern times, when a colorelss liquid can be weighing one or more tons, which will cause the machine and its occupants to travel faster than the birds can fly. But this achievement seems to be only the beginning of things. Plans are already completed for a "daylight to dark" flight across the continent—to leave New York at daybreak and arrive in San Francisco by nightfall—about 14 hours. For this flight a fast fighting plane will be used and stops for fuel will be made at certain points.

This flight is scheduled to take place next month, and if successful—well, there's no limit to man's imagination.

GRYGLA

(From The Eagle.)

Deputy Sheriff Archie Ditty of Beltrami county was in this section the first of the week looking after delinquent taxes and auto licenses.

A fire in the refuse near the Henry Hope residence caused considerable excitement in town last Saturday but hard work by the citizens saved the property.

Eric Elofson, living near Ilag, had the misfortune to lose his house and all its contents by fire last Monday. While he was in the house at the time the building was all ablaze before it was discovered.

Mrs. Byron Yager and family left Monday for Flint, Michigan, where Mr. Yager is working. They will make that place their home for the summer at least. A pleasant farewell reception was tendered her by the Royal Neighbors last Saturday evening at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Holbrook.

Ilus Magnuson had the misfortune last Monday, while working in the creamery, to meet with a serious accident. While working the print packing machine a chain broke, dropping a heavy butter tub on his ankle in such a manner that a number of bones were broken besides being badly bruised. Owing to the nature of the bruise he will be obliged to use crutches for some time.

Last Wednesday evening a number of neighbors called at the John Bruckner home to let Mr. Bruckner know that it was his birthday. A very pleasant time is reported by all.

R. N. A. camp No. 8735 celebrated their third anniversary last Tuesday evening by giving a paper sack social in the R. N. A. hall in this village. The evening was spent in different amusements and for refreshments each member was required to furnish a lunch for one in a paper sack, all put in one place and at the proper time each took a sack, not knowing whose it was. It was an unusually pleasant affair.

Messrs. Korstad, A. Nordwall and F. Brun of Red Lake were here on Monday to look over the location for a box factory at this point. After going over the matter to some extent they decided to locate here provided enough cord wood could be contracted for the first year's supply. The business men will have a meeting here tonight and arrange to canvass the situation among the timber owners and report to the promoters. Farmers having poplar wood should report the amount they could furnish.

NOTICE OF HEARING UPON PETITION OF FREEHOLDER.

Whereas, A petition signed by Otto R. Stucy, a freeholder of School Distrist No. 52 in this County, representing that he is the owner of the following described lands situated in said District, to-wit:

Lot 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, and the north half of the northeast quarter, section three (2., hundred, seventy-five and sixty-one one-hundred seventy-five and sixty-one one hundredths acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey. This land adjoins District No. 47. And that distance to school house in District No. 52, 2½ miles. No direct road, no road at all for ½ mile from Red Lake River; also said school house being on south side of river and petitioner resides on north side of Red Lake River. Inconvenient at all times to cross river and impossible sometimes. School District 47 has school house a little over two miles away, and good public road all the way. School house in District No. 52 is too far for children to walk, and cannot drive until river is safe in fall (about Dec. 5) and is unsafe in March for team; has been presented to the County Board of Pennington County, and asking that his said lands may be set off from said District No. 52 to said District No. 47, and the said Board has appointed a time and place for hearing thereon. Therefore,

Notice is hereby given that said petition will be heard by said Board, at a session thereof, commencing on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1923, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County, at which time and place the said Board will hear the evidence and the arguments of all persons interested, for or against granting the prayer of the petitioner.

Dated May 21st, 1923.

The Man Who Signs Must Make Good!

A responsible man puts his name to a piece of paper and it becomes a check—the equivalent of money.

He signs his name on the back of another piece of paper and it becomes an endorsed note—good for money.

He writes a letter and it becomes a binding contract.

The adding of the name makes these things solemn and legal obligations.

The man who signs is responsible.

Just so with an advertisement—the moment a man signs his name to it he has made a pledge to the public.

He is bound by his word as much as if he signed a check or a note. He must do what he promised on the terms he promised.

If he does not, he courts business disaster. The man who advertises a lie publicly proclaims himself a liar. Such men are seldom in business but frequently in asylums.

It is safer to buy advertised articles than nondescript ones. It is safer to deal with merchants who advertise than with those who do not.

An advertisement is a signed pledge of good faith to the public.

See the merchants and manufacturers who welcome the chance to back their goods and products with their names.

President Coffman of State University Will Address Public Meeting

Comes Here in Interests of Campaign to Raise Funds for Erection of Auditorium and Stadium.

President Lotus D. Coffman, president of the Minnesota state university, will speak at the noon-day luncheon of the Commercial club Friday which was postponed from Thursday in order to afford members an opportunity to hear the distinguished speaker. The University president will be accompanied by Coach Spaulding and Athletic Director Luhring, who come here in the interests of the campaign to raise $2,000,000 for the construction of an auditorium and stadium at the university.

Of the $2,000,000 fund, $1,500,000 already has been raised in the three larger cities of the state, Minneapolis, St. Paul and Duluth, the remainder to be subscribed by the rural communities of Minnesota. No effort will be made to raise funds at the meeting but the needs of the university with respect to a larger stadium and auditorium facilities will be discussed.

H. O. Chommie, local attorney, has been selected to head the drive for funds in this section and plans will soon be put under way to put the drive into effect. It is especially requested that university alumni and graduates of the agricultural college attend the meeting Friday and as many others of the business men and citizens of the city as possible.

Young Man Fined $25 For Assaulting Police Officer

Draws Additional 30-Day Sentence For Driving Car While in Intoxicated Condition.

Grant Gulrud was up twice yesterday before Judge N. W. Tarrant in municipal court, first on a city charge and later on a state warrant, drawing severe penalties each time.

About four o'clock Tuesday morning the defendant, it is said, was found by Night Patrolman Ralston at the corner of Fourth street and Main avenue in an intoxicated condition and creating altogether too much disturbance for that hour of the night. Mr. Ralston in attempting to arrest young Gulrud met with considerable abue and when appearing in court with the young man, exhibited a badly bruised nose. City Attorney H. O. Chommie prosecuted Mr. Gulrud on a charge of creating a nuisance and resisting an officer and the result was a $25 fine, which was paid forthwith.

On being released Mr. Gulrud was rearrested on a complaint charging him with driving a car while intoxicated, the warrant having been issued on complaint of County Attorney Theo. Quale. The defendant pleaded guilty to this charge also and Judge Tarrant imposed a thirty-day jail sentence on him, suspending it, however, on condition that the young man refrain from driving his car for the next month. Failure to abide by this command will mean rearrest and the serving of the full thirty days.

St. Paul Mayor May Be July 4th Speaker Here

Promises Local Men That He in All Probability Will Fill Engagement With Legion.

Arthur E. Nelson, mayor of St. Paul, who was here Monday afternoon with the St. Paul business men's trade tour, and who spoke from the bandstand at the corner of Third street and LaBree avenue, promised a committee consisting of G. Howard Smith and S. V. Arneson, acting on the part of the Legion, that in all likelihood he would accept the invitation extended by them to make an address here on July 4th, at which time the local post of the American Legion is planning to hold a large celebration on two and perhaps three days.

Mr. Nelson stated that he would be glad to come here to make the national holiday address and that unless pressing business matters kept him away, he would come here to "spend the Fourth."

HENRY FORD'S FORTUNE.

The filing of the annual statement of the Ford Motor Company last week is another revelation of the 20th century achievement. Mr. Ford and his only son own the whole of the capital stock of the company. Their net profits last year were $119,000,000. The cash holdings of the company deposited in various banks amounted on Feb. 28 to over $159,000,000. The two men together are believed to be the richest men in the world, and are certainly in enjoyment of the largest individual income possessed by any capitalist of today.

Amazing as it is that so colossal a fortune should have been accumulated in the space of twenty years, for twenty years ago Ford was a bookkeeper on a slender salary, it is, perhaps, even more astonishing that its accumulation should have been accompanied by so little public hostility.

Even labor, organized labor, ordinarily so tenacious of its privileges, is virtually quiescent in contemplation of the Ford success. More than any one man or group of men, he has made Detroit a nonunion city, but in doing it he led the way in paying high wages, and making high wages pay him. But for all his refusal to recognize union labor in his shops, we find no outcry against his product raised by the spokesmen of union labor, and his cars are owned and driven generally by men who hold union cards.

It cannot be said that Mr. Ford has purchased his immunity from hostile criticism by lavish deeds of charity. He is no philanthropist, nor has he sought to use ostentations philanthropy as a bribe to public opinion. A great hospital in Detroit bears his name and it is perhaps the one monument to his public benefactions. What his private charities may be no one knows. And yet it may well be questioned whether he has not contributed more to human welfare and happiness, and will not in future contribute more than any philanthropist, by his policy of extending the opportunities for employment and making the conditions of production make it impossible for him to let it be either pleasant or interesting. For this he is praised by the working people and denounced by employers who hold other views.

He is demonstrating to those who study social phenomena intelligently that the mere accumulation of money is not in itself a menace to society, or a crime against social organization. It is the method by which it is accumulated and the use to which it is put that provokes natural resentment, when either is hostile to the public welfare. Mr. Ford has had no special privileges granted to him by law in which others might not share, upon which to build his enormous edifice of wealth.

The Safety Test

MAKE YOUR OWN GAS FOR COOKING

American Gasoline Gas Stoves make their own gas from gasoline and produce a clear blue flame entirely Free From Smoke, Soot and Odor. They save many hours every week because they give from fifty to one hundred per cent more heat than any type of oil stove.

The first burner when generated, requiring about one minute, makes the gas for the other burners which may be turned on or off like a gas stove. American stoves have no wicks, no "chimneys" to waste heat by radiation, the burners cannot clog and never require cleaning.

Price $25.00.

Let the Farmer Watch His Step

The announcement of the Federal Farm Loan Board that $12,000,000 is now available for farm loans under the new agricultural credit law, and at interest which while high is heavenly compared with existing rates, will put heart into many a man who for years has been struggling under the burden of financial oppression; but it is hoped the tempting bait will not be swallowed to the point of saturation.

The new system will have the effect of reducing interest charges in some states from 10 per cent, to 7 per cent, or perhaps less. This sounds as cymbals heralding approach to the promised land, but it should not be forgotten that in many states interest on private loans in excess of six per cent is considered usury, and the lenders are punishable under the statutes. However, there appears to be one law for the commercial business man and another for the farmer.

The law has inferentially acknowledged that commercial money cannot thrive on a seven per cent interest rate, and while the relief of the farmer will be appreciated, it will be found mighty hard scraping for the farmer to get adequate reward for his labor at this lowered rate. Danger lies in the likelihood that the farmer, so long used to extortion, will over-borrow at the new rate, and will be disposed to seek temporary ease in finance, not realizing that the mills of Wall Street, like the mills of the gods, grind slowly but they grind exceeding small and that the day of settlement is as certain as the day of judgment. The farmer may obtain money at 5½ per cent when borrowing through a cooperative marketing association, but here again the overhead steps in and the additional charges foot up to a sum that still must make the tiller of the soil bend to the burden.

Celebrate Birthdays.

Mr. Berge was chief of police here for a period of six years and resigned from the office January 10, 1918, in which year he was candidate for sheriff of Pennington county. The past ten months he has been employed in St. Paul by the Soo railroad company as police of their yards. E. O. Erickson, who now leaves the police force, has been an active officer since 1904. At present no other changes in the administration have been made.

To Give Piano Recital at High School May 31

The pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson, local pianist and teacher, will be heard in two recitals May 31 at the high school auditorium, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening. Mrs. Erickson has a class of 65 pupils and is doing more than her share in developing local talent. She has planned several other recitals to be given at later dates. This will give the public an opportunity of hearing some fine musical numbers. Recitals given by Mrs. Erickson in the past have been well attended and it is her wish that those interested will take advantage of this opportunity.

Plans for P[illegible] Guern[illegible] Sale Ar[illegible]ompleted

Total [illegible] 60 Head to Be Offered By Pennington County Association.

Splendid Opportunity Given Dairymen to Secure Cattle of Known Quality.

Sixty head of registered and pure-bred Guernsey cattle will be sold at the Pennington county fair grounds in this city on Wednesday, June 6, under the auspices of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association. Owing to the large number of cattle that will be offered on that day, the sale is scheduled to begin at 10 o'clock in the forenoon.

The Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association is making careful plans to make the sale a success and is lending every effort to bring to the fair grounds the best blooded and grade stock ever offered at a sale of dairy breeds in northern Minnesota. The animals have been selected by a committee of Guernsey breeders and are all from state and federal accredited herds. The cows that have been selected will be fresh just prior to or shortly after the date of sale.

For a period of several years Guernsey breeders of the Red River Valley have been actively engaged in a campaign to place their breed at the head of dairy herds in this section of the state and have spent a great deal of time and money in bringing Guernseys to the attention of the dairymen. How well they have succeeded is best attested by the fact that at the present time nearly one-half of the grade and registered dairy cattle on Pennington county farms are said to possess the Guernsey strain.

The sale at the fair grounds on June 6 will embody cattle from some of the best-known Guernsey farms and all animals are guaranteed to be as represented by their owners. Some splendid heifer calves are being offered suitable for Boys' and Girls dairy calf clubs, which it is expected will prove of interest to junior dairying enthusiasts.

The cattle will be auctioned off to the highest bidder and terms and conditions will be announced at the time of sale. H. C. Woolson, Stuart McLeod and Paul Engelstad constitute a committee in charge of arrangements for the sale.

Ten pure-bred bulls, 10 pure-bred and 40 high grade cows and heifers are pledged to absolute sale to the highest responsible bidder, and dairymen of the northwest are urged to be present on June 6, when they will be afforded an excellent opportunity to secure the best possible foundation stock for their herds.

Bankers Association Backs Up Co-Operative Marketing

District Session Held at Crookston Last Week Deals With Many Present-Day Problems.

A large delegation of Thief River Falls bankers attended the district meeting of the bankers held last Friday at Crookston and they report a very lively session. Among the matters discussed was the co-operative idea of marketing farm produce, the bankers going on record by appointing a committee of five bankers to work out a harmonious program in conjunction with the farm organizations.

One of the speakers severely rapped branch banking as being inimical to the welfare of the smaller institutions. No definte action was taken with reference to this matter but it is understood that the bankers are almost unanimously opposed to the branch banking idea.

The next meeting of the bankers will be held at Fergus Falls. Those who attended the meeting from this city were Albert Lonson, T. L. Melgaard, Theo. Thronson, Ed. Brevig and C. L. Hansen.

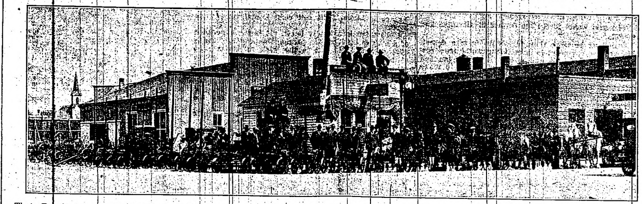
Sugar Beet Men Buying Cultivators in Thief River Falls



That Pennington county farmers are taking hold of the sugar beet industry in a way that is certain to make this section one of the greatest sugar beet areas in the country is being more clearly emphasized as the season progresses and growers are familiarizing themselves with the nature of the crop and its care.

Although the 1923 planting season was late, every grower planted the acreage allotted to him and there is now considerably more than 2,000 acres under cultivation in the territory tributary to Thief River Falls. The lateness of the spring, however, contrary to the belief of some, has not had an adverse effect on the crop, most farmers getting their seed into the ground in plenty of time.

Sugar beets have been grown in Pennington county for about three years and farmers have come to realize the great importance of the crop, having been firmly convinced that this section of the state is especially well adapted to the growing of beets, some crops produced here during the past two years showing the highest sugar content of beets grown anywhere in the United States, exceeding by 4½ per cent in tests made by the Northern Sugar Beet Corporation at their factory at Mason City, Ia.

The sugar beet industry first took a firm hold on Pennington county farmers and business men last winter when this section became aware that the beets produced here were of the highest quality produced in this country. Officials of sugar beet factories came here and advised growers that in all respects the beets grown here were the best that had been shipped to their factories and that this part of the state should take hold of the industry on a large scale.

In this connection several officers of the Northern Sugar Beet corporation at Mason City and Chaska came to Thief River Falls, and a large gathering of farmers and business men was held at the City Auditorium. The president of the sugar beet corporation addressed the first large meeting and told of the desire of the company to see this section of the state plant a large acreage. Agricultural and crop experts connected with the corporation were also present and spoke to those present of the nature of a sugar beet crop, fertility and care during the growing season. The answer this section gave was the asking for an allotment—and planting every acre that was allotted.

The picture accompanying this article, appearing at the head of this column, indicates to what extent sugar beet production has taken hold. On a single day C. Gustafson & Son, farm implement dealers, delivered to growers in this section 22 sugar beet cultivators, which will be used in assuring the crop "an even break."

More than 200 Mexicans are now at work in the fields cultivating the crop, all of them experienced in the care of the crop, soil fertility, etc. The laborers are busily engaged in the fields weeding the new plants and infertilization work, and it is now fully expected that when the 1923 crop is harvested, this section of Minnesota will be famous throughout the country as the true home of the sugar beet.

The Soo Line and Great Northern railroads have granted a special rate on sugar beets from the Red River Valley to the factories at Mason City, and also to other plants of the sugar beet corporation.

IN CHARGE OF ORGANIZATION MINNESOTA WHEAT GROWERS

W. H. Frederick Has Efficient Field Force at Work in Most of Wheat Growing Countes of State.

It was his own close connection with wheat farming and knowledge obtained at first hand concerning the small returns of the grain farmer that led W. H. Frederick to make an investigation of the co-operative movement in North Dakota, which had just passed through one successful season of wheat handling for the farmers. His study of the plan of the North Dakota Co-Operative Wheat Growers convinced him that this was the ultimate solution of the problem of orderly wheat marketing, and it was probably due in a greater measure to the enthusiasm of "Bill" Frederick than to any other agency that the Minnesota Wheat Growers are now fully organized under one of the best marketing laws in the country.

W. H. FREDERICK

Mr. Frederick was born and raised on a farm in Renville county in what was at one time the greatest wheat producing county in the state. He knows the game from start to finish, and he understands better than most men what stands in the way of prosperity on the farm, namely the inability of the farmer under present marketing plans to control in any way either price or inspection of his own grain. He is convinced that co-operation as now outlined by the wheat growers of the country will change all this, and this is the sentiment that prompted him to get into the organization movement of the wheat growers. At the first meeting held in Thief River Falls he was elected secretary of the state association, and the directors have placed him in charge of the field force which is now signing up members.

John Hendry, student at St. Thomas, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hendry, returning Sunday evening.

W. J. Brown Heads Big New Marketing Agency

Knowledge of Co-Operative Laws Leads to Selection of Local Attorney for Important Position.

At a meeting of directors of ten states now having organized associations for handling the wheat crop of the country under the pool, which was held at the Curtis Hotel at Minneapolis last week, Wm. J. Brown of this city was selected to head the American Wheat Growers Associated, the huge national selling agency of the combined states. The election of Mr. Brown came as a surprise after a three days session of the directors, at which a multiplicity of important matters were ironed out to the complete satisfaction of the states affected.

While there were some disagreements as to policy and handling of grain, all sought the same objective and it was the splendid diplomacy shown by Mr. Brown in the handling of all matters upon the floor of the convention which led to his selection. He is generally credited with directing the passage of the Minnesota Co-operative act through the legislature last winter.

The new association, which will act as the sales agency for ten states, will have ample financial backing, according to the statement of its officers. The ten states in the organization are North Dakota, South Dakota, Minnesota, Montana, Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Colorado. Two states, Kansas and Nebraska, have not signed up the agreement but are expected to join very soon. Texas and Oklahoma are now shipping their wheat south and have a temporary selling agency of their own.

Important Meeting of Elks Will Be Held at Club Rooms Friday Eve

An important meeting of Thief River Falls lodge of Elks will be held Friday evening, June 1, at the lodge rooms of the order. The session will elect an esteemed leading knight to fill the unexpired term of W. J. Brown, resigned, and will discuss the advisability of closing the club rooms.

Among other things to be decided upon are the final preparations for the "big blowout" on June 15 and arrangements for Flag Day exercises on June 14. A lunch will be served and officers request a good attendance, as they assure an intreesting session. Postcards announcing the meeting have been sent to the lodge membership.

Rain Yesterday Proves Boon to Pennington Crop

Precipitation Comes at Opportune Time and Fields Now Look Excellent.

The rain of Monday and Tuesday morning will prove of great benefit to Pennington county crops, the dry weather of the past several days having held fields back somewhat and hindered the growing of fields lately planted.

According to farmers reporting at The Tribune office yesterday and today, crops in the county are in excellent condition and far better than they were last year at this time, in spite of the lateness of the season. Reports that winter rye and wheat are heading prematurely are true in isolated cases, but on the other hand there are rye fields that are the best seen here in years.

Travelers coming to Thief River Falls say that crops here are as good and even better than they are in the southern regions of the state and in North Dakota. Some fields north and south of the city have attained healthy size and all things being equal it is expected they will turn out good yields.

There is but little wheat planted in the county this year, but what there is of it may be said to be good. The next few days will tell a better story, it is thought, as the rain of this week will give the stand added impetus.

Potatoes and sugar beets are yet in their early stages and little can be said of these crops.

Clover and alfalfa are in excellent condition, as they generally are considered a staple crop in northern Minnesota and one that is always sure to turn out well. Corn will be late and it is yet too early to guess at what the crop will do.

Considerable flax has been planted, but as the crop is a late one it is yet too early to prophesy as to its stand. Some are of the opinion that this will prove a good flax year, while others are not so optimistic regarding the crop.

T. P. Borgey was among The Tribune subscribers who called to renew his subscription this week. He takes his mail on Route No. 1 out of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Evenson left Monday morning by automobile for Hector, Renville county, where they will visit friends and relatives for the next two weeks. Tomorrow they will be guests at the wedding of a niece, Miss Selma Johnson, whose nuptials will be a community event in Renville county. Before returning to this city Mr. and Mrs. Evenson will visit the former's folks at River Falls, Wisconsin. They will also visit friends in the twin cities.

District Meeting of W.C.T.U. Here Friday, Saturday

Delegates From All Sections of Northern Minnesota to Be in Attendance.

Local Committee Arranges Program—Many Speakers to Address Meet.

The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the Fourteenth district, comprising northern Minnesota counties, will meet here on Friday and Saturday of this week, the sessions to be held at the Presbyterian church.

It is expected that a large number of out-of-town people will be in Thief River Falls on the days mentioned, as a local committee which has been preparing a program has spared no means in making the convention a success, not only from the standpoint of instruction, but entertaining as well.

A splendid musical program has been arranged for, at which time many of the best musicians in the city will be heard. An address of welcome will be delivered by Mrs. J. O. Sether, president of the local union, and Senator C. L. Hansen and County Attorney Theo. Quale will deliver addresses. Mrs. J. M. Bishop will talk on "The Community's Responsibility Toward the Delinquent." Mrs. Gretel Lowe Arnold will give a reading, "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" The program in detail follows:

Thursday morning, 10:45— Music. Leader, Lucille Hermanson. Devotionals, Mrs. Alma Levins, Crookston. Roll call. Story of the Last Convention, Mrs. McClary, Dist. Sec., Warren. District Officers' Report. Appointment of Committees. Noontide Prayer, Mrs. Rachel Posten, Thief River Falls.

1:45—Music. Leader, Lucille Hermanson. Devotionals, Mrs. Sether, Pres., Thief River Falls. Report of Local Unions. Health and Health Laws, Dr. Anna Brecke, Crookston. Sabbath Observance, Mrs. A. A. Miller, Crookston. Solo, Mrs. Oscar A. Melby. White Ribbon Recruits, Mrs. Mae Trost Hanson, Ada. New Members, Mrs. Josephine Sizer, State Pres. Piano, Violin Solo, Eileen and Henry Arneson.

County's Quota Is $3,500 in Big Stadium Drive

Need For Stadium and Auditorium Stated Eloquently By "U" Speakers.

New Stadium to Be Memorial to Minnesota's 3,200 Dead in World War.

President Coffman failed to arrive in this city last Friday with the University contingent scheduled to speak here at noon that day in support of the proposed Auditorium and Stadium to be erected at the University by popular subscription. The president of the University was unavoidably confined to his home on account of illness, but the projected drive received great impetus through the address delivered by E. B. Pierce, registrar at the University, Fred Luehring, athletic director, Lyman Pierce, director of the drive, and Tom Phelps, the latter a student at the "U."

The visitors were entertained by the Commercial club. President Froehlich introduced H. O. Chommie, University alumnus, who presided at the meeting. Registrar Pierce as the first speaker stated that the Auditorium was to be a memorial to the late Cyrus Northrop, President Emeritus of the University, while the Stadium would stand as a memorial to the soldier dead of the state in the World war. He briefly reviewed the evolution of the institution from its inception, showing how popular demand had created one department after another until the University now ranked with the larger institutions of the kind in the United States. Also he showed in a general way what had been done for the big institutions of learning in the country by the alumni, asserting that the present drive was the first instance where a demand had been made upon the graduates of the "U."

He was followed by Athletic Director Leuring, who asserted that Minnesota needed a new Stadium if it was to hold its rightful place in the big ten conference, the seating capacity of Northrop field being vastly smaller than that of any other field in the conference. The seating capacity of Northrop field is barely 15,000 while other states have athletic fields which can seat from 35,000 to 100,000. He pleaded for a new Stadium as a further means of increasing the efficiency of the student body by providing adequate space for the outdoor activities of men and women.

Tom Phelps, one of the leaders who conducted the drive for funds on the campus, related how $700,000 was raised among the students, many of whom are compelled to earn their way through school. Mr. Phelps made a deep impression upon his listeners as he described the means employed to arouse enthusiasm to its highest pitch among the students.

The last speaker was Lyman Pierce, director of the drive, a San Francisco man who came back to assist his alma mater in the biggest undertaking in its history. He graduated from the "U" in 1892. Mr. Pierce stated that of the two million required for the Stadium and Auditorium, Minneapolis, St. Paul and the student body had raised $1,500,000, and $300,000 had been alotted to the Minnesota alumni residing in the state, and $200,000 to the alumni residing in other states. The drive is expected to be completed by June 19, when the final reports are expected to come in.

The Pennintgon county is $3,500. H. O. Chommie is chairman of the county drive and will be assisted by other members of the alumni. He made it plain at the Thursday meeting that none who wish to contribute will be barred—that is, the drive is not confined to University graduates.

Checks Paid to Dairymen Mount as Summer Comes

Mild Weather and Green Grass Has Beneficial Effect on Boss Cow.

Monthly Report of Creamery Secretary Presents One of Best of Year.

The April report of the Thief River Co-operative Creamery ascociation was this week handed The Tribune, and presents one of the most satisfactory of the year. A total of 68 patrons of the local institution received checks upwards of $50, and it is thought that this total will be considerably increased when the report for May is made public.

Real summer weather has had its beneficial effect upon boss cow, sunny days and green grass reflecting in her daily production. From now on until the flies and mosquitoes become bothersome to her, she will do her best.

Hans Anton, well-known Pennington county dairyman, heads the list this month with a total received for dairy products of $216.69, followed by Fuller & Anton with $159.79. J. H. Hardisty & Son are third with $155.56. A total of 16 patrons are well over the $100 mark for the month:

Many Beaver There.

Alva DeLaittre, who looks after the timber and cutover lands owned by the Bovey-DeLaittre company, came into Grand Rapids yesterday after an extended trip out over some of the company lands in 60-25 and other northern townships. He reports that protection is certainly causing a marked increase in the number of beavers in the more remote portions of the county. At Anderson lake the beaver have a large dam and several houses, and have arised the water so high that they have drowned out a considerable amount of spruce and tamarack timber. There are beaver dams on almost every creek in that part of the county, according to Mr. DeLaittre's observations, and are becoming more numerous each year.—Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

Farmers Club to Meet.

The Gervais Alert Farmers Club will meet next Sunday and the speakers are Senator Hansen and Representative Waldal, who will give an account of their stewardship in the recent legislature.

What has become of the old fashioned man who used to boast that he could put them all under the table?

Richard Lloyd Jones Says

CULTIVATION CULIVATES YOU

Man benefits more by the process of labor than by the products of labor. Where Nature gives most lavishly man does least for himself and there we find Humanity at its lowest ebb.

The less man cultivates the less he is cultivated. Nature often kills by kindness. It is from the stern, rigorous and naturally unfriendly stretches that we get our hardiest and best Humanity.

The arid waste forces the farmer to alertness and energy.

One must be more than farmer to farm a desert. He must be engineer; he must bring water from distant mountain basins and release it on the parched ground. He must master gates and sluices to make the reluctant land yield its inherent richness.

Success comes to him who is bigger than his job. The idle are penalized by weakness. The workers are rewarded with power. For each atom of strength expanded more energy is given.

Resistance produces friction and friction gives the dynamo its driving power. Too much smoothness or lubrication may result in a loss of force.

Your automobile engine is never so likely to "go dead" as when you give it no work to do—let it idle.

Necessity is the mother of invention, because need forces action, want compels man to do.

Food too easily found always murtures the sluggish mind and flabby muscle. It takes true greatness of soul to weather too easy a life.

We often hear of a man who can master adversity but who becomes as putty under the consoling influence of affluence.

To be forced to fight for food quickens the wit.

The smartest dog is not the protected lap pet, but the dog whose wit is whetted by duty to perform.

Slothfulness and waste are always found where Nature is kindest, the soil richest, and competition lacking.

Cultivation is a kindly habit. It is the expression of a mother instinct; the passion for power to create, develop and build. It is the wish to nurture the seeds of good, to bring them the moisture of gentle rain, the warmth of the sun, the protection from being crowded out by the stronger things which are not of service to the better end.

We cultivate that the best possible may be brought forth. And in the beautiful economy of life the benefit is reciprocal.

It is our struggle against the elements that lifts our civilization.

Cultivate anything and you cultivate yourself. Make anything grow and you make yourself grow. Build anything and you build yourself. The man who does the biggest work is always recorded in history as the biggest man.

Cultivation is the process of civilization. Perfection is the product of work.

SENDS FOR SHELLS TO KILL BIG WOLF

Farmer Living Near Grand Rapids Holds Animal at Bay Until Ammunition Arrives.

Claude B. Jennings, who lives on the Gravelle farm south of town, had an experience Saturday with the first hungry wolf that has been known in this section. Mr. Jennings saw the animal, which was a larbe timber wolf, in his pasture making toward some calves. He looked up his shotgun, but didn't have any shells, and sent to a neighboring farm for some. In the meantime the wolf kept circling around him and the animals until the ammunition arrived, and one shot disabled the animal so that when it tried to escape and jump a fence it was unable to make its getaway. It was finally driven down to a small swamp and at a good opportunity was shot and killed.

The wolf was one of the largest that had been seen in this section for some time and it was evidently of the real timber variety. It was said to have weighed well over a hundred pounds, and the animal, instead of doing Mr. Jennings any harm, added considerable to his income for the day, for he received $22.50 bounty.—Grand Rapids Herald-Review.

Drunk Driver Forfeits His Automobile License

Melvin Skjordahl of Strathcona was brought before Justice Knutson Tuesday under a charge by the county attorney of having operated his automobile when he was intoxicated. The facts went to show that he terrorized the people on the streets at Strathcona with his wild driving. The moonshine cost him $50 in fine and his license to operate his car was forfeited for three months, the minimum provided by law. The law against driving a car when drunk is severe, especially the forfeiture clause, and the authorities are determined to enforce it rigidly. Moonshine is bad enough alone but in connection with automobiles it becomes most dangerous to innocent persons.— Roseau Times-Region.

Col. Roosevelt a Real Buddy.

There is a very interesting letter in the file of a young Greek soldier in the office of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau of Minneapolis. It was written to him by Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Assistant Secretary of the Navy, to support his claim for compensation. The young Greek had served in Col. Roosevelt's outfit overseas. The letter reminds one strongly of the elder Roosevelt in its straightforward terseness, and evinces the same remarkable memory, as is shown by the fact that he corrects the claim of the soldier that they met on the first day of the Soissons Drive and says it was on the second day, when he was found by the Colonel, rubbing his eyes because of the effect of being gassed and in evident distress.

Mr. Roosevelt cites as his reason for remembering the date so distinctly, his anxiety not to lead his men into the gas area if it were possible to avoid doing so. This interesting, sympathetic letter ends by offering further assistance, if that is possible, and wishing him "good luck."

Indian Sees Bridge Rushing Toward Him; Dodges, Wrecks Car

Clyde Younghorse, a young Oklahoma Indian, who has recently become oil rich, bought himself a $5,000 automobile Wednesday and drove away. The salesman was confronted by Younghorse again. The Indian was afoot. eH, walked with a limp and his face and hands bore contusions and bruises. He had a pocketful of money and wanted to buy another car. He was asked the how of it all and this was his explanation:

"Drive out big car. Buy gallon moonshine; take drink, step on gas. Trees and fences go by fast. Pretty soon see bridge coming down road. Turn out to let bridge pass. Bang. Car gone. Gimme another one."

Walker Patient Sold Booze.

The Walker Pilot tells of an inmate of the Sanatorium at that place who was recently arrested for selling moonshine to inmates of the institution. He admitted having been arrested eleven times but got off with a $5 fine on each occasion because he was an ex-service man. He was warned that he would be severely dealt with if caught again.

Attacked By Angry Bull.

Frank Wyman and Phil Umback were attacked by an angry bull out in the Rapid River district, and it was only by starting a fire an driving their team into the midst of it that their lives were saved. They shouted for help for 15 minutes before the enraged animal, which was running at large, charged at the team and they had presence of mind enough to resort to fire.—Williams Northern Headlight.

ROTARY PLOW IS MARVEL

Monster With 24 Shares Is Latest Aid in Farming.

Six hundred farmers recently saw the greatest agricultural marvel, a rotary plow, demonstrated on a farm near Elmhurst, Ill. They saw this new soil-tilling machine go roading across turf sod at the rate of 3½ miles an hour, leaving in its wake a ribbon of mellow soil 22 inches wide and 13 inches thick finely pulverized from top to bottom. A 45-horsepower engine made it go. The whole machine weighs 6,000 ponds. Twenty-four plow shares resemble huge safety razor blades and are attached to a drum 44 inches in diameter. Fifty-three of these blades strike the ground every second. The machine is pulled by a drum, and the soil is its chopping block, the shears cutting weeds and stalks into fine pieces while they slice off layers of soil like a planing machine. A mechanical engineer estimates the 400 million acres of uncultivated land in the semi-arid regions could be reclaimed with one sweep across the field by one of these new machines.

Carlson Lands Roseau Job.

The contract for the building of the new creamery at Roseau was let last week to C. M. Carlson of this city, the contract price for the building being just under $15,000. It is expected that the new structure when completed with machinery will cost the association in excess of $40,000.

Barn Fire at Baudette.

A fire which did about a thousand dollars damage, with no insurance, destroyed the barn on the Henderson farm at the end of Main street Monday morning about 11 o'clock. The fire had gained great headway when discovered and from the start it was seen that both building and contents, consisting of a quantity of machinery, were doomed. It is not known how the fire was started, but it is thought that children playing with matches was the cause.—Baudette Region.

Thief River Falls Party Depletes Lake of Fish

Local Isaac Waltons Raise Cain With Poor Fish in White Earth Lake Down the Line.

A party of local fishermen consisting of Dr. Booren, Don Gamble and Paul Midderigh returned Sunday evening from White Earth Lake with a big string of stories concerning their prowess with the hook and line. They left a few for seed, but if we are to credit the story told a Tribune reporter, very few fish of any consequence remain in what used to be one of the best fishing lakes in Mahnomen county. The boys brought their fish back in two big boxes—so they say—but having failed to see any of the evidence, the reporter must take their word for it, though the stories vary strangely.

Several ladies accompanied the fishermen, namely Mrs. Booren, Mrs. Gamble and Mrs. Len Lampert, the latter meeting Mr. Lampert, who came out from Detroit to join the party. None of the ladies have been interviewed concerning the number of fish caught.

Hood River Strawberries are ripe

THE first car has been shipped and these wonderful berries will be at your grocer's almost any day. Tell him to let you know when they arrive.

Thousands wait for Hood River Strawberries about this time every year. There's no other variety of strawberry like them—they have no equal for delightfully tart flavor, rich red color, sound, juicy body.

They are on the market for only a short time. Serve them some way every day. They are delicious with cream and sugar. Plan to preserve an extra supply, using Ball Mason jars.

PLUMMER PRESBYTERIAN DELEGATE RETURNS FROM INDIANAPOLIS MEETING

In number of members, amount given for missions and education and the number of foreign missionaries, the Presbyterian denomination is larger than ever before.

This word is brought here by F. R. Davies of the Plummer Presbyterian church, delegate from Adams Presbytery to the general assembly, who has just returned from Indianapolis, Ind., where for 10 days the general assembly of the Presbyterian church, U. S. A., has been holding its annual session.

This highest legislative body of the church is representative of all the 10,000 congregations in this country and was attended by more than 950 commissioners, half ministers and half laymen, together with hundreds of other Presbyterians. There were 60 foreign missionaries and half as many home missionaries present out of the force of 5,000 missionaries which the church has in this and other lands.

The total membership is now over 1,800,000, with an average of more than 2,000 men and women and children a week joining the church during the past year. The net growth was about 44,000, considerably more than a year ago.

The 10,000 congregations gave to all church purposes about $50,000,000. This included expenses of local congregations, which jumped $3,000,000 for the year, and all mission and educational work.

Although more money was given to missions than before, the expenses have been larger, and the board of home missions, which has not been receiving as much cash as it expected, was faced with the possibility of dismissing 100 of the 611 home missionaries which it helps to support. Action taken on the floor of assembly by by representatives of certain synods assured the Board additional money so that it is probable that the proposed cut in this end of the work will be avoided. It was also announced that the debt of $462,000 which the home board reported a year ago has been paid in addition to gifts to current expenses. Of this amount one man gave more than $140,000. Contribution of $32 from a small Indian church the members of which gave up coffee drinking and similar small sums made up to the total.

Interest in the Indianapolis meeting was large because of the completion of the work of reorganizing sixteen benevolent and educational boards of the church into four organizations. The announced intention of William Jennings Bryan to run for the office of moderator of assembly together with certain doctrinal matters scheduled for discussion attracted large attention to the gathering.

Dr. Charles F. Wishart of Wooster college, Wooster, Ohio, was elected as moderator by a vote of 451 to 427 for Mr. Bryan.

The denomination has entrusted its promotional work to a general council of 27 men which absorbs the work previously done by the New Era movement and the executive commission of the church. During the four years the New Era movement has been in active operation the expenses of congregations of the church have increased from 21 millions to 35½ million dollars, mission gifts have increased in almost the same ratio and the growth in membership has been marked.

After more than two hours' debate, participated in to a large extent by Mr. Bryan, the assembly adopted instead of a resolution by Mr. Bryan, a paper proposed by John Willis Baer, a banker of Pasadena, Cal., which read as follows:

That Synods and Presbyteries within whose bounds Presbyterian supported academies, colleges and training schools are located are hereby instructed to exercise careful oversight over the instruction given in such institutions and that Synods and Presbyteries withhold their official approval from such academies, colleges and training schools where any teaching or instruction is given which seeks to establish a materialistic evolutionary philosophy of life or which disregards or attempts to discredit the Christian faith.

The assembly adopted enthusiastically a resolution proposed by Mr. Bryan urging pastors, officers and members and college professors and students to pledge total abstinence from alcoholic liquor as a beverage. The church believes that the cultivation of a sentiment in favor of abstinence will be a big aid in enforcing the prohibition laws.

One of the most important debates of the church in a dozen years took place May 23, when the committee on bills and overtures reported a majority and minority report concerning an overture from the Presbytery of Philadelphia in which the general assembly was urged to direct the Presbytery of New York to see that the preaching in the First Presbyterian church of that city was in accord with the doctrines of the Presbyterian denomination. The report favoring the passage of such a resolution was supported by only one of the 23 members of the bills and overtures committee, composed of ministers and laymen from all parts of the country. Assembly by a vote of 439 to 359 adopted the report of the minority after a four-hour session. A roll call of all the commissioners was necessary to decide which report was desired by the body.

Many churches in different parts of the country sent their pastors to the assembly, paying their expenses so that they might gather some of the inspiration and facts which always make these denominational gatherings helpful.

Reports by the boards of the church showed that last year the church paid to ministers, widows and orphans a total of 64$0,000 as pensions and expects to increase this amount each year. Steps were taken through a committee of prominent laymen to raise a large sum of money as endowment for the Board of Ministerial Relief and Sustentation, pension agent of the denomination. Will H. Hays, former postmaster general, is one of the prominent men of all sections of the country on this campaign committee.

The assembly announced that no educational funds of the church may go to any college which has an instructor who is not a member of the Christian church.

The assembly next year will meet at Grand Rapids, Mich.

Terrible Sawmill Accident Befalls Boy Near Baudette

Theodore, the 16-year-old so nof Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Woolett of Bankton died on the road near Pitt last Friday evening while he was being conveyed to Baudette, following an accident at the Valentine sawmill. Theodore in company with several other men was working at a portable sawmill owned by Mr. Valentine near Bankton, when one of the meen looking up from his work noticed the boy on the ground. Going to his assistance he discovered that Theodore had been terribly cut, a deep wound extending from the backbone half way around his body and a severe wound on the arm causing him to bleed profusely. His father and two of his borthers immediately made preparations to take him to Baudette, and in spite of the terrible nature of the wounds he retained consciousness until they reached a point just east of Pitt, when he rapidly weakened and died.

The journey to Baudette was continued and John Norris, coroner, notified. After looking into the circumstances Mr. Norris decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

The last the other workers noticed of Theodore was when he was taking a board from the saw, and it is supposed that he slipped, striking his arm against the saw and that his body fell forward, resulting in the terrible wounds he sustained. The 34-mile trip to Baudette was a hard one on him, but it is doubtful if he could have lived had medical aid been available immediately after the accident, in the opinion of Dr. Drake, who examined the body when it reached Baudette.—Baudette Region.

Nine Reasons for Having Sheep on the Farm.

1. They are money makers.
2. They make money out of the wastes on the farm.
3. They kill and make money out of weeds.
4. They look good on a farm — make the farm look good.
5. The initial cost is small.
6. Returns on the investment are quick.
7. Their product is two-fold—wool and mutton. If one dies the pelt will pay for the feed.
8. They are soil builders.
9. Their wool is marketable in the spring, when usually a little cash comes in handy on the farm.

WHAT EVERY SUCCESSFUL MAN KNOWS

The man who has worked for his accumulations; the man with responsibilities of success—he knows the necessity and full value of established relations with a first class banking organization.

Financing any business to success, whether it be mercantile, industrial or agricultural, is a job which requires courage. But most important of all is to have an established credit and a friendly business relationship with bankers of proven ability; men of vision who know their own success can only be in proportion to yours.

No matter what your work may be—you are striving for success. Start today to establish your credit. This bank can assist you. Carnegie's great fortune started in a small saving account while he was delivering telegrams as a tiny lad in Pittsburg. 11-12

THE GUERNSEY SALE.

Whether you are interested from the standpoint of a purchaser or not, go to the big Guernsey sale which will be held next Wednesday at the Pennington county fair grounds. This county is rapidly coming to the front as one of the leading pure bred cattle centers of the state. Recent sales of dairy cattle to buyers who came a long distance has clearly demonstrated our fame in that respect.

As a matter of fact we attract greater attention in distant places than we do at home. It is always thus. This newspaper would like to see this condition reversed. If we familiarize ourselves with local herds we shall be in a better position to boost our neighbors.

So take time off next Wednesday and attend the Guernsey sale which is advertised in another column of The Tribune. Those who contemplate improving their herds will find some excellent breeding stock from accredited animals. Read the announcement and follow the crowd next Wednesday.

If you want quick results in the line of getting rid of something you don't need, try an ad in The Tribune.

The Tribune is banking on the Great Northern to make good its word that a new depot would be erected this year. Plenty of time yet, of course, but a little reminder can do no harm.

When the mayor of this city made the statement that we would have a population of 10.000 inside of five years, he didn't exaggerate a bit. By pulling together we can make him out a darned liar by making it 15,000.

One of the most hopeful signs of the times is the interest manifested by the bankers of the country in the problems of the farmer. At the district meeting held last week in Crookston, a committee was appointed to aid the farmers in working out their co-operative ideas. This will be done by extending financial aid and by assistance in working out methods that are feasible and which are based upon good business principles.

We rise to remark that the yards of Thief River Falls, front and back, are as clean as they make them. We took a drive about the city last week determined to find something to kick about, but met with agreeable disappointment on every hand. Talk about those California cities which we hear so much about—why, they are positively dirty in comparison with our own home town. Keep your eye on Thief River Falls in the next five years. We have designs on everything of value laying around loose and we mean to get what we are after—not by foul means, but by clean, open and above board methods.

This city may well feel proud over being the headquarters of the Minnesota Co-Operative Marketing Association, a farmers' organization which is a branch of the national movement intended to market wheat in accordance with the wool plan. Similar organizations in our sister state, North Dakota, in Montana, South Dakota, Nebraska, Kansas, Texas, Colorado, Idaho, Washington and Oregon have been uniformly successful and there is every reason to believe the Minnesota movement will add strength to the farmer's position in the wheat game.

The election of Wm. J. Brown of this city to the responsible position of president of the American Wheat Growers Associated is a merited recognition of efficient service to the organization. He, more than any other man, put over the Minnesota co-operative law in the face of the most determined opposition, and when the interest of others flagged to the lowest point it was Mr. Brown who kept up the fight along original lines. Seldom has a measure of such state wide importance been put through the legislature on lines following so faithfully the tried and practical results of other states. Undoubtedly this fact had much to do with the selection of Mr. Brown to head the selling agency of the big wheat corporation.

At a dinner in Boston the following toast was given: "Here's to laughter—the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the leaven of youth, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the bead in the cup of pleasure! Without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel. It dispels dejection, banishes the blues and mangles melancholy, for it is the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression and the birth cry of mirth."

Good Health and Pleasing Personality Desirable in Teachers, Declares Young Commencement Address of University Instructor One of Best Ever Delivered in City.

Declaring good health and a pleasing personality to be the most desirable characteristics of teachers, Prof. Young of the University made a profound impression on the large audience which attended the commencement exercises at the Auditorium last Friday evening, as he outlined the practical side of education based upon many years of service in the public schools of the northwest.

"If a teacher sits up late at nights and comes to school the next morning grouchy and out of sorts, it follows that everything will go awry that day," declared Prof. Young, "so it follows that the first requisite for good results in the public schools is good health and good habits on the part of the teacher. He declared the next best attribute of the teacher to be a pleasing personality. To prove his statement he challenged the members of the audience to recall to mind those teachers who lingered in their minds as being of outstanding character. "Every one of them had a pleasing personality as their first recommendation," and the audience with one accord nodded its head in assent.

Prof. Young stated that a thorough education was the third requirement of a good teacher, declaring that unless the teacher was well grounded in the subjects to be taught the best results could hardly be expected.

The salutatory by Lucille Curtis and the valedictory by Pearl Weeks were excellent presentations and elicited much favorable comment. M. P. Rapacz, principal of the high school, paid a high compliment to the graduating class, the largest ever completing the course in the local schools, and stated that every individual had lent his or her best efforts to the work, thus making the work of the faculty comparatively easy and pleasant. Supt. Simley presided at the exercises and the diplomas were presented by President Froehlich of the school board.

Several selections were rendered by the high scool orchestra under the direction of Maude L. Johnson, and the boys' and girls' glee clubs added much to the auspicious occasion by singing several snappy songs.

The Tribune wishes to extend to the men of Thief River Falls its sincere felicitations upon the splendid manner in which they cleaned up the park on Monday afternoon. Also, we wish to commend the women who so generously provided incentive for the motive power. The way to a man's strong right arm is through his stomach.

THE PRICHARD COMPANY

With a big senatorial primary coming next month and an election in July, the prospects are good for a continual round of pleasure for those addicted to the vice of politics.

A committee of the Elks have improved the appearance of the property held by the lodge near the river at the end of Third street. The planting of grass and shrubs will make the property available for park purposes and vastly improves the appearance of that section of the city. It is such acts as this that makes a town great and binds its citizens to renewed efforts toward making it a better town to live in.

FARMERS, ATTENTION!

I had intended to sell my pure bred Percheron stallion, but have decided to keep him another year. This will give the farmers a chance to save five or ten dollars by bringing your mares to town and have them bred to a pure bred stallion that is well known. He has been on the same route for three years and has a good record. His name is Luverne No. 73979. Charges are $10 for a live colt. See

Visitor in City Is Badly Injured in Fall at Home of Mr. and Mrs. Green

Father of Standard Oil Manager Receives Broken Collar Bone in Fall Down Stairs.

I. I. Green of Audobon, Minn., father of Carl M. Green, manager of the Standard Oil company in this city. who has been visiting at the Green home since a week ago Monday, was badly injured Monday night when he fell down the stairs, receiving a broken collar bone and other body bruises. Mr. Green was attempting to find his way in the darkness when the accident occurred. He walked into the open stairway.

Medical aid was summoned and the bone set, and it is reported that Mr. Green will fully recover.

Mr. Green had made the trip here from Audobon by automobile and was accompanied by his friend, Ole Oien, also of Audobon.

Old Settler Passes Away.

On Wednesday, May 23, occurred the death of Mrs. Ellie Lillegaard at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Nels Rhodegaard, east of town. Deceased was born at Tunhovd, Norway, July 28, 1932, being 91 years old at the time of her death, which was caused by the infirmities of old age. In 1882 the family emigrated to this country and settled at Beloit, Wis. Two years later they moved to a farm near Thief River Falls and had resided here ever since. Three years ago her husband, Ola Yillegaard, passed away, since which time she had made her home with her daughter, Mrs. Rhodegaard. The funeral was held from the Norden church Saturday afternoon.

11-Year-Old Garnes Lad Hurt in Shotgun Accident

According to the Red Lake Falls Gazette, Leo Schiefert, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Schiefert of Garnes township, residing five miles northeast of Plummer, met with a horrible accident Monday afternoon when the shotgun he was carrying was accidentally discharged, the full charge striking him in the right side of the head just above the temple, tearing away a portion of the skull and exposing the brain.

Just how the accident occurred is not known. Leo had left his home about 4 p. m. to drive home the stock which were feeding on another portion of the farm and had taken the shotgun with him for the purpose of shooting crows. About 4:30 one of the neighbors of the Shieferts was going after a load of hay and discovered the injured boy on a bridge crossing a small creek, in an unconscious condition.

He immediately hurried the boy to his home and medical aid was summoned at once. Just what caused the discharge of the gun is not known as the boy was alone. Since the accident the boy has remained in an unconscious condition and recovery is very doubtful, although for a time on Wednesday afternoon he seemed to recognize those about his bedside.

Tribune Foreman Leaves Today on Long Trip to Des Moines, Ia., and Kids

H. S. Snyder, foreman of The Tribune plant, accompanied by A. W. Jardine, who recently completed a term of school here, will leave this morning over the Jefferson highway with Minneapolis as the first stop and Des Moines, Ia., as the next.

The trip is being made in a recently overhauled flivver, placed in shipshape for the journey and said to be capable of making miles where other cars have trouble in counting of rods. It's got a cut-out, new top, tires 'n' everything and it will take nothing short of a stone wall to stop it.

Mrs. Snyder and her two little daughters have been visiting her relatives in Des Moines for the past three weeks and it is for the purpose of visiting 'round a bit himself and bringing home his wife and family that Mr. Snyder is undertaking the long jaunt. Mr. Jardine will also go to Des Moines with Snyder, where Mrs. Jardine is visiting at the home of her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Jardine expect to make their home in Minneapolis in the future.

Beauty is the Bloom of Health and Health is the married harmony of form and function.

When the life force flows freely to all parts of the body and every cell and tissue expresses the functional impulse sent over the nerves, we have abounding health. Then the "power within" endows all the physical members with strength, grace and beauty.

But when a vertebra becomes slightly misaligned and interrupts the flow of life force over the nerves, the tissues depending upon that impaired nerve become diseased, i. e., do not work normally.

Each part of the body depends upon other parts, and when one part becomes diseased it affects every other part. From such a body health, strength, grace and beauty flee.

If you are not healthy, strong, graceful and good to look upon, go to a qualified chiropractor and have the misaligned vertebra that is causing the trouble adjusted.

Be sure to get a competent chiropractor.

DEFINITION
The practice of Chiropractic consists of the adjustment, with the hands, of the movable segments of the spinal column to normal position for the purpose of releasing the prisoned impulse

Homage to our soldiers of all wars, who gave their all in the cause of Liberty and the welfare of this Nation. They gave service without regard to personal safety or gain.

We all join in honoring the dead and are happy that our strong nation has the wisdom to cease material tasks for a day and turns its thoughts to the lofty and spiritual.

We all stand on common ground—duty bound to make this nation better and greater. That only can be our lasting tribute to those who died for us.

FIRST NATIONAL BANK
Thief River Falls, Minnesota

WHAT UNCLE SAM DOES WITH EACH $100 YOU PAY TO HIM IN TAXES; READ THIS, KNOW!

What are the ways of Washington when it comes to letting the money out of the treasury? How does it spend the millions the taxpayers give it each year?

Suppose you pay the government $100 in taxes, what do you get in return? How is the money spent? What does the government buy? How much of it goes to pay interest on the national debt? How much for the civilization of the Sioux? How much for the printed speeches of our statesmen and near-statesmen on Capitol Hill?

Or do you forget it after you have paid your bill?

He pays for new warships, $3.49.

He pays the navy, $4.17.

The army gets $1.24.

For carrying the army over the railroads and highways, 55 cents.

For the quartermaster corps in the army, $2.88; subsistence in the navy, 99 cents.

Oil and coal for our warships, etc., $1.98.

For the air service of the army, 56 cents.

Rather warlike, eh? Well, we started with that subject, but it does not mean that most of our national bill is for the army and navy. But while we're on the subject, let's go a little deeper into the army's expenses. Here are some more: Subsistence of the army, 35 cents; uniforms, 6 cents; chemical warfare service, 6 cents; West Point, 6 cents; medical department of the army, 3 cents; maintaining soldiers' homes, 23 cents; national cemeteries, 14 cents; Panama canal, 7 cents.

Uncle Sam spends 41 cents of our $100 in recruiting for the navy and in navy transportation expense. Public works incidental to the navy operation costs 25 cents, and the clothing and small stores fund calls for $1.03

The Veterans' bureau calls for 9$.55 out of our $100 bill. Almost half of the money goes for vocational rehabilitation—$4.36 in 1921, to be exact.

Military and naval compensation to the disabled calls for $3.08.

Three cents is given as an allowance to the families of disabled veterans.

Military and naval insurance costs $2.03. Hospital and medical services and facilities take another bite of $1.72 out of our $100 bill.

These Veterans' bureau items total more than $9.55. There's a bookkeeping drawback which offsets this—at least that's what the estimates and appropriations say.

All told, the government hands $11.08 to the war department, $11.62 to the navy department, $9.95 to the Veterans' bureau and $6.19 to the pension office. That accounts for almost $40 of our $100.

Next—or, perhaps, first of all—Uncle Sam pays the annual interest of his debt. That is the biggest single item of outgo. It calls for $24.18.

Then some installment payments of various kinds on the principal of the national debt. These amount to $10 more.

For these six items, all arising out of past wars or to maintain establishments for the present and future defense of the country, Uncle Sam gives over $73.33 out of every $100 he takes in.

Nearly three-fourths of $100 is thus snatched away by Mars. But still we have something left for expenses. Here's how some of the remainder we spend:

For salaries and traveling expenses of senators and representatives, 18½ cents, and cheap at half the price. Look at all the fun we get.

For the president's salary and expenses of the White House organization, ½ cent.

The government printing office claims 11 cents out of that $100 bill. Please also give the weather bureau 4 cents. Uncle Sam—make it more, perhaps, this year, by a trifle.

Those nice, smooth federal aid roads over which you glide in your expensive eight—best roads in the country—claim $2.41 out of that $100.

To keep up the good work at the bureau of standards, where the scientists ideas ferment into gold, Uncle Sam pays out 4 cents of our $100. To count us and take stock of some of our chief activities through the bureau of the census costs him 7 cents.

We lavish on our ambassadors, ministers, consuls, and other official spokesmen—and observers—abroad—the hot allowance of 20 cents.

Keeping the nation sober and dry costs 17 cents, but some doubt is expressed as to whether we'd better pay more and get a better job or pay nothing and let it go at that.

You didn't suspect that you had an interest in Alaska, did you? Well, you have; 10 cents out of your $100—one 1,000th part—pays for building the Alaskan railroad.

And, oh, yes. It costs 80 cents out of that $100 to collect the income tax.

We know a way to change that. We have in mind a man who would collect it for nothing.—William Pickett Helm in Washington Star.

Even if your eyesight is poor don't make a spectacle of yourself.

U. S. Sea Queen Ready for Service

Many Counties to Be at State Fair This Summer

Although the campaign for county exhibits at the Minnesota State Fair, September 1 to 8, is only begun 28 counties have entered displays for the big competition. There were only 12 counties represented at the fair a year ago.

The interior of the big Agricultural Building is being completely decorated and a gigantic cow, many times natural size, is being fashioned out of grains and grasses, as a centerpiece under the rotunda. Green and white will be the dominant color scheme. It is expected that at least half of the counties of the state will be entered before August. A guarantee of $350 is offered every county that scores at least 800 out of a possible 1200 points.

The counties from the northern section, which have alread yentered, include Becker, Lake of the Woods, Roseau, Kittson, Pennington, Koochiching, Lake and Mahnomen.

The counties entered from the central section are Pine, Chisago, Isanti, Anoka, Stearns, Washington, Benton, Kandiyohi, Douglas, Wright, Kanabec and Wilkin.

The fair will spend more than $25,000 for prizes and the staging of the combined county exhibits, making it the largest show of the kind ever put on in the world.

A Good Teacher.

Out in Grove Side school west of Pinecreek they have a teacher whom the people are ready to swear by, says the Roseau Region. He apparently is the accomplishing kind that works with hand and head. The hearty grasp of his calloused hand and the ready and steady look of his eyes verified the good judgment of the folks out there. He was working and the pupils and parents were working with him. No, there was nothing swell about it. The school building is not large and it is not finished in fine wood or painted and papered. That time is yet to come. We do not believe there had been many banquets and proms, yet there was a big thing going on. The moulding of plastic character into useful and responsible citizenship is in progress. Another thing that warmed our heart was the knowledge that the Grove Side teacher was an ex-service man who was still carrying on in the service of his country and his fellowmen. The nation is safe so long as we have community leaders like that who fear God, love their country, and prove it by unstinted service.

The man who takes the lead is always the target of the back biters.

WOMEN DESERT MARKET BASKET

Nine Out of Ten Women Now Order Groceries by Telephone

Nine-tenths of the groceries bought by housewives from the big city stores are ordered over the telephone, according to grocers interviewed recently in a representative city.

Even the small neighborhood stores far out in the city residence districts deliver almost half of the potatoes and cabbages in response to telephone orders.

To meet the steady growth in the use of the telephone, and to bring increased business to their stores, city grocers are training their salesmen and order girls to use "the voice with a smile" when talking to customers.

Mrs. Harland H. Allen of Springfield, Ohio, in the Springfield Sun, recently offered a few suggestions on how to order groceries by telephone most profitably.

"The housewife must use forethought in assembling her orders, trade at a reliable store, insist upon service and deal with a clerk who knows her standards," Mrs. Allen says. "It also helps a great deal to know the different grades and brands of the standard commodities, and to order them by name. This information can be gained by reading the advertisements in the newspapers.

Telephone Fun

"Number, Please?"

He was newly arrived in this country and was none too familiar with the use of the telephone. So he took down the receiver and demanded:

"Aye vant to talk to my vife."

The operator's voice came back sweetly, "Number, please?"

"Oh," he replied, perfectly willing to help out, "she bane my second vun."

Must Have Been Saturday

Young man on telephone: "Hello, is this the weather bureau? How about that shower tonight?"

Weather Bureau: "Don't ask us. If you need one take it."

What the Butcher Heard

As the mother was trying to talk to the butcher over the telephone, the baby she held kept grabbing at the receiver This is what the butcher heard:

"Send me two pounds of fresh-baby!-beef and two dozen eggs. You stop that or I'll spank you! The last you sent were stale. You naughty boy!

There are more telephones added to the Bell System every year than there are telephones in use in all of France with its forty million people.

PHONE BUSIEST 3 HOURS OF DAY

Business Causes Morning Rush and Society Evening

More telephone calls are handled between 9 and 11 o'clock in the morning and between 7 and 8 in the evening than at any other hours of the day, according to actual switchboard counts made by the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company, operating in the states of Iowa, Minnesota, Nebraska, North and South Dakota.

Business calls occupy the morning "rush hours". This is the time when business men plan the day's work, housewives order the groceries and the whole business world is set in motion.

The high tide on the switchboard is again reached between 7 and 8 o'clock in the evening, when the social world awakens. The number of calls during this hour often exceeds the high record during the business rush of the morning. Comparison of telephone records in recent years show that the moving picture and the automobile have greatly increased the number of evening calls.

Long distance calls are heaviest between 9 a. m. and 2:30 p. m., the records show, with a marked high point after 1 p. m., when the stock markets close. Because special rates for long distance calls are made after 8:30 at night this service has become so popular that a force of operators, equal to the busiest hours of the day, is required.

French Wish Variety Even in Telephones

Telephone instruments in France are as varied in size and type as the millinery styles. American travelers to that country this summer may be confused when they find more than 150 kinds of instruments of all shapes and designs in the city of Paris alone.

The government, which operates the French telephone system, makes no effort to furnish the instruments to the subscribers. Each man buys his own and pays for repairs.

Although the government endeavors to keep up the service, it refuses to assume responsibility if a dealer delivers a defective instrument. This condition has brought about a shifting of responsibility for poor service.

Voice Speed Equals Light

It takes just one-fiftieth of a second for the voice to travel from New York to San Francisco over the transcontinental telephone lines, according to a recent study made by engineers of the Bell System. They discovered that the electrical disturbance, which makes telephone conversations possible, travels at the same rate of speed as light,—which is 186,000 miles a second.

Nordics Are the Torch Bearers of the World

Speaking of the significance of May 17th, Editor Theodore Christianson has the following excellent editorial in last week's issue of the Dawson Sentinel:

"Americans of Norse decent observe May Seventeenth, not primarily because it marks the date of the adoption of Norway's constitution—the act by which Norway declared to the world her status as a sovereign and independent state—but because it symbolizes the cause of liberty everywhere.

"Democracy had its roots in northern soil. It drew vigor and inspiration from the winds that blow over northern seas. The race which poured forth in ever-continuing waves from out of the region around the Baltic carried liberty wherever it went, into whatever land it sought domocile. In fact, it is doubtful whether any race of non-Nordic origin has ever shown capacity to sustain democracy for any length of time. Historians have lately come to the conclusion that the Athenians of the Age of Pericles, the Romans of the Caesars, were just as truly Nordic as are the Scotch, the Saxons and the Dutch.

"The Norsemen, as Nordics who remained on ancestral ground, can truly lay claim to being the people who best typify the ancient stock; they are the people who carry the purest Nordic strain; they have preserved, perhaps better than any of their kinsmen, the traditions of the ancient people of the North.

"There has lately been an increasing recognition of civilization's debt to Scandinavia and of the value of Scandinavian culture. Men of Norse birth and blood have attained distinction in the arts and sciences. Names like Ibsen, Bjornson, Nansen and Hamsun command respect wherever culture and the arts are cherished.

"Norway, small as it is, poor in its natural resources, insignificant in the number of its people, has produced far more than its quota of men of genius and character. And, after all, it is the quality of a nation, not its numbers, that makes it great. Athens at the height of her glory possessed but sixty thousand souls.

"The Norse people claim no monopoly of wisdom and virtue. But they do claim recognition as a people who have preserved in a great degree the qualities that made men of the Nordic race the torch-bearers of the world."

Anyway, the "close" man is seldom "short."

Bible Thoughts for This Week

Sunday.

ALL IS WELL:—Let not your heart be troubled; ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you.—John 14: 1, 2.

Monday.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked. . . Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways: for why will ye die. O house of Israel?—Ezekiel 33: 11.

Tuesday.

PEACE WITH ALL MEN:—Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord.—Hebrews 12: 14.

Wednesday.

THE WAY TO PEACE:—Acquaint now thyself with Him, and be at peace: thereby good shall come unto thee.—Job 22: 21.

Thursday.

PROCLAMATION OF PEACE:—Glory be to God in the highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men.—Luke 2: 14.

Friday.

REFUGE, STRENGTH, HELP:—God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.—Psalm 46: 1.

Saturday.

PERFECT PEACE:—Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace, whose mind is stayed on thee; because he trusteth in thee.—Isaiah 26: 3.

Hearing For Citizenship Papers Postponed by Court

Regular June Term of District Court to Be Held Here on Last Tuesday in June.

The time for hearing of applications for citizenship papers has been postponed by district court to September 24 by the sitting judges. This postponement will allow the filing of applications until June 25, the law being that applications must be on file 90 days before the hearing. The time was originally set for July 26.

So far but two applications for citizenship have been filed, those of Arne Engebretson Vik of St. Hilaire and Botolf Marinius Nyborg of Thief River Falls.

The regular June term of district court is set to convene on the last Tuesday in June, at which time all the postponed criminal cases, including all the liquor cases postponed from the February term, will be heard.

The fellow who always wants something for nothing usually gets nothing for something.

Two War Veterans Win Prizes in Architecture

The Dunwoody Industrial Institute, Minneapolis, where hundreds of disabled veterans have been trained on industrial lines by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau, plans to erect an administrative building as a new unit in their plant.

Prizes were offered for the best suggestions and floor plan. Unusual difficulties were met in the arrangements because of the necessity for a gymnasium at one end and administrative offices at the other. Because of the extreme length of the gymnasium and auditorium as compared with the offices, the location of a central entrance necessitated some very close figuring in order to keep the unit in balance.

Oscar Krohn, a Veterans' Bureau trainee, received the first prize of $25. His pre-war occupation was farming and his disability is deafness. Prior to his enrollment at Dunwoody he had had no experience whatever in building construction, or drafting, and has covered to date only 15 months of his course.

The second prize of $15 was won by Chester H. Seward, another Veterans' Bureau trainee. He took an intensive three months" course in architectural drafting at Dunwoody and is now in palcement training in building estimating and construction at Minot, N. D., where late reports indicate that he is doing splendidly with his work.

The winning of these two prizes goes to prove that these Veterans' Bureau trainees are doing work of a high degree of excellence.

You can be quite young and still remember the time when a man who played golf was regarded as a dude and a sissy. Even those who indulged in the sport felt a little bit sneaky about it and recognized that it involved them in suspicion by their fellow men. And today it is the sport of the world. More millions participate in it than follow any other outdoor sport. Hardly a community is without its golf club. It is no longer a rich man's game. Cities have established municipal course, and bootblacks are winning golf championships. It has done more to get business men acquainted with one another; to build up a spirit of real comradeship under friendly rivalry, than has any other form of recreation. It can be played by young and old, and made as hard or as easy as the individual wishes. Millions of men who never before knew what outdoor recreation was are now serving the interests of health and vigor by an hour or two a day on the golf links. Golf has come into its own, and is the King of Spirts.—Winnebago Enterprise.

Former Beltrami Man Killed.

James O. Harris, formerly register of deeds of Beltrami county, and at one time in business in Baudette, was killed last Sunday afternoon while driving from Foxboro, Wis., to Minneapolis. Mr. Harris was register of deeds of Beltrami county for several years, and about 1912 he conducted a saloon in Baudette. Of late years he has lived in Minneapolis, being connected with various enterprises. A few weeks ago the Region editor met him in St. Paul, and at that time he was interested in a real estate subdivision near the new Ford plant. Mr. Harris leaves a widow and a large family.—Baudette Region.

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. F. J. Stebbins, druggist.—Adv.

Gustave Hagen, a U. S. Veterans' Bureau trainee, who is studying architecture at the North Dakota Agricultural College at Fargo, recently distinguished himself by capturing the first prize of $25 worth of books on architecture, by submitting the best set of plans for a typical court house suited to the needs of the average North Dakota county. Last year he won the second prize. Mr. Hagen is now a junior in the college.

The farm machinery factory at the state penitentiary, Stillwater, being the lowest bidder, has been awarded the contract to furnish farm implements to the disabled soldiers who are being trained in agriculture on their own farms by the U. S. Veterans' Bureau. These materials will be shipped direct to the trainees, some of whom are in colonies at Moose Lake, Veteransville, Silver Star, Onamia and Orchard Gardens. Others are on scattered projects. Under the law the government furnishes each trainee with such tools free, not exceeding $100 in cost.

Sam Blythe in the Saturday Evening Post of last week was certainly right when he said we don't vote for candidates or principles, we vote against something. The average voter is a queer bird, and terribly unjust. He refuses to look over the record or character of the candidate as a whole. He won't try to balance up his good points and his defects and vote according to his good judgment, but he picks out one little flaw or a miserable little private grudge of his own, and slams his vote against him. The fact that an utter scoundrel may get to be elected instead of a decent citizen doesn't interest him. Too many voters are willing to sacrifice public interest to satisfy their own private spite.—Faribault News

In 1836 Murdo Mackenzie deposited $2381 in a bank in Scotland. It has remained there, gathering interest for 87 years, until it has grown to about $600,000. Lawyers are now seeking Mac's heirs in America. Compound interest, the force that made $2381 grow into $600,000, is a giant slave that will make the average man financially independent in his later years—if he starts saving young enough. It s the only road to independence open to most people.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $105.00 interest, which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Wilson and Iola Wilson, his wife, Mortgagors, to John Frondal, Mortgagee, bearing date the 5th day of March, 1921, with a Power of Sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, 1921, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 57 of Mortgages, on page 592.

Said mortgage provides that if default be made by the mortgagors in any of the provisions of said mortgage, it shall be lawful for the said Mortgagee, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns or his attorney to declare the whole sum specified in said mortgage due and payable; by virtue of said provision and because of said default, the said mortgagee does hereby declare the whole sum specified in said mortgage, to-wit: The sum of $1750.00, with interest to date, to be due and payable; and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, to-wit: The North Half (N½) of Northwest Quarter (NW¼), and Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Northwest Quarter (NW¼), Section Eight (8), Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153), Range Thirty-nine (39), West, in Pennington County, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Penninton County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 12th day of July, 1923, at 1 o'clock P. M. of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1750.00 and the sum of $118.15, accrued interest to date, making a total sum of $1868.15, with interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and $50.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

NOTICE OF HEARING UPON PETITION OF FREEHOLDER.

Whereas, A petition signed by Otto R. Stucy, a freeholder of School District No. 52 in this County, representing that he is the owner of the following described lands situated in said District, to-wit:

Lot 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, and the north half of the northeast quarter, section three (£.. hundred seventy-five and sixty-one one-hundred seventy-five and sixty-one one hundredths acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey. This land adjoins District No. 47. And that distance to school house in District No. 52, 2½ miles. No direct road, no road at all for ½ mile from Red Lake River; also said school house being on south side of river and petitioner resides on north side of Red Lake River. Inconvenient at all times to cross river and impossible sometimes. School District 47 has school house a little over two miles away, and good public road all the way. School house in District No. 52 is too far for children to walk, and cannot drive until river is safe in fall (about Dec. 5) and is unsafe in March for team; has been presented to the County Board of Pennington County, and asking that his said lands may be set off from said District No. 52 to said District No. 47, and the said Board has appointed a time and place for hearing thereon. Therefore.

Notice is hereby given that said petition will be heard by said Board, at a session thereof, commencing on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1923, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, at the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County, at which time and place the said Board will hear the evidence and the arguments of all persons interested, for or against granting the prayer of the petitioner.

48-inch, 44 linear feet, per foot $6.02.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Olson, who moved its adoption, duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson:

Be It Resolved, That the bid of the Western Steel Products Company for metal culverts for Job No. 23.01 on State Road No. 7 be accepted.

All members present voted for the resolution and it was so duly approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Roy, who moved its adoption, duly seconded by Commissioner Hanson:

Be it Resolved, That the sum of One Hundred Dollars be and the same hereby is appropriated from the General Revenue fund of the county to the American Legion to be used for the purpose of decorating the graves of war veterans, and that the County Auditor hereby is authorized to issue his warrant to the American Legion in that amount.

All members present voted for the resolution and it was so declared approved.

It was moved and seconded that Commissioners Larson and Roy be appointed as a committee to look after the building of a crossing over the County Ditch No. 68 at the Ristau farm in the town of Sanders and also to look after the unfinished work since last year. All members voted for the motion and it was so duly carried.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Roy, who moved its adoption, duly seconded by Commissioner Larson:

Whereas, the Commissioner of Highways has requested the County Boards of the State to co-operate with the trunk highway work to the extent of having some of the County engineering force assist on minor trunk highway surveys, the expense incurred by the County on such work to be reimbursed by direct payment to the County by the Commissioner of Highways.

This appearing to be the economical and proper method of handling this,

It Is Hereby Resolved, That the County Board agrees to the proposition of the Commissioner of Highways and upon written request from the Commissioner will co-operate as requested, provided that the services of the engineers are not required for State Aid and County work within the County.

All members voted for the resolution and it was so declared approved.

The following resolution was offered by Commissioner Larson, who moved its adoption:

Whereas, the County Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, deem it advisable and necessary to establish a State Aid road between the City of Thief River Falls, Minnesota, and the Village of St. Hilaire, Minnesota, in said County.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by this Board of County Commissioners of Pennington County in special meeting assembled that the road between St. Hilaire and Thief River Falls, known as State Road No. 1 prior to the resolution of this Board passed on the 29th day of May, 1922, be and hereby is designated as State Aid Road No. 9 and the County Auditor is hereby directed to report the same to the State Highway Commissioner with the request that he concur in such designation.

The resolution was seconded by Commissioner Roy and on roll call the following Commissioners voted aye: McGinn, Larson, Olson, Hanson and Roy. None voted no. The Chairamn declared the resolution duly passed.

Motion was made by Commissioner Roy and seconded by Commissioner Hanson that the County Auditor be instructed to issue satisfaction in full of all paid up ditch liens. Motion carried.

A delegation from near Wylie met with the County Board, asking that certain improvements be made on the county line between Red Lake County and Pennington County, and between Wylie and St. Hilaire. The County Auditor was instructed to arrange for a joint meeting with the County Board of Red Lake County and of Pennington County, and that a time of meeting be held in the near future.

Application of Aanund Evenson to be set off from School District No. 68 and to be attached to School District No. 66, and the following order was made:

Order of Hearing of Petition of Freeholder to be Set Off.

Whereas, A petition signed by Aanund Evendson, a freeholder of School District No. 68 in this County, with the approval of the County Superintendent endorsed thereon, representing that he is the owner of the following described lands situate in said District, to-wit:

North Half (N½) Section 12, Township 153, Range 41, School District No. 68, and asking that his lands may be set off from said District No. 68 to said District No. 66 for the following reasons:

That I have only 1¼ miles to school house in school district No. 66, whereas there are three miles to school house in school district No. 68, and the roads commonly traveled are in poorer condition to school house in school district No. 68, also that my children have attended school in school district No. 66 for the past 14 years, was presented to the County Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, at a session of said Board held on the 18th day of May, A. D. 1923, for the action of said Board thereon.

Now, therefore, it is ordered that said petition will be heard by this Board at the session thereof commencing on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1923, at the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County.

And it is further ordered that notice of time and place of such hearing be given by a two weeks published notice thereof, and posting a notice of such hearing in three public places in each of the School Districts to be affected by said petition and by serving upon the clerk of each of said School Districts by mail, a copy of said notice of hearing, at least ten days before the time appointed for such hearing.

Application of Otto C. Stucy to be set off from School District No. 52 and attached to School District No. 47 was presented to the County Board for their approval, and the following order was made:

Whereas, A petition signed by Otto R. Stucy, a freeholder of School District No. 52 in this County, with the approval of the County Superintendent endorsed thereon, representing that he is the owner of the following described lands situate in said District, to-wit:

Lots 1, 2, 3, 4 and 6, and the south half of the northeast quarter, section three (3), Township One Hundred Fifty-two (152), N., Range Forty (40), containing one hundred seventy-five and sixty-one one hundredths acres, more or less, according to the United States Government survey. This land adjoins District No. 47. School District No. 52, and asking that his lands may be set off from said District No. 52 to said District No. 47 for the following reasons:

Distance to school house, District No. 52, 2½ miles. No direct public road. No road at all for one-half mile from Red Lake River. Also said school house being on south side of Red Lake River and petitioner resides on north side of river. Inconvenient at all times to cross river, and impossible sometimes. School house in District 47 is a little over two miles and a good public road all the way. School house in District No. 52 is too far for the children to walk, and cannot drive until river is safe in fall (about Dec. 5), and is unsafe in March for team, was presented to the County Board of Pennington County, Minnesota, at a session of said Board held on the 18th day of May, A. D. 1923, for the action of said Board thereon.

Now, therefore, it is ordered that said petition will be heard by this Board at the session thereof commencing on the 12th day of June, A. D. 1923, at the office of the County Auditor in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County.

And it is further ordered that notice of time and place of such hearing be given by a two weeks published notice thereof, and posting a notice of such hearing in three public places in each of the School Districts to be affected by said petition and by serving upon the clerk of each of said School Districts by mail, a copy of said notice of hearing, at least ten days before the time appointed for such hearing.

Newspaper Will Be Issued From Plant at Warren

Times Makes Arrangements to Have Sheaf Print Regular Weekly Paper.

Burned-Out Plant to Be Salvaged and Moved to New Location on Horace.

The Thief River Falls Times plant, burned out last week when fire from an unknown origin started in the basement and caused a loss to the newspaper estimated at between $25,000 and $30,000, will be issued this week from the office of the Warren Sheaf. R. H. Ross, business manager, has made arrangements with the Marshall county newspaper to do all the mechanical work, such as typesetting, composition, presswork, etc. According to Mr. Ross, the newspaper will be issued on Thursday, as has been customary, the arrangement with the Sheaf to continue until the plant is again placed in operation in Thief River Falls.

The work of salvaging the wreckage from the burned-out newspaper plant commenced this week, the linotype and several articles of stitching and binding machinery already having been taken from the ruins and placed in the back room of the new business office of The Times in the Harlow Land company office. The building belonging to the Prichard Lumber company located at the corner of Horace avenue and Second street has been rented and Mr. Ross expects to move his salvage to these premises, where the new plant will be temporarily located, or pending the renovation of the burned-out quarters in the Meehan block.

How long it will be bfeore the new plant is placed in operation is not known, but as soon as insurance adjustments are made and other required arrangements are completed the work will proceed, according to Mr. Ross.

"The Third Alarm" to Be Shown at Lyceum; Local Fire Department Benefit

Picture to Be Shown on Wednesday and Thursday of Next Week, June 6 and 7.

Manager H. A. Brumund of the Lyceum theatre has brought "The Third Alarm," a picture typical of the life of the fire-fighter, to Thief iRver Falls, and will show the film here for two days under the auspiecs of the local fire department.

One thousand of the greatest fire chiefs in the world, assembled in convention at SanFrancisco some time ago, saw many of the scenes of "The Third Alarm" before the production was completed. They rose in their seats—1,000 strong—and let go a terrific outburst of acclamation—a demonstration of fervent approval that came in one mighty volume straight from their souls.

The local department considers itself fortunate in being able to bring the film to Thief River Falls so soon after its release and being able to show the picture to local theatregoers at no advance in admission price.

The picture will be shown for two days, with matinees each day, on June 6 and 7, at the Lyceum theatre.

Child Welfare Clinic to Be Given at Auditorium By State Health Board

Will Be Held Under Auspices of Thief River Falls Woman's Club on Friday, June 1st.

There will be a child welfare clinic held at the city auditorium on Friday, June 1, given under the auspices of the local branch of the Woman's club, between the hours of 9 o'clock a. m. and 5 o'clock p. . m.

Representatives of the Minnesota Public Health association and the state board of health will be in attendance and will give expert instruction to mothers in the care of infants, such as baby feeding, diet, nursing, etc.. Dr. Ott of the state board of health and of the university will be present and will be in charge of the clinic. Miss Alexander, nurse connected with the state board of health, will also be present.

The Woman's club is making a strong effort to have all the mothers in the city take part in the clinic and bring their babies to the auditorium. Children from babyhood up to 14 years of age are eligible. Miss Alexander will give special demonstrations in baby feeding, as well as other advise looking toward the betterment of child health.

Mrs. J. M. Bishop is in charge of the arrangements for the Woman's club and has an active committee at work in an effort to secure a good attendance on the date of the clinic. Mothers of the city wishing further information on the clinic are asked to communicate with Mrs. Bishop or any other member of the Woman's club.

A new disease has broken out among the cattle, and made its first appearance in the northwest part of the county within the past few days. The owners of the cattle have named it "barnyard flu." County Agent Liebenstein was called over to look at the animals and says that the symptoms are complicated and the disease is one that he has never seen in cattle before. The eyes of the cows swell and water, froth gathers and drips from the jaws. The udders also swell. Several of the afflicted animals have died. —Austin Herald.

Notable Cast Scores An Acting Triumph in "The Christian," at Lyceum

Given a great story in Sir Hall Caine's "The Christian, Maurice Tourneur selected a great cast to make it into a most unusual and impressively dramatic motion picture. The screen version of "The Christian" comes to the Lyceum theatre Sunday and Monday.

Richard Dix, who has been playing leads in Goldwyn pictures for the past two years, was given the title role as John Storm because it was felt that his was exactly the right type, and that he possessed the necessary talent and experience to "get across" the peculiar psychology of "The Christian."

Mae Bush, who plays Glory Quayle, the feminine lead, was selected because it was felt that among all the leading players considered she possessed in the most marked degree the vivacity and emotional power required.

Mahlon Hamilton, who palys Horatio Drake, has had a long career on stage and screen, acting leading roles. Claude Gillingwater, who plays Lord Storm, has recently gone into motion pictures from the stage, where his career was too long and successful to need comment.

Thief Riverites Hold Banquet at Minnesota Union

D. P. O'Neill and J. H. Hay Address Gathering of 80 Persons at Dinner.

Former Thief River Falls people, now residents of the twin cities, University students and others whose former interests were here—or are here now—banqueted Tuesday night at the Minnesota Union club, at which time more than 80 former residents were present talking over old times and times not quite so old.

Jim Prichard, University student, acted as toastmaster, and presided in an efficient manner. He called on many of the former Thief Riverites, all of whom responded. Among the speakers were former Senator D. P. O'Neill and J. H. Hay, formerly superintendent of schools here.

A. letter from Roy N. Barzen, who is with the Montana and Dakota Grain company, of which his father, Math Barzen of this city, is president, tells of the affair as follows:

"Editor Tribune: I presume that you are aware that the Thief Riverites banqueted last night at the Minnesota Union. It was a great event. About 80 former residents, as well as students at the University, attended and they all enjoyed seeing one another again and talking over old times, as well as 'kidding' husbands or wives, as the case may be, as to the previous knowledge of the one concerned.

"A splendid dinner was served at 6:30. Later Jim Prichard, as toastmaster, welcomed those present and introduced (he needed no introduction) D. P. O'Neill. Mr. O'Neill spoke of coming to Thief River Falls in the spring of 1901. He told of the impassable roads, how the water used to back up from the west of Connelly's and flow past Barzens' present home into the river. He mentioned that it gave him very much pleasure to be there and said that a person will never get anything out of life if he does not put anything into it, and that the pleasure a person gets out of life is on such occasions as this. Mr. Hay next spoke. He said that this was not time for many words. He expressed his pleasure at seeing all of those present and said that he remembered them all and proved it by calling the people along the table by their first names. He suggested that a permanent club be organized and that gatherings of this nature be held oftener. He drew up articles of association, which were accepted. Officers were elected as follows: Lee Ihle, president; Florence Aalberg, vice president; R. M. Barzen, secretary, and Ann Peterson, treasurer.

"The club is to be called the Thief River Falls-Twin Cities Club. Any former resident of Pennington county residing in the twin city territory, such as Hopkins, White Bear, etc., are eligible for membership.

"The party broke up about 11 o'clock, those present expressing themselves as desiring a picnic, a boat trip or something similar of the club before the University students go home for the summer vacations."

St. Hilaire Ball Team Chooses T. R. F. Athletes

Opening Game of Season to Be Played at Fair Ground Memorial Day to Be Keen Contest.

The Thief River Falls baseball team, recently organized, will open the season here this afternoon (Memorial Day) when St. Hilaire comes here to try their mettle. The latter team is reputed to be as strong or stronger than ever, and Thief River Falls will have their hands full. St. Hilaire played the strong Fosston team to a 3 to 0 decision two weeks ago, and it is on this basis the local management is figuring, being fully aware that Fosston is in the field with its usually strong aggregation.

The local boys have appeared nightly at the fair grounds diamond in preparation for the opener, however, and it is thought by some that St. Hilaire will be defeated. Others are not so optimistic, however, so there is only one thing left to do and that is to get out to the grounds early and witness the contest, which is sure to be spirited and hotly fought.

The game is scheduled to open at 2:30 o'clock sharp. Neither batteries nor umpire have as yet been announced.

LOCAL NEWS NOTES

Harold M. Nelson, reporter for the Times, is confined to his home this week with a light attack of measles.

Addie Piprew of Middle River is spending a short time here visiting friends.

H. M. McFarlane, who acted as athletic director in the local schools, left Monday for his home at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Mr. McFarlane will not teach here next year.

S. W. Powley, instructor in the local high school, will leave the latter part of this week for Crookston, where he will spend a short time with friends.

I. T. Simley, superintendent of schools, who recently purchased the Dr. O. F. Mellby residence property on Markley avenue, has had the place completely renovated and is preparing to move into his new home this week.

H. B. Rockne, cashier of the Farmers State Bank at Goodridge, transacted business in Thief River Falls Tuesday of this week.

Mrs. N. Iverson of Erie arrived on Tuesday to spend a short time at the H. T. Tommerdahl home here. She expects to return home the latter part of the week.

Ed. Brevig and T. L. Melgaard of the Citizens State bank were among the representatives of that institution in attendance at the district meeting of bankers held at Crookston Friday.

Miss Lulu Cook returned Saturday from Minot, N. D., where she had spent three weeks visiting relatives. Miss Cook has resumed her former position at Lambert's drug store.

Miss Clara Lund, who recently returned from Wanke, where she taught school, left Saturday for Fargo, N. D., where she will spend an indefinite time with relatives.

Harold Smithers, sophomore at the University of Minnesota, returned on Saturday to this city to spend the summer at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smithers.

Miss Signe Krossen, who attended the local high school, has returned to her home at Oklee to spend the summer.

Miss Louise Besancon, who graduated from the teachers' training department here, has returned to her home at Goodridge. Mrs. J. Besoncon, her mother, returned with her on Saturday after spending the day here shopping.

Nels Myrin returned last week from Garfield, Douglas county, where he went in response to a message announcing the serious illness of his mother. The elderly lady is now somewhat better though confined to bed due to the infirmities of old age.

R. M. Britten left Monday morning for Newfolden, where he will again tage up his duties as farm manager for E. V. Dahlberg, field man for the beet sugar company. Mr. Britten informed The Tribune that the Newfolden schools held a field day and a celebration last Sunday, the feature of which was a ball game between Greenbush and Lancaster, the former winning the game in the 8th inning by a score of 3 to 2. The game was unusually well played and was a tie up to the 8th. In the afternoon a number of races and other athletic sports were held and the schools held a competitive speaking contest in the evening.

Miss Blanche Lind, who taught a term of school west of town, expects to leave for Great Falls, Mont., the latter part of this week to visit her brother Iver. She will also seek a position as teacher for the summer months.

Lawrence Bjorkman, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. Dan Bjorkman, left Monday morning for Underwood, Otter Tail county, where he will be employed on a farm during the vacation season. The lad worked on the same farm during the vacation period last year.

Miss Gena Markright, who has been teaching at Argyle, passed through this city Tuesday enroute to Greenbush, where she will spend a week with relatives. She intends to leave in a short time for Regina, Montana, where she is proving up on a homestead.

Dr. C. M. Adkins was in the city Thursday on his way home from the twin cities, where he had spent a few days on business. The genial doctor has a large practice at Grygla but he finds time to don his overalls occasionally and indulge in his favorite outdoor sport, which is farming. He claims to have raised the finest field of clover and timothy extant in this section of the country last year.

J. P. Grothe, one of the proprietors of the Roseau Times-Region, a former resident of this city who grew so fond of the old town that he cannot stay away for any length of time, was here Saturday in company with a number of Roseau people. Mr. Grothe was recently appointed postmaster of Roseau. He states that flood conditions in Roseau county are not as bad as painted by the city press, and that with few exceptions where low land was inundated during the early spring, the crops in that section are unusually promising.

Insane Man Gets Away at Hospital and Injures Nurse

Hallucinations and Financial Worries Cause of Mental Trouble.

Theodore Gernaudt, about 35 years old, a farmer living near St. Hilaire, who had been confined to the Physicians hospital late Monday afternoon by his father, Christian Gernaudt, for treatment and surveillance, broke away from nurses and attendants about 10:15 o'clock Monday evening and made a dash for the street after having injured a nurse who attempted to dissuade him. It is claimed he shoved the nurse down the stairway and she sustained a badly bruised ankle.

Clad only in his sleeping garments, Gernaudt insisted on getting out of bed and leaving the hospital and after having pushed the nures aside, broke for the street. Other nurses, terrorized by the scene, fled towards the homes of residents in the vicinity of the hospital, with Gernaudt in close pursuit, according to reports made to a Tribune reporter yesterday.

One of the residents attempted to interfere with the man, it is said, and Gernaudt, clad only in a coat, showed fight. Gernaudt started off toward the alley across the street from the hospital, bent on going to his home in the country.

The police were called and Night Patrolman Ralston, assisted by Chas. Evenson, finally overtook Gernaudt and lodged him in the city jail over night. Yesterday afternoon he was taken before a medical examining board consisting of Dr. O. F. Mellby and Dr. J. T. Bowers, County Attorney Theo. Quale and Judge of Probate Lars Backe, and committed to the state hospital at Fergus Falls.

The case of Gernaudt is lamentable in that it was only last Wednesday that his unusual case first attracted the attention of his wife, who notified Gernaudt's father. The elder Gernaudt stated at the hearing that his son had never before last Wednesday showed signs of insanity and that he could attribute no reason for his mental condition. It was stated at the hearing that Monday he had attempted to drown his children in a wash tub at his farm home and that he was continually confronted with hallucinations of various kinds.

Gernaudt wept bitterly before the examining board yesterday as he related how last Saturday he had witnessed a star fall from the heavens and wreak destruction upon his neighbor's farm buildings, trees, etc. He told of other delusions, one of which was that those in charge of the hospital wished to separate his soul from his body contrary to his wishes and that he wanted to get away from there.

The case of Gernaudt is peculiar in that he is fully aware of his mental derangement and went to Fergus Falls willingly in the hope that he would soon be able to return to his wife and children. He expressed the belief that the doctors at the state hospital would surely restore him to his normal self again.

Gernaudt spoke rationally to those about and stated that his mind had never before failed him and that he could attribute no reason for his trouble. When asked if he could remember the affair the night before in which he was the principal, he stated that he could only recall someone asking him to stop and that he did stop when requested to do so.

The hearing brought out the fact that Gernaudt was far above the average in school attendance, being a high school and normal graduate. At one time he attended the local schools.

"Third Alarm" Proceeds to Go to Local Firemen

The proceeds of "The Third Alarm," sensational screen play to be presented at the Lyceum tonight and tomorrow night, will go towards paying expenses of the local delegation of firemen who will attend the firemen's convention at Bemidji on the 12th of this month. A committee of the firemen has issued invitations to the state firemen to hold their 1926 convention in Thief River Falls.

"The Third Alarm" is said by critics to be the most thrilling scene of fire fighting ever depicted on the screen, and theatre goers who are fond of the hair raising thrills that go with fire fighting should by all means see this great picture.

Milk Cows Being Tested.

Owners of individual milk cows in the city who are desirous of having them tested for tuberculosis are requested to call telephone No. 512. The law requires that all owners of bovines selling milk to the public must have their animals tested and the local health authorities are making an effort to have all the animals in the city tested. For this reason, those owning cows are asked to get in touch with an accredited veterinarian, who will make the tests.

Rural Credit Blanks Received By Auditor

State Commission Now Ready to Receive Loan Applications, According to Report.

Application blanks for state loans were received this week by County Auditor T. P. Anderson, and anyone contemplating a loan under the new credit system may secure blanks by writing the auditor or calling in person.

Under the rural credit law loans run for a period of 35 years, interest being paid semi-annually. The rate will largely be determined by the sale of bonds in the near future, the state being authorized to collect one-half of one per cent in excess of the cost to the state for administrative purposes. All loans are made on the amortization plan, which means that a portion of the principal is paid at every interest paying date to the end that the total loan is then fully paid up at maturity.

The new blanks are somewhat complicated, probably unnecessarily so, it appearing that the rural credits commission means to get the pedigree of each applicant for a loan to the minutest degree. Blanks may be obtained at each of the banks in the county, all of whom have received a supply this week.

Big July Fourth Celebration Will Be Staged in City

American Legion, Backed by Community, Laying Final Plans For Gala Day.

Best Available Attractions to Be Brought to City For Hundreds Expected.

The American Legion, backed up 100 per cent by the community, will hold a big Fourth of July celebration in Thief River Falls.

That much was decided this week when a subscription list presented to business men was signed up for varied amounts to defray the cost of bringing attractions here, and a Legion committee will shortly busy itself with booking and laying final plans for the celebration.

Oscar Paulson, commander of Elmer Eklund Post, will call a special meeting for the early part of next week in order that various members of the post may be assigned to their duties. Committees will be named to take charge of different arrangements and it is expected that the schedule will be so organized that the celebration will "go off" with the least possible confusion.

The celebration itself will be advertised up and down the line from Thief River Falls for a hundred miles or more, and it is expected that one of the largest crowds in the history of the city will be here to take part in the activities. The celebration and attractions will be free, as it is the wish of local business men that visitors in the city be entertained in a royal manner and that the hospitality of Thief River Falls citizens receive added prestige.

G. Howard, program committee chairman, already has written for prices on various attractions, but so far none have definitely been arranged for, awaiting the final approval of a Legion committee. It is planned to get the best to be had and as many as possible and the committee will book only those attractions that will appeal to the largest number. Fireworks will be here aplenty and a grand display will be fired at the fair grounds during the evening of July 4th.

In a letter to S. V. Arneson, Mayor Arthur E. Nelson of St. Paul has accepted the invitation of the Legion to come here to make the July Fourth address. Mayor Nelson is one of the best-known speakers of the state and is popular with former soldiers and sailors, having served as a rear rank "buck" in one of the combat regiments himself. The committee considers itself fortunate in securing the consent of Mayor Nelson to visit Thief River Falls. Everybody likes the young mayor from St. Paul and will like him better after having seen him in action on the speaker's platform.

Guernsey Sale Brings Many Outside Buyers

As The Tribune goes to press, the Guernsey sale is in progress, and according to the officials of the Guernsey association many outside buyers are in attendance, large delegations being present from Baudette, Roseau, Warren, Blackduck, and Lisbon, N. D.

One of the best sales of the afternoon was the sale of a cow belonging to F. B. Conklin to the Northern Cedar company of Blackduck at the record price of $305.

A cow belonging to H. C. Woolson was sold to Paul Engelstad for $275. L. Jensen of Clearbrook sold a purebred calf for $175.

The Woman's club served dinner at the fair grounds for the convenience of the buyers present. W. J. LaBree is the auctioneer and Paul Engelstad clerk at the sale.

The Tribune will next week carry a full list of buyers and animals sold.

St. Hilaire Man Killed By G. N. Switch Engine

Injured Man Taken to Thief River Falls Hospital But Dies in Few Hours.

Ole Skottom, a resident of St. Hilaire and who, according to meager information to The Tribune, was employed at one of the elevators in that village, was fatally injured last Thursday afternoon when he stepped in front of a standing locomotive which started suddenly and ran over his leg near the hip. Skottom also received other body injuries.

The man had gone to the Great Northern depot to look after some freight that had arrived on the same day and was going back to the elevator to make arrangements to have the freight hauled. Making a short cut from the depot to the elevator, Skottom crossed the track directly in front of a lone locomotive which was switching in the yard, and the engineer not being able to see Skottom, started the engine.

Skottom was knocked down and his body lay directly in the path of the drive wheels, the locomotive passing over his leg. The engine crew picked him up and notified Dr. H. W. Froehlich of this city, who left for St. Hilaire immediately. Before his arrival, however, Skottom had lost a tremendous amount of blood and in an endeavor to save his life the unfortunate man was taken to the Physicians hospital in this city.

The extent of the man's injuries were such that it was impossible to stave off death and he passed away at 5:30 o'clock Thursday evening. The funeral was held this week at St. Hilaire.

Drives Here in Two Days.

Martin Williams returned Sunday afternoon from Minneapolis by auto. He made the drive in two days by easy stages, encountering considerable mud between this city and Mahnomen. He was accompanied on the trip by Captain Watson and wife, of the Salvation Army, who attended the Evangeline Booth meetings in Minneapolis.

Tilman Tharaldson Dies Sunday From Appendicitis

Tilman Tharaldson, 15 years old, residing with his parents at 224 Tindolph avenue south, died Sunday morning after an operation which was performed a few days previous. The lad had been ill but a few days and his sudden death came as a shock to his many friends among the student body of the Central school, which he attended

Young Tharaldson was born at Baxton, N D, and came to Thief River Falls with his parents when an infant. He was promoted to the eighth grade this year and was to have been confirmed next Sunday.

Besides his parents, the deceased is survived by three brothers and sisters, follows: Byron, Elva and Roy.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon from the Zion Lutheran church, Rev. George Larson officiating at the obsequies. Interment was made at Greenwood cemetery. The following schoolmates of the young man acted as pallbearers: Leon Johnson, John Hollen, Delton Rhodes, Clarence Bergstrom, Lincoln Arnold and Ward Mathewson.

Martin McAndress, Old-Time Resident, Passes Saturday

Pioneer in Northwest Region Dies After Long and Useful Life in County.

Funeral Held on Tuesday Morning From St. Bernard Catholic Church.

Martin McAndress, 89 years old, a resident of Pennington county since 1897 and a pioneer resident of the Northwest, where he came in 1880, died Saturday at the family home, 321 Duluth avenue south, after a lingering illness from heart trouble and the infirmities of old age.

Mr. McAndress was well known to the residents of Thief River Falls, among whom he had moved for more than 15 years or since he came here from St. Hilaire in the early history of the city. He was born in Ireland on November 11, 1833, and came to this country when a young man. In 1857 at Oneida, N Y., he was married to Marie Collins, who survives him, and a few years later moved to Preston, Minn. Here he resided until 1880, when he moved to St. Thomas, N. D., where he resided with his family until 1897. At this time the family removed to St. Hilaire and lived there until 1913, when he came to Thief River Falls, which had since been his home.

Deceased was well known among the pioneers of northern Minnesota, all of whom knew him as a square and upright man. When Mr. McAndress moved to North Dakota away back in 1880, Indians still roved the prairies in their native haunts and Mr McAndress could recall many of the troublesome times the whites had with the redmen, who were then in almost absolute possession of all the lands, there being but few towns in the territory.

Deceased had been engaged in various pursuits during his lifetime, having been a farmer and also working in the lumber mills, formerly a prominent industry here.

Twelve children were born to Mr. and Mrs. McAndress, three of whom are dead. Those living are as follows: John, residing at Shelby, Mont.; Willie, Minneapolis; Michael and Martin, living at St. Hilaire; Walter, Milford, Canada; Mrs. Hannah Sullivan, Crystal, N. D.; Mrs. J. S. O'Toole, Kinistino, Canada; Patrick H., residing at home, and Joseph of Grand Forks.

The funeral was held yesterday morning from the Church of St. Bernard, Rev. M. J. Noesen officiating. Interment was made in the Catholic cemetery, north of the city

Elks Plan Big Street Parade For June 15th

Plans Go Forward For Big Doings on Homecoming Day of Local B. P. O. E. Lodge.

The committee in charge of the Elks Homecoming day celebration to be held here on June 15 are planning a big street parade, in which the public is cordially invited to participate. There will be floats of various descriptions, comedians, clowns and everything going to make up a typical Elk parade. A band is taking a course of instruction that will fit it to furnish appropriate music both for the celebration and at the many other events being arranged by the committee.

It is expected that a large class of candidates will be taken into the order on that day and great plans are being made to entertain the large number of out-of-town guests who are expected here for the day. Definite details of the other events have not as yet been announced, but will be made known in next week's issue of The Tribune.

JORGEN EIDE SLATED TO HEAD MINNESOTA WHEAT GROWERS

Meeting Today Addressed By Ole Sageng of Otter Tail, Waldal of Red Lake, Warner of Marshall, and W. J. Brown of This City.

The annual meeting of the Minnesota Wheat Growers Association is in session today at the city Auditorium. Among those present at the meeting, which is being held for the purpose of electing directors for the various districts, are delegations from Marshall, Norman, Clay, Red Lake, Polk and Otter Tail counties.

Ole Sageng of Otter Tail arrived this morning to attend the meeting, having recently become a member of the association. He stated to The Tribune today that the co-operative idea seemed to be the only solution of the distressing condition which today confronts the American farmer. With high prices for everything he must purchase, and with no control over the prices of what he raises, the farmer is now at the mercy of other organizations, asserted Mr Sageng, and hence it is inevitable that he must pursue the same principles of organization for his own protection which all other branches of industry have practiced.

Jorgen Eide of Pennington was slated for president of the state organization to succeed J. B. Conner, who announced to the meeting that he no longer wished to serye. Mr. Eide is one of the pioneer farmers of this section, having settled on a homestead five miles north of this city when the original eleven towns were thrown open for settlement. He is a progressive farmer and has the confidence of all who know him.

The following board of directors was selected this afternoon: Wm. Bosworth, Norman; A. P. Bengtson, Marshall; Jorgen Eide, Pennington; Dan Supernant, Polk; Ole O. Sageng, Otter Tail; M. DeRosier, Red Lake; John Sorum, Marshall; A. E. Blilie, Clay.

Following addresses today by W. J. Brown, president of the American Wheat Growers Associated; Ole O. Sageng of Otter Tail, Marius Waldal of Red Lake, and Mr. Warner of Marshall, the delegates to the meeting adjourned to the Brumund hotel for a dinner. The board of directors will be in session today and tomorrow and will adopt a full set of by-laws for the guidance of the association.

Beet Sugar Men Visit Here on Inspection Tour

President Douglas and Agricultural Manager Moore of Chaska Company Here Tuesday.

A party of beet sugar men consisting of President H. A. Douglas and Agricultural Manager Earl Moore of the Mason City Sugar Beet company, Messrs. Mendelsohn and Dougherty of Denver, also practical sugar beet men, was in the city Tuesday. The party was on a tour of inspection through northern Minnesota.

They found conditions ideal in this vicinity, according to President Douglas, who is jubilant over the beet sugar prospects for Pennington county. Growing conditions have been ideal in spite of the late planting season and recent rains and ample sunshine have simply pushed the beets out of the ground. From now on the Mexican beet workers who came here in large numbers several weeks ago will have their work cut out for them.

Hot Water Bottle Filled With "Moon" Taken By Sheriff

Oscar Anderson, Farmer Residing Near City, Arrested Last Thursday.

Officer Takes Possession of Ford Car For Being Used as Liquor Transport.

Oscar Anderson, a farmer living four miles south of the city about one-half mile off the St. Hilaire-Thief River Falls highway, was taken into custody Thursday night at about 9:30 o'clock by Sheriff O. L. Ihle on a charge of having liquor in his possession, said by the sheriff to be moonshine of the "white mule" variety.

Sheriff Ihle overtook the Anderson car largely through accident and had it not been for certain suspicious actions of the driver, he perhaps would have run the police gauntlet and kept both the liquor and his car. Ihle had been on a business trip to St. Hilaire early Thursday evening and had as his companion his young son. Coming along the road returning to Thief River Falls, when Ihle was passing the farm occupied by Anderson, he noticed a car coming straight toward the road, the lights going on and off as it approached the state road. Driving slow, the sheriff kept close watch to learn the intent of the driver, and he soon heard the car approach from behind at a good rate of speed, finally passing him about two miles south of town, according to Sheriff Ihle.

Ihle recognized Anderson as the latter passed him, and the sheriff kept a comfortable distance behind until reaching the pavement near the Great Northern depot, when he speeded up and finally crowded Anderson's car toward the curb in front of the library. The latter stopped and Ihle demanded to search the car, where he found the suspicious looking water bottle, which later proved to be filled with intoxicants, according to the sheriff.

Anderson, in explaining the rather unique way of carrying contraband liquor, stated that he had secured the liquor from an acquaintance of his living down in Red Lake county. According to Anderson, it seems that the acquaintance was unable to pay in regular wampum of the land so he was compelled to take moonshine put up in a hot water bottle as compensation.

Sheroff Ihle took possession of the hot water bottle, its lively contents, and the Ford car used in transportation of liquor. Anderson spent the night in jail and the next morning appeared before Judge Tarrant, who bound him over to the next term of district court.

Pupils in School Dist. No. 26 Win Prizes For Best Essay in Contest

Vivian Olson and Bertha Stene Take Ribbons in Contest Under Auspices of W. C. T. U.

In an effort to enlighten the pupils of the puplic schools of the country on the evil effects of the use of alcoholic beverages and tobacco, especially in the form of cigarettes, and in order to be of serivce to the teachers in their effort to meet the requirements of the law that proper instruction be given in morals, in physiology and hygiene and in the effects of narcotics and stimulants, the W C T. U. has conducted an essay contest in all the public schools. This contest was recently completed and prizes awarded. In the rural school contest first prize was awarded to Vivian Olson and second prize to Bertha Stene, both from Dist. No. 26. First prize consists of a check for $5 and the second prize of a chain of rose beads donated by A. A. Wangenstein, local jeweler.

School Officers of County Plan Big Meet Here

Rural School Officials Will Hold Instructive Session on Graduation Day.

June 16 Date Set for Gathering When Pupils Are to Compete for Prizes.

School officers of Pennington county rural schools will hold a meeting of great importance to country instructors and the pupils attending on Saturday, June 16, at which time George A. Selke of the state department of education of St. Paul will be present to assist in conducting the school officers' meeting and to give his address at the county graduating exercises of rural school pupils who are this year receiving their degree from the eighth grade.

In conjunction with the gathering of school officers, there will be a county athletic tournament when various substantial prizes will be offered to winners. These are donated by the Thief River Falls Commercial club, which has taken a keen interest in promoting the meeting. It is expected that this feature will have an attraction for the pupils attending rural schools to take part in the meeting.

It is asserted that a vast sum of money is being spent on rural schools without any apparent aim or objective and it is now planned by the school officers to eliminate all aimless activity in the schools with its resultant wasted cash and energy. It is for the purpose of co-ordinating the rural school that the meeting is being called so that the various officials may be enabled to learn the best way to proceed. It is desired by rural instructors to get every boy and girl through the eighth grade and to give them the full benefit of common school instruction.

The physical development of school pupils will be stressed at the play day to be staged here on June 16. The cost of illness, in loss of time to both the sick person and those who nurse him is fully realized, and it is the intention of the school officers to make physical education one of the important parts of the regular curriculum in the future. For this reason the county play day has been instituted with the idea of developing keener minds and stronger bodies among the school pupils. In this connection the following prizes will be offered, donated by the local Commercial club:

Tug of war between east end of the county represented by men from the Town of Hickory and west end of the county, represented by men from the Town of Numedal.

In addition to the other prizes, a $5 prize will be awarded to the best all around boy or girl athlete. The winner in this contest will be determined by a system of points to be awarded the winner in each athletic event.

Supt. O. R. Sande has made arrangements for the purchase of a portable moving picture machine to be used in an effort to be of service in helping the teachers of the rural schools to get more and better results from their work. The University of Minnesota and many other institutions have millions of feet of educational films that may be used for the price of transportation and it is a shame that the people of the county should not be able to take advantage of these educational aids, especially in the country where the teacher is generally overworked by numerous classes and lack of facilities of many kinds.

This company has agreed to be on hand June 16 to show "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court." H. A. Brumund has kindly offered the use of the Princess theatre, free of charge for this show. Admission will be charged at the rate of 25 cents for adults and 15 cents for children. The money realized from this venture will be used as a first payment for the machine, which becomes the property of all the people in the county, to be used for entertainment and education

Minnesota Politics

By the County Chairman.

When Gov. Preus passed up a sure thing in the shape of a quick transition from chief executive to United States senator and decided instead to hand over to the tender mercies of the electorate the filling of the senatorial vacancy caused by the sudden death of Knute Nelson, he sure unleashed a lot of trouble for himself and the voting public. When the week closed no less than a dozen entries were scheduled for the special election called for June 18 and at least a half dozen more were in the offing. The Republican list of senatorial Barkisis included Gov. Preus, who filed Saturday, Justice Hallam of the state supreme court, who resigned in order to enter the contest unhampered, Congressman Sydney Anderson of the 1st district, Congressman Thomas Schall of the Tenth district, Ernest Lundeen of Minneapolis, who made an unsuccessful try at the same office two years ago, and Victor Power, mayor of Hibbing. The Farmer-Labor filings were C. A. Lindberg of Little Falls, Magnus Johnson of Meeker county, and Dr. A. L. Fritsche, deposed mayor of New Ulm. In the offing were James A. Carley of Wabasha county, picked by the state democracy to represent the Unterrified, former governor J. A. A. Burnquist and R. A. Henning, a union labor leader of St. Paul. So far only Gov. Preus, Judge Hallam, Anderson, Schall, Lundeen and Power, Republicanc, and Lindbergh, Johnson and Dr. Fritsche have backed their intentions with the required $100 filing fee, but friends of the others say they will be there with the money at the proper time. As doped out by the King Makers, there will be at least 12 candidates in the primary race and possibly three more when the last day for filing arrives. The last day for candidates to file was May 29, the primaries will be held on June 18 and the election will follow July 16.

***

As those of the old school view the lively scramble for the late senator's shoes, it is a case of a rather top heavy field with the official scalp of Jake Preus and the senatorial vacancy as the prize. As such by all the accepted rules of warfare, his excellency should win, but unfortunately the old standards have not been working very well of late years and naturally those who are trying to edge Jake Preus off the senatorial map have hopes. They say the old dope does not go any longer. While there are at least four among the Republican entries who are easily senatorial timber, only two, Gov. Preus and Judge Hallam have the public eye, and around them most of the political dope is being written. The others are only being considered in the light of what trouble they can make or what inroads they may make on territory belonging to the two favorites. In the minds of some Sydney Anderson handicaps Jake Preus down in the First district while others profess to believe that Mayor Power will be a Hallam deterrent in the north country, but it is only dope at the best and can not be taken as a determining factor. As to Lundeen and Schall, their following is about the same and will avail the other candidates but little. The one other contest is that listed under the head of Farmer-Labor, in which Dr. Fritsche, Lindbergh and Johnson are the candidates. Here Johnson is generally picked to win. In the last campaign the Farmer-Labor candidates polled a heavy vote, but because of the interest surrounding the Republican contest. In the case of James A. Carley, the Democratic candidate, he is so far without opposition, and if such continues, his name will not be listed on the primary ticket.

***

That the contest for the several party nominations by the candidates now in the senatorial race is not to be a mere matter of sitting back and permitting the voting public to go its own sweet way was indicated this week in a general buckling on of armour and immediate preparations for invading the hustings. Judge Hallam was already on the job with headquarters in the St. Francis hotel and Mayor Power of Hibbing following the filing of his candidacy announced that he would be found at the Ryan hotel later in the week. Colonel McKechin of Hibbing will likely be in charge of the Power headquarters, while Earl Cummings of St. Paul will perform a like service for Judge Hallam. C. A. Lindbergh announced earlier in the week that he would make his campaign via airplane. Perhaps the least excited was Gov. Preus. His Excellency came in Saturday from a speaking trip and said he would leave later to fill promised dates. In a way his excellency is sitting pretty. He is the chief object of the big Republican field, which will naturally divide the opposition vote. He is the best acquainted in a state way and he has the best wishes of a majority of the Republican state organization. St. Paul, it can be said with truth, is a Hallam hot bed and can be expected to give the jurist a heavy primary vote, but on the other hand Minneapolis is conceded to Preus and it, the governor's friends say, will be the deciding factor. Just now, however, the mill city is in the throes of a hot mayoralty and aldermanic fight and it is feared that the city election will detract from the senate primaries which follow a week later. Hennepin county saved the day for Gov. Preus last fall and friends are hoping that it will turn the trick again.

***

While Mayor Victor Power of Hibbing has been frequently mentioned in connection with a state office this is the first time that he has entered the state lists and friends are naturally anxious to see what kind of a showing he will make. On the iron range he is exceptionally strong, but to what extent he will pull from other sections of Minnesota remains to be seen. If he makes a particularly good showing it is possible that he will be listed in a gubernatorial capacity two years hence.

***

Dr. A. L. Fritsche of New Ulm, who filed as a Farmer-Labor candidate for senator, has been holding forth in the twin cities the past week and the belief is that he has other political fish to fry besides that of United States senator. Some say that he is the advance agent of a movement to organize the Germans of the state in the interest of the presidential candidacy of Senator La Follette, but if such is the case he is keeping a mighty close mouth. Dr. Fritsche was deposed as mayor of New Ulm by the state safety commission some years ago.

***

The failure of the Farmer-Labor heads to get together in the matter of a senatorial candidate is taken by some to mean that all is not harmonious within the ranks and there is good grounds for the belief. C. A. Lindberg was the first Farmer-Laborite to file and he did so without consulting any of the part heads. In fact he so admitted and practically announced that he intended to go it alone. That Magnus Johnson was sore was evident. R. A. Henning, another Farmer-Laborite, is still to be heard from and if he does get in it will be without the sanction of the party heads.

***

Because of a lack of opposition Jim Carley, the Democratic candidate, will not likely take to the stump until after the primaries. He then intends to make the welkin ring!

AUTOCASTER

FOR A RAINY DAY

Unless I'm poor at guessin' there ain't a grander blessin' that's sent to cheer this anxious world of ours. . . . When the farmer starts to frettin' and the medder needs a wettin'—the thing that helps the bettin' is the showers . . . I've saw a heap of weather—takin' years, an' years together,—an' I reckon I have et my sheer of dust,—and I've allers been befriended, when the fervid drouth was ended by a copious an' splendid thunder-gust! And I've never had it fail me, when the prickly heat would ail me,—I'd do my level best to not complain, for I know my blessed Master watches o'er His earthly pastur' and will jugulate disaster with a rain. . . . In spite of their devotion, there's some that get the notion, that fortune or misfortune's only luck,—but it's been my observation, there's a mighty close relation between a man's salvation—an' his pluck! An' so, in rainy weather, I never wonder whether we face annihilation by the flood,—but I keep my sperit happy with a rhyme that's nice an' snappy, though my cloze is wet an' flappy with the mud!

NO WONDER!

A man was once visiting a lunatic asylum, and while walking in the grounds he met a patient, to whom he said: "Well, how did you get here?" The man replied: "Well, sir, you see I married a widow with a grown-up daughter, and then my father married by wife's daughter; that made my wife the mother-in-law of her father-in-law, and my father my stepson. Then my stepmother, the daughter of my wife, had a son, and that boy, of course, was my brother, because he was my father's son; but he was also the son of my wife's step-daughter and therefore her grandson, and that made me the grandfather of my step-brother. Then my wife had a son, so my mother-in-law, the step-sister of my son, is also his grandmother, because his step-sister is my wife; I am the brother of my own son, who is also the son of my step-grandmother; I am my mother's brother-in-law; my wife is her own child's aunt; my son is my father's nephew, and I am my own grandfather. That's the reason I am here, sir."

Two can live steeper than one.

MORE THAN $100,000 PAID TO INDIANS IN FISH CHECKS

More than $100,000 has been paid the Red Lake Indians for fish during the last two years, a statement by the interior department says. During 1922 the Indians took 900,932 pounds of fish from Red Lake and sold them to the state for $48,579, and the state paid royalties amounting to $8,780 on fish taken from the lake by its own nets, giving the Chippewas of this reservation fishing receipts totaling $57,360. In the fishing season of 1921 Red Lake yielded similar high returns, the Indians catching 779,695 pounds of fish, for which they were paid $36,922, and the state caught 59,421 pounds with its own nets, paying royalties of $8,915, making a total for the year of $45,838. About 225 Chippewa Indians have been given employment by this arrangement made by the Indian office with the state of Minnesota to purchase fish caught in Red Lake. A new source of food supply and revenue was also created for the Indians on this particular reservation.

Issues Call to "Hadelendings."

T. A. Walby of Hudson, Wis., president of the Hadeland's Laget has issued a call to local members of the organization to attend the annual convention to be held at Fargo June 15, 16 and 17. Hadelandslaget is an organization of people born in Hadeland, Norway, or their descendants. At the convention members of the society from different parts in the Northwest will meet to renew acquaintances and to celebrate a home coming feast. The meeting will be held in the auditorium at Fargo, N. D.

WINS LIBEL SUIT.

M. L. Sondegaard was awarded $204 in district court at Fergus Falls last week against Edward O. Qualley, editor of the New York Mills Herald, for alleged libel. The Herald attacked Sondegaard, cream buyer, on account of his business and accused him of being a slacker during the war.

Magazine Solicitors.

A couple of prepossessing young ladies have been soliciting for magazine subscriptions in the city during the past week. The girls are good looking and no doubt they did a rushing business, which must have been gratifying to the girls' escorts, both of whom were real nice young men. It strikes us that money paid for magazine subscriptions might better be left with the deserving young men of the city who make a regular business of such work and who need the money—which they spend at home.

Your Future Needs

We try to have the wires in place, the switchboard equipped and other intricate mechanism ready so that when a new telephone is ordered, service can be provided with the least possible delay.

In order to do this economically, our engineers must estimate, for years in advance, the number of telephone users there will be, where they will live and how much telephone equipment they will need.

Planning ahead rather than waiting to manufacture and place equipment after service is needed, is a part of our policy to provide the most dependable service in the most economical way.

Red Crown

The High-Grade Gasoline

Has the Punch

It follows through — there is no halfhearted piston stroke; neither is there a slapping piston stroke to rack your engine. Instead, Red Crown imparts a steady, steam-engine-like pressure to the piston that sustains and follows through the length of the stroke. That explains both the smooth flow of rhythmic power and the abundance of sustained pulling power. Red Crown offers to the motorist

The Utmost of Service

It has all the intrinsic merit that science has been able to put into any gasoline. It is manufactured so that it will vaporize at just the correct temperatures, to cause instant starting — a quick, snappy get-away — a smooth, gliding acceleration — tremendous power — racing speed if you want it — and most miles per gallon.

PREUS FOR SENATOR.

We believe Governor Preus merits the support of the voters of this state because of the enemies he has made during his term of office. It is generally admitted that he is in bad repute on the iron range and in Duluth because he advocated and signed the tonnage tax law, which will bring more than $2,000,000 into the state treasury annually.

The governor incurred the animosity of the "fat boys" when he advocated a state income tax in his message to the legislature. There is no other way in which to reach those who are loaded up with tax exempt securities and who in a large measure escape taxation.

He brought himself the opposition of the big loan agencies when he advocated a system of rural credits, and his persistent advocacy of a liberal and workable law is one of the outstanding achievements of his administration.

When he went before the legislature and advocated the passage of the Co-Operative Marketing Act, a law which embodies the Sapiro system of co-operative marketing of farm products, he thereby ran counter to the wishes of the powerful Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce, and its members will be found strongly opposing him in the present campaign.

These matters should be carefully considered by all voters before the primaries to determine the senatorial candidates. We believe the governor has pursued a course of distinct advantage to the agricultural interests of the state, and for that reason deserves the support of all fairminded people. Think it over.

BETTER WHEAT PRICES.

No one can tell what good can come of the conference of agricultural agencies called to meet at Chicago by Governor Preus, but the governor has the right idea anyway. This conference has been called to consider measures to increase the price of wheat, the basic product of the farm. Upon the price of wheat depends the price of other commodities of the farm, and it is apparent that unless better prices prevail during this coming season, agriculture cannot long survive in this country.

Everything which the farmer buys is now at peak prices and so the farmer gets soaked coming and going, being helpless and powerless to control any department of his activity.

Hence we commend the governor for his action in calling this conference, which, while it may accomplish nothing worth while, will certainly call attention to a condition which approaches a crisis It will probably be found that the ultimate solution lies in the further extension of co-operative ideas, and in such event the governors of the various states may perform good service by giving their assistance to the movement

Some of the state newspapers are not in accord with the idea of placing a statue of Senator Nelson on the Capitol grounds at St. Paul. It is considered that mere tenure of office for a great length of time, though such service was ever so honorable, should in no way entitle any man to a place on a permanent pedestal such as might be occupied by a Washington or a Lincoln. The Tribune is inclined to the same belief. While Senator Nelsons' career was such as to entitle him to the respect of all citizens yet we question the propriety of the proposed capitol memorial, and we can agree with Bro. Landy of the Olivia Times when he states that he is "sure Senator Nelson would not countenance such a program."

We cannot agree with those political prognosticators who place Ernest Lundeen at the bottom of the list of senatorial aspirants. He has come out for light wines and beer, which is about the most definite stand so far taken by any candidate. He does not state just how he proposes to bring back light wines and beer, but then it must be remembered that it is votes rather than results that Ernest is after, and for that purpose his slogan dangling before the eyes of the unthinking man or woman is as good as any other.

In the untimely death of M. S. (Sig) Norelius, editor of the Chisago County Press, the newspaper fraternity of Minnesota has suffered the loss of one of its best esteemed members. Mr. Norelius died last Friday from a malignant cancer with which he had been afflicted for some time. He was a son of Rev. Norelius, one of the founders of the Swedish Lutheran Church in America, and won high rank both as a city and country newspaper man of ability and integrity.

The Anoka Herald opines that no greater calamity could overtake the country than the elevation of Ford to the presidency. Yes, it would be frightful. He might run the country on business principles, cut out government red tape and fire several thousand chair warmers. Ford might even favor a reduction in army and navy appropriations. Such a man will never do.

In their summing up of qualifications of the various candidates for senator, the railway brotherhoods refer to Tommy Schall as a "shadow progressive." They say he was not in his seat when progressive measures in which they are interested were voted upon. In other words, he was not there when he was wanted.

It must be obvious to the merest tyro in state politics that Governor Preus will receive the Republican nomination for U. S. Senator. We leave it to the colored man who in a recent dream picked the 20-to-one shot as the winning horse in the Kentucky derby, to place the balance of the field in the order in which they will come under the wire.

That was a fine and lasting memorial William Henry Eustis, former mayor of Minneapolis, erected to himself when he willed his vast fortune to the building of a home for crippled children. What better use could any man make of his accumulated fortune than to thus dedicate it to the uses of suffering humanity.

A man may not be a fool because he advocates light wines and beer in order to have himself elected to the United States Senate, but it cannot be denied he places a very low estimate upon the intelligence of those whom he expects to vote for him.

Kay Todd, St. Paul lawyer, is accused by the Duluth Rip Saw of plunging the Farmers' Terminal Packing company into bankruptcy in order to become receiver for the concern. The charge is denied by Todd, who claims he acted for the best interests of the farmers.

Bess Wilson of the Redwood Falls Gazette recently purchased an automobile and we should judge the boat is giving her some exciting moments, for she remarks that if she survives another six weeks she will be able to write a million word essay on amateur automobile driving.

In considering the field of senatorial candidates, The Tribune has about the same feeling that the late Thomas Lowry had about oxtail soup. Someone asked Mr. Lowry whether he liked oxtail soup. "Yes," he replied, "but isn't that going back a hell of a ways for soup?"

We met a real live road hog the other day and we respectfully took to the ditch. Now we have only one ambition left in this life and that is to become possessor of one of those big highway trucks long enough to meet the same bird in the same place.

We hope the lecturer who stated to a Minneapolis audience two weeks ago that there are millions of people in the world who are dead and don't know it, did not get the idea from a perusal of the list of senatorial candidates in Minnesota.

The former mayor of New Ulm who thinks he is running for senator must think the battle of Budweiser is going to be fought over again.

Geo. Baken Leaves on Long Trip; to Take in Yellowstone and Fight

George C. Baken, who has been connected with the Crown barber shop, accompanied by Mr. Baken and their little child, will leave Thief River Falls today for the west with California as their ultimate destination. Enroute the family will take in Yellowstone National park and expects to go to Shelby Mont., to take in the big Dempsey-Gibbons world's championship fight on July 4. It is expected that two months will be spent in making the journey and they will visit all the points of interest along the way. The trip will be made over the National Parks highway as far as Portland, Ore., where they will take the Columbia River highway to Mill Valley, Calif., where Mr. Baken's mother, Mrs. Hannah Baken, resides.

Baseball Season Formally Opens Here Wednesday

Fairly Strong Team Placed in Field to Lock Horns With St. Hilaire.

Red Lake Falls to Come Here Sunday to Try Mettle With Local Nine.

Although late, Thief River Falls is ready to meet the best of them in baseball, and the opening game of the season is scheduled to be played at the fair grounds diamond this evening when St. Hilaire comes to take on the local aggregation. The latter are said to have a fast team, having played several of the best teams in the surrounding territory and getting away pretty well in each case. What Thief River Falls has in the line of baseball this year is yet a matter of guesswork, but the best in the city are named in the lineup—and that ought to mean something.

Gathering a team this year has been a difficult task for those in charge of the work. Past unpleasant experiences have not set well with some and this has had its effect in financing even the all-home team planned for this year. The city wants baseball. That fact has been demonstrated by the enthusiasm shown so far, so the local management has arranged to sell season tickets at the nominal sum of $3 each, and it is expected that the sale of these will garner enough to pay the expenses of the club.

The diamond at the fair grounds has been placed in shape for play by the boys, and uniforms and all other kinds of baseball paraphernalia cleaned up and placed in shape All this work has been volunteered by the players themselves, and they feel that they are entitled to the earnest support of every baseball fan in town.

It is planned that as the season progresses, the club will be fast enough to take on the best of the teams of this section of the state, and it is to that end that the local management is striving. Red Lake Falls will be here for a game next Sunday, and perhaps McIntosh or Gonvick will be booked for games later on this month.

The game this evening will commence at 6:30 o'clock, an hour which will enable all to get to the diamond in plenty of time to see the first ball pitched. The game with Red Lake Falls will be called at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

A business meeting of the local baseball organization was held Sunday forenoon at the clubrooms of the American Legion and the following officers were selected to serve for the season: Charles Nason, president; T. M. Thronson, treasurer; D. R. Anderson, manager. W. A. Hall, Jr., Gust Crown and William Sheedy were named as directors.

The sale of season tickets for the club has already commenced and it is said that much success has attended those in charge of the sale. Tickets good for every game played this season will be sold at the nominal sum of $3 each.

"Ike" on the Job.

Work on the bridge over the Baudette River will be in full swing in a few days. Messrs. Johnson and Helseth, officials of the company, arrived Monday in company with the foreman, and he is busy with a crew of men constructing a camp on the Spooner side. In a few days a crew of 15 experts will arrive to commence work and an equal number of local men will be employed. The steel will be shipped in about ten days and will be received in plenty of time to be placed in position. The bridge, which will be of steel and concrete and which will be 400 feet in length, will be an exceptionally handsome one, according to officials of the company.—Baudette Region.

School Officers of County Plan Big Meeting Here

of the rural communities. The show starts at the Princess promptly at 4:30 on June 16. Every boy and girl is urged to save for this show and to be there to see it, as it means a good show on that day and the assurance of many more in the future.

Following is the program in detail:

10:00-11:45—School officers' session in court house.

10:00-11:45—Athletic events at fair grounds.

11:45-1:00—Lunch at fair grounds.

11:45-2:30—Athletic events.

1:15-2:30—School officers' session at court house

2:30-4:00—Graduation exercises at Auditorium.

4:30-6:00—Moving picture, "A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court," at the Princess

It will be noticed that this program makes a very full day, but if each one does his part there should be no trouble in getting through according to the schedule. School officers should try to be on hand promptly at 10 o'clock at the court house, and boys and girls who intend to participate in the contests at the fair grounds should be there ready to go at 10 o'clock. Girls must be dressed in bloomers.

The athletic events will continue through the noon hour in order to give the school officers a chance to participate to some extent.

People from the country should bring their lunch and the Commercial club will serve hot coffee and ice cream.

All country folks should be present on this day and lend their support so that our first gathering of this kind might be a success and that we may in the future come to look forward to the day of county graduation, school officers' meeting and county play day as an annual event

Edward Aaron Blomberg Dies After Long Illness

Nineteen Year Old Son of Mrs. Anna Blomberg Passes After Siege of Tuberculosis.

Edward Aaron Blomberg, 19 years old, son of Mrs. Anna Blomberg of Viking, died at the Sanitarium last Thursday, May 31, after a six months' illness from tuberculosis. The young man had grown to manhood in this community and was known by a large number of the younger people residing in the neighborhood of Viking. He had lived on a farm near Viking until confined to his bed by tuberculosis.

He was born July 1, 1903, on a farm in the vicinity of Viking. Deceased is survived by his mother, four brothers and two sisters, as follows: Thure, Hjalmar, Herman and Elmer. Miss Svea Blomberg of St. Cloud and Mrs. E. O. Peterson of Vancouver, Wash. All were present at the funeral except Herman at Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Peterson.

The funeral was held Sunday afternoon at Viking, the obsequies being in charge of Rev. Werner Drotts of that village, burial being made in the Viking cemetery. The pallbearers were: George Bugge, Clarence Johnson, David Samuelson, Ted Westberg, Clarence Joringdahl and Carl Brink.

The "Cyclones" Swoop on St. Hilaire in Ball Game

The Thief River Falls "Cyclones," everything in the line of baseball that their name implies, swooped down on St. Hilaire, our neighbors to the south, Sunday afternoon and swatted them with a defeat to the dire tune of 3 to 1, a close score, and in a game hotly contested from the opening of the contest. The "Cyclones" are a new baseball playing aggregation so far as the name is concerned, but containing a roll that includes some of the fastest juvenile players in the city. Nearly all of them make a business of playing baseball in the summer, take all the gate receipts themselves and with no manager to pay, generally clean up.

Those in the lineup are as follows: Edgar Longrin, Marcus Olson, A. Soderberg, Mike Parenteau, Orton Olson (captain-manager), Alf Steenerson, Edwin Myrin, "Gas" Myrin and Roy Longevin.

It is expected that the St. Hilaire boys who tasted so surely of defeat in the game played at St. Hilaire Sunday will be back here one of these sweet days looking for revenge, and when the do come, the "Cyclones" will assume the proportions of a tornado or a typhoon.

HOLSTEIN SALE A SUCCESS.

The Holstein sale at Detroit last week was pronounced a huge success. The top price paid for a cow was $405. Next year's convention and sale will be held at Rochester, Minn., in response to an invitation issued by the business men of that city.

Recital Given at Sons of Norway Hall by Music Students Is Big Success

Pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson Please Large Audience at Recital Presented Saturday Evening.

Music pupils of Mrs. C. O. Erickson, who have attained the advanced rank among her classes, presented a recital Saturday evening at the Sons of Norway hall, which proved highly pleasing to the large audience present.

The pupils presented showed unusual ability on the piano, demonstrating that their courses have been very thorough and that great pains had been taken by their instructor to the end that they had completely mastered their various selections.

Lois Nicholson, Elsie Vorseth, Mildred Engen, Frances Wengeler and Palma Langseth each played wonderfully well, especially the latter, who played in a manner that is unusual. Her interpretation of "The Novelette" (MacDowell) and "On the Mountains" (Grieg) were almost perfect in technique and execution.

Among the others taking part in the recital were Mrs. O. F. Mellby, Roy Prytz and Miss Dora Holmes, all of whom contributed a vocal solo.

Mrs. Erickson then played a 72-page selection, which was well received and which concluded the evening's entertainment.

New Rex Ingram Photoplay Coming

"Where the Pavement Ends" Is a Thrilling Romance of the South Sea Isles.

Rex Ingram, master director, has completed another picture for Metro, "Where the Pavement Ends," which comes to the Lyceum theatre on Sunday and Monday. The showing of a new film produced by Mr. Ingram is an event welcomed by every moviegoer in the country. The fine artistry which went into the making of "The Four Horsemen," "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "Trifling Women," Mr. Ingram has brought to the picturization of this thrilling tale of romance in the South Seas.

Rex Ingram prepared the film version from a story in John Russell's book, "Where the Pavement Ends," which has proved enormously popular. Sir Arthur Conan Doyle says of Mr. Russel's volume: "It is the best book of short tales by any debutante since Kipling's 'Plain Tales.'"

Mr. Russell acted in an advisory capacity during the filming of the production in Florida and expressed himself as more than satisfied with the atmospheric realism which Mr Ingram transferred to the screen.

The atmosphere and reality of the story is greatly enhanced by the remarkable acting of Alice Terry and Ramon Navarro, who play the leading roles. Miss Terry adds fresh laurels to the high reputation she won by her skillful acting in "The Four Horsemen" and "The Conquering Power." In "Where the Pavement Ends" he plays the part of the daughter of a missionary.

The brilliant, sensuous days and the calm, moonlight nights of the tropics bring dreams of love and romance to the lonely girl. That dream is translated into living reality by her lover of the South Seas. But the path of love is not smooth. She knows that her clandestine romance will not meet the approval of her father, for the man she loves is not of the ways of her people. Besides, Gregson, keeper of a rum shop, and the richest man on the island, has sworn that he will have her for his own, and Gregson is not a man to give up easily what he has vowed to have.

The part of the man who symbolized love to Matilda is taken by Ramon Novarro, Rex Ingram's newest screen find, who won the plaudits of moviegoers in "The Prisoner of Zenda" and "Trifling Women." Edward Connelly and Harry T. Morey also are members of the notable cast.

Highlanding Community Club to Picnic on June 10

The second annual picnic sponsored by the Highlanding Community Welfare club will be given at the pavilion June 10. The program includes community singing, speeches and instrumental selections, and also a baseball game between Grygla and Highlanding. Prof. A. H. Larson of the Crookston Agricultural Experiment station will act as director and Bj. Bjornaraa and possibly Senator C. L. Hansen will deliver addresses. The club is attempting to attract a good-sized crowd and an excellent program is planned.

Chevrolet Agency Call on Local Agents in This City

F. C. Walker, assistant sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor company, and P. M. Seese, district salesman for this district, visited the local agents of the Chevrolet company while in Thief River Falls two weeks ago on the twin city trade tour. The local agents are Kohn & Fiterman, who already have disposed of one carload of Chevrolets and are awaiting receipt of a second car, which is expected to arrive in a few days.

Among the other members of the trade tour was F. A. Woodcock, branch manager of the Republic Rubber company of Minneapolis, who also paid a visit to the Kohn & Fiterman salesroom. According to Mr. Woodcock, the company is well pleased with the distribution made of Republic tires this season, sales having exceeded the expectations of the company.

Thirty-Fifth Annual Convention a Success

The thirty-fifth annual convention of the Womans' Christian Temperance Union, fourteenth district, was held in this city last week and was in every way a very successful convention. The meetings were in session for two days, Thursday and Friday.

The principal address of the convention was given by Mrs. Josephine Sizer of Minneapolis, state president. who reviewed the various activities of the Union and the problem of law enforcement. Mrs. Graham read a paper on scientific temperance instruction in the public schools and the convention body entered into a general discussion of the topic. Senator C. L. Hansen spoke about the work of the legislature in regard to temperance; County Attorney Theo. Quale gave a talk on the necessity of co-operation in order to successfully enforce the temperance laws on the statute books. There were splendid reports from the Unions. Subjects relating to public welfare were discusesed.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Arnold gave one of her splendid readings, "Who Killed Joe's Baby?" The singing and music at this program was excellent.

Friday, Mrs. McClary of Warren gave a reading on "Purity." A paper on "Recreation," prepared by Miss Bertha Poston, was read and much appreciated. The paper on "Sabbath Observance" by Mrs. Miller of Crookston was well delivered. Time and space forbid much to be said on this subject, but one thing is certain, even people who profess to be Christians use the day to amuse themselves, forgetting that there will be a day of reckoning for that also, the speaker said.

District officers for the year were elected as follows: District president, Mrs. Alma Levins, Crookston; vice president, Mrs. Chapin, Euclid; secretary, Mrs. McClary, Warren, and treasurer, Mrs. Mary Andrews, Ada.

Muskrat Farm Progressing.

Harry King's muskrat farm is progressing nicely. Harry went to Four Mile Bay the other night, and sneaking up in the moonlight on a husky rat captured him. He is going down again Saturday night and if he succeeds in capturing another rat he will have a good start on the new industry. —Baudette Region.

CO-OPERATION STRONG ABROAD, SAYS U.S. SENATOR BROOKHART

Iowa Solon Traveling in Europe Finds Denmark Setting Pace For World in Co-Operative Marketing.

One of the strongest endorsements on record for the co-operative movement which is now spreading over the country was delivered this week from Europe by Senator Brookhart of Iowa, who was elected last year as a progressive after one of the most sensational campaigns ever staged in our sister state.

Although Senator Brookhart is none too popular with the factors which control the metropolitan press, yet the Chicago Tribune cable service of Tuesday carried the following account of his views of co-operative marketing based upon recent travels in the principal countries of Europe:

Agricultural co-operatives are rapidly becoming an oustanding issue of peoples the world over. Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa said after a busy day supplementing what he has discovered in England, France and Denmark, that farmers and laborers universally mean to control their own affairs. He called the principle of co-operation the one international movement which is healthy and has survived the war.

"Every land I have visited in Europe has a farm bloc like America's, and is demanding recognition," Senator Brookhart said.

"The Danes certainly set a pace for the civilized world. There the farmers work, co-operate and prosper happily beyond the tyranny of trusts. In Germany 70 per cent of the farmers already are affiliated with co-operatives and promise soon to become the strongest political party. In France the peasants are making speedy headway, while England is hastening to apply the system to agriculture. I am already convinced that Europe is stirred the same way as America and that America can learn much of organization, particularly from Denmark and Germany."

Mr. Brookhart said that everywhere he had been treated with the greatest cordiality and had found a sort of fraternalism of the farmers of the world. American farmers must adopt co-operatives in order to keep pace, he said. He cites Denmark as proof that if American farmers and laborers get the necessary legislation and establish credits they will automatically defeat the trusts and that, instead of depositing their money with banking corporations, which control their interests and work against them, they will pool their resources for the promotion of their own welfare.

"The Danes laugh at me when I tell them we ship Iowa pigs to Chicago and then pay transportation back in order to buy meat for our own consumption. If we had a co-operative system like Denmark's, the Chicago trusts would quickly be strangled to death. The trusts cannot function without livestock and if we organize and butcher our own stock they will be through and our people will have cheaper meat and better meat than under the present system."

Three Veterans Meet at Morgue.

As illustrative of the varied type of work for which the U. S. Veterans' Bureau is training the young men who were disabled in the World War, one might relate an incident that took place at the county morgue in Minneapolis one day recently.

While attempting to burglarize a store a bandit was shot and killed by a policeman. One of the Veterans' Bureau staff members went to the office of the Minneapolis News on one of his regular visits to supervise the training of a young man who is preparing himself for newspaper photography. This young man invited the staff member to go to the morgue with him to obtain a picture of the dead bandit. When they reached the morgue, they found another Bureau trainee who is studying undertaking, busily engaged in embalming the body of the robber. There followed a sharp debate between the two trainees, each intensely interested in his own work, as to whether the body should be disturbed in taking the picture.. The photographer insisted that the editor told him to get a good picture. The embalmer remarked that "I have not worked for twenty minutes to close the bandit's eyes properly to have them opened again for three seconds to satisfy a foolish editor."

The matter was finally arranged so the newspaper photographer secured the desired picture, the undertaker went on with his work, and the story of the fatal attempted robbery was written up for the newspaper by a third Veterans' Bureau trainee who is learning journalism.

A TOUGH OUTFIT.

An alarm was sent out all over the county this week to be on the watch for robbers. They broke into a Hallock garage and stole an acetylene welding outfit, broke into the Standard oil station at Bronson and got a supply of gas. The party drove a high powered Buick car and has been seen at several places. Davis told us at Halma Sunday that they had been through there on two occasions, going like the wind. We were also told that the sheriff gave them a chase at Hallock and that they kept ahead of him in the race a little while, then stepped on the gas and disappeared in a little while. Later when the sheriff gave up the chase and turned back to send out an alarm, they came back. It is believed that they are the same parties who broke into a number of stores last fall.—Karlstad Advocate.

Jail Sentences For Liquor Law Violators

Fred Goslien Sent to Stillwater For a Year on Assault Charge—Many Cases Disposed of.

Speaking of the term of district court which ended last week at Roseau, the Times-Region says:

"The civil calendar was cleared through settlements while several cases on the criminal calendar were disposed of when those indicted under liquor law violations changed their pleas to guilty. One surprise to these parties was the judge's sentence which in each case included jail terms. The judge made it clear that simply imposing a fine on liquor law violators did not have the desired effect, hence the jail terms. That is the only kind of punishment, the court said, which will stamp out this nefarious traffic.

"A stay of two weeks has been granted the four liquor law violators before beginning serving their jail terms. The four are Kittil O. Aamodt, John Melby, Ole Aamodt and Robert Nesteby. Each was given 30 days in jail and $150 fine, with 30 days additional in case of failure to pay fines.

"Fred Goslien, who was indicted on a charge of assault with intent to commit a statutory offense, pleaded guilty to assault and was sentenced to the penitentiary for not to exceed one year. The cases against Clifford Hanson, Tony Santl and Glen Hanson, indicted on a statutory charge, were continued. The two Hansons pleaded not guilty, while Sontl, who is out of the state, had not been apprehended. The case against Henry Langaas on a seduction charge was also continued. Likewise that against Claire E. Saunders, who pleaded not guilty to the indictment of falsifying accounts. Harry Chase and Peter Buus, indicted on a timber larceny charge, pleaded guilty and were given $25 fines each and cost of justice court hearings. In case of failure to pay said fines and costs then 60 days in the county jail."

Good Advice on Good Roads.

When the people can be made to understand and realize that it actually costs more in time and money to travel over a poor road than it does to travel over a good one, they will be less inclined to begrudge the expense of good roads, and what is more important still, will be willing and anxious to trust the business of road making to those who understand it.—Shakopee Argus.

View of Highway Building.

The principal highways of every state should be constructed as rapidly as the available supply of labor and materials permits. They should be constructed and maintained by the state highway departments and they should be paid for by the people of the state as a whole, according to T. H. MacDonald, chief of the bureau of public roads.

Mr. MacDonald says the actual road tests have shown that the annual saving in gasoline alone on the more important roads will, in some instances, more than pay the yearly cost of such roads, including a proper distribution of the first cost. The public pays for good roads whether it gets them or not.

This fact alone, without regard to the increased need for highway transportation to supplement the railroads, the saving in wear and tear on vehicles, and the social, recreational and educational advantages of good roads in rural sections, Mr. MacDonald says, should cause the states to proceed with their improvement of their main roads as fast as physical limitations permit.

The burden of building and maintaining the main state roads must be shouldered by the state, in Mr. MacDonald's opinion. It is not fair to expect a county to provide for the construction and upkeep of the main roads within its borders when, as is generally the case, the traffic on such roads comes in greater part from outside the county.

The attempt to finance the improvement of such roads has been the means of bringing a good many counties to the point where they were not able to properly provide for the feeder roads, which should be their principal concern, because their credit is tied up in a relatively short mileage of high-priced road which should have been built with state funds.—Mankato Free Press.

New Veterans Relief Act Extends Benefits

Some of the important provisions are:

1. That every officer and enlisted man or any person in the active service under the War and Navy Departments, who was discharged or who resigned prior to the establishment of the Veterans' Bureau on August 9, 1921, and every such person in the active service on or before Nov. 11, 1918, who, on or after August 9, 1921, was discharged or resigned, shall be conclusively held to have been in sound condition when entering the service, except as to such disabilities as were noted of record when or prior to the time he entered the service.

2. That an ex-service man who is shown to have a mental disease or an active tubercular disease of 10 per cent or more, and such showing was made upon examination by a medical officer of the Veterans' Bureau or other qualified physician within three years after separating from service, shall be considered to have acquired his disability in such service or to have suffered an aggravation of preexistent tubercular and mental disability. In addition to extending this period from two years to three years in mental and tubercular cases, this provision eliminates the qualification that the tubercular condition must be pulmonary to entitle one to the benefits of the presumption.

3. There is also an amendment made to Section 306 of the War Risk Act which extends the time in which a certificate of disability may be obtained by providing that such certificate may be obtained prior to March 4, 1924, and in the amendment to Section 306 of the Act it is provided that such certificate, except in case of fraud, shall be incontestable evidence that the injury for which it is issued was suffered in or aggravated by military service.

4. The administration of soldiers' relief is materially extended by this new Act and the amendment to the previous Act have increased the benefits conferred on the ex-service men and in addition to these amendments, many new benefits have been granted.

Minnesota Has Autos Enough to Carry All

Only in Twelve States Do People Own More Cars and Only in Ten States Are They Buying Them Faster.

Should Minnesota automobile owners take an average of five friends each for a ride over the better roads one of these fine June days, it would mean an outing for every man, woman and child in the state.

With 380,557 registered, Minnesota last year had 159.2 motor vehicles for each 1,000 of population, says a manual circulated this week by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, New York, and it is estimated that the 1923 increase already brings the total to one car for every six people in the state.

Twelve states registered more cars in 1922 than did Minnesota. New York led with 1,002,293; California was next with 861,807, and Nevada last with 12,116. A gain of 57,082 gave Minnesota tenth place among the states in point of increase.

One Minnesota farmer in 25 now uses a motor truck and the number is held rapidly increasing. In 38 counties listed, 3,325 trucks were found on 80,021 farms. Need of more was reported in 27, and a preference for 1 and 2 ton rigs was recorded in 32 counties.

School children are benefiting by the better roads, the report discloses. Of 25,000 transported at public expense last year, 10,000 rode in busses serving the pupils of 315 consolidated schools.

Highway travelers numbering 3,692,920 were included in 5,356,000 visitors at National forests last year. Among 84,000 visitors in Minnesota national forests, 78,000 traveled in motor cars.

Minnesota reported 91 cities and towns with free tourist camp sites and was rated fifth among states for this hospitality. The leaders were California with 193, Illinois with 113 and Iowa with 110 camping places, but the total is being greatly increased this year in this state of Ten Thousand Lakes.

GREAT NORTHERN VALUATION SHOWS NO "WATER"

In response to assertions that railroad stocks were watered and that the investments recorded in the companies' books were inflated, Congress, in 1913, by the La Follette Act, directed the Interstate Commerce Commission to determine, among other things, the cost of reproduction new, cost of reproduction less depreciation, and the value of the various railroads in the United States.

The corporate assets of the Great Northern Company consists of two classes of property: One is the physical property used for transportation purposes and located in the United States; the other consists of investments in stocks and bonds of other companies, including lines located in Canada, and other miscellaneous property used for non-carrier purposes. The Interstate Commerce Commission recently has completed its tentative valuation of the first of these, that is, the physical property used for transportation purposes and located in the United States. It has not valued the second class of property because not required to do so by the terms of the Act.

The value as found by the Commission for Great Northern properties used for transportation purposes and located in the United States as of June 30, 1915, was as follows:

Total owned	$391,740,302.00
Total used	395,353,655.00

In arriving at these figures, the Interstate Commerce Commission deducted $65,140,474.00 from the cost of reproduction new on account of assumed depreciation. The Company, of course, contends that the depreciation of certain parts of the property, such as the aging of its roadbed, is more than offset by the appreciation of the property as a whole, as it is well known that a railroad property in use for several years is better and worth more for transportation purposes than a newly built property.

Included in the second class of property and not valued by the Commission is:

604 miles of railroad in Canada.

One-half of the stock of the Spokane, Portland & Seattle Railway.

Also the stocks of some other smaller railway companies, and the stocks of coal, lumber, land and other subsidiary corporations.

The investment in securities not valued by the Commission amounts to $227,076,312.83. Other property not used for transportation purposes amount to $24,315,418.31, so that the Commission's value on the first class of property, plus the value of the second class of property, which the Commission did not value, amounts to $643,132,032.14.

Since the valuation date, June 30, 1915, there has been added $82,259,790.52, which brings the total value of Great Northern property to January 1, 1923, up to $725,391,823.66. The total par value of stocks and bonds of the Great Northern as of January 1, 1923, was $540,978,319.04, showing an excess of $184,413,504.62 of value above the total capitalization. The following table makes these statements clear:

PROPERTY

Portion of owned property valued by the Commission as of June 30, 1915	$391,740,302.00
Stocks, bonds and other properties not valued by Commission as of June June 30, 1915	227,076,312.83
Other property as of June 30, 1915	24,315,418.31
Property added since June 30, 1915	82,259,790.52
Total	$725,391,823.66

CAPITALIZATION

Great Northern Stock	$249,477,150.00
Great Northern Bonds	291,501,169.04
Excess of Property Over Capitalization on January 1, 1923	184,413,504.62
	$725,391,823.66

This furnishes a most conclusive answer to the charge of watered stock.

The Great Northern never did have and never will have a dollar of watered stock.

Mamma Cat Mothers Five Little Skunks

Cat Bestows More Favor on Skunks Than on Her On Kittens, According to Mower County Farmer.

Earl Peterson, farmer, near Austin, has a cat that is mothering five baby skunks.

Mr. Peterson tracked a mother skunk to her den, killed it and then did the Lord Carnarvon stunt. Instead of finding a second King Tut he uncovered a nest of little skunks. They were but a few hours old, and hadn't their eyes open. Mr. Peterson thought they were too cute to kill and took them home.

"Now if I only had a cat with kittens, I'd put them with the cat and let her bring them up," said Mr. Peterson. His neighbor had a cat who had lost all but three kittens. Mr. Peterson borrowed the cat. Tabby took to the little skunks like the well-known duck to water. Monday Mr. Peterson took a friend to the barn to show him his menagerie.

"Lots of fun to watch the cat mother them," he said. But when they came to the barn, the cat and the skunks were gone. Only one kitten remained. The men stood there a moment and the cat came back after her kitten. They watched her. She took the kitten to a new nest, where they found the five little skunks and kittens.

"She favors the skunks," said Mr. Peterson, "seems to thinks more of them than her own kittens. The kittens and the skunks all dine at the same time."

The mother washes the skunks with her tongue twice as often as the kittens.

Automobile Bandit Caught Near Holt

Harry Brown, Suspected of Middle River Burglary and Other Crimes, Apprehended By Sheriff.

Sheriff Henry Hanson of Marshall county made an important arrest last week when he apprehended Harry Brown, suspected of the burglary the previous week of the Carlson Mercantile store at Middle River, and other depradations in the towns between this city and the border. Brown was captured at a farm near Holt, where he had made his headquarters for several days. He was using a rope instead of chains on his Buick roadster, and his tracks were easily followed in the mud after the Carlson robbery.

The Buick roadster is alleged to have been stolen last spring in Wisconsin. The accused man is believed to have robbed the oil stations at Bronson and Northcote, and is believed to have broken into a garage at Hallock, where he stole a number of gas tanks and torches. The stolen tanks were found in some brush near the Northcote camp grounds.

Brown is now lodged in jail at Warren and he will probably be held there until the next term of court. In the meantime it is likely that the north country is reasonably safe from further molestation, since the evidence against Brown unmistakably points to him as the culprit guilty of the recent crime wave in that territory.

A second ward housewife was approached by a peddler selling shoe trees at 75 cents a pair, two pairs for $1.50. They were neat shoe trees and she bought two pairs. But the peddler said he had to deliver the stock he had on hand at the end of the street and would bring her shoe trees later. She agreed, and in the meantime kept her $1.50. Before the peddler returned, she happened up town, where she saw shoe trees identically the same on display in a North Avenue window. They were marked 30 cents a pair. She went home and waited for the peddler. The peddler came back, as he had agreed, but he won't call at that house again. A North Park street woman paid $2 for a bottle of dope guaranteed to produce a permanent Marcel wave. She regrets sadly that it is a poor grade of grease.—Fairmant Sentinel.

A party of Indians was over from Warroad Friday and decorated the Indian grave or graves which are supposed to be in the park. A number of articles were left there, presumably for the use of the spirits of the departed ones. Several red handkerchiefs, some pieces of calico, tobacco, a couple of pails, and several bands of round wooden sticks bound together to resemble a cartridge belt. One of these bands contains over a hundred sticks.—Roseau Region.

Last Tuesday afternoon Arthur Lundstrom was the victim of a very painful accident. He had been operating a tractor on the Lundstrom farm a short distance from town and as the engine had heated very much he was going to loosen the radiator cap so that some of the steam could escape—and it did, blowing up into his face with such suddenness and force that the flesh on one side of his face was actually cooked. The victim was rushed to Karlstad to the doctor. As the doctor was out of town it was some time before the physician could be found to relieve the sufferer.—Strandquist Press.

Cat Mothers Wolves.

Following the story about Earl Peterson's cat mothering five little skunks, several Martin county citizens have taken advantage of the maternal instincts of their tabby cats with wonderful if not unbelievable results. Arthur Hall, Center Creek farmer, former candidate for sheriff, has turned over five orphan rabbits to a mother cat to raise. J. R. Lofgren, Tenhassen farmer, and a brother-in-law of Maj. Nelson, reports that his tabby cat has successfully mothered a cub wolf nearly two weeks, and the wolf is doing fine. His only worry is what to do after the wolf outgrows its adopted mother. Lenny Burton is reported trying to induce a pussycat to nurse a calf, and Wetherford of Interlaken is said to be arranging to have his pet cat raise a young colt. Now if somebody will raise a prize chicken, turkey or duck on cat milk, it will be the height of something or other—we don't know what.—Fairmont Sentinel.

Jonas Palm and Albert Nystrom left for the Rer River section in Canada, Tuesday. They started in a car and will continue to travel in that manner as far as roads will permit. The rest of the journey will be made on foot. They are looking for timber claims, of which there are reported to be excellent ones in that section.—Roseau Region.

Postmaster Gunderson has discovered the presence of a new bird species in Bagley. The bird inhabits the wooded section north of the court house and each morning at sunrise mounts high into the skies, descending with a peculiar buzz which Postamster Gunderson believes is caused by agitation of the tail feathers. Residents in the neighborhood of the court house have noticed the arrival of the birds and are also at a loss to identify them.—Bagley Independent.

The village of Gonvick in Clearwater county claims to be the home of the youngest cornet player in the United States. His name is William Horn, who is just rounding out five years of age. He is a member of the Gonvick band and appeared on a concert program last Saturday evening with three cornet solos.

INSURANCE MAN CLAIMS GREAT DISCOVERY

St. Paul, Minn. Mr. Harry Brahl, living at 1171 Goodrich Ave., claims STO-LI-GAL the greatest discovery ever prepared for suffering humanity. "It's a fact that I had been troubled for over five years with a gassy acid bloated stomach, dul pains in my stomach and back, no appetite and very constipaated. The various remedies I tried failed to help, but this product STO-LI-GAL which I took about 12 boxes of gave me immediate relief after taking the first box. I have been entirely relieved of the above ailments and I advise all sufferesr to take STO-LI-GAL for the various ailments that it is intended to correct, and I am sure that you will benefit as I have. I shall be pleased to answer correspondence, and as well give personal interviews regarding STO-LI-GAL," signed Harry Brahl. Sufferers are advised to start the STO-LI-GAL treatment at once, which usually gives relief in stomach ulcers, gallstones, chronic appendicitis, indigestion, dyspepsia, torpid, lazy liver, pains in stomach and back, gassy sour, bloated stomach, dizziness, yellow jaundice, vomiting attacks, shortage of breath, headaches and habitual constipation. Pamphlet sent free on request. Demand STO-LI-GAL from your druggist. Alson sent direct on receipt of $1.00 by Sansby Bros. Drug Co., 809 University Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

Sold in Thief River Falls by Dr. H. B. Newell, druggist, and Roy Lambert, druggist.

Government Insurance Optional Privileges

It is quite generally thought that once selection has been made under the optional privileges of the Government policies no change of the selection is possible.

The following will completely dissipate all such ideas.

The insured may designate as the beneficiary of his term insurance any one within the permitted class of beneficiaries. Under term insurance an original designation of beneficiary or a change of beneficiary may be made by last will and testament as well as otherwise at the whim of the insured.

Under converted insurance the insured may designate as beneficiary anyone within the permitted class or his estate. An original designation may be made by last will and testament, but no change of beneficiary may be so made. The insured is, however, at perfect liberty to change his beneficiary during his lifetime by any other means than by last will and testament.

If the insured has selected either the lump sum, continued or limited installment payment method in case of death he may change to one of the other two methods at any time. After the insured's death the beneficiary may change the method of payment from a lump sum to either a limited or continuous installment method or he may change from the limited installment to the continuous installment method. The converse is not true.

After the insured converts his term insurance to the plan he feels he can best afford to carry he may again change the plan of insurance at any time within five years of effective date of his policy provided he has not become totally and permanently disabled. This is a very valuable privilege as the insured may feel he wants to purchase a 20-pay life but the money he has to invest in insurance will not purchase as much of this plan as it would on a straight life plan.

This privilege will enable the insured to carry the maximum amount of protection the money he has to invest in insurance will buy. He can purchase that maximum in ordinary life insurance and if fortune smiles upon him change all of it sal on the last day of the fifth year to a 20-pay life plan by adjusting the reserve difference. He will then pay premiums for 15 years longer at the 20-pay life rate. This he can do without a medical examination but to change from a policy carrying a higher premium rate to an ordinary life he would have to be a good risk at the time of reduction.

The game was 19 innings long.
But father stuck it thru;
And then a runner pilfered home,
So father sneaked home, too

More Men Than Women Have Appendicitis

Medical reports show men are more subject to appendicitis although many sudden cases occur among women. It can be guarded against by preventing intestinal infection. The intestinal antiseptic, Adler-i-ka, acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing all foul, decaying matter which might cause infection. It brings out matter you never thought was in your system and which may have been poisoning you for months. Adler-i-ka is EXCELLENT for gas on the stomach. F. J. Stebbins, druggist.—Adv.

MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of $105.00 interest, which is claimed to be due, and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain Mortgage, duly executed and delivered by C. A. Wilson and Iola Wilson, his wife, Mortgagors, to John Frondal, Mortgagee, bearing date the 5th day of March, 1921, with a Power of Sale therein contained, duly recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds in and for the County of Pennington and State of Minnesota, on the 27th day of May, 1921, at 8:30 o'clock A. M., in Book 57 of Mortgages, on page 592.

Said mortgage provides that if default be made by the mortgagors in any of the provisions of said mortgage, it shall be lawful for the said Mortgagee, his heirs, executors, administrators or assigns or his attorney to declare the whole sum specified in said mortgage due and payable; by virtue of said provision and because of said default, the said mortgagee does hereby declare the whole sum specified in said mortgage, to-wit: The sum of $1750.00, with interest to date, to be due and payable; and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, Therefore, Notice is Hereby Given, That by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said Mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said Mortgage, to-wit: The North Half (N½) of Northwest Quarter (NW¼), and Southwest Quarter (SW¼) of Northwest Quarter (NW¼), Section Eight (8), Township One Hundred Fifty-three (153), Range Thirty-nine (39), West, in Pennington County, State of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances; which sale will be made by the Sheriff of Pennington County at the front door of the Court House in the City of Thief River Falls, in said County and State, on the 12th day of July, 1923, at 1 o'clock P. M. of that day at public vendue to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt of $1750.00 and the sum of $118.15, accrued interest to date, making a total sum of $1868.15, with interest, and the taxes, if any, on said premises, and $50.00 attorney's fees, as stipulated in and by said mortgage in case of foreclosure, and the disbursements allowed by law; subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

A Fine Window.

The big show window in Oen's Department store which fronts on LaBree avenue was most attractively decorated for Decoration Day by Mr. Prytz, manager of the dry goods department. In the field of poppies was a memorial shaft to the departed dead, with a Red Cross nurse and a mourning mother forming the back ground. It was one of the best show windows it has ever been our pleasure to see and one which would have attracted attention in Chicago or New York. Mr. Prytz is a fine window trimmer and his latest effort was one of the best of his many beautiful designs.

Ernest Roadfeldt has resigned from his job at the Roseau Mercantile company and will leave soon for Thief River Falls, where he has accepted a position with the Oen Mercantile company.—Roseau Times-Region.

Saturday morning while returning from a dance in the neighborhood of Strathcona, J. C. Greenagle's Chevrolet coupe struck a sand pocket in the road and turned over, badly crushing the front fenders, smashing the wind shield, and the body was badly bent and scratched. A Dodge car driven by the Mellick boys was compelled to go into the ditch on account of the accident to the coupe. The Dodge was badly damaged and one of the boys was slightly bruised. Mr Greenagle escaped without a scratch.—Middle River Pioneer.

Chris Storholm Takes First Vacation in 25 Long Years

Employed By Allen-Quinlan Company For Twenty Years Without Missing a Single Day.

Chris Storholm, well known knight of the grip, started Saturday for a trip through southern Minnesota—his first real vacation in 25 years. For 20 years Mr. Storholm has been employed by Allen-Quinlan company of St. Paul, one of the oldest grocery houses in the northwest and known in the old days as J. H. Allen Co. Prior to his employment by the Allen company, Chris was employed by Finch-Smith Co., of Crookston, and was with Park, Grant & Morris for one year. During all these years Mr. Storholm has been "in the harness" continually, never having had a vacation nor missed a day's pay. Mr. Storholm has been a resident of this city for many years, being known by every merchant in his territory, which includes most of the northwestern counties of the state.
